BRITAIN CANCELS RUSSIAN TREATIES; WARNS THE SOVIET

Note to Moscow Says MacDonald's Compacts Will Not Be Submitted to Parliament.

PROPAGANDA IS CONDEMNED

British Government Is Sure Zinovieff Letter Is Not a Forgery, Second Note Says.

APOLOGY DEMAND IGNORED

Rakovsky's Note Rejected by Foreign Office—Break in Relations Suggested but Thought Unlikely.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, formally denounced today the two treaties with the Russian Soviets concluded by Ramsay MacDonald and Arthur Ponsonby while the former was Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary in the late Labor Government.

At the same time the Foreign Secretary replied to the Soviet on the Zinovieff letter, declaring the Government's belief that the letter was no forgery and taking the Moscow authorities to task for their failure to check the propaganda activities of the Communist International.

The action of the Government creates a novel if not unprecedented diplomatic situation. Treaties which the British Labor Government had signed and which by implications, conveyed if not in the actual text of the treaties at least in public statements of the British signatories, were to be submitted to Parliament, are canceled by the present Government. It is even asserted in some quarters that the Chamberlain notes withdraw the de jure recognition accorded to the Soviet Government by the late British Government, but in other quarters this is considered a debatable point.

Warning to Moscow Government.

The Soviet Government is in any case warned that continuance of present relations between the two countries, both diplomatic and commercial, are dependent upon the future good behavior of the Soviet Government in regard to propaganda.

It is suggested that the Soviet authorities may be the first to break off existing relations, that is to recall its diplomatic agent here and annul the trade agreement under the provisions of which the commercial relations between Russia and Great Britain are now carried on. On this point it was remarked tonight that even the Soviet Government was unlikely to "cut off its nose to spite its face."

Incidentally it is disclosed in the documents issued tonight that Ramsay MacDonald while still in office refused to receive as a diplomatic note the communication addressed to the British Government by the Soviets on Oct. 27. As a consequence his successor, Austen Chamberlain, has no official knowledge of the existence of such a note, it not having been included in the dossier handed on by his predecessor at the Foreign Office. This information is conveyed to Rakovsky in a curt letter from J. D. Gregory of the permanent staff of the British Foreign Office.

Three documents were issued from the Foreign Office this evening. The first was a note from the British Foreign Secretary to M. Rakovsky, Soviet Chargé d'Affaires at London, regarding the "treaties concluded by the late Government with the U. S. S. R." Its text follows:

Foreign Office, Nov. 21, 1923.

Sir: His Majesty's Government have had under review the treaties negotiated by their predecessors with the Government of the U. S. S. R. and signed on Aug. 8 last.

2. I have the honor to inform you that after due deliberation his Majesty's Government find themselves unable to recommend the treaties in question to the consideration of Parliament or to submit them to the King for his Majesty's ratification.

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

Zinovieff Letter No Forgery.

The second comment was a note from the British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs to M. Rakovsky in reply to the Soviet note of Oct. 25, regarding the Zinovieff letter which Rakovsky declared to be a forgery. This note is as follows:

Foreign Office, Nov. 21, 1923.

Sir: I have had under consideration your reply of Oct. 25 to the note which my predecessor addressed to you with regard to the activities of the Communist International in this country.

2. In the third paragraph of that reply you undertook to declare, apparently upon internal evidence alone and without allowing time for any reference to Moscow, that the letter from M. Zinovieff, which was the occasion of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's representations, was a gross forgery. In support of this assertion you alleged that the Communist International is never described in its own circulars as the Third Communist International, that Zinovieff never signs as President of the Presidium of the Executive Committee of the Communist International but always as "President of the Executive Committee," and that the whole of the contents are, from the Communist point of view, a tissue of absurdities.

3. His Majesty's Government cannot accept these assertions, which are disproved by reference to official pub-

Spain to Sign an Armistice To End the War in Morocco

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Following a consultation between the Spanish representative in Morocco and Abd el Krim, the rebel leader, an arrangement has been reached by which an armistice will be signed between Spain and the rebellious tribesmen immediately after the Spanish troops have retired behind lines agreed upon, according to information received by The Daily Mail from Spain.

The dispatch adds that an armistice would end the disastrous war, which has lasted since 1893.

BIG AMERICAN LOAN APPROVED BY FRANCE

Senate and Chamber Pass Bill to Borrow $100,000,000 From Morgan Interests.

WILL BE ISSUED MONDAY

25-Year Bonds at 7 Per Cent. Are Substitute for Short-Term Operation in March.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—With only the Communists objecting, the French Parliament authorized the Government today to borrow $100,000,000 in America for the purpose of keeping the French exchange stable and repaying the Bank of France in part for advances which have been made to the State.

The loan, which has been negotiated with the Morgan interests, will be issued on Monday in New York and will bear interest at 7 per cent. It is payable in twenty-five years.

The bill authorizing the loan was rushed through Parliament at almost record speed. Finance Minister Clementel laid the bill on the table in the Chamber at the end of the morning session at about 12:30. The Finance Commission studied it all afternoon. At 9 o'clock the commission had a favorable report ready for the Chamber. The vote was taken at 10:15, with 535 for and 98 against, and the bill was immediately sent to the Senate, which had been specially convened by telegraph.

This loan is not new in the sense that it is a substitute for the same amount credited to France by the Morgan and allied banks last March when the condition of the franc called for immediate action. That credit was for three months, and before the end of the three months a statement was circulated that it had been repaid. On the contrary, it has been renewed at the end of each three months since that date, and the present operation simply converts the short-term credit, to which many conditions were attached, into a twenty-five-year loan at 7 per cent.

The price of issue is 93½.

The Provisions of the Bill.

The bill contained three clauses:

First—The Minister of Finance is authorized to issue in the United States for the betterment of the interests of the Treasury and to the limit of $100,000,000 7 per cent. amortizable bonds.

Second—These bonds, the interest and the repayment premium are exempt from all taxation or duty which are or will be established by the French State departments and communes.

Third—The product of the loan will be turned over to the Bank of France in reimbursement of its advances at the rate of five francs eighteen centimes for a dollar.

In the event of the utilisation of dollars thus remitted to the Bank of France, the rate of 5.18 francs will be taken as the basis of repayment, and the difference between the rate of realisation and the rate of 5.18 will be made good to the Treasury.

Heard of New Drive on Franc.

Interesting revelations concerning the former Morgan credit and the negotiations for the present loan were made during the evening's debate. Maurice Violette, reporter for the commission, recalled how the credit renewed for the three month periods was hypothecated on the Bank of France's gold reserve and that part of that gold reserve still is in the strong rooms of the Morgan-Harjes Bank in Paris from which, after voting the loan it would be removed again to the Bank of France.

The Government said it was aware that a new offensive was being planned against the franc and that those who were directing it were waiting for the expiration of the Morgan credit. That was why it was anxious to have the loan confirmed immediately and the mortgage taken off the gold reserve.

Finance Minister Clementel told how

WAR-MAIMED HERO DEFENDS MUSSOLINI IN ITALIAN CHAMBER

Blind and Handless, Delcroix Brings the Deputies to Their Feet Cheering.

OPPOSITION IS ASTOUNDED

He Denounces Their Aims as Against Peace and for Factional Triumph.

PRAISES WORK OF FASCISTI

And Pleads That Envy Shall Not Strike Down Their Leader in the Midst of His Task.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Nov. 21.—What probably will rank in the annals of the Italian Parliament as one of the greatest personal successes ever achieved was scored in the Chamber today by Deputy Carlo Delcroix, leader of the "mutilated" section of the ex-combatants, in a strong and fiery speech in defense of Mussolini's Government.

The effect of his words of praise for the Fascisti was heightened by the fact that they came as a complete surprise to every one because the Opposition press, after his conditional support of the Government in the vote of confidence last Saturday, had loudly proclaimed that he had definitely taken up a stand against Mussolini.

For more than an hour Delcroix, who lost both of his hands and the sight of both eyes in the war, stood before the Chamber, which was packed to the ceiling with eager listeners, and poured out a flood of oratory in defense of Fascismo, its achievements and all that it stands for and in fierce denunciation of the Opposition.

When he was forced to pause by the wild bursts of cheering which punctuated his speech throughout, attentive friends wiped the perspiration from his face and held a glass of iced water to his lips, as, being handless, he could not do these things for himself.

Whole Chamber Rises Cheering.

As soon as Deputies sat down at the end of his speech the Chamber accorded him an ovation such as most political men dream of in vain all their lives. Everybody present, including the Cabinet, the Opposition, visitors and members of the royal family in the royal box, sprang up cheering and applauding enthusiastically while Deputies crowded around Delcroix, embracing him.

Then, while the Deputies approved by acclamation a motion to have the Delcroix speech printed and posted in every municipality in Italy, Delcroix was led to the Ministers' bench, where first Mussolini and then each Minister in turn embraced and kissed him.

"We are not among those who wait the outcome of a fight to join the victor," began Delcroix. "We state our opinions frankly.

"After ten years of war Italy wants peace. It does not want the fall of one man to make place for other men, or the defeat of one party to make way for another party.

"The Opposition is wrong when it believes that its aims are the aims of the whole nation. We see the mistakes which the Government has made, but we also realize the greatness of its achievements."

Then, turning toward the Opposition, Delcroix said:

"Every great movement has found and brought to power a great man. You now have this great man. Let it not be said that Italy had at last found a great leader and that envy struck him down.

"The Government has done its duty in the face of immense difficulties, and any one who is not driven by personal ambitions must admit it, and we have every reason to believe that the Government will also fulfill the nation's desire for peace."

Addressing former Premier Giolitti, who voted against the Government in the last vote of confidence, Delcroix continued:

"When you spoke the other night, I was filled with admiration at your returning to the active struggle of political life despite your 80 years. But I did not understand your words, which seemed indistinct and far away to me.

"Perhaps they were drowned by the roar of the river of blood which separates your generation from mine. For you the fall of Mussolini would represent a mere change of government. For

Young Rhinelander Leaves His Bride's Home And Neighbors Debate Possible Separation

Leonard Kip Rhinelander, who married Miss Beatrice Alice Jones, daughter of a former Pelham bus driver of West Indian descent, on Oct. 14, and whose marriage became known a month later, left the home of the bride's parents, 763 Pelham Road, New Rochelle, on Thursday afternoon, and late last night had not returned there. Eyewitnesses of his departure said that a limousine car appeared in front of the modest home of George Jones at that hour. A liveried chauffeur was at the front and a man in a dark suit, said to be in the employ of young Rhinelander's family, helped the bridegroom into the car. The curtains were drawn and the machine left in the direction of this city.

Neighbors who had talked to members of the Jones family said last night that "negotiations" between the Jones family and Philip Rhinelander, father of the bridegroom, were in progress and that a separation of the couple, to be followed later by annulment of the marriage on the ground that the bride, in applying for the marriage license, failed to comply fully with the requirements covering information to be supplied to the authorities, was the object in view by Mr. Rhinelander's family.

Mrs. Albert Miller, sister of the bride, was quoted by these neighbors as their source of information about the "negotiations."

Spotswood Bowers of the law firm of Laughlin, Gerard, Bowers & Halpin, counsel for Philip Rhinelander, said in answer to questions last night:

"I have nothing to say about the report, and I am sure that Mr. Rhinelander has authorized no statement. We issued just one statement, and in it we said there would be no further statements, and there will be none."

Judge Samuel Swinburne of New Rochelle, who has represented George Jones in legal matters, said that he did not represent Mrs. Leonard Rhinelander and had not been consulted by the Jones family in regard to any such matter.

Washington Survives Second Day's Shelling, But Two Projectiles Pass Through Her Hull

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 21.—Showing a list of about 15 degrees, the hull of the superdreadnought Washington still was afloat tonight off the Virginia Capes, despite two heavy attacks by the battleship Texas, which today continued tests begun yesterday to determine the effect of 14-inch shell fire on the new type of armor used in construction of the ship.

Tons of big projectiles were hurled at the helpless vessel during one hour of almost continuous bombardment in the morning and again in the afternoon. Particles of armor plate were torn from the sides of the ship and hurled high into the air, and in two instances shells passed through the entire ship, but these generally were scored at points weakened by the bombardment yesterday.

Whether the list was caused by water taken into the hull or was due to the loss of weight on the side as a result of the displaced armor could not be learned here tonight.

The best hits were registered by the Texas this afternoon. Some of the shells struck in places weakened by the battering of the preceding day and it was two of these that passed through the ship, leaving clear holes above the waterline. Experts who examined the target after the shooting said that had the engines been in place they undoubtedly would have been wrecked.

Despite this, proponents of the new type of ship hold that the result of the four periods of bombardment have demonstrated their claim of the superiority of the armor used.

A radio message today from the Texas asked that bombing planes be sent out tomorrow or Sunday to complete the work of destruction and this was taken as an indication that the Texas would not conduct further bombardment tests.

HYLAN TO RUSH WORK ON CITY ART CENTRE

$5,000,000 of School Funds May Be Used in $15,000,000 Jerome Park Project.

NO OPPOSITION TO THE SITE

Industrial Arts Branch Will Provide Expert Instruction in Various Trades, It Is Said.

Ground for Mayor Hylan's Music and Art Centre in Jerome Park, the Bronx, the plans of which the Mayor revealed Thursday night, will be broken in the Spring. It is to cost $15,000,000, and $5,000,000 of the money, it was reported yesterday, is to be taken from the Board of Education.

While George J. Ryan, President of the Board of Education, would not admit last night that school funds would be used for the Hylan project he did not wholly deny it. He insisted, however, that if Board of Education money should be used the Music and Art Centre would have to be made a part of the New York public school system. In any event, he added, the school building program would not be interfered with.

Further details of the project also were learned yesterday. These included the plans for the Industrial Arts feature of the Centre. It is proposed to teach costume designing and cutting, textile manufacturing, dyeing and marketing, wall paper designing, jewelry and silverware making, interior decoration, furniture design and printing.

No Opposition to the New Site.

The new site, it was learned, is not park property, although it is known as the Jerome Park Reservoir tract. At present owned by the city, it is in the hands of the Sinking Fund Commission. Its selection will not meet with opposition from the Parks and Playgrounds Association, which took an active part in the fight on the original plan to place the Music and Art Centre in Central Park. In fact, William B. Boulton, counsel for the association, said yesterday that he considered the change in plan a complete surrender by the Mayor.

The latest plan is the third one to be advanced by the Mayor. The first involved the seizure of six acres of Central Park. That was abandoned because of the criticism it aroused. Then it was proposed to build just south of the Park on the block bounded by Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Streets and Sixth and Seventh Avenues. That was given up when it was determined that, even under condemnation proceedings, the land alone would come to $30,000,000. Then the Jerome Park Reservoir tract was discovered and the announcement that it had been selected was made at a private dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, at which the Mayor was the guest of the committee that had the matter in charge.

The Fifty-eighth Street site, it became known yesterday, was secretly abandoned during the Summer. In June it was announced that the Music and Art Centre definitely was to be built there. In July it became apparent that the cost would be enormous. In August that site was abandoned and search for a site was begun all over again.

Jerome Park Was Hulbert's Idea.

In September the Jerome Park tract was suggested by Murray Hulbert, President of the Board of Aldermen. Members of the committee, of which the City Chamberlain, Philip Berolheimer, was Chairman, examined the property and were impressed with its possibilities. The final conferences at which the matter was settled were held on Oct. 27 and Nov. 3 and 8.

Mayor Hylan himself described the site as a wilderness. It has been used for dumping purposes. In some places there are holes forty feet deep. There are 200 acres in all, stretching north from 195th Street, between Jerome Avenue and the easterly line of Jerome Park reservoir, to Mosholu Parkway and Van Cortlandt Park. Some time ago twenty-five acres on the southern end were transferred to the Board of Education for an elementary school and athletic field and forty-five acres at the northern extremity to the board for the site of the new De Witt Clinton High School. Between these two parcels of land there are 130 acres held by the Sinking Fund Commissioners, and it is this property that the Mayor proposes to utilize for his project.

"While at first glance it may seem far out of the way," Alfred Human, a member of the committee, said yesterday, "the fact of the matter is that the Mayor and Mr. Berolheimer are looking ahead fifteen or twenty-five years. They realize that Yonkers and New Rochelle then will be outlying districts of the city and that the site will be in the heart of a great residential district. When City College decided to build on 137th Street it was thought

IDENTIFY POLICEMAN AS A SALOON BANDIT

Fourth Member of Force to Be Charged With Robbery Within a Month.

ACCUSED MAN SUSPENDED

Bartender Says That Motorcycle Officer Showed Shield While Holding Him Up.

Ludwig Lavender, a policeman attached to the Long Island City Station, was locked up in the Maserole Avenue Station in Brooklyn last night as a hold-up man. His arrest was the fourth within a month of a policeman on a robbery charge.

In a line-up of policemen in the Long Island City Station yesterday afternoon Lavender was picked out by three witnesses as one of the men who had held up a saloon at 338 Oakland Street, in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn on Wednesday night, and kidnapped the barkeeper.

At the time of the hold-up Alexander Poznaski was behind the bar and there were four customers in the saloon.

"Give us stuff," said one of the men who entered the saloon in plain clothes. Poznaski set drinks in front of them.

"We're Federal agents and we got you," said one of the two. "Come with us."

Shield Flashed by Robber.

The bartender was not sure whether they were Federal agents or hold-up men and hesitated. One of the two men threw back his coat and showed what the bartender took to be a police shield, but covered it again before the number could be read.

"Come with us," he said. "First empty the till, and lock it up."

Poznaski thought that was a strange order and made up his mind that the two visitors were robbers using the familiar pretense of being law enforcers. He swung quickly and landed on the jaw of one of them. The second man—the man with the police shield—drew a revolver.

"Hands up," he ordered. Poznaski obeyed. The robber then swung the weapon about so as to cover the four men who were drinking in the saloon. He lined them up against the wall.

"I'll drill any man that moves," he said. Then the man with the shield and his companion escorted the bartender outside. A taxicab was waiting. The three entered. Once inside the bandits began to search Poznaski and took a wallet containing $50. They threw the barkeeper out near McCarren Park and drove away.

Poznaski went with his story to the Maserole Avenue Station, where he was turned over to Captain Daniel J. Carey of the Seventh Detective Division. Captain Carey questioned the man closely. The story rang true and he assigned Detectives Stern and Wanderburg to the case.

Another Bartender Arrested.

From the description given by the bartender, the detectives yesterday arrested Anthony Pritakwitz, who is bartender of a saloon not far from the one where the hold-up occurred. Under prolonged questioning the prisoner broke down, the detectives said, and made a confession involving a policeman in the Long Island City station.

Detectives Stern and Wanderburg went to the Long Island City station yesterday afternoon with their witnesses. At the change of shifts, every policeman in the station was ordered to line up against the wall.

The barkeeper who had been robbed and two of his customers looked them over. They all positively identified Lavender as the second bandit. Pritakwitz also asserted that Lavender had been his companion. Lavender denied that he had any knowledge of the affair, but he was placed under arrest.

Lavender is married and lives at 9,018 Seventy-seventh Street, Woodhaven. He has been in the Police Department for three years and is a motorcycle policeman. Last night First Deputy Commissioner Leach took his star and suspended him.

Three weeks ago Policeman Thomas O'Hara was arrested on his post, stripped of his badge and revolver and arraigned in the Yorkville Court on the charge that he had held up George Koss at 165 Lexington Avenue and robbed him of $10.

Policeman Frederick Adam of Traffic Squad D and Police Reserve Arthur Macaing were arrested on Nov. 4 on the charge of holding up Luis Stessel of Mamaroneck on Boston Post Road in the Bronx, but were exonerated when the complainant failed to appear against them.

PASTOR'S WIFE DEAD BEFORE CREMATION, CHEMIST DISCLOSES

No Trace of Monoxide Gas Is Found in Vital Parts Which He Examined.

BODY PUT IN BY ANOTHER

Officials Are Convinced They Are on the Way to Solving the Tragedy.

SON'S STORY IS QUESTIONED

Police Check His Movements and Reasons for Not Reporting Finding of Body.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 21.—Hands other than her own contrived the gruesome cremation of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley Monday afternoon, it is now declared. The middle-aged wife of the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley must have been dead when her body entered the furnace that almost consumed it in the parsonage of the Christ Lutheran Church in the suburb of Bexley, the authorities contend tonight. They base their contentions on the preliminary report of C. H. Long, a chemical expert, who examined vital parts of the body. This report was made to Prosecutor John R. King late tonight.

The Prosecutor returned tonight from Canton, where he had been questioning the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley and his sons, Clarence, 17, and Milton, 20. Mr. Long withheld his full report, but he indicated that the scientific tests show the woman never breathed after her body entered the furnace and that therefore she must have died outside the firebox and her body was placed on the coals after she was dead.

Had Mrs. Sheatsley breathed inside the furnace in which the remains of her body was found traces of carbon monoxide gas would have been detected on the tissues of the lungs.

The chemist declared that in three ounces of good blood from the woman's lungs he found no trace of carbon-monoxide poisoning. There was intense congestion in each of the lungs, he added.

The chemist also said that his examination of the woman's organs showed no trace of poison.

The police feel that with the establishment of these facts they have penetrated the mystery. The County Attorney believes other disclosures will follow. He is said to have stated over the telephone to assistants that the way toward clearing up the mystery is now seen.

Saw Victim Just Before Death.

Lieutenant W. G. Sheltenberger, who has been directing the police investigation, said two witnesses have been found outside of members of the family who saw Mrs. Sheatsley alive probably within less than two hours before her death. The officers did not make public the names of the witnesses, but it was understood they were two men who were working across the street from the parsonage.

"They say positively they are sure they saw Mrs. Sheatsley," Lieutenant Sheltenberger said. "They say the upper window of the Sheatsley home was open, and that they saw Mrs. Sheatsley pass it several times. They remembered distinctly that she shook some bedclothes out of the window. They fix the time they saw her at about 1:45 in the afternoon. Soon after they saw Mrs. Sheatsley at the window, they saw Clarence, the 17-year-old boy, come out of the house."

The statement of these witnesses check with the time the boy Clarence said he left home. Taking their own statements of their movements, the time they left and returned to the house, the authorities have been checking the stories of the Rev. Dr. Sheatsley, his sons and even the young girls, Elizabeth, 14, and Alice, 10.

It is now set down that Dr. Sheatsley left the house at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, that Milton and the two girls left fifteen minutes later, and that Clarence left at about 1:45. Clarence said another student's mother called on the telephone and asked him, when he answered, to go to the Capitol University and ask her son to come home. Clarence says he left the house about 1:48 and that his mother was then "upstairs."

Mrs. Sheatsley must have met death and been placed in the furnace between the time Clarence left and the time the

Schenck House, Built in 1656, Is Offered to City for $10,000

Albert B. Hager, representing the owners, has submitted to Aldermanic President Murray Hulbert an offer to sell the old Schenck Homestead at Mill Basin, Brooklyn, with a plot of ground 200 feet square, for $10,000.

This house, built in 1656, is believed to be the oldest house in New York City and is of interest not only because of its age, but because one of the earliest occupants is supposed to have been interested in ships which plied between New Netherlands and Old Netherlands and docked at the wharf formerly adjoining this house.

Mr. Hulbert said he thought there ought to be enough public-spirited citizens to present it to the city as a memorial to mark the 290th anniversary of the Settlement of New York in 1624.

REPUBLICANS WAIT FOR FUSION TO GROW

Final Decision Deferred Until Independents Show How Strong They Are.

RANK AND FILE AGAINST IT

Jacob A. Livingston, Brooklyn Leader, Sees No Reason for Rejecting Aid, However.

While the fusion movement is in the making the anti-fusion proposal brought before the Republican County Committee at its meeting on Thursday night is likely to be permitted to slumber peacefully in the County Committee's Committee on Resolutions, to which body it was referred by County Chairman Samuel S. Koenig immediately upon introduction.

The impression in some quarters that the reference of the resolution to a committee was a move to sidetrack the anti-fusion proposal is erroneous. The disposal of the resolution by Mr. Koenig was in accord with the rules of the County Committee, which provide that every resolution introduced shall be referred to the Resolutions Committee without debate. Only under a suspension of rules, which is an unusual procedure, could it have come up for discussion at Thursday night's meeting.

Usually resolutions go over for one month before they are taken up for final consideration. There is nothing in the rules, however, to prevent the Committee on Resolutions from taking more than a month for preliminary consideration of such measures. It is not unusual that an important resolution is held in committee for a longer period. The latter course, it was intimated yesterday, is likely to be followed in this instance. Leaders in the organization are anxious to give the fusion movement launched on Thursday night by Joseph M. Price time to gather some momentum so as to afford them an opportunity to judge just how much it is going to amount to before they reach a final decision on the question of fusing or going it alone in next year's Mayoralty campaign.

Rank and File Against Fusion.

That the rank and file of the Republican County Committee are opposed to fusion and in accord with Senator Wadsworth and State Chairman George R. Morris with regard to next year's plan of campaign would appear from the manner in which the anti-fusion resolution was received when presented at the County Committee meeting on Thursday night. Members of the committee said yesterday that it was fair to assume that if there should be undue delay in bringing the anti-fusion resolution before the full committee for debate a determined fight would be made to have the Resolutions Committee discharged from further consideration of the resolution. This can be done by a majority vote.

It was said yesterday that Mr. Koenig could serve no purpose useful to himself by inviting a storm within the county organization when his leadership is under fire. The general opinion among members of the County Committee who discussed the situation yesterday was that he would be found anxious to avoid a fight and that any delay occurring in connection with the anti-fusion proposal would be occasioned by a desire on his part for time to look about and reach a determination with regard to what

BROOKLYN WOMEN DEMAND THAT HYLAN DIG SUBWAYS NOW

Three Hundred of Them Unanimously Adopt Resolutions Calling for Action at Once.

EVILS CALLED ATROCIOUS

O'RYAN DENOUNCES BUSES

Declares Plan Physically Impossible —Hylan Attacks a Newspaper in Letter to Dahl.

Three hundred Brooklyn women met yesterday under the auspices of the Women's Subway Committee of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce and unanimously adopted resolutions demanding that the Hylan Administration begin immediately the digging of more subways.

Present transit conditions were denounced as "atrocious," and one of the speakers suggested that separate cars should be run for women to reduce the indecencies incident to overcrowding.

At the same time Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, member of the Transit Commission, analyzing Mayor Hylan's plan for "scrapping" the elevated roads and the surface trolley lines, presented figures to show its impracticability. To substitute buses for these existing means of transportation, General O'Ryan declared, would require the use of nearly 8,000 vehicles, which would block the streets for other traffic. The buses, if they did the work now done by the elevated trains and the surface cars, would have to carry more than 862,000,000 passengers a year.

The day brought forth incidentally the usual letter from Mayor Hylan to Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the Board of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, and the usual letter from Mr. Dahl to the Mayor. This time the Mayor asks Mr. Dahl: "Is it true that you have found a new way to use up the funds of the B. M. T.? I understand that you are paying to a New York evening newspaper many thousands of dollars to have editorials and propaganda printed misrepresenting the City Administration. Tell the public how much you are giving to this newspaper of the moneys which you expect subsequently to get out of the nickels paid by the passengers."

The Brooklyn Women Demand Action.

The action of the Brooklyn women was taken yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Women's Subway Committee held in the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, 32 Court Street, Brooklyn.

More than 300 women, many of them prominent in the life of the borough, were present when the meeting was called to order by Dr. Harriett C. Van Buren Peckham of 698 Park Place, who acted as Chairman. Dr. Peckham in a brief statement told those present that the activities of the Women's Subway Committee were to be non-political, non-racial and non-religious and that the movement was simply designed to get better transit facilities for Brooklyn.

Arthur S. Somers, President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, told those present that both he and the Chamber of Commerce appreciated the burdens borne by the City Administration and that he had the utmost sympathy with those responsible for the safeguarding the interests of the city.

"It may be that we are asking too much of the City Government when we present our demands for subway improvements," said Mr. Somers.

"It may be that the city is unable to give us the additional subways which we are seeking. If that is so, then we will have to do the best we can under the conditions.

Somers Says City Should Answer.

"But the city has not given us any answer to our questions. If it is impossible to build more subways the city should say so. At least we are entitled to be told just what the situation is. I do not intend to enter any controversy, and neither does the Chamber of Commerce, but no controversy can be settled by writing letters and arguing at newspaper length as it were.

"We have a right to say to both of the parties to the present controversy, 'Are you willing to sit around a table and make an honest effort to settle the problem of better transportation for the greater city?' If either of the parties refuses we will be able to pin the responsibility on the party who is at fault. This civic body offers to do everything in its power to get at the facts and present them to the people."

"The statement of a fact is not an unjust criticism," said the Rev. J. Percival Hugel, pastor of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, in addressing the meeting. "There are certain facts which just now need to be stated. The first of these is that transportation in the City of New York is lagging far behind other developments in the past decade. I am greatly impressed by the patience and courtesy of all classes of people under the present existence and worse which we all suffer. Particularly am I impressed with the courtesy and forbearance of women under circumstances which are often positively disgraceful and unnecessary but are often intolerable. I suggest that if his letter to the Chairman of this Women's Committee is to be taken as an indication, the Mayor of this city falls far short of a like degree of courtesy.

"Now, policies with a situation which cannot be remedied in a virtue, but silence ceases to be a virtue when a situation is caused by being unwilling to give to it any purpose to indicate methods by which improved transportation can be secured for the city. I think the business men on the one hand, the transportation companies and other hand of the City Government

Liquor Patrol Fires at M. M. Belding Yacht And Boards Craft, Later Apologizing to Owner

Special to The New York Times.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 21.—M. M. Belding's new cruiser yacht Cocoon was fired upon just after dusk tonight and boarded from Government Coast Guard patrol boats C. G.-2218 and C. G.-2217.

The shots from one-pound guns were fired at the Cocoon as the yacht was heading in toward Government Cut after having made a fast trip down the bay around Cape Florida and into the Atlantic.

C. B. O'Neill, a patrol boat officer, boarded the Cocoon and made a search. He is said by Mr. Belding to have expressed regret over the incident.

Aboard the Cocoon were Mr. Belding, the New York silk manufacturer; W. H. Stillwammer, his secretary; Dr. George M. Smith of Mount Clemens, Mich., and Miami; Captain T. T. Zimmerman and three members of the crew.

The first shot heard on the Cocoon was when the cruiser was about two miles east of the Government Cut. Those aboard thought it was glass breaking or a door slamming. Two minutes later another shot was heard. This they plainly identified as a gunshot. Almost immediately Captain Zimmerman sounded three blasts, which meant for the other boats to come up. The owner also called for the patrol boats to come on. At the same time the searchlight of the yacht was thrown upon the Government craft.

The Cocoon, guarded by the patrol boats, steamed into Government Cut, where it stopped. The yacht then was boarded and searched. When no liquor was found the Cocoon was permitted to steam to her berth, and the officer expressed his regret.

Mr. Belding said that he was absolutely convinced that the Government officers knew the identity of his cruiser and said that the affair would be reported to Washington. The yacht he said, was lighted from stem to stern, but there were no lights on the patrol boats. The fact that the Cocoon had on all her lights Mr. Belding thinks should have guaranteed him from being fired upon. He believes that the first shot hit the Cocoon, but this cannot be determined until daylight.

At Mr. Belding's home at 1,495 Fifth Avenue last night it was explained that the Cocoon is a new yacht and left New York harbor several days ago to receive the finishing touches in Florida before she was ready for the owner and his guests.

What I am here to say is that the citizens in general, and particularly the women, have a perfect right to expect and to demand that this problem be solved.

"This Women's Committee has a perfect right to ask the two outstanding questions which have been asked, namely: 'What are you going to do about it?' and 'What is the city going to do about it?' They have a right to ask these questions and they have a right to insist upon an answer. They have a right to demand that those who are in charge of the situation proceed promptly and efficiently to the solution of the problem or that they get out of the way and let somebody who can and will take their places.

"I am sorry to felicitate you women on the fact that you have so much cause for grief in this rinsatsuma problem," said Rabbi Samuel J. Levinson, of the Flatbush Temple. "Our transit facilities in this great metropolis are entirely inadequate. You will never solve the question of our problems with words; action and deeds are necessary."

When the speech-making had concluded Dr. Peckham read a letter written by Mrs. Rose Climenko, widow of Dr. Hyman Climenko, neurologist. Mrs. Climenko wrote in part:

"Many cases of mental disturbance are due directly to the indecent subway crowding. The Black Hole of Calcutta was nothing on our subways. They did not crowd women in there. My suggestion would be that until this horrible crowding can be overcome to use some cars for men and others for women."

The letter, according to Dr. Peckham, was only one of thousands received by the committee protesting against the overcrowding of subway trains. Dr. Peckham read to the meeting the answer received by her as Chairman of the committee to her letter to the Mayor submitting twenty-eight questions regarding the transit situation. Dr. Peckham commented on the fact that the letter was not signed by the Mayor but by an assistant secretary in his office.

A suggestion was made by one of the women that a letter be sent to Mayor Hylan stating that the Women's Committee is not "in collusion" with Mr. Dahl, as his letter intimated. Another woman proposed that the committee go to City Hall in person and tell the Mayor in his office that Mr. Dahl had nothing to do with their committee. The resolutions drawn up were then read to the meeting by Mrs. Mary Gooderson, Republican co-leader of the Eleventh Assembly District.

Resolutions of Protest Adopted.

They follow:

Whereas we women of Brooklyn are vitally interested in the increase and the improvement of the rapid transit facilities of our Borough and our city because of our citizenship, our property interests and the welfare and prosperity of our households, and

Whereas we women of Brooklyn are conscious of the loss, the hazard, the delays and the discomforts suffered by all who travel on our subway lines because of the shortage of facilities and the consequent atrocious crowding of those facilities, and

Whereas we women of Brooklyn are daily forced to endure veritable indignities and indecencies of crowding in the subways to a degree unrealized by men who have not had to ride at first and last hand these offensive conditions, and

Whereas we women of Brooklyn feel it our right and duty to demand relief from these intolerable conditions which appear to continue in large measure only because they possess a political asset value, and

Whereas only by the construction of additional subway lines and the completion of certain unfinished portions of existing lines can conditions now steadily getting worse be remedied, and

Whereas the essential facts governing the location of new and meritorious subway lines have long been approved, and are agreed upon in their broader aspects for years by the successive boards and commissions charged with such responsibility—State, city and municipal—the variations only matters of technical detail, and

Whereas the only discoverable excuse offered up as the reason for the non-action is the policy of inaction is its opposition to the possibility that new lines, when built, might fall under the operating authority of the municipality now operating the existing subways, and

Whereas it is admitted that approximately five years will be required to construct and equip new subways so that they may be of service to the public, which offers ample time for complete public discussion of the issue between the people and private operation; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, as representatives of the women of Brooklyn and the City of New York, do hereby urge the Mayor of the city and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to proceed without further delay with the work of building such needed subways; and, be it further

Resolved, That, resenting the indecencies and indignities to which women who are compelled to make use of the subways must submit as a result of the inaction on the part of the city Administration during the last seven years, we pledge ourselves to do our utmost individual to bring every proper influence to bear upon the Mayor and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to compel their policy of evasion, inaction and delay to one of construction, to the end that transit relief may be had at the earliest possible moment; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of these resolutions be placed before the Mayor of the City of New York and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

MAYOR'S BUS PLAN A DREAM, SAYS O'RYAN

7,876 Double-Deckers Required, He Declares, Would Choke the Streets.

Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, member of the Transit Commission, in a statement issued yesterday, analyzed Mayor Hylan's proposals for the scrapping of the surface trolley lines and elevated railroads and presented figures to show what it would mean to undertake to substitute a bus service for these means of transportation. In his statement General O'Ryan said:

"It is amazing that there are any among the city's population who still believe in the sincerity and qualifications for his office of Mayor Hylan. Take the following as an example of the astounding statements constantly being made by the Mayor. At a dinner at the Hotel Plaza on Wednesday, Nov. 12, Mayor Hylan, speaking to the Upper Sixth Avenue Merchants, said:

"'Although we have been criticised for our program, the time is not far away when the surface car tracks will be taken up, particularly in the congested parts of the city. The time is not far off, either, when there will be no elevated structures left in the Borough of Manhattan and, when buses will be substituted for both.'

"Of course, we are all agreed that a city devoid of the ugly elevated structures and trolley tracks, with the accompanying noise, presents a pleasant picture. For the convenience of those who want facts even though they may shatter pleasant dreams, let me present some which indicate the impracticability of what the Mayor proposes.

"The passengers hauled by the elevated and surface lines of the Borough of Manhattan last year aggregated 662,402,700. By dividing sixty passengers per bus trip into 662,402,700 passengers, above mentioned, we get 16,874,314 bus trips in a year as the number of trips necessary to carry the passengers that were last year carried by the surface and elevated lines of Manhattan. Dividing this number by the number of days in the year, 365, we get 46,851 as the number of bus trips per day necessary to haul the above-mentioned number of passengers.

Suffice it to say that upon the foregoing figures and assuming that the average number of trips a day per bus would be five, we may determine the number of buses required by dividing 5 into 46,851, being the number of bus trips a day, and we have 1,870 buses.

"Now let the reader reflect upon what that would mean. We all know how crowded Fifth Avenue is at the present time by the buses of the Fifth Avenue Bus Company. Yet the total number of buses owned by this company is but 356, of which but 112 are operated on Fifth Avenue. Add to the existing street traffic the thousands of buses which the Mayor pictures as substitutes for the elevated and surface lines, and even the dullest mind can realize how absurd his proposal is.

"The full measure of Mr. Hylan's ignorance or insincerity cannot be understood without reference to other aspects of his proposal. The first is the matter of cost of the buses and plant which would be needed to maintain them. A bus such as indicated would cost at least $8,500, so that to purchase buses for Manhattan and Brooklyn now operating would require more than $125,000,000, without considering the cost of plant.

"In my opinion, it will take the good part of a generation for this city to recover from the consequences of Mayor Hylan's seven years of stewardship as the Chief Executive of the city. It is the duty of every man and woman in this city, no matter how humble they may be, sincerely to advise his policies and activities so that they may proceed intelligently and with concerted action to free themselves from further consequences of his power and influence."

HYLAN ASSAILS DAHL FROM A NEW ANGLE

He Hints That B. M. T. Head Is Paying a Newspaper for Editorial Support.

Mayor Hylan wrote another letter yesterday to Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit Corporation. Mr. Dahl also wrote to Mayor Hylan. Neither communication was in reply to the other. Both bore the same date and they apparently "crossed" in transit.

The Mayor's letter starts by asking Mr. Dahl: "Is it true that you have now found a new way to use up the funds of the B. M. T.? I understand that you are paying to a New York evening newspaper many thousands of dollars to have editorials and propaganda printed misrepresenting the City Administration." The Mayor goes on to demand that Mr. Dahl "tell the truth" about how much he is giving the newspaper to be recouped from the nickels of passengers, and remarks that with the "propaganda hopper" working overtime "feeding detraction material to the traction press" Mr. Dahl may have time to answer a few questions.

Mr. Hylan then wants to know if Mr. Dahl did not serve three masters in the B. R. T. reorganization, asking if he and "other Wall Street syndicators" did not pocket $1,430,000 for "selling stock to the boys subscribing $20 for each share of B. R. T. stock then selling at $1." He also wants to know if Mr. Dahl's friends did not divide $3,500,000 more in fees, allowances and commissions and asks for the names of those alleged to have so profited.

Recalls B. M. T. Earnings in 1923.

Quoting Mr. Dahl's statement that "we have never said that we are operating at a loss," the Mayor wants to know if "the nickels squeezed out of strap-hangers" are not ample for needed transit improvements besides paying a fair return on investment.

Next the Mayor charges that Mr. Dahl did not deny, when he was "scouting for stock buyers, that for the year ended June 30, 1923, the first after the reorganization, the B. M. T. earned $4,902,065, and asked if Mr. Dahl's purpose in insisting on a smaller figure for those earnings now was not to help the increased-fare movement.

Mr. Hylan mentions an increase of $28,000,000 in the value of B. M. T. preferred and common in a year and wants to know "how much went into the pockets" of Mr. Dahl, "your partners, Hayden, Stone & Co. and the Wall Street banking office of J. & W. Seligman." The Mayor then attacks the "scallat," transit "truths" disputing the statement that there has been no financial juggling or manipulation. From that he passes to a query whether "the $4,300,000 which the Mayor says was taken from the B. R. T. 'with the consent of Mcadoo Transit Commission' would not have been sufficient to install the 'dead man's button' which might have obviated the Ocean Parkway accident." The Mayor also dwells on the use of wooden cars in the Centre Street loop, saying there were eighteen such trains of seven wooden cars in operation in a recent morning rush hour, some built between 1884 and 1893, almost two and a half years after the Transit Commission had announced elimination of such cars.

Dahl Tells of $100,000 Week Loss.

In his letter to the Mayor, Mr. Dahl says that the city has $150,000,000 invested in subway and elevated lines leased to the New York Rapid Transit Corporation, that corporation being controlled through stock ownership by the city. He then remarks that the prosperity or adversity of the lines depends on the earnings of the New York Rapid Transit Corporation and not the B. M. T. He remarks that the B. M. T. has considerable income from bonds and other investments of surface line companies, and says the B. M. T.'s prosperity no more means prosperity for the other company than Smith's prosperity means prosperity for the company in which Smith, or Brown, or Jones owns stock.

Mr. Dahl then asserts that on the N. Y. R. T. C. there was a deficit for the year ending June 30, 1924, of $128,028 for investors, and $4,078,000 for the taxpayers, and that the total deficit from Aug. 4, 1918, to June 30, 1924, was $18,884,000 to the investors and $33,917,000 to the city. The writer then gave two reasons for this deficit. The first, he said, was the decline in the purchasing power of the nickel and the Mayor's opposition to completion of the Fourteenth Street line to East New York and to the building of Nostrand and other improvements.

Under the heading "millions" writes Mr. Dahl, investors are losing $140,000 a week on the transit lines, which is "part of the cost of having rapid transit service subject to political manipulation, abuse and opposition." Mr. Dahl added that figures to back his assertions were on file with the Transit Commission and open to public scrutiny.

HIRSHFIELD BEGINS POLICE QUIZ TODAY

"Invitee" Alderman Wirth and Others to Submit Facts, but Wirth Refuses.

WOULD PAY WITNESS FEES

Investigation Asked by Enright, but He Departs This Afternoon for South America.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, announced yesterday that he would begin an investigation today into the charges of graft and corruption made against the Special Service Division of the Police Department at last Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen. The Commissioner will hold a hearing in his office in the Municipal Building at 10 o'clock this morning, but Police Commissioner Enright will not be present. Mr. Enright sails this afternoon for a six weeks' visit to South America.

Commissioner Hirshfield wrote a letter to Alderman John Wirth of Brooklyn, Republican leader of the Board of Aldermen, "inviting" him and other aldermanic critics of the Police Department to appear at the investigation. Alderman Wirth in a reply made it plain that he did not intend to accept the invitation.

It became likely that Mr. Wirth and his Republican associates in the Board of Aldermen would not go through with their proposed plan to petition a Supreme Court Justice to authorize an investigation of the Police Department. Mr. Wirth and five other Republican Aldermen conferred at City Hall and decided to submit the question today to the Republican leaders of the various boroughs. It is understood that opposition to any such investigation at present will be encountered among the most influential of the leaders, who are said to consider the suggestion ill-advised.

Commissioner Hirshfield, in his letter to Alderman Wirth, said his investigation had been asked by Commissioner Enright and that the city charter obliged him to act on the request.

Saying he wanted a "full and fair" inquiry, Mr. Hirshfield then extended his "invitation" not only to Alderman Wirth, but to "Aldermen McGuinness, Sullivan, Kiernan, Quinn and every other Alderman," to appear to "map out the scope" of the investigation and to submit names of witnesses.

"I will issue subpoenas to all persons you gentlemen will name," said Commissioner Hirshfield, "and, Controller Craig is holding up the fees of this office, I will pay the witness fees out of my own pocket."

The Commissioner recalled the opposition of the Aldermen he named to the restoration of his power to issue subpoenas, but said he did not hold this against them, as it "was not personal but was based entirely on partisan grounds." He attacked the proposal to have a Justice of the Supreme Court conduct the investigation and concluded:

"Let us, therefore, as old friends, investigate the police together and, if you must have an investigation of your own before I authorize the Supreme Court, take my tip and let the Department of Finance be your objective. You might find something worth while there. As you know, I am restrained from examining the books of the bank by order of Justices of the Supreme Court and, until the Court of Appeals some day sets aside those injunctions, Controller Craig is safe from being investigated by the Commissioner of Accounts."

Alderman Wirth, in his reply, said:

"This letter was unsigned, which is indicative of the general inefficiency of your office, and your many previous whitewashing investigations. We have the right to think that any investigation of the Police Department by your office would be just as humorous as your delivering this letter to me unsigned."

A postscript added:

"Perhaps you were purposely done because of your veiled charges of graft against the Finance Department."

Alderman John P. Kiernan of Coney Island, a Democrat, who last Tuesday objected to Commissioner Enright's order giving a three-day vacation to policemen who arrested persons offering them bribes, said yesterday:

"Every time an officer gets a vacation in this manner his place must be filled, and a relief policeman is given now. They use police booths in my district. Many of them are vacant at all hours of the day and night. This is not the fault of our local police captain, who is doing his best, handicapped with an insufficient number of men. Let the Police Commissioner take the men out of some of the unnecessary squads he has organized and let him use them by policing the outlying districts, such as mine, and we will have fewer burglaries committed."

Commissioner Enright will sail at 3 o'clock on the Munson Line steamship American Legion. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Enright. They will return early in January. The Commissioner will visit police chiefs in various cities of South America and will study police conditions there. John J. Leach, First Deputy Commissioner, will be in charge of the department while he is away.

PASTOR'S WIFE DEAD BEFORE CREMATION

boy says he returned at 3:15 o'clock. He smelled the peculiar odor of burning flesh when he reached home.

Milton returned home at 3:30, the girls having come in about ten minutes earlier. The Rev. Dr. Sheatsley came home about 4:30, went out with the boys, got a grocery order and returned again at 4:45. The body was found by the minister at 4:55.

The authorities are considering many seeming inconsistencies in the statements of the preacher and the two boys.

The Rev. Dr. Sheatsley has clung tenaciously to the suicide theory and his attitude puzzles the authorities. He has suggested that his wife threw herself to her death by hanging by the arms from a small upper door and swinging herself after the fashion of an athlete through the fourteen inch square door of the furnace below, thirty inches up from the floor.

The detectives and the prosecutor say it would have been impossible for the woman to do this. But the preacher has submitted a note from Milton that the small upper door was open and closed that as a fact they would have contrived death after the manner he believes.

The preacher further develops a suicide motive, citing a pathological condition of Mrs. Sheatsley's eyes. He says she said to him on the morning of the tragedy:

"I have committed grievous sin. I wonder if I'll go to Heaven."

Also the woman was said to have talked of her sins to her two daughters that morning, clasping them in her arms and weeping as she said:

"You poor children. Your mother will never be forgiven for her sins."

Lieutenant Shellenbarger says he has found witnesses who saw her about her tasks early in the afternoon, seemingly undisturbed or sorrowful.

The minister says he saw his wife in the furnace, then. He said he could "see the flames through her ribs" about 5 o'clock; yet he did not put out the fire nor was it put out until the Coroner arrived and extinguished it two hours later.

The boy, Clarence, saw the body in the furnace, thought it was his mother, he testified, about 5:30. He made no outcry, told no one, simply went upstairs and laid on the bed for a while, and then got up and went out on the football field to pass the ball around."

"And you did all this knowing your mother was burning there in the furnace?" Clarence says Prosecutor King asked.

Prosecutor King, Clarence answered, "Yes." Then Prosecutor King asked Clarence why he did not tell some one his mother was there in the furnace, and Clarence replied:

"She was dead then, anyway; what good could it do?"

The authorities assert that these are not the reactions of a normal boy.

FLORES IN REVOLT, MEXICO CITY HEARS

Government Does Not Believe the Report, However, as Federal Troops Hold Control.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—The War Department today officially denied that an uprising headed by General Angel Flores had broken out. It was said that the entire State was surrounded by Federal troops, and that it was impossible for a new movement there to succeed. A local daily said its report came from its correspondent on the west Coast.

It is believed here that the reports are untrue, as this is the season for cutting sugar cane and gathering the tomato crop, and other industries on the west coast, all totaling $40,000,000 a year. Most of these businesses are owned by friends of General Flores and any attempt to revolt at this time would cause great damage to their interests, as the Government would immediately seize all property owned by the Flores followers.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—General Angel Flores, unsuccessful candidate in the last Presidential election, has revolted, according to private dispatches from Masatlan to the newspaper El Universal here.

The dispatches say that General Flores left Culiacan, Sinaloa, Wednesday night in an automobile, accompanied by seven followers, for the mountains along the Sinaloa-Durango boundary, where General Miramontes awaited him at the head of a few hundred men.

Confirmation is unavailable in official quarters, and General Hector Almada, Chief of Staff of the military commandant of the Valley of Mexico, was inclined last night to deny the report.

Would Keep Out British Arms.

Special to The New York Times.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 21.—C. T. Cramp, Chairman of the British Labor Party, and A. B. Swales, President of the British Trade Union Congress, who addressed the Mexican Confederation of Labor Convention here today, were informed by Ricardo Trevino, General Secretary of the Mexican Federation, that plans are under way to begin a new revolution in Mexico, with the use of British arms and ammunition. The weapons, said Trevino, are now in Belize, British Honduras, ready to be smuggled into Mexico at the earliest opportunity.

Messrs. Swales and Cramp denounced the use of British arms for such purposes and also said they were not aware that weapons from their country had been placed in the hands of the De la Huerta forces in the recent revolt against the Obregon Government, as alleged by Trevino.

However, the British representatives said they would do all in their power to prevent the smuggling of British arms into Mexico, to "curb English capitalists in Mexico," and they recalled that the British Labor Party had prevented the shipment of arms from England to the enemies of the Soviet Government.

The British delegates, who are also delegates to the American Federation of Labor Convention in El Paso, then sent the following cablegram to Arthur Henderson, Secretary of the British Labor Party:

"Henderson, Secretary British Labor Party, London.

"Informed here that arms purchased in England are shipped British Honduras to be used against Mexican Labor Government. Urge upon you have question raised in Parliament and do everything possible prevent repetition. Also inform Daily Herald and Trade Union Congress.

"CRAMP SWALES."

UNITE TO AID CATHEDRAL.

Sixty Prominent Citizens of Many Faiths Form Committee.

Bishop William T. Manning announced last evening the membership of a Citizens Committee consisting of sixty prominent men and women of various denominations who will help in the movement to complete the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. This group will cooperate with the General Campaign Committee, of which Franklin D. Roosevelt is national Chairman, but will be distinct from it.

Elihu Root is Chairman of the Citizens Committee, and George W. Wickersham is Vice Chairman. The other members are: Edward F. NEW SUBWAY CAR TO ELIMINATE NOISE

William G. Gove, Superintendent of Equipment of the B. M. T., described before the New York Railroad Club meeting last night in the United Engineering Societies building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, a new type of articulated car which will be installed at an early date on the B. M. T. subway. The new car is guaranteed to eliminate noise and carry more passengers, with greater comfort and at a lesser operating cost. The cars are joined somewhat in the manner in which Pullman cars are joined, or articulated.

Before the paper was read the members of the club held an election. William F. Jones, General Storekeeper of the New York Central Railway at West Albany, was elected President, and John G. Mantel, Vice President of the Erie Railway, First Vice President.

Warns Schoolgirls Against Joyrides.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Principals of all Syracuse schools were asked today by Chief of Police Cadin to warn their girl pupils against accepting automobile rides with strangers, as the result of several recent complaints of kidnapping which have been brought to the attention of the police.

FIFTH AV. ROBBERS 'HOOK' $5,000 FUR

Cut Hole in Window Under the Orange Lights and With Pole Fish Out Cape.

3 CHAIN STORES HELD UP

Thieves, in Flight, Motor Past Residence of Mayor Hylan—Bronx Burglars Foiled.

Working by the orange lights which commemorate the 100th birthday of Fifth Avenue, thieves cut a hole in the shop window of the Faison Maurice at 661 Fifth Avenue, diagonally across the street from St. Thomas's Church at about 4 o'clock yesterday morning and fished out with a pole and a hook a fur cape said to be worth $5,000.

The robbery was timed to take place while Policeman McGowan, who was patrolling that part of Fifth Avenue, was having his lunch. Apparently the thieves had studied the policeman's feeding habits and kept one of their number trailing him while the others cut through the window.

The hold-up of a chain grocery store in Brooklyn not far from the residence of Mayor Hylan became known yesterday, after the fact had been suppressed by the police. An investigation showed that the robbers in their flight had motored past the residence of Mayor Hylan.

This was one of three chain grocery hold-ups in Brooklyn on Thursday night, information of which was withheld by the police in pursuance of a policy of concealment.

The first hold-up was at the Thomas Roulston store at 23 Wilson Avenue, where Arthur Rosslan, the manager, was forced at a revolver's point to open the safe. While he was at this task, two boys entered to buy something.

"Throw up your hands," came the order.

The boys obeyed and, trembling, they marched into a back room. They needed promises to be quiet when they were informed that they would be murdered forthwith if they uttered a sound. The thieves obtained here a total of $176.

Twenty minutes later the same black automobile rolled up to a Daniel Reeves store at 372 Albany Avenue and Arnold Wolfe, the clerk, was backed into a rear room while $25 was taken from the till.

Six men in an automobile were arrested, last night at Broadway and Fifty-ninth Street by Detectives Coleman, Fitzpatrick, O'Connell and Clampett of the West Forty-seventh Street station, after a chase. Two found the three bodies hanging from the rafters in the basement and notified the police. His wife had recently suffered ill health. Burkhart said.

Burkhart said he found all the windows and doors in the house were locked. The tragedy occurred some time between 7 A. M. and 1 P. M.

ROAR OF ATOMS HEARD BY MEANS OF RADIO

Sound, Heard as Magnet Nears the Iron, Is Carried to a Loud Speaker.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The roaring of the atoms in iron as they are attracted by the magnet can be heard by means of a device recently perfected in the research laboratory of the General Electric Company here. The device indicates that magnetism is not a silent phenomenon; in fact the roaring when the magnet is brought near a piece of iron plainly can be heard from an ordinary radio loud speaker, according to experimenters, and consequently it now will be possible to listen to the effect of a magnet on iron or other material.

The apparatus carries out the idea of Dr. H. Barkhausen of Dresden, Germany. A piece of soft iron is inserted in a coil of 1,600 turns of fine wire. The coil is attached to an amplification set, which in turn is connected to head phones or a loud speaker.

SACCO EXCEPTIONS FILED.

W. G. Thompson of Boston Enters Case as Chief Defense Counsel.

DEDHAM, Mass., Nov. 21.—Two bills of exceptions based on procedure during the hearings on motions for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of the murder of a paymaster and guard at South Braintree in 1921 but not yet sentenced, were filed in Norfolk County Superior Court today.

At the same time Judge Webster Thayer, who presided at the trial, filed an order extending until Dec. 1 the time for filing three other motions which are being prepared by the defense.

The Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee today announced that Attorney William G. Thompson of Boston had been retained as chief counsel to argue the case before the State Supreme Court. Fred H. Moore of Los Angeles, who represented Sacco at the trial, announced his withdrawal from the case some time ago.

AIDS FRENCH EDUCATION.

1,000,000-Franc Gift to University of Paris Is for Loans to Students.

On a recent visit to France, M. Sauberan remarked that as the middle classes were most affected by the war many of the families among them were unable to have their children continue their studies beyond the school age, and this brought his decision to start a fund to aid those who wanted a better education but whose parents could not afford it.

A special committee will be formed to administer the fund. The loans will be repayable when a student finishes his studies, and no interest will be charged.

M. Sauberan left Paris for America about a month ago, and subsequently it was reported from the French capital that her suit against Senator Gerry had been filed for a hearing in the Paris divorce court.

Jailed for Attack on Missionaries.

RANGOON, Burma, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—In the High Court here today one of the Buddhist priests charged with the attack last month on Professor and Mrs. Paul Gleason, American missionaries attached to Judson College here, was sentenced to seven years rigorous imprisonment. Three other of the priests involved in the attack were given five years' sentences each. On priest was acquitted.

Mrs. Evans's Murderers Appeal.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—Alejo Garcia and Francisco Ruiz, convicted assassins of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, who were sentenced to death last Saturday, have asked the Supreme Court to nullify their trial because of alleged irregularities by Judge Munoz Gamboa.

St. Lawrence Sorority Fights Fire.

CANTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Twenty girl students of St. Lawrence University, all residents of the Pi Nu Epsilon sorority house, were forced to flee from their quarters by fire at midnight last night and again at dawn this morning. The fires, of undetermined origin, were confined to the basement. The girls battled both the flames.

11 DETECTIVES RAISED TO THE FIRST GRADE

Several Earned Promotions by Work in Robbery Cases—13 Patrolmen Also Rewarded.

Eleven second-grade detectives were promoted by Police Commissioner Enright yesterday to be first-grade detectives and thirteen patrolmen were promoted to be second grade detectives after being graduated from the detective school at Police Headquarters.

The detectives raised to first-grade rank, with an increase of pay from $2,600 to $3,300 a year, were Edward Kalbfleisch, George Conway, Patrick H. Glery, Jeremiah Murphy, William J. Casey, John A. Foray, William J. Horan, William J. Courtney, James Brannigan, Walter Brummerhop and John J. Clickey.

Horan earned his promotion by arresting the criminals in the Schoelkopf jewel robbery. Kalbfleisch has done good work in the financial district and Foray on the safe and loft squad. Foray helped catch robbers recently in the American Express Company case.

The patrolmen transferred to the Detective Bureau were:

Ferdinand A. Timmes, Jamaica Station; Thomas J. Duffy, Fort Hamilton; Louis A. Bengsten, West 123d Street; Samuel S. Brenner, West Thirtieth Street; Thomas M. Dailey, Simpson Street; Charles Fiorito, Poplar Street; Peter J. Hayias, Simpson Street; Christian F. Strick, Atlantic Avenue; Arthur R. Stroh, Traffic A; Walter F. Culhane, West Thirtieth Street; Otto Franz, Traffic A; Paul D. Higgins, Fifth Avenue, and Anthony F. Schuhose, Headquarters Division.

Commissioner Enright denied that the promotions meant a shake-up in the department. He said he was merely filling vacancies and had no intention of making any other transfers than those announced.

HANGS TWO CHILDREN AND HERSELF IN CELLAR

Wife of Massillon (Ohio) Mill Worker Is Found With Victims by Her Husband.

MASSILLON, Ohio, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Ruth Burkhart, 33 years old, wife of Donald Burkhart, a mill worker, today hanged her two children, Nellie May, 8, and Donald Jr., 7, in the basement of their home. After writing a note to her husband, saying, "The two children have gone and I am going with them," and asking him to take care of their third child, Grace, 4 years old, she hanged herself in the basement.

Grace, the third child, was visiting her grandmother today. The husband, who went on a hunting trip with his two brothers early today, found the note on the kitchen table of his home when he returned this afternoon. He found the three bodies hanging from the rafters in the basement and notified the police. His wife had recently suffered ill health. Burkhart said.

Burkhart said he found all the windows and doors in the home were locked. The tragedy occurred some time between 7 A. M. and 1 P. M.

STATE CAMPAIGN LEFT REPUBLICANS WITH $35

For First Time in Many Years the Party Finds Itself After Fight Without a Debt.

For the first time in many years the Republican State committee has conducted a campaign without running into debt.

So close was the figuring that when all bills had been paid only $35 of the funds raised for campaign purposes remained in the committee treasury. In the disastrous fight two years ago the State committee came out of the fight with a debt of $78,000.

In the financial statement that will be filed with the Secretary of State on Monday the total contributions received and all money expended in the $406,117, which $210,000 was received from the Republican National Committee.

Herbert C. Pell Jr., Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, said he was not in a position to say how much had been spent by the Democrats in the State campaign. He explained that contributions were received and expenditures incurred by three separate bodies, the State Committee, the Up-State Committee for Alfred E. Smith for Governor and the Citizens Committee for Alfred E. Smith for Governor, which maintained headquarters in the Biltmore, apart from the headquarters of the State Committee.

All the acts of these bodies will file financial statements with the Secretary of State. The time to file these expires on Monday.

George R. Morris, Chairman of the committee, said last night that last year's Assembly fight and the Gibbs campaign this year were conducted on business lines, with the funds apportioned in accordance with a budget that had been framed in advance on the basis of past experience.

HIDDEN WILDE BOOK OUT SOON IN GERMAN

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—I held in my hands today an English literary treasure soon to be sent from Berlin to England which English literati would travel far and pay lavishly to see—a treasure which when it returns to England will be hidden from the English public for thirty-six years behind lock and key, as it has already been hidden for nearly a quarter of a century.

This treasure is the complete manuscript of Oscar Wilde's "De Profundis," the famous work which he wrote in Reading Gaol and of which only a fragment has ever appeared in print. The manuscript was entrusted by Wilde's son to Dr.

MRS. HARDING DIES AFTER LONG FIGHT

She Succumbs to Old Ailment in Sawyer Home at Marion, Ohio.

TO HOLD FUNERAL MONDAY

President Sends Message of Condolence and Official and Private Friends Mourn.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of President Harding, died soon after 8:55 o'clock this morning at White Oaks Farm, where for several months she had been making her home with Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her personal physician, son of Dr. Charles E. Sawyer, who was President Harding's personal physician.

On Monday her body will be placed beside that of her husband in the tomb in Marion Cemetery and funeral services will be held in the Methodist Church, of which she was a member.

Though Mrs. Harding's death had been imminent for days it threw Marion into bereavement.

Practically the last evidence of her consciousness was a whispered expression of her appreciation for the message of hope and good wishes from President and Mrs. Coolidge, which was read to her Thursday morning. After signifying that she understood the White House message, Mrs. Harding gradually lapsed into a condition of almost complete coma.

Dr. Sawyer stated that chronic nephritis and myocarditis, with evidence of hydronephrosis, were the causes of death.

Illness Began in October.

Dr. Sawyer in the bulletins which have told of the gradual sinking of his patient during her illness of less than four weeks attempted to follow as closely as possible her wish that only the most meagre information be given out as to her condition. It was also Mrs. Harding's refusal to permit consultation that prevented Dr. Sawyer from bringing outside specialists into the case, although he ventured her displeasure by calling Dr. J. C. Woods, a specialist, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Harding's last public appearance in Marion, except for her almost daily visits to the tomb of her husband, was on Oct. 16, when she attended the concert of the United States Marine Band at Garfield Park and heard it play a funeral dirge at the Harding tomb.

The first news that Mrs. Harding was seriously ill was given out by Dr. Sawyer when he announced on Oct. 30 that he was "unable to deny herself" to all visitors. It was then learned that she had been confined to her bed for several days and that her condition even at that time was most discouraging.

Shocked by Deaths of Friends.

Since the death of President Harding at San Francisco Mrs. Harding had never been regarded as having recovered from the shock and the strain of crossing the continent on the funeral train.

When General Sawyer died here suddenly on Sept. 22, almost in the presence of Mrs. Harding, she suffered a renewed shock. She had been extremely depressed from time to time by reports of the deaths of a number of friends and close associates of the Hardings during their occupancy of the White House.

Mrs. Hubert Work, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, who accompanied the Hardings on the Alaskan trip, was in a motor accident that resulted in her sudden death. The illness of Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, was most distressing to Mrs. Harding, and when she read in the newspapers of his death on Oct. 25 she went to bed almost immediately and never left it alive.

George B. Christian Jr., President Harding's private secretary, who is now associated with Rodman, Washmaker, hurried to Mrs. Harding's bedside and spent some time each day with her attending to many of her requests.

The first news of her illness brought letters and telegrams from all over the country and the number increased daily until the task of acknowledging them became next to impossible.

Mrs. Harding made a new will, dictated messages to be given to friends and lay apparently in perfect comfort awaiting the end.

Had an Active Life.

Mrs. Harding was born in Marion, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1860, of sturdy Pennsylvania Dutch stock that settled in Ohio during the pioneer days early in the last century. She was the only daughter of Amos Kling, then the wealthiest man in Marion, a real estate owner, banker and a promoter of several industries that were responsible for the growth of the town. She attended the local grammar and high schools and afterward studied at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. From girlhood on, she had a love of outdoor life, of horses and dogs—there always were one or more dogs in the Harding household. Her music she kept up until her marriage and the arduous days in the office of The Marion Star.

In her early twenties, Mrs. Harding was married to Marshall Eugene De Wolfe, son of a well-to-do Marion family. There was one son, Marshall Jr. Although wrapped up in her son, it was not a happy marriage, and Mrs. Harding obtained a divorce.

After the death of her first husband, Mrs. Harding became engaged to Warren Harding, who, with his father, Dr. George T. Harding, had moved to Marion in 1884 from a northern county. This met with intense opposition from Amos Kling, her father. Warren Harding had just bought The Marion Star for $300 and scarcely knew where his next payroll was coming from. Mr. Kling warned his daughter that if she married young Harding, he would disown her. His support meant much to the success of the young publisher-editor, who wrote his own reports and solicited his own advertisements.

Old Marion residents take great delight in relating what followed. Parental disapproval only served to hasten the wedding. Young Harding had just bought a small house on Mount Vernon Avenue; a large front porch was added to it later and a Presidential campaign was waged from it. Invitations were issued to the wedding, and on the night of July 8, 1891, the door was opened to the wedding guests at 380 Mount Vernon Avenue by a small boy in knickerbockers. He was George B. Christian Jr., later Secretary to the President. There was a reconciliation fourteen years ago, and before he died Mr. Kling was as firm a friend as President Harding ever had.

In the twenty years that Mr. Harding was in politics Mrs. Harding participated in all of his campaigns, beginning with his election as State Senator in 1900, Lieutenant Governor of Ohio in 1904, his unsuccessful campaign for Governor in 1910 against Judson Harmon, his election to the United States Senate in 1914, and the 1920 Presidential election. Unostentatiously, but unshrinkingly, Mrs. Harding was at her husband's side during virtually every speech he delivered in his Presidential campaign. She was his inseparable companion upon every trip away from the White House. "Duchess" was his nickname for her, a name with which he usually addressed her.

HUGHES PAYS TRIBUTE.

Secretaries Weeks and Work Will Attend the Funeral.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—News of the death of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding brought expressions of sorrow from many persons in Washington who had known her well during her husband's service in the Senate and as President. She had scores of close friends in the official and resident contingents in the Capital, who had watched with anxiety the reports from Marion since early in the month indicating that her condition was grave.

President Coolidge, on being informed of the sad news, sent a message of sympathy in behalf of Mrs. Coolidge and himself to George B. Christian Jr. at Marion. The President also designated Captain Adolphus Andrews, commander of the Mayflower and chief naval aid at the White House, to represent him personally at the funeral in Marion. Captain Andrews was President Harding's personal aide on the tour to Alaska and the Pacific Coast, which ended with the death of Mr. Harding in San Francisco on Aug. 2, 1923.

John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, and Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, also will attend the funeral as official representatives of the President. Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, also may attend. Secretaries Weeks, Work and Mellon were members of President Harding's Cabinet.

As a mark of respect to the memory of Mrs. Harding, President Coolidge ordered that the American flag should be flown at half-mast over the White House until after the funeral.

Mrs. Coolidge requested that the program of official social functions at the White House for the coming season should be withheld from publication until Nov. 30.

President Coolidge's message of condolence to Mr. Christian was as follows:

"Please express to the members of Mrs. Harding's family the sincerest condolences of Mrs. Coolidge and myself. We share in fullest measure the sorrow which her death brings to them. We are disappointed that her brave fight was in vain, but it is a source of pride to know that she made it, and so valiantly as to arouse the admiration of her countless friends. We shall never forget her unceasing and helpful friendship for us, which will become an increasingly sweet and grateful memory. The whole nation mourns for her. Our deepest sympathy goes out to those nearest and dearest to her."

Secretary Hughes on being informed of the death of Mrs. Harding said:

"I am inexpressably saddened by the death of Mrs. Harding. We can never forget the dignity and charm with which she presided as the mistress of the White House or her fortitude when she was suddenly bereft of all that life held dear. She was a woman of extraordinary strength of character and her husband's most faithful counselor. When he was taken, she felt that her mission was ended. She has borne her part most nobly."

MRS. HARDING NOTED FOR TACT AND WILL

Washington Recalls Her Marked Traits of Sympathy and Understanding.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding was extremely popular in Washington, both while Mr. Harding was a Senator from Ohio and during her occupancy of the White House as "the first lady of the land." Those who knew her testified to her charm and were enthusiastic over her obvious sympathy and understanding. She was kind and cordial to young people and had the ability to set them at their ease at White House social functions.

Her energy was surprising to those who knew of the weakness which ultimately caused her death. She had the appearance of a woman much younger than she was. In everything that affected her husband personally or politically she was deeply interested, and sought whenever opportunity offered to lighten the burden of his official cares. She was noted for her tactfulness in looking after his well-being.

After the death of President Harding Mrs. Harding returned to Washington and occupied a suite on the top floor of the Willard Hotel. She lived there almost in seclusion, seldom going out, but receiving many old friends. After she had been here for several months she told friends that she had been out of the hotel on three occasions only. One was when she attended the funeral of former President Woodrow Wilson.

While her husband was President Mrs. Harding went frequently to the Walter Reed General Army Hospital, near Washington, where many disabled veterans of the World War were under treatment. Explaining one day as she left the White House to begin her way to the hospital her interest in the patients, she said:

"I was in a hospital for eight months with an open wound that had to be dressed twice a day, and I know what hospital life means to a patient."

This was a reference to a dangerous operation that saved her life but did not completely relieve her from a malady from which she suffered for many years. It was a recurrence of the trouble responsible for the operation that caused Mrs. Harding's critical illness in the Autumn of 1922.

Ill on Alaskan Trip.

President Harding had some hesitation in taking Mrs. Harding on his trip to Alaska in the Summer of 1923 on account of her physical condition. She had apparently recovered, however, from her long suffering, and physicians determined that it would be safe for her to make the journey, which contemplated more than 15,000 miles of land and sea travel, but was cut short by the death of President Harding.

On the notable swing around the circle The fear on the part of President Harding and his associates was that not he, but his wife, might be affected by the fatiguing journey. At Fairbanks, Alaska, only ninety miles from the Arctic Circle, Mrs. Harding collapsed. At Seattle, where late one Sunday night, Mrs. Harding was taken to a hotel, where it was necessary to apply restoratives. Physicians and nurses treated her all night, in the fear that she might succumb to the attack.

Partly on this account the projected journey of the Presidential party overland through a wilderness region was abandoned.

When this part of the tour was abandoned, the party returned from Fairbanks by the Government railroad to Seward. The Presidential special was run at a moderate speed on Mrs. Harding's account, and she remained in bed during the trip.

Mrs. Harding recovered from her attack quickly after the party returned to the naval transport Henderson, in which the tour through Alaskan waters was made.

It was on the return voyage to the continental United States that President Harding ate the crab meat that was believed to be responsible for the attack of ptomaine poisoning which caused his fatal illness.

Brave in Ordeal of Husband's Death.

Of the nationally prominent persons on the Presidential tour to Aslaska, Mrs. Harding is the fifth to die. The others, in addition to President Harding, were Mrs. Hugo Work, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer and Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, all of whom had returned here from San Francisco on the funeral train.

Mrs. Harding showed great courage during the ordeal of her husband's death. In the journey Eastward on the funeral train she directed all the arrangements for the funeral in Washington and the entombment of the body at Marion. She kept to her room on the private car in which the President's body lay on that 3,000 miles of travel, but felt that she owed it to the people who waited long hours for the train to pass to be awake whenever it came to places where they had gathered. Through this insistence she lost much sleep.

One instance emphasized this sacrifice. The train was delayed by an accident in Western Nebraska and arrived at Omaha several hours behind schedule. A crowd gathered there, estimated at 40,000, had waited silently and patiently far into the night to pay their tribute to the dead President. It was in the small hours of the morning that the train made its brief stop. Mrs. Harding had remained awake and sat unseen at an open but darkened window of her room as a tribute of appreciation to those who had come in such numbers and remained standing for so many hours to pay tribute to her husband's memory.

Within an hour or so of his death, when everything indicated that he was convalescent, President Harding spoke in an appreciative way of two of the newspaper men who were members of his party. He said that they had been helpful in suggestion and advice and expressed his liking for them. A few hours after the President died, Mrs. Harding, who had regained her composure by an exertion of powerful will and her constant repetition of it, will power broke down, sent for these newspaper men to tell them what her husband had said. She asked one of them to go into the adjoining room and look at her husband's body.

"I know what some of his critics were saying. They charged that he was weak. I want you to look at those firm lips of his and see! I look at them and know they show he was not weak. I know that he had strength and courage."

Distressed by Senate Inquiry.

Mrs. Harding had a supreme belief in the goodness and ability of her husband. She was greatly distressed over the efforts made, while the Senate investigations of last Winter were in progress, to reflect on his character. The allegation that she and President Harding had attended a dinner at the home of Edward B. McLean in Washington, where the films of the Dempsey-Carpentier prizefight, imported into the District of Columbia in spite of the law prohibiting their transportation in interstate commerce, were shown, was declared by her to be without the slightest foundation. Some of those who were mentioned in the testimony as having been on friendly terms with Mr. and Mrs. Harding were characterized by her as the merest casual visitors who came with many thousands of other strangers during the Presidential campaign of 1920 to visit the "front porch" of the Harding residence at Marion.

Mrs. Harding was living at the Willard Hotel during most of the period of the Senate investigations. She felt that it might be necessary to make some response to what was being said by witnesses and others who appeared in the guise with respect to her husband, and consulted friends as to the course she should follow. Her ultimate decision was to bear these insinuations in silence. In making the decision she said she was actuated by the fact that, as the widow of a President of the United States, she must do nothing that would in any way detract from the dignity which should attach to one who had been known as the first lady of the land.

While those friends whom she consulted felt that her decision was justified, they regretted that the situation did not appear to justify her in taking an opportunity to counteract the efforts made to reflect on her husband's memory. They believed that she would have given to the public an understanding of Mr. Harding's part in events that had figured in the testimony far different from the apparent popular impression.

They held, however, that it would have been unwise for Mrs. Harding to place herself in a position where she might have become the centre of a public controversy and agreed with her belief that the dignity of the place she had held as the wife of a President extended to the period after she had left the White House.

Won Husband to Teetotalism.

Mrs. Harding was deeply impressed by a speech her husband made at Denver in the second week of his tour to Alaska, on his way from Washington to the Pacific Coast. This speech dealt with law enforcement and was devoted almost entirely to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law. While he did not declare himself specifically to be a personal prohibitionist, Mr. Harding stated his position in such a way as to show a belief in the virtues of prohibition and indicated confidence that prohibition had come to stay and ultimately would be observed.

It was the feeling of Mrs. Harding that after such a speech the President should live up to its precept in practice, and she so expressed herself to him. She found him in agreement with her views. There is no evidence that afterward Mr. Harding ever tasted intoxicating liquor. When playing golf on a course at Vancouver, British Columbia, on the day of his return to the continent from Alaska, he suffered a heart attack, happening there and kept a close secret by those who knew of it. It was said by one of his friends subsequently that if a stimulant had been given to him on that occasion it was the only time after his Denver speech until his death that he had tasted an intoxicant.

Near Death at White House.

During her illness in the White House in the Autumn of 1922 Mrs. Harding was practically at the point of death. She suffered pain so intense that her great fortitude was nearly broken. Noted specialists were called, and the opinion among them was general that an operation was the only chance of keeping Mrs. Harding alive. The specialists deferred, however, to the opinion of General Sawyer, who knew Mrs. Harding's case intimately. He expressed the fear that an operation might have a fatal outcome and gave the opinion that if she could be kept alive for another twenty-four hours there probably would be a turn for the better.

It was determined, however, that Mrs. Harding should make the decision as to what course should be followed, and the assembled physicians called in President Harding, told him of what had taken place at their consultation and asked him to put the situation to Mrs. Harding with a view to ascertaining whether she desired an operation or would take the chance of waiting to see if her condition improved.

The President performed this trying task with great delicacy. Mrs. Harding was anxious to learn the view of Dr. Sawyer. When she was told of his belief that there was a chance of improvement without an operation, she expressed her complete confidence in her old Marion friend and decided to test it. Dr. Sawyer's theory proved to be correct and Mrs. Harding's recovery vindicated her feeling that he was possessed of supreme medical skill.

OUR OPIUM SCHEME CHECKED AT GENEVA

Business Committee Votes 7 to 3 to Limit Scope of Conference to Matters on Agenda.

AMERICAN POINTS SHUT OUT

But Porter Hopes to Get Action on Them by Offering Them as Amendments to the Full Conference.

GENEVA, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—The American delegation's effort to broaden the scope of the International Opium Conference met with a check today when the Business Committee, after a lively session lasting into the night, took action, seven votes to four, tending to shut out consideration of several points in the plan submitted by the Americans.

China, Cuba and Italy supported the United States in its endeavor to make the conference agenda extensive enough to cover all aspects of the opium and narcotic drug evil. Japan voted for a motion to limit the conference action, but with reservations. M. Sugimura, the chief Japanese delegate, explained tonight that the subject at issue probably would be brought to the floor of the conference and fought out at a plenary meeting.

Representative Stephen G. Porter and his fellow-American delegates, who regard the decision as a makeshift, most likely will seek to have the American suggestions discussed by proposing amendments from time to time to the full conference.

The effect of today's action is to limit the conference strictly to matters defined in the motion, as the majority interprets the agenda, whereas the Americans and some of the other delegations want to have included the question of the importation of so-called prepared opium, which, if left undisturbed, would once failed to settle, although it figured on its agenda.

The Americans have suggested that the importation of opium into the Far East for smoking be discontinued within ten years. They also desire to have the manufacture of heroin entirely prohibited. Other countries want hashish put on the agenda, but the Indian and Persian delegates are opposed to this.

The Business Committee will report its finding to the full conference tomorrow morning.

Seven projects are now before the delegates, one Dutch, one British, one French, two American and one elaborated by the League of Nations Permanent Opium Commission. One American plan was drawn up by Edwin Neville, one of the American delegates, and the other, which is the more official project, was presented by the American delegation.

The American position is that if no effective system for the limitation of opium importations has been elaborated this subject must be solved by the second conference. Meantime, the Japanese delegation made public a statement today outlining anew its viewpoint and declaring that it now instructions from Tokio support the delegation's position not to adhere to any accord arranged by the first conference which does not recognize the system of certificates issued by Governments for the importation of opium.

England and India have opposed the recognition of certificates without special investigation in each case. The Japanese statement declared that a "real limit" to recognize certificates destroys the system instituted by the League of Nations and implies the existence of an insulting form of suspicion between Governments which hits at the moral and juridical basis of all regulation of the international commerce in opium.

Inspect Belgenland for Damage.

ANTWERP, Nov. 21.—Although the liner Belgenland apparently was not damaged in any way by sticking on a mud bank in the Scheldt River yesterday, she will be thoroughly inspected at Southampton before continuing her voyage to New York.

IRISH NAME HUGHES MINISTER OF DEFENSE

Louth Member of Daily Eireann, Who Has No Military Record, Is Chosen Unanimously.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—Peter Hughes, member of the Dail Eireann from County Louth, was today appointed Minister of Defense of the Irish Free State and his appointment was ratified by the Dail. President Cosgrave has been filling the post since the resignation of Richard Mulcahy, but because of his desire to go to the Continent to recuperate from his illness it was deemed necessary to appoint a new Minister of Defense in his place.

Mr. Hughes's home is in Dundalk, where he is a merchant and has been a member of local boards. He has no military record. The appointment, which was approved unanimously, is taken in political circles as evidence of the Dail's determination that the army shall be completely under the authority of the civil power.

The Free State Government's reverse at the polls in the two bye-elections reported yesterday is balanced by two victories in the southwest. "Rebel" Cork has returned two governmental candidates by big majorities, one in Cork City where Republican Lord Mayor French was defeated, and the other in East Cork, where Michael Walsh, the Republican aspirant, lost.

TWO FILIPINO MOBS WAR UPON PROPERTY

Attack Chinese in Laoag and Sugar Estate in San Jose—Constabulary Ordered Out.

MANILA, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—Attacks upon Chinese in the Philippine Islands, which were thought to have subsided since outbreaks by Filipinos about three weeks ago, were renewed yesterday at Laoag, capital of Ilocos Norte Province, according to telegrams received here by the Chinese Consul General.

One message says a Filipino mob broke into Chinese stores at Laoag and destroyed considerable property. The Insular Executive Bureau has issued an order to the regional Constabulary to protect the Laoag Chinese from further attacks.

More than thirty armed Filipino laborers attacked the Mindoro sugar estate at San José, Mindoro, and attempted to eject the company superintendent and four other employes, according to other telegrams today from the Constabulary.

Instructions have been issued from Constabulary headquarters here to the force at San José to arrest and prosecute all persons involved in the disturbance.

$192,071 FOR Y. W. C. A.

Additional Gifts Announced to $300,000 Fund for Budget.

Mrs. John C. Clark, Chairman of the campaign committee that is trying to raise $300,000 to meet a budget deficiency of the Y. W. C. A., reported yesterday that $192,071 had been raised so far and that $108,000 would have to be collected before noon of next Wednesday.

Mrs. William Church Osborn yesterday gave $1,500. Mrs. John French $1,000, Thomas W. Lamont $500, Mrs. William Harkness $500, Albert Boigé $500, Mrs. Oliver Jennings $500 and the James McCreery Company $40.

Price of Flour Up Again in Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The price of flour has gone up again, increasing from 52 to 54 francs a quintal. It is declared that unless the price of foreign wheat falls, as appears possible, bread shortly will have to be increased another sou a kilo.

FULL PARDON LIKELY FOR GEN. NATHUSIUS

French Official Circles Regret the Verdict and Expect President Doumergue to Act.

ALL GERMANY IS AROUSED

Press Denounces the Trial as Unfair to the Soldier and Urge Government to Intervene.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The German General von Nathusius, who yesterday was condemned by a French court-martial at Lille to a year's imprisonment for thefts committed during the war, today signed an appeal for a new trial. If this request is refused, an appeal will be made by the General's advocate for clemency of the President of the Republic.

It seems certain in such an event that President Doumergue will grant a free pardon as an act of grace.

In official circles there is considerable regret at the decision of the court-martial and the severity of the penalty imposed for a crime which, it was said, was all too common in all armies during the war.

The Government, which just now is so busily engaged in obtaining amnesty for all kinds of wartime offenders, seems scarcely likely to advise the President to maintain the sentence imposed on General von Nathusius.

Berlin Plans to Intervene.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A storm of indignation has been aroused in Germany by the action of the French military court at Lille in sentencing General von Nathusius, a retired war veteran, to one year's imprisonment for thefts said to have been committed by him during the war in the part of Northern France occupied by the German armies. The General has appealed against the sentence and the German Government, it is announced here tonight, is awaiting an official report of the Lille trial from the German Embassy at Paris to take steps toward setting aside the court's verdict.

The principal grounds on which the plea for a reversal of the sentence will be based is the brief period elapsing between the arrest and trial of Nathusius, which made it impossible to round up all those who might have testified in his defense. The German Foreign Office, together with the Reichswehr Ministry and the Attorney General's office, did what they could, it is declared, to place the needed material at the disposal of the attorney for the defense of Nathusius, but found themselves badly handicapped by the short time available.

It is announced, furthermore, that the German Government did not know until eight days ago that the French court had long ago sentenced Nathusius "in contumacium," which was the reason why the French arrested him as soon as he stepped on French soil. Nathusius can be tried again if the French Court of Cassation decided there were irregularities in the procedure at the original trial.

For once German newspapers of all political hues are united in an angry chorus. The Nathusius trial aroused enormous interest throughout Germany, many German newspapers having sent special representatives to Lille to report the trial. Its climax fills entire columns in today's papers here, while more columns seethe with infuriated editorial comment.

On all sides Nathusius is proclaimed innocent. His trial is branded as farcical and his sentence as an outrageous miscarriage of justice and proof that the French court ignored the evidence presented, having decided beforehand to make an example of Nathusius. The German Government being heatedly exhorted not to rest until the Lille sentence is reversed.

The Liberal wing of the German press deplores the sentence as imperilling improvement in Franco-German relations ushered in by the Herriot régime. The reactionaries seize upon it as renewed proof of France's irreconcilable hatred, and of the futility of German hopes to reach an amicable understanding with the French.

SPLIT OVER BINGHAM.

Connecticut Republicans at Odds Over Naming Him for Senator.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 21.—On the ground that no one, especially a newcomer, who was a Bull Moose in 1912 should have the United States Senatorship just after being elected Governor, outspoken opposition developed today among veteran Republican leaders in Hartford and other cities against Professor Hiram Bingham of New Haven. The party conventions for nomination will be held on Monday and Tuesday next. The special election will come on Dec. 16.

Professor Bingham was elected Governor this Fall under the management of State Chairman and National Committeeman J. H. Perkins, who is said to have promised to him Senator Brandegee's seat in 1926. However, the idea of one man holding concurrent commissions for the highest two elective offices in the State and being inaugurated pro forma Jan. 7, so that the Lieutenant Governor-elect may then become Governor, is more than a good many Republicans are willing to stand.

The Cheney silk family of Manchester, favors Representative Schuyler Merritt of Stamford, regardless of the consideration that his election would necessitate another special election in his district.

Connecticut industries also are favorably inclined toward the State's senior Representative, John Q. Tilson of New Haven, who is understood to have the backing of the Washington Administration.

The Democrats, who probably will nominate Hamilton Holt of Woodstock or ex-Representative Augustine Lonergan of Hartford, are rejoicing at the division in the Republican camp.

PADLOCK MOVE AT SHORE.

Dry Agents Proceed Against Atlantic City Beach Cafes.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 21.—Padlock proceedings against beach front cafés, long apparently immune from disturbance by Government dry agents, are now pending in the Federal Court at Trenton.

United States Marshals have served notices upon the proprietors of the Palais Royal, Beaux Arts and Follies Bergere cafés to appear within twenty days and show cause why these places should not be closed for a year. Similar notices have been served on other cafés, and the list of alleged liquor venders involved is by no means exhausted, it is said.

Heretofore, little attention has been paid by the Federal men to the beach front establishments which fact has caused considerable criticism by the reform and law-enforcement enthusiasts.

BIG AMERICAN LOAN APPROVED BY FRANCE

the agreement which he had made with the Morgan interests had been submitted for ratification to the United States Government and how only this morning he had received a cable that approval had been obtained. The omission is said to have been negotiated at 94, but a fall having taken place during the negotiations it would be made at 93½. The investment, it was said, would be made in American securities and of the total interest nine-tenths would go to the treasury and one-tenth to the bank toward amortization. The loan, it was decided, would run a long way to secure stabilization, without which commerce was impossible.

Criticism of the project was confined to the Communists, for whom Sachin spoke. Some members of the Right, while willing to vote for the bill, sought to emphasize the importance of the first negotiation carried through by the Poincaré Government. To these Herriot replied that at least this loan was free from political obligations attached to the one deal. Until yesterday bankers who expect to participate in the underwriting syndicate in question were preparing for an initial offering of $50,000,000, to be followed later by a like amount. But the potential demand had shaped up so well that they recommended the larger offering.

The long breathing spell of little more than one month that has been given to the investment market since the German loan was placed was said to have placed the market in excellent condition for the French offering. Bankers who had favored an offering of the French bonds two weeks after the oversubscription of the German loan said that the policy of waiting a little longer was expected to bear fruit. Despite the shifting of money into the stock market, there was said to be several hundreds of millions of investment capital lying idle, of which a considerable portion is expected to go into the French bonds.

Indicative of the continued abundance of money on hand has been the course of price movements in the bond market, according to bankers. Usually there is heavy shifting of investments prior to a new offering of such size as the new French loan, but this week there has been relatively little of it. Foreign bonds, particularly, were exhibiting firm undertone, and what shifting of investments had taken place was noted principally in domestic issues, due to the greater confidence now being shown in foreign government bonds.

Definite word has not yet been given as to offering prices, but bankers expect no change in the previously reported price of 93 or 94 for bonds bearing 7 per cent. coupon, thus making their yield to the investor around 7.50 per cent.

GOLD SHIPMENT OF $2,000,000.

Largest Since the War, Probably Going Finally to Germany.

For the first time in several years American bankers are preparing to send a large shipment of gold to England in compliance with instructions received yesterday from a London bank. The purpose of the shipment was not revealed, but it will consist of $2,000,000 in gold bars. The shipment is regarded as significant in that it showed a possible change in the trend of gold movement. Since the war the gold movement has been almost entirely from England to other countries in Europe to the United States.

For the first nine months of this year the total of gold shipped to London from the United States was $1,630,000, or little more than half the amount involved in the new shipment. For all of 1923, as reported by the Department of Commerce, the gold shipments from this country to London totaled only $138,247; in 1922, $20,990; in 1921, none; in 1920, $58,800, and in 1919, $1,091,066.

While bankers here have not been informed, they said, as to the purpose of the new shipment, there was said to be abundant evidence to show that it was destined ultimately for Germany. Thus far the German Government has not taken down any of its new $110,000,000 American loan money for buying gold for shipment to that country, although in recent weeks its gold reserve has been steadily mounting.

It was also believed possible that either Holland or Sweden, whose foreign exchange bills have come to par, might be making the purchase through London, but this was not considered likely.

Facilitating the modest beginnings of a gold movement from America, which has taken place, is the fact that it will completely remove the threat of gold inflation here, has been the recent remarkable advance of foreign exchange bills. In yesterday's forum market this advance was continued in buying orders noteworthy because of its steadiness and size. Holland guilders, which on Thursday touched par for the first time in five years, ran up five points above par yesterday and closed at 40.20 cents, a gain of five points net, and exactly at gold parity.

Swedish kroner also touched par and closed at 26.84 cents, a net gain of one point, while the new Czechoslovak krone held steady at its parity of 2.60 cents.

HYLAN TO RUSH WORK ON CITY ART CENTRE

that the site was too far uptown, but City College is now cramped for room and wishes it had gone still further out.

Work on the project is to be begun without delay. In searching about for funds, it is understood that the Mayor was informed that the Board of Education had between four and five million dollars of a reserve fund, and it is understood that the plan is to use this, to obtain some more money by private subscription and to get the rest by appropriation.

Mr. Ryan's Statement.

When Mr. Ryan was asked whether school funds were to be used for the project, he replied by saying that the entire matter was a tentative one.

"I attended the dinner on Thursday evening," Mr. Ryan said, "but that is the only meeting I have attended. However, others from the Board of Education have been in touch with the project and I have been kept more or less informed about it by them. It is still in the formative stage. I do not know whether it is to come under the control of the Board of Education or not. If it is to be one of our activities, very properly the money should come from this source. One of its features is an industrial arts high school. At present we have a textile school, and it is a splendid school, but improperly housed. It could very well be made a part of this project."

"Would the use of school funds delay the school building program?" Mr. Ryan was asked.

"Nothing will delay our building program," he replied.

The situation so far as that is concerned is that $140,000,000 has been appropriated for school building since Jan. 1, 1918, and 116 elementary schools and seven high schools, with a total seating capacity of 122,000 pupils, have been completed, and nine other schools with a seating capacity of 122,000 pupils are in course of construction. While the Board of Education still has about $10,000,000 on hand it needs this reserve fund, it was stated yesterday, because to cancel awarded contracts without having money on hand. It is planned, it was learned, to ask for $15,000,000 more at the next meeting of the Board of Estimate.

May Have "Minister of Fine Arts."

One plan under serious consideration, it was learned yesterday, is to have the Music and Art Centre controlled by an independent board, with an official at the head who would be a sort of Minister of Fine Arts. Functioning with him would be a Director of Music, a Director of Dramatic Arts and a Director of Industrial Arts.

Plans for a stadium are also under consideration, but it is understood to be the general feeling of the committee that the three main buildings should be erected first. These, as pointed out in the report made at the dinner by William C. Garl, are to include an auditorium seating 2,500 persons, a theatre accommodating 1,200, a chamber music hall seating 400, upward of 100 classrooms, a dance hall and an industrial arts high school.

The report on the industrial arts section of the project was made by Dr. Gustave Straubenmuller, Associate Superintendent of Schools, and was obtained yesterday. The report follows in part:

"We are regarded by the world as a great producing nation. We have acquired a well-deserved reputation for quantity production. Quantity production alone will not, however, give us leadership in the world's markets; we must also put quality into our output. The improvement of our productions is as important as the increase of them. Beauty and utility are not antipodal. In combination they give pleasure and enhance value.

"To keep up our productions both economically and esthetically we need skilled designers and craftsmen. In every industry here there is a scarcity of the better-educated and thoroughly-trained workers. We can no longer rely mainly on European craftsmen designers and craftsmen. Those whom we have are growing old and few others are available, owing to the war and other conditions. We have been in this respect like parasites, eating at the tables of others.

Night Teaching Proposed.

"We believe that the proposed industrial art school should confine itself at first to a few technical courses, so that its interests may not be too diversified and that the outstanding needs of the community may be met first. Expansion will come naturally later on as new demands call for attention and the worth of the school is demonstrated. Such institutions shall aim to teach day and night, and largely at night.

"It became evident yesterday that the Jerome Park site would not be opposed by the Parks and Playgrounds Association. Mr. Roulstone indicated that the Mayor had surrendered, and that the association had won its fight to prevent any park property being taken for the project.

"A preliminary investigation of the Jerome Park Reservoir site," Mr. Roulstone continued, "seems to indicate that the site is not a city park and never was a city park.

"Without considering the importance of the land for any other purpose, perhaps it is a good site for the Industrial Art School and Music Centre as could be found. Of course, you understand that that is my early impression of the matter without mature consideration or to say either independent or collateral consideration."

In view of the suggestion that Board of Education funds be used for the Music and Art Centre criticisms made by the Teachers' Union yesterday took on more significance. The union in a statement charged overcrowding in the night schools and, reviewing the Harlem Evening High School in particular, asserted that classes were cut off in proportion for educational purposes, and that pupils were being turned away for lack of room.

NON-PARTISAN AIMS URGEDONFEDERATION

Labor's Executive Council Says It Has Not Endorsed Third Party Movement.

WANTS ACTIVITY BROADENED

Report to Convention Suggests Appealing to Unorganized Progressives at Polls.

SPEAKERS SCORE CHURCHES

Blame Massachusetts Religious Leaders for Defeat of Child Labor Amendment Referendum.

Special to The New York Times.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 21.—Declaring that the Executive Council at Atlantic City last Summer did not endorse a Third Party movement, the Council, in a report submitted to the American Federation of Labor convention today, reaffirmed its non-partisan policy. The long-awaited report, a document of nearly 10,000 words, containing a complete history of the Federation's political attitude, concluded by saying:

"The American labor movement, if it is to be true to its mission to defend, advocate, promote and protect the rights, interest and welfare of America's wage earners, must be as free from political party domination now as at any time in the history of our movement."

The report will be debated in a few days. Predictions were made that it will pass with a great majority and that it will have few critics, since it contains nothing that can offend the vigorous partisans of the Republican or Democratic Parties who bolted the Executive Council's support of Senator La Follette.

Would Broaden Political Program.

The Executive Council suggested that the non-partisan program of the A. F. of L. be broadened to include "other progressive-minded groups composed of persons who, by reason of their occupation or station in life, cannot be affiliated directly to the trade union movement, but who are sympathetic and responsive to the needs of the American wage earners and to our non-partisan political campaign policy."

The report urged that the various non-partisan political campaign committees created during the recent campaign "be maintained on a permanent basis, instructed to carry on their work continuously."

Inclusion of women in the work of the non-partisan movement, simplification of ballots to assist the independent voter and greater activity by trades unionists in the primaries were some of the other recommendations.

When news of the death of Mrs. Warren G. Harding reached the convention, the delegates stood in silence for a few moments, and then President Gompers adjourned the session for the day.

Shortly before adjournment the Executive Council's report on the Child Labor amendment lead to a debate in which several speakers attacked religious leaders and religious organizations in Massachusetts for an attitude which, the speakers maintained, was responsible for the failure of the referendum in that State on the Child Labor amendment.

Vice President James Duncan of Quincy, Mass., said that Massachusetts had excellent welfare legislation and that the referendum against the Child Labor amendment resulted from a campaign which made the citizens feel that it was a proposal encroaching on the rights of the State.

The attitude toward the amendment assumed by some of the religious leaders in Massachusetts in the referendum reminded him, he said, of an English clergyman who appeared in Parliament and protested against a measure barring women from employment at coal mines. The minister was denounced as "a disgrace to the cloth."

"I have that same opinion of some of our religious teachers in Massachusetts who took that view in the last election," Mr. Duncan declared. "It was not limited to one system of religion. The religious prejudices of the people were played on in Massachusetts to defeat the referendum."

Vice President Daniel J. Tobin said it was unfortunate that the Child Labor referendum was placed before the people of Massachusetts "when a general wave of reaction struck the country." After asserting that only organized labor was in favor of the Child Labor amendment, he declared:

"One particular religious denomination circulated every district and parish in its jurisdiction on this subject, and in that circular there was the grossest kind of misrepresentation. The circular said that only radicals, Bolsheviks and foreigners favored the amendment. The fact is that some religious denominations helped to prepare the measure.

Says Circular Defeated Walsh.

"Before that circular was issued David I. Walsh was certain of his re-election as United States Senator. He was defeated by only a small majority. The people of Massachusetts were lied to by those who opposed the measure. Every interest antagonistic to organized labor opposed the ratification of the referendum. If labor desires to see the Child Labor amendment adopted it will have to get busy and put forth its greatest efforts."

None of the speakers who discussed the attitude of religious leaders toward the Massachusetts referendum mentioned the names of the Church officials who opposed ratification. It is known that Cardinal O'Connor of Boston signed a statement disapproving of ratification on the ground that the proposed amendment encroached upon State's rights.

Vice President Matthew Woll asserted that it was a strange stand for Massachusetts to take, as the argument of State's rights was not raised when other welfare legislation was adopted in Congress.

If, he, join in the condemnation of all religious societies which oppose the protection of child life and the adoption of the Child Labor amendment, he added.

James Hunter Walker, President of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, predicted that Illinois would ratify the amendment. Vice President William Green, in calling on the delegates to work for the amendment, said that organized labor had a fight on its hands in every State in the Union.

The supplemental report of the Executive Council embodying its accounting to the federation for its endorsement of Senator La Follette in the Presidential campaign, said that when the 1924 elections approached both major parties failed to take action that satisfied labor, and the Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee at Atlantic City on Aug. 2, 1924, reviewed the situation and adopted a report.

Claims a Labor Success at Polls.

"The A. F. of L. did not endorse what has been miscalled a third party movement by this action," the report continued. "It expressed preferment for the election of Senators La Follette and Wheeler, the independent candidates, and their platform as more nearly representing the hopes and demands of labor."

Statements of the committee were reviewed and then the report discussed the results of the recent election as follows:

"The number of Congressmen elected with labor's endorsement totals 176, the same as the number of Congressmen elected with labor's endorsement in 1922. Of these, 125 are Democrats, 40 are Republicans and 3 are Farmer-Laborites and 1 is an Independent. The results in the Senate have not been definitely ascertained at this moment, because of the uncertainty as to the results in some States and pending replacements in other States.

"It is evident, however, that labor's non-partisan political campaign, in so far as Congressional elections are concerned, in spite of exceptional difficulties of a Presidential year, thoroughly justify the assertion that labor achieved a signal success in the furtherance of the interests of the wage earners and of the people of the country generally.

"The non-partisan political influence thus maintained in the popular branch of Government of the United States assures the people that whatever reactionary proposals may at any time emanate from the executive branch of Government shall not find a ready response and confirmation in the legislative branch of Government. Thereby the interests of the people in general, and of labor in particular, are largely safeguarded, and the opportunity is provided for the realization of many of the hopes and aspirations for progressive legislation for the masses of the people."

The report was signed by President Samuel Gompers, eight Vice Presidents, Frank Morrison, Secretary, and Daniel J. Tobin, Treasurer.

Favors Legion's Campaign.

A resolution suggesting that all affiliated unions be notified that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers is not recognized by the A. F. of L., was changed to read that the unions be informed that only the Journeyman Tailors Union and the United Garment Workers Union were recognized by the A. F. of L. in the clothing trade.

The convention went on record as favoring the American Legion campaign for a $5,000,000 endowment fund for the rehabilitation of veterans' orphans.

A resolution calling on the federation to notify all local unions of the plight of striking miners evicted from their homes in District 17, West Virginia, and District 23, Kentucky, was ratified.

The convention endorsed a resolution favoring the work now goin on in the erection of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial College project at Valdosta, Ga., and instructed President Gompers to call upon the affiliated unions for financial support in order that labor may erect an educational building on the college grounds.

WATERWAYS CONTROL BEFORE HIGH COURT

Right of States Over Navigable Bodies Involved in Newark Bay Bridge Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The control of States over navigable waterways wholly within their borders, as presented in a case against the Jersey Central Railroad brought by the State of New Jersey and by the cities of Newark and Jersey City, was argued in the Supreme Court today. The question at issue is the authority of the railroad to construct a bridge across Newark Bay under an act of Congress without having obtained the consent of New Jersey.

Former Attorney General George Wickersham appeared as counsel for the complainants and Richard V. L. Lindabury for the railroad. The Port of New York Authority was also a party to the proceedings, being brought in because of the importance of the controversy upon the development of that port.

Mr. Wickersham contended that there was a long line of decisions holding that navigable waterways wholly within a State were under the authority of that State, and that the jurisdiction of Congress over them extended only to the authorization of the construction of bridges for which permission had been obtained from the State. The power of Congress was to promote navigation.

There was no material difference between the power of Congress over interstate navigable waterways and those wholly within a State, Mr. Lindabury insisted. It had been conceded by New Jersey in this case, he said, that Congress had full power over interstate waterways, and he argued that it had like power over internal waterways.

"The jurors," he said, "at no time intended to invite the Mayor to appear before them."

as it would represent the end of a dream, the dying out of a hope, the defeat of youth and the destruction of the very reason for our existence."

Delcroix ended amid storms of applause, saying: "The Opposition promises every absolution to us who are not of the Fascisti and whom they consider accomplices of Fascisme's tyranny.

"But what about tomorrow? Tomorrow, if we were to give them the keys of our citadel, they would stone us. It would be their just vengeance and our merited fall.

"Let us, therefore, gather our forces and set out toward our victory. The last battle is always the most bloody and the last victory is also always the most beautiful. Onward, then, to victory and may our country assist us and God be with us!"

Blames Both Sides for Rioting.

ROME, Nov. 21. (Associated Press)—Confidence that the Fascist Government would fulfill its pledges and assurance that all other administration could face the formidable tasks ahead with greater force and more probability of success, were expressed in the Chamber of Deputies today by Deputy Delcroix, who lost the use of his eyes and hands in the world war.

The young Deputy made one of the most brilliant and forceful pleas for national unity ever heard in the Chamber, and as a sign of homage to him, the sitting was suspended.

"It is a mistake to look at fascismo as a movement of adventurous, violent men," he said. "We who gave our support to fascismo cannot abandon it now, because it would be disloyal.

"Unfortunately on the anniversary of victory an unpleasant incident occurred. Do not let us rake that up again. There were wrongs on both sides; the noble Italian people are entitled to the honor of victory, which is not the privilege of any party."

Then, pointing at Premier Mussolini with the stumps of his arms, he declared:

"Let him be free and tranquil. Let him run his course. If he wins, let him have the glory; if he loses, his will be sadness. But do not allow any body to say that the nation had found a leader and that the pettiness and envy of men made him fall.

"Leave the peaks to the eagles, let the ocean separate that pest, the masses, although geese once saved the capital; this does not mean they learned to gaze at the sun."

Deputy Delcroix made it clear that he spoke in the name, neither of former combatants or those mutilated in the war, but only in his own name, as a Deputy, as a citizen, and as a Fascista.

WESTERN UNION BUYS A BIG PLOT

Purchase in Block Bounded by West Broadway, Hudson, Worth and Thomas Sts.

NOT TO BUILD AT PRESENT

Company Now Has One of the Largest Holdings Downtown Under One Ownership.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has increased its holdings in the block bounded by Hudson, West Broadway, Worth and Thomas Streets by the purchase of three more buildings covering more than 11,000 square feet.

It is understood that the company is negotiating for the purchase of additional parcels in the block, of which they now control about 75 per cent.

Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, said yesterday that the additional property was bought merely for the future. He denied that any construction was contemplated at present.

Last September the company purchased from the Hudson Worth Corporation, of which Edward S. Sayre, Jr., is President, the block front in the east side of Hudson Street, between Thomas and Worth Streets. On the Hudson Street site are two seven-story buildings, occupied by R. C. Williams & Co.; also a four-story stable and a one-story building on Thomas Street.

This property fronts 194 feet on Hudson Street, 204 feet on Worth Street and 103 feet on Thomas Street.

From the Thomas-Worth Realty Corporation the Western Union company purchased yesterday the seven-story buildings 85, 87 and 89 Thomas Street, and the five-story buildings at 20 and 22 Worth Street. With this additional purchase, which was negotiated by Brown, Wheelock; Harris, Vought & Co., Inc., who were also the brokers in the original transactions, the Western Union Telegraph Company now controls an area of sixteen lots, or approximately 40,000 square feet. This is one of the largest holdings in the downtown section in one ownership. It is understood that an agreement was made with R. C. Williams & Co. at the time of the purchase of the property they occupy whereby they would remain a tenant for five years.

PEASANTS AROUSED, RESIST THE SOVIET

Refuse to Turn Over Their Grain and Armed Tax Collectors Are Powerless.

70 CORRESPONDENTS KILLED

Failure of the Bolshevist School Policy is Admitted by the Commissioner for Education.

Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

REVAL, Nov. 21.—After six years of strenuous efforts to promote class warfare in foreign countries and to cause proletarian movements, the Soviet Government has finally awakened, discovering that widespread, intense class hatred has developed in Russia. Today the hated and feared Russian kulaks (peasants owning one or more horses) have awakened to active resistance against the Soviet Government.

Moscow and Leningrad newspapers of Tuesday and Wednesday arriving in Reval report that the entire Russian peasantry is dominated by the kulaks, who now have a two years' flax crop and also this year's grain crop in their hands, refusing to sell on credit to the Soviet Government.

Tax collecting commissions, even when accompanied by armed escorts, are powerless to collect the grain tax, and in the larger Russian cities the Winter grain reserve is reported to be low.

The price of bread in Moscow and Leningrad has risen 300 per cent in two months and for the first time in two years the huge Russian warehouses at Reval, Riga and Leningrad contain no grain destined for export abroad.

Discussing the present situation, the Moscow Isvestia reports that the conflict between the city and country has taken a serious turn for the worse.

According to the latest number of Isvestia, more than seventy village correspondents have been killed. The paper is publishing daily reports of how the peasants burned correspondents' houses, beating them and ejecting them and their families from the villages.

On Wednesday, in a small town near Leningrad, the peasants chopped a local correspondent for the Moscow Isvestia to death with axes.

The paper urges that the Government immediately begin to nationalize the property of the rich peasants, forcibly collecting taxes long overdue.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Collapse of the Bolshevist education program is admitted by Commissar of Education Lunacharsky, writing in a Moscow paper. M. Lunacharsky proposes freeing the schools and permitting private enterprises in education because the Soviet system is unable to solve the problem.

In Moscow alone there are 100,000 children for whom there are no school accommodations.

TELLS OF SOVIET TERROR..

Emma Goldman Begins Series of Articles in London Weekly.

Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Emma Goldman begins an exposure of the Soviet Government of Russia in an article in The Illustrated London News, published tomorrow. She tells what she found on her arrival in Russia:

"I found labor conscripted and driven to work like chattel slaves, arrested for the slightest infringement, and even shot for industrial desertion. I found the peasants the hapless prey of punitive expeditions and forcible food collections—the proceeding of which devastated hundreds of villages and destroyed thousands of human lives.

"I found the prison concentration camps overcrowded with men, women and even children, not because they offered any resistance, but for their opinions. I found Russia in wreck and ruin, presided over by a bureaucratic State, incompetent and inefficient to reconstruct the country and help the people restore their ruined homes and great morals. It would be a betrayal of all I stood for in my life, a breach of faith with the Russian people and with all humanity everywhere, were I to keep silent after all I saw in Russia, all these harrowing things which continue to the present day."

SOVIET STARTS DRIVE AGAINST DRUG SELLING

Prison and Deportation Among the Proposed Penalties—Users to Be Punished Also.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—The use of cocaine and other narcotics in Russia, which has been spreading to an alarming extent even among children, has induced the Moscow health authorities to embark upon a vigorous anti-narcotic campaign. The sale of cocaine and trafficking in other narcotics will be punishable by prison, deportation and confiscation of property, and even the consumers will be made liable to prosecution. Compulsory detention in special labor anti-narcotic dispensaries is proposed for cocaine consumers. The Moscow Soviet has decided to organize an anti-narcotic hospital for children and ten labor dispensaries for adults.

Recently several cocaine dens and opium haunts were discovered by the Moscow police, and a number of arrests were made. In one instance more than forty persons, including seventeen women, were found on the premises. Dr. Shlomovitsh, head of the narcotic section of the Soviet Health Department, said: "Germany must be held responsible for this European calamity, as German manufacturers of narcotics contrive by many means to supply cocaine and other narcotics to the world markets."

Smith Installed as Detroit's Mayor.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 21.—John W. Smith became Mayor of Detroit this afternoon, after a brief ceremony, terminating a bitterly contested city election here. A writ of prohibition preventing the Election Commission from issuing a certificate of election was not dissolved until late this afternoon in the Circuit Court. Charles Bowles, "sticker" candidate for Mayor, abandoned his fight for the office.

Cuba's Debt Cut $36,620,620.

HAVANA, Nov. 21.—Cuba's public debt was diminished by $36,620,620 between May 21, 1921, and Oct. 31, 1924, it was announced today by the Secretary of the Treasury at a meeting of the Cabinet. The Secretary added that at the present time there was $25,069,596 in the National Treasury.

WANTS AN ACTIVE LEAGUE.

Lord Grey Ready to Sign Protocol, Undeterred by Fear of Us.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
(Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Lord Grey of Fallodon, speaking at a League of Nations Union meeting tonight, denied that he ever said he was opposed to the protocol. What he had said, he explained, was that he would not be a party to anything which gave a foreign tribunal power to order the British Navy about, and the protocol did not give any such power to any foreign tribunal.

They all wished to see Germany included in the League of Nations, he said. They would all rejoice to see the United States become a member of the League, but the United States having refused to join the League, he thought those people were making a great mistake who urged that they should go gently with the League and keep it as quiet and as unobtrusive as possible in order to try to make the United States become a member.

"If the League of Nations," he continued, "is allowed to lie dormant, the United States will despise it, but if we make it a really effective means of reducing armament and securing peace in Europe, the United States may not decide to join it, but they will respect it and be more disposed to help it in its objects."

Lord Grey went on to say he would not be deterred from signing the protocol by any fear that it was likely to get England into trouble with the United States. The idea that such a step would bring the country into conflict with the United States was absolutely unreasonable, he added.

fications and the daily press of the union.

4. But it is unnecessary to go into these details, for information in the possession of his Majesty's Government leaves no doubt whatsoever in their mind of the authenticity of Zinovieff's letter and his Majesty's Government are therefore not prepared to discuss the matter.

(3) I must further observe that you would entirely misapprehend the character of the representations made to you by my predecessor if you supposed that they dealt with Zinovieff's letter only. The activities of which his Majesty's Government complain are not confined to one particular letter but, on the contrary, extend to the whole body of the revolutionary propaganda of which the letter is a fair specimen and which is sometimes conducted in secret and sometimes, as you rightly remark, not concealed. Pronouncements of Zinovieff which have been broadcast throughout the world are in themselves sufficient evidence of propaganda in which the Third International, with the knowledge and consent of the Soviet Government, perpetually indulges and it is this system which, in the view of his Majesty's Government, is inconsistent with solemn undertakings given by your Government.

(4) In his note of Oct. 24, Ramsay MacDonald observed that "no one who understands the constitution and relationships of the Communist International will doubt its intimate connection and contact with the Soviet Government." He further observed that "no Government would ever tolerate an arrangement with a foreign Government by which the latter is in formal diplomatic relations of a correct kind with it while at the same time a propaganda body, organically connected with that foreign Government, encourages and even orders the subjects of the former to plot and plan revolutions for its overthrow." This is true, and the Soviet Government would do well to weigh carefully the consequences of ignoring this pronouncement.

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

Refused to Receive Rakovsky's Note.

The third document consists of a letter from J. D. Gregory, permanent official of the British Foreign Office, who signed the letter addressed to Rakovsky on Oct. 24 last in the absence of the then Foreign Secretary, Ramsay MacDonald. It is concerned with a second Soviet note dated Oct. 27, the text of which appeared in the press here and in Moscow and formed the subject of semi-official correspondence between Gregory and Rakovsky, which is now brought to a conclusion by Gregory's letter. It follows:

Foreign Office, Nov. 21, 1924.

Dear Monsieur Rakovsky:—I have submitted to the Secretary of State your letter to me marked C. R. 8553 of 5th November. Mr. Chamberlain instructs me to reply that he has caused records left by the office by his predecessor to be searched and that your note of 27th October on the subject of Zinovieff's dispatch to the Central Committee of Great Britain has not been found among them. Mr. Chamberlain is, of course, familiar with the substance of this note which was published in Moscow, but he has no intention of departing from the decision communicated to you by Mr. MacDonald and recorded in this office, that the note in question was one which his Majesty's Government cannot consent to receive.

J. D. GREGORY.

The Soviet Russian note referred to in this latest document issued from the Foreign Office was published in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Oct. 29. This Soviet note again alleged the Zinovieff letter to be "an impudent forgery," and stated that the Soviet Government would "insist on an adequate enquiry and punishment of both privates and official persons involved in the forgery." It concluded with a proposal for impartial arbitration.

There is general editorial approval of Austen Chamberlain's notes to the Soviet Government. The London Times says they "are pitched in exactly the right tone. The temper of the country as shown in recent elections demands nothing less," the paper continues. "For the present it demands nothing more. There can be no doubt whatever that the action now taken by Mr. Baldwin's Government is much better calculated to lead to establishment of normal relations between Russia and this country than perpetual concessions of the Labor Government, which confirmed the Bolshevists in their worst errors and most insufferable pretensions."

The Daily Chronicle says:

"It was Mr. MacDonald who destroyed the prospect of the Russian treaty by putting in it the terms which this country could never have signed. It was rightly described as a fake, and that was his legacy to his successors. But after all there are more important matters for Mr. Chamberlain and for us than to show Mr. MacDonald was wrong. How can we get right now, in spite of MacDonald's error? We hope that the Government will not miss any favorable opportunity for entering into a reasonable agreement with Russia to re-establish commercial relations."

The Daily News finds the notes "curt almost to the point of contemptuousness. They do not suggest any intention on the Government's part to break off formal relations with Russia." The Daily News adds, "and they leave open the possibility of further negotiations for a new treaty more in accordance with political and financial realities. It is of course conceivable, though we do not think it is likely, that the Russian Government will not be content with another stinging retort, but will seek a rupture on its own account. That, in our opinion, would be a genuine misfortune for both countries. We have always insisted on the importance of putting the relations of this country with Russia on a sounder and more civilised footing, but nothing is to be gained by ignoring the fact that the first condition of any such working arrangement must be a complete cessation of the sort of subversive activities of which the Zinovieff letter is merely a commonplace specimen."

The Morning Post says:

"The present Government in two notes which they addressed to Rakovsky show at any rate they are masters in their own house. Whether one agrees or disagrees with them, it must be admitted that the Foreign Secretary talks as one who has nothing to conceal and nothing to fear, and consequently Moscow will realize that in the British Foreign Office there is now a chief who really counts. We welcome Mr. Chamberlain's declarations because they afford new evidence of that old spirit of British pride and British determination which have been too long absent from our Council chambers." The Westminster Gazette expresses the hope that the Soviet "will take advantage of the loopholes left by Mr. Chamberlain."

ALLEGED SOVIET SPY FLIES FROM RUMANIA

Captain Brailoi Is Suspected of Taking Army Secrets in Plane to Moscow.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 21.—Captain Brailoi, a reserve officer in the Rumanian Flying Corps, has disappeared. It is alleged that he left the country in a army airplane belonging to the Galatz airplane depot and it is believed that he has gone to Odessa on the way to Moscow with important army documents stolen from the military authorities at Galatz, where he was temporarily employed.

Captain Brailoi is suspected to have had relations with the Russian Soviet and to have been connected with the spying organization, which was discovered in Bessarabia last year. For their alleged complicity this group, thirty-five persons, mostly Russians, and Mme. Vreny, prima donna of the Bucharest Opera, were arrested. Their trial will begin before a Rumanian court-martial.

BERLIN CAUSED WAR, LOUIS DIARY SAYS

Late Ambassador's Record Blames Allied Statesmen for Furnishing Pretext.

"FRANCE FELL INTO TRAP!"

Izvolsky, Out of Hatred of Austria, Supplied the Occasion Germany Was Seeking, He Says.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—A new angle to the controversy which has been raised by the publication of the diary of the late Georges Louis, former French Ambassador to Russia, was supplied today by further extracts published by the Oeuvre with permission of the Review of Europe, which holds the copyright. In this extract Louis definitely destroys any possibility of such an interpretation of his writings as has been given them in Germany, viz., that Izvolsky, Poincaré and Tittoni were responsible for the outbreak of the war. On the contrary, Louis lays the blame on Germany as having sought the war, and the blame which attaches to the allied Ministers is only that they were not skilful in avoiding the issue and removing the pretext. In February, 1915, Louis wrote:

"It is clear that Germany is the aggressor despite all the protests of her statesmen and newspapers. This is an offensive war on the part of Germany and Austria, and that is why Italy has been able to refuse to take part without breaking her word, for her treaty alliance only stipulated for her help should Germany and Austria be attacked.

"Since 1870 Germany has only once addressed an ultimatum to a power of the Triple Entente; that was in March, 1909, when Russia encouraged Serbian resistance to Austrian demands. France then let it be understood at St. Petersburg that matters must not be pushed to a point where war might break out. The alliance had been formed for the protection of the vital interests of France and Russia, and the Serbian question was not vital for Russia.

"The French advice that things should not be pushed too far was listened to, and the Imperial Government advised Serbia not to 'prolong resistance.'"

Louis then examines the German attempt to provoke a crisis over Morocco. In that matter the French position was strong, because Germany realized Austria would not back her. She therefore again sought a pretext in the Balkans, where Austrian interests were such that she could not avoid her duties as an ally.

"France," he says, "fell into the trap in 1914 which she had avoided in 1909.

"The big question to be examined," he continues, "is, did France push Russia to adopt a bellicose attitude and mobilize? Could she have restrained Russia? Did she advise war or peace? France wanted peace. She was not ready for war. But the French Government, or, rather, the President of the republic and his Ambassador at Petrograd, acted as if France was ready.

"It is quite evident it was Germany who began the war. But who is the author of the policy which furnished Germany the occasion and pretext which she was seeking? It was without doubt Izvolsky out of his personal hatred of Austria under the direction and with the complicity of Poincaré."

This summing up of the position by Louis six months after the outbreak of the war places the parts of his diary already published in much better perspective. It must, however, always be remembered that the French Ambassador's dislike of Izvolsky had been deeply rooted for several years. Was it Izvolsky who during nearly two years made it almost impossible for him to do his work at Petrograd? Was it Izvolsky whose complaints about him to Poincaré were largely influential in bringing about his recall? There is no doubt Louis was entirely discredited at Petrograd during the last year of his Ambassadorship there through Izvolsky's influence. That knowledge and experience may have colored his interpretation of events.

CONFIDENCE IN AUSTRIA URGED BY DR. SEIPEL

Appeal to America Is Made as Dr. Ramek Succeeds Him as Chancellor.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Nov. 21.—Dr. Seipel, who yesterday handed over the office of Chancellor to Dr. Rudolph Ramek, told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today that in view of his resignation, he desired particularly to express again his unshaken conviction to the American public that the successful reconstruction of Austria would be carried out to the end. At the same time Dr. Seipel expressed the hope that the American public would have full confidence in the new Government.

"From now on, I am leader of the largest parliamentary party, representing a majority of the people, and I consider it my duty in this position to support the Government in every way," Dr. Seipel said.

Then he argued that the best proof of the success of the Cabinet which he directed was shown by the fact that his resignation brought no change in the basic principles of Austrian policy, and that the stabilized currency underwent no fluctuation as a result of the change in Government.

Only through the long-term League of Nations loan was the condition of Austria improved and confidence restored, Dr. Seipel said. It may be recalled that the Social Democrats had planned a levy on capital just before they went out of power.

The Freie Presse today refers to the fact that Austria's expenses must be reduced by $14,286,000 in order to balance the budget, and asks how the reductions are to be achieved.

PIGEONS SAVE PLANES SEARCHING FOR CABRAL

Homing Birds Effect Rescue of Two French Pilots Downed in Sea—Portuguese Not Found.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The two French hydroplanes which were searching for the plane of Commander Sacadura Cabral, who was drowned off the coast of France on Sunday, were saved today by a homer pigeon.

Both planes were forced down on a rough sea off Cape Dantifer, near Dieppe, and damaged. The pilots were helpless in face of the situation and each released the pigeon which he carried with a message giving the location of the planes.

One of the pigeons was captured by a fisherman of Grandcamp, who immediately informed the maritime authorities. A wireless message was broadcast to all of the vessels engaged in the search for the Cabral machine and the two hydroplanes were rescued.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—Confirmation is still lacking of the report that the body of Commander Sacadura Cabral, the Portuguese aviator who disappeared while on a flight from Argentina to Lisbon, has been recovered from the North Sea.

He laughed at Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Now read this letter of thanks from Mr. Kane. It speaks for itself. Remember, it is because Kellogg's is ALL-BRAN that it was so effective in his case—just as it has been in thousands of others. Only ALL-BRAN can produce 100 per cent results.

My dear friend:
Imagine a young man weighing 165 pounds in the course of a few months parked in bed, a weakling weighing 94 pounds. An elderly lady whom I knew since I was a kid paid me what she thought was a best visit. Upon being told of my plight she immediately mentioned your product for such an ailment. Maybe some of us didn't look upon her views very lightly . . . it was to laugh!

My dear friend, I am still laughing not at your product, but because I am able to. I am telling you and the world at large, "Eat Kellogg's Krumbled Bran!" It should be called "Constipation's worst enemy." I owe you my heartfelt gratitude. I can talk, and whenever the opportunity presents itself, my mouth is always full of bran—Kellogg's Krumbled. Wishing you countless days of progress, I am

Yours for success,
John M. Kane,
228 Salem St., Woburn, Mass.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly to relieve constipation permanently. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money. You will like the delicious nut-like flavor. Sold by all grocers.

OUR Second Floor is a young folks' floor, laden with everything imaginable for the golden age of youth—from layettes for the very new baby, to complete outfits for the girl of sixteen, or the youth of eighteen.

A DELIGHTFUL simplicity, as smart as it is youthful, characterizes all this apparel—chosen by experts who have considered the fancies as well as the necessities of youth.

Coats for Girls, Boys and Babies

Chosen from our Second Floor — A World of Smart Apparel Devoted to Every Young Person of Every Young Age

For CHILDREN

Peter and Pan—A Coat and Hat Set for Little Brother and Sister—14.75

The coziest of outfits for little people, for the coat is made of camel's hair-and-wool mixture and trimmed with a nutria collar. Double-breasted, with slit and patch pockets, half belt, and a convertible collar. Lined and interlined. 1 to 4 years.

Hats to match, 2.95 to 3.75

Jacqueline—A Dressy Coat and Hat Set for Little Sister

35.75

Made of padrone cloth with collar and cuffs of Australian opossum. In flare effect with slit pockets and cording down the front and back, finished with embroidered arrows. Lined and warmly interlined. In henna, blue, and green. 2 to 6 years.

Tam to match, finished with opossum tassel.

Jack—A Coat and Hat to Match, for Little Brother

24.75

Snug and smart for out-of-door excursions, for it is made of camel's hair, is double-breasted for extra protection, and is lined and interlined. Slit pockets, and half belt in back. Natural, cinnamon, and bobolink. 1 to 4 years.

Won't you send us your name and address so that we can mail Tiny Town News to your little boy or girl? It's full of stories for small folks themselves, and interesting news for mothers. The Christmas issue is now in preparation.

For BOYS

Clayton—A Sturdy and Good Looking Overcoat

25.00

A swagger model, excellently tailored from all-wool fleecy overcoatings in heathers or plaids. An all-wool lining lends double warmth. 11 to 18 years.

Don—"Paddington Jr." London-Tailored Overcoats—14.95

Splendid tailoring and the newest English lines are combined in this model; made from warm fleece overcoatings in favored weaves and colorings. Full wool lining. 3 to 8 years.

Pembroke—"Paddington Jr." London-Tailored Overcoats—29.75

Boys will greet this model enthusiastically, so smart it is with its fly front—exclusive with Saks-Fifth Avenue. Other Paddington Juniors in single or double-breasted effect. 11 to 18 years.

Dicky—Overcoats for Junior Boys—18.95

A double-breasted model with a convertible collar and box or belted back. Tailored from all-wool fleeces in new heathers and plaids. Also in fine quality all-wool chinchilla. 3 to 10 years.

Bobby—Fur-Collared Coats for Boys—29.75

"Storm-proof," all-wool fleeces are used for this model in smart new colorings. All-wool lining. Collared with raccoon or nutria. 3 to 10 years.

SAKS-FIFTH AVENUE—SECOND FLOOR

For GIRLS

Millicent—A Dress Coat for Girls—45.00

The tucked barrel sleeves of this coat are charming, trimmed with imported gold braid. The coat is made of fine suede velour, with a collar and cuffs of Australian opossum. Silk lined. In Fairway green, rust, and plum. 8 to 14 years.

Eloise—A Sports Coat for Girls—55.00

Every little girl loves plaids, and this model is made of genuine camel's hair plaid in tan or gray with a large shawl collar of raccoon. Plain patch pockets add smartness. Silk lined and interlined throughout. 10, 12 and 14 years.

Janice—A Dress Coat for Little Girls—49.50

Made of fine mokine, this delightful model has a standing collar of dyed kolinsky squirrel to match the cuffs and the edging that is used all the way down the front. Lined with crepe de Chine and interlined. In cranberry red. 6 to 10 years.

Marian—A Dress and Street Coat for Juniors

69.50

Leopard cat is the smart and vivaciously colored fur used as collar, cuffs and border on this coat of padrone cloth in cranberry red, laurel green, or smoky blue. 12, 14 or 16 years.

FISHERMAN, SAVED AT SEA, RETURNS

William A. Finston, Caught in Sunday's Storm, Enjoyed His Adventure in a Sloop.

LANDED AT NORFOLK BY SHIP

Describes the Experiences of Seven Men on the Frolic—Held Up by Immigration Officers.

William A. Finston, one of the seven fishermen who left Mill Basin, Brooklyn, last Sunday in the sloop Frolic and were rescued at sea by the Norwegian steamship Manzano Tuesday, returned yesterday from Norfolk to his home at 805 Linden Avenue, Brooklyn.

Finston received congratulations on his safe return and appeared to enjoy his adventure. His wife, however, was in the care of a physician as a result of the nervous strain she underwent during her husband's absence.

"It was a grand experience," Finston said. "We left Brooklyn at 10 o'clock last Sunday morning on the Frolic, a sloop thirty-four feet long and thirteen feet wide, for a fishing trip off the Rockaways. We had gone on the same expedition dozens of times before. In the afternoon we had a big boiler full of cod. Then the wind began to blow hard and we started back. The wind got stronger and carried away our sail. The engine was going, but it wasn't powerful enough to buck the wind, so we decided to shut off the engine and drop anchor, so we'd have enough fuel to get to shore when the wind died down.

"We thought the anchor was holding, but actually we were on our way to Europe, only we didn't know it. On Monday morning we could see the ocean-going liners about five miles away, but we were so small they couldn't see us. We took turns keeping watch. We drank up all the coffee and some of us devoured the spaghetti and beans that we had in cans. We had some left, when we were picked up, but even if this food had run out, we still had our catch of cod. Food was the least of our worries. We made ourselves comfortable in the bunks and decided that, come what would, we'd quit worrying.

"It was getting dark late Tuesday when Bill Sander climbed the mast with a lantern and sighted the Mexicano. We lighted a flare of oil-soaked rags and put it on the end of a pump handle. The Mexicano saw this and turned toward us. A rowboat was sent over and we were picked up.

"The Captain told us to burn the sloop, but later he changed his mind and sent a radio to the Federal authorities, who sent out a revenue cutter to tow up the Frolic, on which we left lanterns burning. We were put off at Norfolk, but the immigration authorities there questioned us and delayed us in getting back home."

Finston said he had received word that the Frolic had been picked up by a revenue cutter and would be towed back to Brooklyn.

OBJECT TO STREET CLOSING.

Brooklyn Citizens Say Sugar Company Would Shut Out Air.

The Board of Estimate, after a lively hearing late yesterday afternoon, referred to a committee of citizens and factory owners for adjustment the proposal that the city close three streets in the Eastern District section of Brooklyn to permit the expansion of the plant of the American Sugar Refining Company. Borough President Riegelmann was appointed to act as arbiter.

Through its counsel, former Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, the refining company argued that the closing of the streets was necessary to the construction of a modern plant. The large delegation of neighborhood residents who appeared to combat the project was headed by Alderman J. W. Sullivan, who contended that the street closing would "bottle up" the adjacent tenements and cut off fresh air from the nearby East River.

Arguments against the concession asked by the plant were made by Dr. William Schliffer, Frank L. Roseson and other neighbors of the big refinery.

When a group of taxpayers from Dyker Beach Park, Fort Hamilton, and other sections adjacent to Dyker Beach Park, Brooklyn, appeared protesting against a local assessment for the enlargement of the park on the grounds "that it was merely to be enlarged for the purpose of making a bigger golf links," the Board of Estimate referred the matter back to the Committee on Assessments.

When the matter of the assessment for the improvement of the street connections with the new Coney Island Boardwalk to cost $6,000,000 came up a large delegation of taxpayers cheered Mayor Hylan and Borough President Riegelmann when the board voted to reduce the local assessment from 60 to 20 per cent, with 50 per cent. to be levied upon the city at large and the remaining 30 per cent upon the Borough of Brooklyn.

MISSIONARY IS HONORED.

Sir James C. R. Ewing President of the Presbyterian Board.

Sir James C. R. Ewing, who for more than forty years was a missionary in India, has been elected President of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Sir James, who is a Presbyterian minister, succeeds the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who retired last Monday from the presidency, an office he had held for twenty-one years.

Since his retirement a few years ago and his return from India to his native land, Sir James has been a lecturer on missions at Princeton Theological Seminary. He lives in Princeton.

For thirty years Sir James was President of Forman Christian College, Lahore, India.

The board has accepted the resignation as a secretary of the Rev. Dr. Stanley White, who served in that office seventeen years. Dr. White resigned because of ill-health. Dr. White is recuperating from an illness of some months at Norston, Conn.

SEES GERMANY MENDING.

American Business Leader There Says It Depends on Dawes Plan.

The rehabilitation of Germany depends upon the successful operation of the Dawes plan, in which the "man in the street" in Germany has confidence, though he may not understand its operation, according to Arthur E. Dunning, Executive Secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Berlin, who spoke last night at a dinner of the Foreign Trade Forum of the National Association of Credit Men at the Alpine Club.

The United States is still in the elementary stage of foreign trade, in comparison with England and Germany, said Mr. Dunning, who has spent the last twenty-two years in Germany. The time is coming when Germany will be able to absorb a still greater volume of American products, Mr. Dunning stated, and our exportation to that country will be in proportion to the rapidity with which she gets out of her business troubles.

SIRDAR'S ASSASSINS ARRESTED IN CAIRO

Driver of Taxicab Confesses, Identifying the Effendi Who Shot Sir Lee Stack.

GENERAL'S FUNERAL TODAY

British Cabinet Meets to Consider Note—Will Demand Security for Nationals in Egypt.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 21.—The driver of the taxicab in which some of the assassins of Sir Lee Stack, Governor General of the Sudan and Sirdar of the Egyptian Army, made their escape, and who was arrested the same night, has confessed. He has identified the effendi who made the attack and they were arrested tonight.

King Fuad sent a message today to the acting Sirdar at Khartsum recalling General Stack's loyalty, sincerity, good qualities and valuable services, and requesting the acting Sirdar to communicate his message to the officers and men of the Egyptian Army.

Signs of mourning for General Stack are universal and the general feeling of all communities is well illustrated by the fact that all flags are half-masted today and race meetings and all public and social engagements, even small private parties have been canceled. The Bourse suspended business for a quarter of an hour. All British establishments in the city and nearly all foreign business houses decided to close tomorrow.

The funeral of General Stack takes place tomorrow morning and will be of a military character. Premier Zaghlul Pasha sent a message to the various Ministers requesting their attendance at the funeral with the officials of their departments. A service preceding the burial will be held at All Saints Church to which the body has been removed. Bishop Gwynne will officiate and Lady Stack, Lord Allenby, Ministers and diplomatic corps, senior military officers and senior civilian officials will attend.

Funeral to Pass Through Cairo

From the church the procession will pass through the city to the cemetery, where interment will take place in the presence of large numbers of British and Egyptian officers. The body will be placed on a gun carriage and will be followed immediately by Lord Allenby and King Fuad's representative, the officer commanding the British forces in Egypt; Air Vice Commodore Swan, and Sir Gilbert Clayton, representing the Palestine Government. After them will come members of the Cabinet, Princes of blood royal, members of the diplomatic corps, senior British officials, delegations from the British, Italian, French and Belgian communities, ex-ministers and the Ulema of Alazhar, clergy of the Eastern churches and members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies. There will also be a considerable number of British troops.

The High Commissioner has received a letter from A. W. Keown Boyd, Director General of the European section of the Department of Public Security, and M. T. Russell Pasha, Commandant of the Cairo city police, asking to be relieved from all responsibility for the conduct and results of the investigation into the murder of General Stack because of their previous experience with inquiries into political crimes.

A copy of this letter, which was also signed by George Higgins, Chief Inspector, and the only British official in the Public Prosecution Department, was forwarded last night to Premier Zaghlul Pasha by Lord Allenby.

The premeditated and brutal nature of the attack on General Stack has been emphasized as a result of the autopsy performed this morning in the Anglo-American Hospital. A bullet was found just above the heart, where it lodged after running up the wall of the abdomen and traversing the liver and diaphragm, without, however, damaging the intestines. It proved to have been fired from a .30 automatic pistol. The top of the nickel casing of the bullet had been cut off in order to make it a dumdum. As reported at the time, a similar bullet was found in the car, and this latest discovery increased the indignation with which the news of the outrage has been received.

British to Demand Security.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Within the next twenty-four hours Lord Allenby is expected to present to the Egyptian Government a strong note upon the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, Governor of the Sudan and Sirdar of the Egyptian Army. Although the British Government has no intention of altering the present status of Egypt or the Sudan it will make certain definite demands for greater security against a repetition of such outrages.

The British Government does not accuse the Egyptian authorities of any complicity in the assassination and is ready to accept their expressions of regret which have been made by King Fuad and Premier Zaghlul Pasha, but it does hold them responsible for the anti-European atmosphere in Cairo and for the wild utterances in speeches and in the Egyptian newspapers which they have permitted to go unchecked.

The Egyptian Government will be warned that it must take steps to suppress these or it will be held answerable for any future outbreaks.

The precise action to be taken by the British will not be known till its note to the Egyptian Government has been delivered. It was noted, however, that Lord Beatty, First Sea Lord of the Admiralty; Lord Cavan, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, and Sir Hugh Trenchard, head of the air forces, were called in conference this morning with the Cabinet. It is pointed out, moreover, that in the agreements by which Egypt and the Sudan are governed there are many points unsettled which might be used to bring pressure at Cairo without altering the condominium over the Sudan and the independence of Egypt.

It is rumored, for instance, though without official confirmation, that the British garrison in Egypt may be strengthened and a separation effected in the posts of Governor of the Sudan and Sirdar of the Egyptian Army, which have heretofore been held by one man.

Premier Baldwin left London for Chequers Court this afternoon and his intention was to remain in the country until Monday morning. Members of the Cabinet, however, have been warned that events during the week end must depend upon the news received from Cairo and that it may be necessary to summon the Cabinet to meet tomorrow, and at any rate it is almost certain that there will be an emergency meeting on Monday.

The Sudan is Shocked by the Crime.

KHARTUM, Sudan, Nov. 21.—Horror at the murder of the Sirdar is expressed by all classes of the community. Countless telegrams and messages of sympathy have been received from all parts of the Sudan and a continuous stream of deputations attended the palace today and expressed the deepest regret and sorrow to the Acting Governor-General. The deputations included representatives of every unit of the Egyptian army, the Grand Kadi and representatives of the Mahomedan courts and the Ulema. All Sheiks and notables of Khartum, Omdurman and Khartum North attended in person and united in expressing profound sympathy.

The consequences of the crime as it affects Anglo-Egyptian relations and the future of the Sudan are the subject of much speculation.

HARVARD FACES YALE IN THE BOWL TODAY

80,000 Expected to See Teams Renew Football Rivalry Which Began in 1875.

BLUE ELEVEN IS FAVORITE

SEATS BRING $50 EACH

Detectives Seek Numbers of Speculators' Tickets—Harvard Arrives —Rain Is Forecast.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—A football rivalry, which began in 1875, will be settled for another year in the Yale Bowl tomorrow when Yale and Harvard come to grips before a crowd that is expected to number 80,000. The game will be the forty-third meeting of these ancient foes and rarely ever has the Blue been a more overwhelming favorite. Odds of five to two were being offered here tonight that the team which defeated Princeton, 10 to 0, would conquer the team that Princeton beat, 34 to 0.

That is the feeling among Yale men, but the Harvard contingent, which began to arrive early this morning and kept coming in a steady stream all day, holds a different view. They remember the many years in which Yale has entered this game a pronounced favorite, only to find itself beaten at the final whistle. They remember that only one Yale team, that captained by Cupid Black, has ever beaten Harvard in the bowl and they know that in the recent history of the Big Three, Princeton seems to have something on Harvard, Yale something on Princeton, and Harvard something on Yale. Therefore, they are not wholly downcast, as might be expected, but face this final test with the hope that their team will add one more upset to the already long list of this waning season.

Performances Mean Little.

For those who have no affiliations, either with the Blue or the Crimson, it takes only one glance at the record of this series to show how little past performances really mean. When this group goes to the bowl tomorrow afternoon, it will expect to see a close and hard-fought battle from whistle to whistle, and if the future may be judged from the past that is exactly what it will see.

Tonight Yale men debated whether it would be wise to turn loose a full head of scoring plays against the Crimson, plays which have never seen daylight outside the barred portals of the Bowl, or whether to reserve them for other seasons and other games.

Most of the undergraduates hold the belief that the Elis will have plenty of use another season for all the scoring plays they possess, and which they have been able to keep under cover.

If Yale can, therefore, surge into a two-touchdown lead, according to undergraduate belief, allowing the Harvard attack to wear itself out, the Blue eleven can afford to disregard its hope of avenging the 41-to-0 defeat which Captain Eddie Mahan and his team inflicted a decade ago.

Whether the coaches and players will accept this viewpoint or not is another story. Last year the Yale players ran wild against Princeton, scoring 27 points while the coaches were vainly trying to hold them in leash and keep them in physical condition for the Harvard game a week later.

All the crushing of the opposing eleven during the past two decades has been done by Harvard. In 1914 Charley Brickley's team humiliated Yale by 35 to 0, and the 41-to-0 Crimson victory the next year saw the Haughton attack at its climax against a defenseless Eli eleven.

Tad Jones's advent as Yale coach the next year saw the Harvard eleven go down to an unexpected 6-to-3 defeat, but following the World War Jones's elevens bowed annually to Bob Fisher's until last season, when in mud and rain, the Eli team waded to a 13-to-0 victory.

Yale's 6-to-3 conquest of Harry Dadman's team was the only victory ever scored over Harvard in the Bowl.

Harvard Team Arrives.

A badly battered Harvard team today came to Yale for light signal practice in the Bowl as its last bit of training before meeting its ancient enemy.

The squad of forty-five reached here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, having lunched on the dining cars during the trip. It took automobiles to the Bowl and remained inside the enclosure for two hours, while undergraduate scouts patrolled the parapets to ward off seekers of the Crimson's secrets.

On Pratt Field, just outside the Bowl, the Yale eleven ran through its signals for the last time this season. As the regulars left the gridiron to take automobiles back to the campus the scrubs cheered them wildly.

Harvard's regulars and reserves were driven to the Hotel Clark in Derby to spend the night. They will return to the Bowl tomorrow noon.

Adverse weather predictions for tomorrow recalled tonight the downpour on which last year's game was played at Cambridge, breaking a drought which had existed for fully a month. Rain tomorrow is the weather man's prediction for Southern Connecticut.

Despite Harvard's successive defeats and palpable slender chance of victory, coupled with the practical certainty of rain and mud tomorrow, prices for pasteboards to the game soared tonight to new high levels. A common quotation for a desirable seat was $50. Although the transfers were made quietly, an unusually large force of private detectives took notes of the numbers of the tickets which were offered for public sale and the result may be that blacklist will be resorted to by the athletic officials of both universities.

Yale's campaign will probably call for a test of Harvard's line in the early periods of the game with Pond, Cuttle, Allen and Bench in the back field, Sunnell, the other quarterback, will be held in reserve along with Kline, Cutler, Lindley and Scott, the dropkick specialist.

Harvard's offense will centre around the line ramming of Miller, the dropkicking and forward passing of Stafford and the punting of Hammond.

Yale expects to use at least two full stevens, injecting Gill, Osborne, Hart and Potts into the end positions as substitutes, using Richards and Benton at guard, Wortham and Eckart at tackle and Burt at centre.

While Harvard officials insist that Gehske, Cheek, Zarakov and Spaulding are out of the game because of injuries this is discounted at Yale. Captain Mal Greenough of the Crimson was back at quarter in the signal rehearsal this afternoon with Abie at centre. Harvard expects to use Beals at end and McGlone at quarterback before the game is over.

Parties Precede Game.

More society events were scheduled this year than at any previous Yale-Harvard game. The glee and banjo clubs of the two universities tonight joined in a concert which filled the vast Woolsey Hall auditorium. Following the concert, dances were given in Woolsey Hall, The Cloister, The Colony, St. Elmo, Yorld Hall, Vernon Hall, Franklin Hall of the Sheffield Scientific School, the Lawn Club and the Zeta Phi fraternity house. Patronesses at The Cloister included Mrs. G. R. Curran, Overbrook, Pa.; Mrs. F. C. Jones, Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. C. H. Warren, New Haven.

Colony patronesses were Mrs. W. K. Zeigfeld and Mrs. G. V. Brokaw of New York City, Mrs. Frederick Brewster, Mrs. James Rowland Angell, Mrs. R. M. Crawford, Mrs. Arthur Twining Hadley, Mrs. W. C. Wurtenburg and Mrs. J. H. Zelleny, New Haven.

St. Elmo patronesses included Mrs. J. T. Lippincott, Cincinnati; Mrs. W. H. Porter, Chicago, and Mrs. Walter Wohlenbur, New York City.

York Hall patronesses were Mrs. G. H. Hill, Winston-Salem, N. C., Mrs. R. H. Illingworth and Mrs. H. B. Scott, New York City.

President and Mrs. Angell are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Fisher, Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, William Adams Brown and M. F. Montague of New York City and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bushnell Cheney of South Manchester.

Guests of President Emeritus Arthur T. and Mrs. Hadley were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davies Jones, Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hadley, Hamilton Hadley, Miss Virginia Morris, Ray Morris and Oliver James of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum Jr. entertained Robert Silvercruyx, Acting Belgian Ambassador; Count Antoine de l'Aubespin of Belgium, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whittlesey and Mr. and Mrs. Melser Whittlesey, Denver, Col., and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Work of Morristown, N. J.

Elaborate preparations for the handling of the thousands of persons who will go from this city to New Haven for the Yale-Harvard football game today have been made by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. In addition to the regularly scheduled trains a total of twenty-four specials will be run to New Haven today. Nineteen of these trains will be for the use of the general public while four will be Harvard Club specials and one a Yale Club special. There also are five regular scheduled trains which will leave this city in time for the game.

The running time between this city and New Haven is two hours and fifteen minutes, and no scheduled stops will be made on the way. The first special will leave the Grand Central Terminal at 7:37 A. M. The remaining specials will be sent out at intervals of about fifteen minutes until 9 o'clock. From that hour until 11 o'clock the specials will leave at about ten-minute intervals. The Yale Club's special train will depart at 10:35 while those for members of the Harvard Club will leave at 10:06, 10:20, 10:30 and 10:38.

The game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, and a half hour should be allowed to get to the Bowl from the railroad station in New Haven. Special trains will leave New Haven on the return trip beginning at 4:10 P. M. Others will leave at frequent intervals thereafter. The specials will stop only at 125th Street on the way to Grand Central Terminal.

The New Haven Automobile Club and the New Haven and Connecticut State police have arranged for the handling of the heavy flow of automobile traffic that will move into New Haven by every road today. Those who drive from this city and points on the Boston Post Road between New York and New Haven are requested to park their cars on the outskirts of that city instead of driving all the way to the Bowl. Persons parking their cars at parking spaces at the Bowl will be required to leave by the same gates at which they entered.

The best route for autoists between this city and New Haven is the Boston Post Road. Persons driving from downtown should go north along the Grand Concourse from 161st Street to Fordham Road and thence east to the Post Road. The distance by road from this city is about seventy-five miles. After turning north at Pelham Parkway and Boston Road motorists should pass through New Rochelle, Mamaroneck, Rye, Port Chester, Greenwich and Bridgeport in addition to a number of other cities and towns on the way to New Haven.

A total of 40,000 persons in automobiles will pass through the State of Connecticut on their way to the game today, officials have stated. Warnings have been issued for motorists to heed the new Connecticut law regarding headlights and to be certain that the lenses conform to the new regulations.

SENDS 6,000 RAINCOATS.

Springfield Concern Prepares for Downpour at Today's Game.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—Hoping that the Yale-Harvard football game will bring to an end the long dry spell that has hovered over Connecticut for the past two months, a Springfield concern, it became known tonight, has shipped 6,000 raincoats to this city for sale at the Yale Bowl tomorrow in the event of rain. If it doesn't rain it was said that the raincoats would be sent back to Springfield.

Wheaton to Honor Red Grange.

SYRACUSE FAVORED TO DEFEAT COLGATE

35,000 Will See Up-State Rivals Clash in 25th Annual Gridiron Meeting Today.

BOTH ELEVENS ARE READY

Meehan and Harlow Report All Players in Best of Condition for Final Test.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Coach John F. Chick Meehan of Syracuse and Dick Harlow of Colgate University put their athletes through their last workouts today for the twenty-fifth annual gridiron classic here tomorrow, and while neither venture an opinion on the outcome of the important conflict between these rivals both seemed to feel that their players were ready for the big test. The game will be played before 35,000 persons in the Archbold Stadium.

This is the first year in many campaigns that the teams are in fine physical condition for the contest. Usually one or more stars of the teams are on the hospital list, but tonight every player on both the Maroon and Orange varsity teams is in the pink of condition.

Because of its better record this Fall Syracuse is favored to win, and the Orange supporters are backing their team heavily at 10 to 7 and 10 to 6. Little Colgate money was in sight tonight, but with the arrival of the Colgate special train tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock it is expected that considerable money will be wagered.

Late Comers Seek Tickets.

Tickets were exceedingly scarce tonight, and those few who dared to speculate in violation of the order issued by police that scalpers would be taken into custody were asking $10 and $15 a pair for poor seats. The last of the tickets were sent out from the athletic association several days ago and there is a wild scurrying about by some of the alumni of the two universities who have returned, thinking it would be an easy matter to procure seats in the bowl.

Coach Meehan has been conducting the strictest kind of secret drills, not even newspaper men being allowed in the stadium the last two weeks, and therefore there is considerable speculation as to what plan of offensive Meehan will send against the Maroon.

Meehan has not given out a line-up, but it is hinted that the same eleven players who defeated Boston College and Penn State and tied Pittsburgh will be on the field for the opening kick-off. Meehan has only used fifteen players since the start of the season, and it is probable that these same fifteen will see action at some time or other during the game.

Harlow May Use Helwig.

In a message received here tonight Coach Harlow announced that he would use Helwig at quarterback if the field was dry, while Morgan will get the call if it is rainy or the oval is slippery. The Maroon coach was still undecided as to whether to use Strack or Davidson at left guard. Strack is a veteran, while Davidson is a sophomore. The rest of the team has been decided upon for some time.

McBride, fullback, of Syracuse, and Tryon, left halfback of Colgate, will be watched closely by both teams, as they are easily the stars of the ball carriers.

The probable line-up:

SYRACUSE.		COLGATE.
Noble	L.E.	Hynes
Waldorf	L.T.	Bray
Rugge	L.G.	Strack
Pivas	C.	Da Grossa
Bayley	R.G.	S. Crowther
Starobin	R.T.	Beuthel
Hanson	R.E.	R. Crowther
Simmons	Q.B.	Helwig
Bowman	L.H.B.	Tryon
Foley	R.H.B.	Mahler
McBride	F.B.	Schmidt

Big Send-Off for Colgate Team.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—After a short signal drill that lasted little over an hour, the Colgate football team left for a nearby town, where it will spend tonight, going to Syracuse tomorrow to meet the Orange in the annual tilt. Five former Maroon grid stars aided the coaches in the short workout this afternoon. They were Beef West, Doc Anderson, Johnny Pfaff, Huntington and Jim Welsh, who have been helping Harlow for two days.

The departing team received a rousing send-off from the students and alumni who are back for alumni day and the big game of the Maroon season. There is a feeling of determination but not of optimism on the campus as the hour of the game draws near.

LEHIGH FAVORITE OVER LAFAYETTE

Bethlehem Team Choice at 5 to 4 to Take 58th Annual Battle Today.

RIVAL ELEVENS ON EDGE

Both in Best Condition of Season—More Than 15,000 Expected to See Game at Easton.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 21.—The eve of the fifty-eighth annual battle between Lehigh and Lafayette, traditional rivals in all sports, finds both teams in the best condition of the year and both institutions are claiming victory. The money sent here from Bethlehem at those odds was quickly snatched up by Eastonians. A crowd of more than 15,000 is expected to be in March Field for the game.

The Lafayette team is still in Stroudsburg and will return tomorrow just before lunch. Today was devoted to rest betting favors Lehigh by 5 to 4, and and there was practically no work given the men at the Monroe County town. Last night the Lafayette student body sent more than 200 personal telegrams to members of the team. Coach McCracken sent a telegram in return, which was read to the student body in chapel this noon, in which he said that the team would be in the best of fighting trim for Lehigh. This caused a long ovation. The game will depend, according to local observers, on the mental attitude of the Lafayette team and whether it has recovered from the jolts of Penn and Rutgers.

During last night a group of Lehigh supporters came to Easton and painted "Smash Lafayette!" on the streets and on the Court House lawn in huge white letters. Lafayette held a monster smoker tonight.

The prices of tickets for the game a few of which have fallen into the hands of speculators, are rapidly mounting and one pair sold for $50. However, the pasteboards are scarce and are practically unobtainable at any price.

The definite line-ups of the two teams is not known as yet and probably will not be disclosed until the rival elevens trot on the field for the game. However, it is expected that Marsh will start at halfback in place of the veteran Kirkleski. This will be only the second game of the season in which Marsh has started, the other being the Alfred game last week.

The probable line-up follows:

LEHIGH		LAFAYETTE
Cannon	L.E.	Berry
Lyttell	L.T.	Duffy
Lewis	L.G.	Brown
Cheel	C.	Boos
Hoffman	R.G.	Budd
Merrill	R.T.	Ford
Burke	R.E.	Crate
Pryor	Q.B.	Ernst
Mellinger	L.H.B.	Marsh
Hayes	R.H.B.	Chicknoski
Greer	F.B.	Gebhard

Lehigh Is Confident.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 21.—Lehigh is ready for the invasion of Easton. A short signal drill this afternoon was the final workout in football in Taylor Stadium this season. The Bethlehem players will invade the lair of the traditional rival tomorrow confident of victory.

Only two positions on the team are in doubt. These are centre and quarterback, with Dietrich and Cheel the eligibles for final choices on the line and Lewin or Prior at quarterback.

In running through signals this afternoon Coach Baldwin used both Cheel and Dietrich, and at quarterback had Lewin and Prior call signals, and before the brief session closed gave Hess a whirl up and down the field at the same position. In the back field selection Coach Baldwin is concerned more or less by a kicker. Prior and Hess have proved his best punters and on the selection of either one of these two players hinges the back field. If Hess starts at halfback instead of Stephens it is almost certain that Lewin will be at the quarterback post. On the other hand, if Prior starts at quarterback Mellinger will be at a halfback position. Stephens and Hayes are possibly the only two certainties in the back field. The choice between Cheel and Dietrich is a toss-up, and at the final minute the coaches may decide to hold Cheel in reserve to fill in at either tackle or centre and give Dietrich preference to snap the ball.

As for the line, the certainties are Burke and Cannon, ends; Littell and Merrill, tackles, and Hoffman and Lewis, guards.

Lehigh alumni arrived here in large numbers tonight. The students also held a parade and smoker.

FORDHAM REGULARS TO FACE CATHOLIC U.

Coach Gargan Will Start First String Players in Game Here Today.

With Columbia enjoying an off day and C. C. N. Y. and N. Y. U. having finished their schedules, Fordham will be the only New York college seen on the gridiron today. The Maroon eleven will tackle the Catholic University team on Fordham Field at 2 o'clock. Fordham has an advantage in the betting over their Catholic rivals, but the Washington eleven is expected to give the Maroon a good fight. Frank Gargan had the Fordham squad out for a light drill yesterday and put the polishing touches on the team's play. The workout included an easy dummy scrimmage on the attack and defense of the aerial game and a brief drill in punting.

The Maroon will appear on the field today with its eleven regulars in the line-up. Stane will be at right halfback, with Manning and Zakszewski completing the backfield. Brennen will again be at centre after being out of the game for three weeks. The Maroon captain was injured in the game with N. Y. U. and had been unable to play ever since.

In the early part of the season Catholic University lost to the strong Holy Cross team by a 13 to 7 score and Fordham was beaten by the Purple, 13 to 0. Catholic University has taken a big stride in football since Fordham beat them several years ago by 10 to 0. The Maroon, however, should show them something in the way of a forward pass attack and a brilliant running offense. Gargan has been working on the overhead game for the past few weeks.

The line-up:

FORDHAM.		CATHOLIC U.
Stanford	L.E.	Donohue
Bill	L.T.	White
Bruce	L.G.	Kerrigan
Bremen	C.	Fitzgerald
Oester	R.G.	Regan
Bisell	R.T.	Vosanger
Leary	R.E.	Moore
Graham	Q.B.	Bailey
Manning	L.H.B.	Denault
Slane	R.H.B.	Garvin
Zakszewski	F.B.	Connell

Referee—McGinniss, Lehigh. Umpire—Bent, Trinity. Linesman—Hans, Harvard.

Penn Practice Stops Game.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—With the score 18 to 6 in favor of the visitors, the football game between the Fire Department of Norfolk, Va., and the Philadelphia police was terminated at Franklin Field today in the third period, when Coach Young of Pennsylvania asked that the field be vacated for the Red and Blue squad could run through its practice for the Cornell game.

Yale Unbeaten, Tied Twice; Harvard Has Won 4, Lost 3

The Yale record for the season includes two tie games, those with Dartmouth and Army, but it is free of defeats, while the Harvard eleven has been beaten by Dartmouth, Princeton and Brown. However, the Yale victories over North Carolina, Georgia, Brown, Maryland and Princeton number only one more than the four Harvard successes scored at the expense of Virginia, Middlebury, Holy Cross and Boston University. No tie games have been played this season by Harvard.

The records of the two teams for the season follow:

STAGG MAY REALIZE HIS AMBITION TODAY

For 11 Years One Defeat or Tie Has Kept Big Ten Title From Chicago Eleven.

MAROONS HAVE NEW PLAYS

Are Expected to Face Wisconsin With Line-Hitting Attack—Notre Dame to Meet Northwestern.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—A Big Ten conference football championship is almost within the grasp tonight of 62-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg, dean of football coaches in America, for the first time in eleven years. Tomorrow the Maroons meet Wisconsin, with a clear title in sight for Chicago if it defeats or ties Wisconsin.

Stagg has completed thirty-two years as coach at Chicago, but since 1913 one defeat or one tie has kept the Maroons just back of the leaders. This year Stagg upset Red Grange and Illinois by starting the game with an offensive of his own that swept Illinois off its feet and tied the Illini, who had been regarded as sure conference champions. Just before the game started Stagg prayed for eleven inspired players and the squad took the field with tears of determination in their eyes.

Chicago has another tie this season on the record, with Ohio State, but thus far Chicago is the only undefeated team in the conference. For the first time this year Stagg has kept practice this week secret from every one, and a new line of plays has been developed to take advantage of the strength of the Maroon line, acknowledged the best in the conference.

Title at Stake Today.

Tomorrow decides the championship, with Chicago players having the best chance to get their little golden footballs emplematic of the Big Ten title. Only if the Maroons falter could the title rest with Illinois, the early season pace setter; Michigan, or Iowa.

The veil of secrecy that shrouded the week's workouts in many camps was not drawn aside at the final sessions and but small indication was given of the tactics to be relied upon to bring last minute laurels. It was indicated, however, that two types of football could be expected in Chicago in the Chicago-Wisconsin game, outstanding in conference interest, and in the Northwestern-Notre Dame game, in chief position as a spectacle. Chicago and Wisconsin each had a line-smashing game ready. Both teams have made bucking their mainstay. Chicago has an advantage in reserve strength. Wisconsin has a superior kicking game.

An open game is indicated in the meeting of Notre Dame and Northwestern in Chicago's new civic stadium.

Michigan has renewed its repertoire and has added additional formations to spring on Iowa. More than a thousand Iowa rooters, traveling by automobile, left for Ann Arbor to greet their team, which halted yesterday in Chicago for a long drill.

Ohio State Has Workout.

Ohio State, en route to Urbana to attempt to deduct still further from the prestige Illinois lost to Minnesota, held a light workout at Danville, Ill. The Illini worked desperately to get back into their winning gait. Coach Zuppke shifted Captain Rokusek to tackle and Shievelyn to guard.

Indiana is ready for its invasion of Purdue with a defensive game polished to a nicety and an aggressive attack. With the exception of its star centre, Captain Ralph Claypool, Purdue was in good condition.

One change was made in Minnesota's lineup to oppose Vanderbilt of Nashville, Tenn. Mathews replaced Clay at left guard, but otherwise the team that blasted Illinois' championship hopes was intact.

ST. JOHN'S SQUAD READY.

In Shape for Providence College Game at Ebbets Field Today.

One of the two college football games in the metropolitan area this afternoon is that between St. John's and Providence College at Ebbets Field. Ray Lynch finished up the season's work with his Brooklyn players yesterday afternoon and in spite of the fact that four regulars, including Captain Prendergast, have been injured expects to make a good showing against the heavy Rhode Island eleven.

For the first time since its opening game with Holy Cross the Brooklyn eleven is expected to stage a forward pass offensive. Coach Lynch has barred extensive use of passing all this season only to resume it this week with the return to the line-up of his star offensive end, Harold Drum.

The probable line-up:

ST. JOHN'S COL.		PROVIDENCE.
Drubin	L.E.	Tullen
Gaywood	L.T.	O'Leary
Mottey	L.G.	Reali
Gallagher	C.	Connors

MORRIS H. S. TAKES BRONX TITLE, 7 TO 0

12,000 See Victors Beat Evander Childs in Close Battle at Polo Grounds.

RICHMAN GETS TOUCHDOWN

Crosses Line in Second Period After Steady March Down Field—Helfund Kicks Extra Point.

The Morris High School football team avenged itself on the Evander Childs eleven at the Polo Grounds for last year's defeat yesterday, when the Maroon won its annual football game by the score of 7 to 0, and thereby captured the scholastic title of the Bronx. A crowd of 12,000 spectators witnessed the struggle, most of them students of the two schools. A half holiday was declared at Morris and Evander Childs, and practically the entire student body of both institutions was transferred to the stadium.

Gus Richman, fullback on Morris, scored the only touchdown of the game in the second period and Ader, who was substituted for Helfund at left end, in order to kick the goal for the extra point, sent a drop kick across the bar. The touchdown came as the result of a long march by Morris after the Maroon line had turned back the attack of Evander Childs.

Following a run of 18 yards around Morris's end, bringing the ball to Evander Childs's 47-yard line, the Orange and Black got off a long punt which carried to Morris's 5-yard line with the roll. From that point Morris started its drive. Richman got away for 28 yards and Oshinsky went down the side line for 40 yards in the two spectacular rushes of the advance. The period ended with the ball on Evander Childs's 20-yard line.

The touchdown came shortly after the start of the second period when Richman went over on a plunge following a delayed pass. A fumble by Shapiro was recovered by Morris on Evander Childs's 27-yard line and the Maroon seemed on the verge of scoring after carrying the ball to the 5-yard mark when Oshinsky fumbled and Dimock recovered for the Orange and Black.

The ball was in Morris's territory during the third quarter, which was marked by much fumbling, and Marris had to kick from behind its own goal line on one occasion. Evander Childs brought the ball back to Morris's 1-yard line, but was held for downs. Both teams were within close striking distance of their opponent's goal in the final quarter but were unable to carry the ball over.

The line-up:

Morris High (7).		Evander Childs High (0).
Helfund	L. E.	Cleland
Andrews	L. T.	Dimock
Goldstein	L. G.	Honich
Halpern	C.	McInnis

RUTGERS WILL FACE BUCKNELL ELEVEN

Hazel to Start in Game on Franklin Field Today—30,000 Expected to See Contest.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 21.—With Hazel limping as he ran through signals, Rutgers wound up its work on Franklin Field early this afternoon for the battle with Charlie Moran's Bucknell team here tomorrow, which is expected to draw a crowd of 30,000. Hazel's left leg, which was injured in the N. Y. U. game last Saturday, has been giving him trouble all week. Coach Jack Wallace announced that the 226-pound fullback will start against the Lewisburg collegians, but he doubts if he will be able to go the entire game. Rutgers's undefeated team ruled a favorite here tonight.

With Hazel in the back field today were Terrill, at quarterback; Benkert and Chandler, halfbacks. A last-minute change was made in the Rutgers line when Bender, veteran left tackle, was relelved by Goldschmidt, a 200-pounder from Montclair. Bender received a kick in the side in the N. Y. U. game which has affected his kidneys. He was in civilian clothes today.

After working for about half an hour the Rutgers squad of nineteen players returned to New Brunswick to spend the night.

Bucknell's team also arrived in Philadelphia today and practiced at the Montgomery School Field on the main line.

Rutgers has not been defeated this season, numbering among its victims Villanova, Lebanon Valley, St. Bonaventure's, Cornell, Franklin and Marshall, Lafayette and New York University. The only game that marred an otherwise perfect record is the 10 to 13 struggle with Lehigh. The victories scored over Cornell, 10 to 0, and Lafayette, 45 to 3, placed Rutgers in the football firmament.

Bucknell has had a highly successful season, with the exception of a 21 to 7 reverse at the hands of Lafayette when the Maroon was at its best. The Lewisburg collegians have been victors over Georgetown, Third Army Corps, Gettysburg, Western Maryland, Gallaudet, Muhlenberg and Navy.

The line-up:

RIOTING FOLLOWS WHEN KRAMER WINS

Garden in Uproar When Dick Curley, Mike Dundee's Manager, Kicks Referee.

CURLEY BANNED FOR LIFE

Action Taken by Commission at Close of Featherweight Elimination Trials.

KAPLAN AND LOMBARDO WIN

But Dundee and Garcia Will Be Permitted to Continue in Tourney—Paid Attendance 11,656.

The biggest crowd of the season in Madison Square Garden last night saw six of the foremost featherweights of the country furnish three exciting battles in the State Athletic Commission's featherweight championship elimination tournament, and witnessed one of the most riotous scenes since the restoration of boxing here under the Walker law. The paid attendance was 11,656 and the receipts were $35,923.

Louis (Kid) Kaplan, Meriden (Conn.) challenger; Danny Kramer, Philadelphia southpaw entry, and José Lombardo, Panama boxer, were the winners of the three ten-round battles and the survivors of the tournament. Chairman George E. Brower of the commission announced, however, that because of the difference of opinion and the closeness in the battles in which the men engaged, Bobby Garcia and Mike Dundee will be permitted to draw for bouts again, thus placing five men in the semi-finals, instead of three, as was at first planned.

The spectacular boxing started with the first of three ten-round bouts sanctioned by the commission in a tournament to determine a successor to Johnny Dundee, and it continued through the two succeeding battles to a degree which satisfied the most exacting fan.

The real excitement came after the two crack featherweights of the tournament, Kramer and Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill., had finished their battle, the most important of the three because of the reputation of the battlers, and the most vicious, desperate battle of the three.

Kramer won the decision in this bout, an award which, to unbiased members of the big throng, was justified because the little Philadelphian, his southpaw stance confusing Dundee, earned the honors over the Illinois lad in at least four of the rounds, while four others were even. Dundee appeared entitled only to two rounds, although he fought desperately throughout.

Charles F. Mathison and George Partridge and Referee Patsy Haley were the officials who collaborated in the decision which aroused Dick Curley, manager of Dundee, to such an extent that he hastily crossed the ring, after tossing a sponge out of the ring and kicking aside the chair in his boxer's corner, and rushed toward Judge Mathison as the latter sat on the Madison Avenue side of the ring. The action of Curley threw the house into an uproar in which cheers and boos mingled in one of the most disorderly demonstrations of the season.

Fail to Check Curley.

State Athletic Commission representatives and Promoter Rickard rushed about the ringside, unable to reach the side of Curley, but yelling cautions to him. Curley was finally led across the ring and to the stairs in Dundee's corner. As he descended the short flight of steps, he kicked at Referee Haley, who was standing in the aisle, and discolored the referee's right eye and cheekbone.

This outburst aroused the ringside section of the crowd and excited the occupants of the overhead galleries until bedlam reigned. Curley finally was hustled off, but the din remained and in such volume that announcer Joe Humphries could not make himself heard as he introduced the principals in the closing bout.

Following the last bout the State Athletic Commission, through its Chairman, George E. Brower, announced that Curley's license was revoked and he was barred forever from any association with boxing in New York State. The action, it was announced, will not affect Dundee as a boxer.

Chairman Brower and Commissioners William Muldoon and James A. Farley with Chief Deputy Walter Hooke and Colonel John J. Phelan, Chairman of the License Committee, all in attendance at the bouts, sat in judgment on Curley's case and concurred unanimously in the decision.

Kramer Scores Signal Victory.

The outburst by Curley and the resultant scene could not dim the lustre of Kramer's signal victory over Dundee. The pair were the favorites among the six contenders for the title, and the victory brought to Kramer the distinction of being one of the most dangerous of the contenders.

Kramer's perplexing left-handed style was the principal factor in his victory, although the little Philadelphian showed all the qualifications of a first-class ringman. He battered Dundee steadily about the body through the early rounds, ripping home vicious right hooks under the heart and left digs to the ribs as he advanced on Dundee. These blows had their effect on the Illinois lad, whose terrific punch lost its destructive force as the bout progressed.

Doing the leading, and landing accurately as he lashed out with right hooks and left digs to the body and head, Kramer won the second, third, seventh and eighth rounds. The first, sixth, ninth and tenth were even. Dundee won the fourth and fifth rounds, the chhapters in which the Illinois lad did his greatest fighting. In these two rounds Dundee, fighting savagely, reached Kramer's jaw several times with powerful rights and lefts and drove home with hard rights to the body, but Kramer quenched with his rival and sought always to land a decisive blow of his own.

The body blows to which he was subjected, however, robbed Dundee of the strength to maintain this assault, while Kramer was unaffected. The little Philadelphian fought on steadily, giving better than he received in savage exchanges, and through the last two rounds held his rival even despite the handicap of a blinding flow of blood from an old wound over the right eye which Dundee opened with a left hook. Kramer weighed 124 pounds and Dundee 124¼ pounds.

Kaplan's Strong Finish Wins.

Bobby Garcia, Camp Holabird (Md.) soldier-boxer, was the first of the championship hopefuls to be defeated. He clashed with Kaplan, whose challenges forced Johnny Dundee to relinquish his title in the first of the three ten-round bouts and after one of the most spectacular battles seen in the Garden, Kaplan received the decision.

It was a decision which did not meet with the undivided approval of the crowd, but it was just, nevertheless.

Kaplan, a perfect little dynamo in action, won through a cyclonic attack which he carried through from the start to the finish of the final round, which opened with little to choose between the pair. In rounds won Kaplan's margin was five. He was entitled to the first, third, fourth, fifth and tenth. Garcia carried off the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth, sustaining a rally over these four rounds which carried him the plaudits of the gathering and made him a popular favorite. The second round was even.

This bout was a slugging match. It was a head-to-head encounter which held a thrill every minute, and there were several times when each battler gave evidence of crumpling. Kaplan was shaken by a left hook to the jaw in the sixth, which also brought the blood from the Connecticut lad's mouth. But Kaplan came back immediately afterward and stung Garcia with a left hook to the jaw in the ninth and tenth rounds each boxer was staggered in the exciting rallies in which the boxers fought all over the ring while the crowd yelled encouragement.

Long-Range Work by Garcia.

Kaplan's steady work in the rounds he won, his ability to punch at close quarters and to drive home accurately with blows at long range which made Garcia miss, were the elements which brought victory to the Connecticut boxer. Garcia's forte was close-range work. Save for infrequent departures, Garcia devoted most of his attention to this style of milling and at times gave as good as he received, but Kaplan's work was the steadier and earned him the honors of the bout. Kaplan weighed 125½ pounds and Garcia's weight was 123¾ pounds.

Lombardo won the decision over Lew Paluso, Salt Lake City protége of Jack Dempsey, in the third and closing ten-round battle. The Panama lad, battered and staggered in the early rounds of the bout, survived Paluso's strongest attack, and in the closing rounds staged a rally which brought him victory. This contest, however, lacked the excitement and spectacular features of the two preceding bouts. Lombardo weighed 124 pounds and Paluso 123.

The evening started with two stirring featherweight battles as preliminaries to the big events. In the opening four-round event Moe Ginsberg, local featherweight, and Ted Blatt of St. Paul furnished the action and at the final bell the contest was declared a draw. Joey Dorando, New Jersey Italian, and Giovanni Salerno of Italy were the rivals in the six-round preliminary and after an interesting contest the decision was awarded to Dorando.

M., Eastern Standard Time.

ARMY RESERVE MEN TO FACE NORWICH

Coaches Plan to Keep Regulars on Side Lines in Final Home Game Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Army will wind up its home season in football tomorrow when it faces Norwich University in the new stadium. The visitors, who are here for their first football game with the Cadets, are not expected to furnish very stiff opposition.

It has been decided by the Army coaches to use the reserve men at the kick-off, with the varsity men on the side lines. If it is felt at any point of the game that they need the work, the varsity players may be sent into the game, for it will be the last chance for real work prior to the contest with Navy in Baltimore next week.

Mike Yeomans at quarter is the only near varsity player scheduled to start against Norwich, according to the lineup for the game, which was given out tonight.

The probable line-up:

ARMY.		NORWICH.
Gilbreath	L. E.	Andrews
Westphalinger	L. T.	Molter
Hammack	L. G.	Griffis
Daly	C.	Peck
Seeman	R. G.	Worcester
Schmidt	R. T.	Fisher
Thorn	R. E.	Rosenthal
Yeomans	Q. B.	Sherman
Trapnell	L. H. B.	O'Brien
Scheiffien	R. H. B.	Garrity
Hewitt	F. B.	Crowley

Referee—J. L. McCabe, Holy Cross. Umpire—Al Sharpe, Yale. Linesman—E. B. Scott, Michigan. Field judge—E. H. Hastings, Cornell.

NAVY IN SHORT DRILL.

Squad Practices by Electric Light Before Midshipmen.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 21.—The Naval Academy football squad will trust itself without reservation to the Army, to be taken to Baltimore for the service football game next Saturday, confident that it "will take them there and bring them back," just as the Navy did for the Army in the war days.

The squad, about seventy-five in number, under Lieut. Commander Frank Slingluff, will make the trip from Annapolis to Baltimore and back in eleven big autos furnished by the Army Motor Transportation Corps at Camp Holabird. It will leave about 9:30, and there will be no workout at the Baltimore Stadium except for a few minutes just before the game.

Practice at the Academy this afternoon was almost entirely by electric light and but a short period was available. It consisted of passing and signal work and several second string men were used in both line and back field so as to give them practice with the regulars.

There was general pleasure over the confirmation of the report that Lents, the big left guard, will work out all his scholastic conditions. The coaches can start him if they wish, and undoubtedly he will play. Chillingworth was back today at right guard, his punting being too valuable an element to dispense with.

Zuber has been at centre every day this week, and the indications are that he will be chosen to start there rather than Osburn.

The regular indication of the near approach of the Army game was on hand in the presence of the regiment of midshipmen near the side lines. They are giving the team a big hand every afternoon and confidence is growing with the steady improvement of the team in nearly every phase of playing.

Knox Ratifies Army Game.

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 21.—Knox College Faculty members today ratified the contract for the Knox-Army football game, Oct. 10, 1925. The Faculty permission was necessary before the contract could be signed, because the team would miss several days' classes on the trip to the Polo Grounds, New York, or at West Point.

Berlenbach to Meet Burns.

DETROIT, Nov. 21.—Paul Berlenbach, New York middleweight, has been matched to meet Tommy Burns, Detroit light-heavyweight, in a ten-round bout here Dec. 3.

TEAMS PLAY TODAY, FOR COOLIDGE CUP

President Will See Scouting Fleet and Infantry Meet on Washington Field.

MANY NOTABLES TO ATTEND

Cabinet Members, Generals, Admirals and Dignitaries From Foreign Lands Will Be Present.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Perhaps the largest gathering of important personages who ever witnessed a football game in Washington will assemble in Griffith Stadium tomorrow afternoon, when teams of picked athletes representing the Scouting Fleet of the Navy and the Infantry School will engage in the first annual contest for the President's Cup.

As donor of this cup, President Coolidge accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, will head the distinguished array of officials, army and naval officers, diplomats and others witnessing the game. The players will represent nineteen States and one territory. The cup was offered in the interest of "good, clean, healthy recreation for the people of the entire country and to encourage and stimulate athletics among the enlisted men of the services."

President and Mrs. Coolidge will occupy the Presidential box at the stadium and before the battle will greet both teams. The game will then be formally opened by the President throwing out the ball.

This game is the first of a series of three to be played in Washington for the cup, and future contests will continue the tradition of drawing the best players from the services and fitting them into first-class teams which will annually have the honor of playing in the nation's capital, under the eyes of the Chief Executive, in a game that will rank as one of the most important national sporting events.

Mrs. Coolidge is Honorary Chairman of the Executive Committee for the game. The Active Chairman is Mrs. James W. Wadsworth Jr., wife of Senator Wadsworth, Chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Cary T. Grayson, wife of Admiral Grayson, who was the late President Wilson's physician; Mrs. Lyman B. Kendall, Mrs. F. Lamot Berlin, Miss Margaret Lower, Mrs. Adolphus Andrews, Mrs. Clarence O. Sherrill, Mrs. Thomas Bell Sweeney and Mrs. Emory Scott Land.

The official list of those from the Diplomatic Corps and the Government who will attend the game follows:

Secretary Hughes, Secretary Mellon, Secretary Weeks, Attorney General Stone, Postmaster General New, Secretary Wilbur, Secretary Work, Acting Secretary of Agriculture Gore, Secretary Hoover, Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr., Senator Frederick Hale, General John J. Pershing, Rear Admiral M. A. McCully, Brig. Gen. Denis E. Nolan, Rear Admiral W. R. Shoemaker, Dwight D. OFFICIALS ARRANGE COOLIDGE'S ESCORT

Plans Are Made for President's Visit to Army-Navy Game in Baltimore.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 21.—At a conference today at the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles plans were formulated for escorting President Coolidge during his trip to Baltimore on Nov. 29 to attend the Army-Navy Football game.

Those in attendance were Chief Inspector of Police George G. Henry, D. Marshall Sercedor, Deputy Automobile Commissioner; Captain Stephen Nelson, commander of the traffic division, and several Secret Service agents.

The conference was held behind locked doors, and it is said efforts will be made to keep secret the exact route the President will take when he leaves the District line.

At the State line a squad of State policemen, in charge of Lieutenant Matthias Pepperack will augment the force of Secret Service agents. These will form a cordon around the President's machine until its arrival at the Baltimore city line, where they will give way to a squad of motorcycle policemen, in charge of Lieutenant George Lewis. The Lieutenant and his men will remain with the Presidential party until its arrival at the stadium, where a force of Headquarters detectives will take their places.

Approximately 1,500 policemen will be on duty the day of the Army-Navy game. A policeman will be stationed at each street intersection along the route to be taken by the Presidential Party. Five hundred policemen will be on duty directing traffic in the vicinity of the stadium.

Tremaine Outpoints Wolgast.

TOLEDO, Nov. 21.—Carl Tremaine, Cleveland bantamweight, tonight decisively defeated Bobby Wolgast of Philadelphia in twelve rounds of fighting. Wolgast was the aggressor, but Tremaine punished him severely.

Lawyer-Fighter Wins Bout.

DETROIT, Nov. 21.—Bob Sage, Detroit lawyer-fighter, won the judge's decision over Billy Britton, New York middleweight, in a ten-round bout here tonight.

FORMER STARS SEE COLUMBIA IN DRILL

Blue and White Heroes of Two Decades Ago Impressed by This Year's Eleven.

SQUAD HAS LONG SESSION

Team A Switched From Offensive to Defensive—Kopplech and Peace Practice Punting.

The bars went down at Baker Field yesterday and let in twenty-five former Columbia football stars, who came on the invitation of Coach Paul Withington and Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson to watch the present Blue and White squad go through its paces for the Syracuse game Thanksgiving Day at the Polo Grounds.

After casting an eagle eye over the younger generation the ousters adjourned to the manor house to eat dinner with the varsity athletes at the training table. A few speeches were made, and then the oldtimers spent the rest of the evening talking over the good old days before 1905, when Columbia had football teams that were football teams. At the same time, the veterans were ready to admit that the 1924 edition was something of a team itself, and Tom Thorp, the New York University coach and former star lineman at Columbia, went so far as to admit that the current aggregation is as strong as anything before 1905, and that Columbia never had a better halfback than Walter Kopplech, although perhaps several as good.

Fourteen of the honor guests were survivors of teams before 1904, the others being of more recent generations, since football was revived in 1915. Two of the visitors and former gridiron stars are now trustees of the university—Bert Putnam and Tom Chrystie.

For the benefit of the old players Coach Withington put on the longest and liveliest scrimmage of several weeks. The A team switched from offensive to defensive and touched on nearly everything in the football book, including a lot of punting and covering punts in a dummy scrimmage which preceded.

The hard scrimmaging was all conducted within the twenty-yard line, developing the varsity's scoring attack and perfecting the defense against such an offensive from Syracuse, which was represented by the junior varsity, drilled in the Orange formations.

Walter Kopplech and George Pease were in the thick of the dummy work and did the bulk of the punting, but when the scrimmage was ordered they were withdrawn in favor of Robbins and Kirchmeyer respectively. It is more than probable that neither of Columbia's great backfield brilliants will be risked in a scrimmage before the Syracuse game Thursday.

There will be a light workout this afternoon and probably another scrimmage Monday.

The old-time players who were at Baker Field yesterday were: Harold Weekes, All-American halfback and star of the 1899, 1900, 1901 and 1902 teams; Tom Thorp, lineman, 1901, 1902, '03 and 1904; Dave Smythe, tackle, '99, '00 and '01; Bert Putnam, quarterback, '99 and '00; Dave Armstrong, halfback, '03 and '04; Frank Goodman, quarterback, '00, '01 and '02; Jerry Sykes, quarterback, '01; Victor Berlin, end, '01 and '02; Arthur Wolf, '02; John Wolf, '00 and '01; James Knapp, '99, present Chairman of the Football Committee; Douglas Carter, '04 and '05; Charles Neidlinger, end, '03 and '00; Sam Smythe, '02 and '03, and the following players since 1915: Mumfie, Thornton, Littauer, Farrell, Anderson, Scovil and Johnstone.

CORNELL SPEEDS DRILL.

Doble Sends Men Through Full List of Penn Game Plays.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Cornell speeded up today in an offensive drill, probably the last scrimmage to be held this year, as weather conditions were turning unfavorable tonight, and the prospect is that the rest of the time in Ithaca will be spent in the baseball cage. The Red varsity was sent against the third and fourth teams in a protracted, though not very strenuous program.

Gil Doble had Whetstone run through the whole list of Penn game plays, including a good many passes, and he was very particular about the timing and the speed and precision with which the plays were run off. The aerial attack had a more prominent part on the program than usual, and for the most part the passes were well done.

Patterson and Wester were both in the line-up and carried their full share of the offensive, especially in the tackle sweep and end runs. Mollinet and Whetstone were used largely on short bucks into the line, while in the forward passing game Henderson and Kneen, Whetstone and Patterson participated. All of the regulars were in the game most of the time, though Doble made frequent substitutions toward the end of the practice in order to familiarize the principal members of the second team with the Penn game formations.

CHOATE ELEVEN VICTOR.

Defeats Taft in Post-Season Game at Watertown, 10-0.

Special to The New York Times.

WALLINGFORD, Conn., Nov. 21.—The Choate School defeated Taft School 10—0 today in a post-season game at Watertown, Conn. Choate's first score was a drop kick in the first period by Tracy. Hickey then scored a touchdown, Tracy marking the kick.

Taft threatened after Choate's touchdown with a series of forward passes, but failed to keep in Choate territory. Miller, the Taft captain, was the outstanding player for the losers.

BERNSTEIN IS EXCUSED.

Boxing Commission Allows Him to Withdraw From Kansas Bout.

Jack Bernstein, Yonkers lightweight, yesterday was excused by the State Athletic Commission from his scheduled ring engagement against Rocky Kansas, Buffalo veteran. They were to have met in Buffalo Monday night, but Bernstein has a sprained right leg, which forced him to withdraw from the match with the permission of the commission.

Bernstein, as he left the office of the commission, made known that he had declined a proposition to box Sid Terris in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 8 in the semi-final bout to the Tom Gibbons-Kid Norfolk battle for The American's Christmas Fund. The promoters of this match now are seeking a bout between Terris and Sammy Mandell, Rockford (Ill.) lightweight.

Receipt of the report of Dr. William H. Walker, commission physician, to the effect that an examination showed indications of a foul upon Joe Silvani in the Bronx lad's recent bout with Miguel Ferrara was announced by the commission, together with the information that the board will exert its influence in obtaining for Silvani a return match against Ferrara.

BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT.

Commonwealth Sporting Club—Larry Estridge vs. Dave Rosenberg, Irving Shapiro vs. Bobby Rieden. Two twelve-round bouts.

Tuxedo Club—Amateur boxing tournament (finals).

Ridgewood Grove S. C., Brooklyn—Johnny Kochesasky vs. Willie Davis, Sammy Bienfeld vs. Willie Suess, Billy Viddabeck vs. Andy Haycal, Joseph Kastler vs. Jackie Harris, Walter Motr vs. Red Nelson, Five 6-round bouts.

Fourteenth Regiment Armory, Brooklyn—Irish Mickey Whalen vs. Bobby Wagner, Jimmy Ryder vs. Al Stanley, Chick Mayo vs. Al Fugaro. Three 8-round bouts.

PRIMROSE CAPTURES RAINBOW HANDICAP

Salmon Filly Home Five Lengths in Front of Miss Cerina at Bowie Course.

DEMURRAGE SCORES UPSET

Outsider Takes Fourth Race and Pays $45.70 for $2 Ticket—Enslaved Is Victor.

Special to The New York Times.

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 21.—Primrose, Walter J. Salmon's speedy two-year-old filly, by Ultimus-June Rose, this afternoon captured the Rainbow Handicap, a seven-furlong dash for fillies and mares of all ages, easily defeating the older ones and running the distance in the fast time of 1:27, only three-fifths of a second slower than the track record. The winner carried 101 pounds and beat the Audley Farm's four-year-old Miss Cerina by five lengths. Pierce had the mount and rode a good race, taking no chances with the filly, which was the 8-to-5 favorite.

Primrose was the only favorite to come home in front in the seven races on the afternoon card. One long-shot scored, Demurrage, in the fourth, paying $45.70 for a $2 ticket in the mutuels.

Eight paraded for the handicap, but only seven got away from the post, H. Burk's Forest Flower being left flat when the barrier snapped. Primrose was away well and Pierce held her close to the leaders. Mrs. F. Farrar's three-year-old Sun Lady cut out a fast pace, being closely followed by Miss Cerina, with Primrose third. Sun Lady tired toward the end and stopped badly in the final furlong to finish far out of the money.

Miss Cerina forced the pace and finally wore Sun Lady down. When Pierce called upon Primrose the two-year-old responded with a rush and Miss Cerina was unable to hold her and she went to the front to win with a lot in reserve. The winner was in receipt of twelve pounds from the older filly.

Mrs. Atkinson's Polly Wale, the rank outsider of the party, took third money. She was outrun in the early stages, closing with a burst of speed to lead Golden Billows by half a length at the wire. The fractional times of the race were: 0:23 3-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:27.

Field Filly Scores.

Marshall Field's imported chestnut filly Enslaved, by Valens—Rezende, graduated from the maiden class when she won the opening gallop of a mile and seventy yards for maidens of all ages, beating J. W. Young's two-year-old colt Cardiff by three-quarters of a length. The colt showed the way to the field of eleven, which was off to a poor start, opening a two-length lead on Enslaved, which was nearest the leader all the way. Cardiff faltered at the end and Hudgins took advantage of it, the filly going away at the end. Zeebrugge was off poorly, made up ground in a rush around the second turn and then hung. He took third money by a good margin from Red Wine. The latter was the favorite, the winner being second choice and paying $8.40.

Thirteen faced the barriers in the claiming race for three-year-olds and upward at seven furlongs, with C. H. Thleriot's Vulnad the 5 to 4 favorite. The colt made a good bid for the money, but had rough journey. He was away slowly, suffered a lot of interference and raced wide, yet he was gaining on E. R. Bryson's Gold Mount, the winner, at the end.

Gold Mount was away well and forced the pace set by Chief James in the early part of the race. At the far turn he came inside of Chief James and raced him out rounding the turn. Gold Mount saved ground straightening out for home, although he tired, and the last and only beat Vulnad by a length. T. C. Sawyer's Belcross raced on the outside, finishing with good speed to take third money.

Picnic, A. Brent's five-year-old gelding, proved the best of the thirteen that ran in the second of the seven-furlong sprints and paid his backers $22.50 for a $2 ticket. The colt was away well with the leaders, took the track at the turn, and was rated in front by Barnes. Tiring toward the end, the gelding was able to hold off the fast-finishing Play On to win by a head only. Rags also finished with plenty of speed, after failing to take third money by a head from Marie Maxim, the favorite, which tired in the drive after running second all around.

Demurrage Surprises.

An even dozen two-year-olds ran the six and a half furlongs of the claiming race, fourth on the card. The winner was P. S. P. Randolph's filly Demurrage, which was one of four grouped in the mutuel field and which paid the nice sum of $45.70 for a $2 ticket. The daughter of Sea King and Alverda was a maiden and was in with the feather of 99 pounds.

O'Hara had the mount and rated the filly just off the pace. She took the lead when Zero Hour quit in the final sixteenth and outlasted Spanish Name in the last strides to win by a length. The latter had a rough time of it shortly after they were away to a poor start, making up a lot of ground to beat Sandrae by a head. Bill Winfrey was practically left at the post when the barrier rose.

218,000 to See Big Ten Teams Close Football Season Today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—Capacity crowds will witness the closing games of the Western Conference football season tomorrow. The Big Ten fields have sold tickets for 218,000 spectators. The 83,000 tickets for the Chicago-Wisconsin game were exhausted three weeks ago. The 60,000 seats for the Notre Dame-Northwestern game were sold in one day. Michigan has sold all the 45,000 tickets available at Ferry Field for the Iowa game. Illinois may not fill the new stadium seating 67,000 for the bitter struggle anticipated with Ohio State, but at least 40,000 are expected. Indiana and Purdue should easily sell twice their ticket capacity at Lafayette for their annual classic. The Vanderbilt intersectional clash at Minnesota will be played before 35,000. Clear and cold weather is forecast for the Big Ten region tomorrow, except in Michigan, where snow or rain is likely.

GIANTS ARE FOR HEYDLER.

Stoneham Certain League Head Will Be Re-elected.

Charles A. Stoneham, President of the Giants, denied yesterday that he knew of any movement to oppose John A. Heydler for re-election to the Presidency of the National League. It has been rumored that at least two clubs, said to be the Boston and New York clubs, would fight against Heydler's re-election at the annual meeting next month in this city.

"Mr. Heydler will be a candidate to succeed himself," said Mr. Stoneham, "and I have heard of no other candidate. I feel sure there will be none at this late date."

The Giants' head said he had not discussed the matter with John McGraw and other associates on the club, but indicated that the Giants would support Mr. Heydler. Garry Herrmann, President of the Cincinnati Reds, announced Thursday that his club would support Heydler.

SQUASH TOURNEY SET OVER.

Princeton Club's Invitation Event Will Start on Monday.

The second annual invitation squash tennis tournament of the Princeton Club which was scheduled to begin this afternoon has been postponed until Monday. Sixty-four players will begin competition, headed by F. Van S. Hyde of the Harvard Club, the national amateur champion, who won the tournament last year. The play will mark Hyde's first appearance of the season.

Among the other leading players entered are Thomas R. Coward and Augusta J. Cordier of the Yale Club and R. Earl Fink of the Crescent A. C., all former champions; Dr. Harold R. Mixsell of the Princeton Club, Charles M. Bull Jr. of the Crescent A. C., William Rand Jr. of the Harvard Club and R. B. Haines of the Columbia University Club. Also included among the entrants are Otis L. Guernsey and Carroll T. Cooney of Yale, F. S. Whitlock and Morris Phinney of the Harvard Club, Gavin Brackenridge of the Princeton Club, Frank Loughman of the New York A. C., Charles J. MacGuire of Yale, Andrew Baxter Jr. of the Whitehall Club and C. W. Dingee of the Fraternity Clubs. All of the clubs in the metropolitan Class A and B interclub championships with the exception of D. K. E. are represented by the sixty-four entries.

U. S. G. A. OFFICIALS MEET.

Executive Body Discusses New Ball but Issues No Statement.

The Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association held its last meeting of the year at the Links Club yesterday, but the session was devoted wholly to matters of routine and policy, which will not be made known until the annual meeting here in January. One of the questions discussed was that of the ball, but no statement was forthcoming as to whether the U. S. G. A. would officially adopt the larger and lighter ball that has been experimented with during the past year or continue to use the present 1.62-1.53 ball.

Present at the meeting were President W. D. Vanderpool, Vice President W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, Secretary Cornelius S. Lee, Treasurer Edward B. Moore, Counsel Adrian H. Larkin, James D. Standish Jr. of Detroit, Alan D. Wilson of Philadelphia and Henry E. Wilder of Boston.

FINK BEATS RAND FOR SQUASH TITLE

Wins Final in the National Fall Scratch Tourney, 17-15, 15-7, 12-15, 15-9.

TRAILS AT START OF PLAY

Then Changes Tactics and Fights Way to Victory in Stirring Match on Yale Club Court.

R. Earl Fink of the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, former holders of the national amateur championship, defeated William Rand Jr. of the Harvard Club in the final round of the national Fall scratch squash tennis tournament yesterday on the courts of the Yale Club. Rand made a good fight to capture the tournament honors only to lose the first game, after being within a point of taking it, and ultimately the match at 17—15, 15—7, 12—15, 15—9.

Rand's terrific straight wall drives gave him a big advantage in the early stages of the first game, and it was not until he had taken a lead of 6—1 that Fink checked him with a change in his tactics. The Crescent star found that he could not make any headway against the other's powerful stroking unless he met him at his own game and thereafter he brought all the pace he had to bear, with the result that he not only made more winning strokes himself but gave his opponent fewer opportunities to capitalize his own great hitting power.

Once Fink had decided upon the proper tactics to use, the match developed into a stirring struggle, with both players mauling the ball and bringing off a continuous succession of daring gets. It is difficult to say which of the two made the more remarkable shots. Fink darted around the court like a streak, retrieving shots that looked almost impossible to recover. His backhand smashes, made on the run and from every sort of position, were as pretty as any strokes to be seen on a squash court. Rand's technique is almost flawless, and the quickness with which he makes his shots and the apparent ease with which he gets so much pace on the ball makes him one of the most deceptive and dangerous players on the courts.

It was Rand's savage stroking that enabled him to defeat Harry Wolf of the Montclair A. C. in the semi-final round of the tournament as it looked at the start as if his speed was to carry him to victory against Fink. In his first two hands he scored five points, Fink being unable to get out of the way of the ball on one of the Harvard player's smashes to the front wall. Two hands later the Crescent man changed his tactics and made a run of three, Rand getting in the way of one of his own shots for one of the points. Fink captured the final point when Rand became overanxious in returning service and drove the ball into the telltale.

The fourth and final game was drawn out. Neither player was able to break through the other's defense with any great success and it was not until the seventeenth hand that Fink began to speed up again in irresistible fashion. A run of two was followed by another of one point and then two hands later he scored five points on beautifully angled drives around the walls. Rand was not as fast as he had been in getting to the ball, while Fink was all over the court to make the most difficult gets. He scored another point in his next hand and then won the match when Rand failed to return his drive safely.

The Columbia University Club Class B squash tennis team won its fourth successive victory in the metropolitan interclub championship yesterday when it defeated the Crescent A. C. on the Blue and White courts. Princeton and Yale, which were tied with D. K. E. for second place, both won yesterday. Yale was the winner over D. K. E. on the Ellis courts, 6 to 1, while Princeton won by a similar margin over the Montclair A. C. In the fourth team engagement of the day, the Harvard Club defeated the New York A. C. on the Crimson courts, 6 to 1, and is now tied with D. K. E. for fourth place.

Yale's decisive victory over the strong D. K. E. team was the feature of the day's play. Two members of the visiting team failed to put in an appearance and the Yale players won the matches by default. The four other victories of the home players were gained by big margins. Arthur Goldburg, who has been rapidly coming to the fore, played at No. 1 for Yale and defeated Eliot L. Ward by the surprising margin of 15—9, 15—1.

Montclair's only victory against Princeton was gained by default. The Orange and Black players won the six other matches in straight games, only one of them being close. Frank Loughman, another rapidly rising player in the Class B ranks, defeated Gerald Henderson in the lead-off match between the New York A. C. and Harvard. The score was 15—12, 15—13, 15—12.

A Saving to the Public of More Than $10,000,000 In Four Years—1920-1924

IN NOVEMBER 1920, the average price of a pair of Regal Shoes in all stores from New York to San Francisco was $10.60.

In November 1924, the price of a pair of Regal Shoes in every Regal Store from Coast to Coast is $6.60.

From the Peak to the Present, this reduction in price from $10.60 to $6.60, represents a saving to the Public in four years of more than $10,000,000.

It was the Increased Volume that made it possible to give the Increased Value at $6.60 and maintain the same Standard of Quality.

It's not necessary now to pay $9.00 any more. You needn't pay $8.00 and even Seven Dollars is too high. You can forget $7—$8 and $9 Prices today because you can get a $10.00 shoe for $6.60 in any Regal Store.

The Political Wind Storm has blown over. Threatening clouds that have been hanging low over our factories and farms and almost touching the tall buildings in all the large cities, have been scattered.

An electrical explosion of Confidence has cleared the atmosphere. A wave of Optimism has swept the country and a Rainbow that spells P-R-O-S-P-E-R-I-T-Y hangs just above the horizon.

For the next four years we must keep our feet on the ground—and wear shoes. We must not allow ourselves to be stampeded into a period of over-production, expansion, inflation and high prices.

High prices took all the joy out of the last Business Boom for the average man who works for a living.

If we are ever going to reduce the High Cost of Living, let's start now and enjoy Prosperity, without High Prices.

RIFLEMEN FROM U. S. IN SWEEP IN PERU

Have No Competition in Individual Pan-American Matches Yet to Be Decided.

WORLD MARK TO VERMETTE

Who Makes 911 Points and Also Ties Carton Record With 100 in Beating Cuban Opponent.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 21.—In the Pan-American individual rifle matches here, which are half finished, the United States riflemen have made a clean sweep. Lieutenant R. E. Vermette, United States Infantry, today defeated his Cuban opponent, who had taken the lead from Captain Joseph Jackson, United States Marine Corps, with a score of 100 cartons and 911 points, tying the world's record for cartons and hanging up a new record for points. There has been virtually no competition in the other individual matches, the Americans holding first place in each.

Lieutenant S. R. Hinds, United States Infantry, leads the visitors in the cup match, with a score of 274 out of a possible 300 in the standing, kneeling and prone positions. He also leads in the individual re-entry match with a score of 276, heading Sergeant Morris Fisher, United States Marine Corps, by two points.

Steve D. Monahan, civilian, Chicago, continues to hold a lead in the prone match with a score of 193 out of a possible 200.

Members of the United States team are the only serious competitors in the individual matches, which will be concluded next Wednesday.

YALE BEATS HARVARD AT POLO, 9 TO 3½

Leads Throughout in First Game of Indoor Season—Hewitt Scores 4 Goals.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—Yale tonight defeated Harvard, 9 to 3½, at pony polo in a four-chukker game, the first of the season here, in which the Elis led from the outset. The match was played in Goodyear Hall, the Yale Artillery Armory, and was witnessed by a good sized crowd.

Sanford Hewitt, who was this Fall promoted from second string to regular ranks, starred with four goals. By scoring 3½ goals in the first chukker to Harvard's one, the Elis took a commanding lead.

They headed the Crimson invaders, 5 to 2, at the end of the second chukker, and 6½ to 3 in closing the third.

The line-up:

YALE (9).	HARVARD (3½).
1—H. P. Baldwin.	1—A. R. Kent.
2—A. Herold.	2—P. A. Stranahan.
3—F. Hewitt.	3—R. A. Pinkerton.

Goals—Yale: Hewitt 4, Hunt 1, Herold 2, Baldwin 1, Gast 1. Harvard: Kent 1, Stranahan 1, Pinkerton 1, by foul ½.

Substitutes—Yale: Howe for Herold, Guest for Hunt. Harvard: Shaw for Pinkerton.

Referee—Captain Dunkle, Yale.

Additions to Saratoga Plant to Include Stables and Hospital.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Plans for improvements to its beautiful racing plant that are expected to amount to more than $30,000 were announced here today by the Saratoga Association for the Improvement of the Breed of Horses. Despite the extensive stabling and the large number of private stables in and about the course, the demand each year exceeds the supply, and three new stables are to be built comprising fifty-eight stalls.

The administrative offices will be housed in an addition to the west wing of the clubhouse. The necessity for an emergency hospital was evident at the time of Earle Sande's injury, and this need will be filled by an addition to the jockeys' building. The improvements will be completed before the meeting next August.

GOULLET-HORAN TO RIDE.

Paired for Six-Day Race Which Starts in Garden Nov. 30.

Alf Goullet, America's premier six-day race cyclist, will strive for his thirteenth victory in the endurance test on the occasion of the thirty-seventh international six-day race in Madison Square Garden Nov. 30 to Dec. 6, with Harry Horan, Newark's brilliant young rider, as his partner. The pair were teamed yesterday by Manager John M. Chapman, in accordance with Goullet's specific request upon entering the event that he be teamed with an American rider.

In his long career Goullet has shared in twelve six-day race victories, the majority of the triumphs being scored in competition in this country. Horan shared in victory in the recent Chicago race in which he was teamed with young Bobby Walthour. Marcel Buysse and Alphonse Goosens, Belgians, will ride as a team as a result of Chapman's pairings yesterday. Another combination formed is that of Willie Hanley, San Francisco rider, and Freddie Taylor, Newark star.

DAVE SHADE TO MEET KING.

Walker's Challenger to Box at Newark Benefit on Dec. 3.

Desirous of keeping himself in fighting trim while he is waiting for a bout against Champion Mickey Walker, Dave Shade, California welterweight, who is recognized here as the foremost challenger for the title, will engage Phil Krug, Newark's crack welterweight, in a twelve-round bout to be held at the 113th Infantry Regiment Armory, Newark, Dec. 3.

The contest is the feature of a card being conducted under the auspices of and for the benefit of Melvin Spitz Post, Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Matchmaker Paddy Ryan plans three other star bouts, each of ten rounds, as additional attractions.

BABE HERMAN TO BOX HERE.

Will Meet Johnny Leonard at Rink Club Thanksgiving Day.

Babe Herman, California featherweight, who at one time was recognized as a promising candidate for championship honors, will resume boxing in local circles on Thanksgiving Day afternoon in the Rink Sporting Club, Brooklyn, where he is scheduled to face Johnny Leonard, Allentown junior lightweight, in the feature twelve-round bout of the holiday card arranged by Matchmaker Andy Nelderetter.

The twelve-round semi-final will bring together Irish Paddy Flynn and Paddy Ryan.

Colgate's New Gymnasium Is Named for Huntington

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Colgate's new $400,000 gymnasium, the cornerstone of which was laid this morning by George Cobb, President of the Alumni corporation, will be named the Huntington Gymnasium, in honor of Ellery Channing Huntington, who has had charge of Colgate Athletics for twenty-five years. This was announced by James C. Colgate, President of the Board of Trustees, during the chapel service this morning. Doc Huntington also received the degree of D. Sc. from the university during the morning chapel.

CANNEFAX TWICE DEFEATS MUNDITO

Takes Third and Fourth Blocks in Three-Cushion Match and Leads by 200 to 144.

Robert L. Cannefax, world's three-cushion champion, defeated Mundito, Cuban champion, in the third and fourth blocks of their 300-point match at the Strand Academy yesterday, and now leads by the score of 200 to 144. In the afternoon he was the winner at 50 to 38 in fifty innings, leading all the way. In the evening Cannefax was forced to overhaul his opponent before winning at 50 to 43 in fifty-four innings. The Cuban title holder played first-class billiards in this game, displaying the skill that brought him to the top in his country.

At the end of the twentieth inning Mundito was in the lead at 26 to 12, averaging better than one for the distance. It took first-class three-cushions to overhaul him for he continued to play at his best almost until the end. It was not until the fifteenth inning that Cannefax caught him. A run of five put him on even terms with his opponent at 43 to 43. From this point on it was a close race to see which could get the necessary seven points for victory. Cannefax showed his championship qualities by scoring seven caroms in four innings, while Mundito was going scoreless.

In both games Cannefax's high run was six, while Mundito's was five in the afternoon and four in the evening. The final two blocks of the match will be played this afternoon and evening.

BOROTRA TO TRAVEL.

French Tennis Star Will Go to Australia for Big Tourneys.

Jean Borotra, French tennis star, has left Paris on a tour of Holland and he has announced that when he returns from a short trip in that country he will leave for Australia, where he will play exhibitions for several months, later competing in some of the larger tourneys there.

When asked what impressed him the most in America he said that the stadium of the West Side Tennis Club left the deepest imprint on his memory. He called it the most beautiful he ever had seen and said that the playing surface was the best he ever had been on. There also was the matter of the attitude of the gallery that impressed him, he said. In New York the spectators were keenly interested in the sport and their only outbursts were encouraging to the players, rather than disconcerting.

In California he got the best reception of his career, he said. It was the first time that a French Davis Cup team ever had played there and when he and Brugnon went on the courts the cheers that greeted the two Frenchmen were far more than he ever anticipated, he stated.

He said that it was unfortunate that France did not build a stadium for tennis on the lines of the one at Forest Hills. He pointed out that the Americans had found the venture a worthy one and that if France built one he was certain that more and better players would be developed. Upon completing his tour of Australia, Borotra said that he would like to go back to the United States, and that he undoubtedly would, if not to play tennis, certainly to enjoy the country.

MISS McKANE A WINNER.

English Woman Champion Captures Hard Court Singles Match.

The oldest hard courts tennis tournament in England surpassed all its previous records at Fulham recently when the Drive Club held a five-court meeting with an entry which necessitated more than 240 matches. Among the contestants were Miss K. McKane, the English woman champion; P. B. D. Spence, Colonel H. G. Mayes, F. G. Lowe, M. J. G. Ritchie, C. S. Dixon, J. D. P. Wheatley, A. D. Prebble, J. C. Lezard, B. D. Helmore, M. Temple, H. I. P. Aitken, Mrs. H. Edgington, Mrs. A. D. Stocks, Miss E. F. Rose, Miss V. M. Pinckney, Miss M. E. Dix and F. J. Devlin, the Irish Badminton international. The entry threatened congestion, but fine weather and a well-organized daily program enabled the officials to run off all except three of the matches.

Miss McKane won the ladies' singles, in which her victims included Miss M. Cambridge, by 6–2, 6–4, and Miss G. M. Turner, by 8–6, 6–2, in the final. Mrs. Edgington could not pierce the bold frontal attack of the champion, being able to win but one game, that being the fifth in the second set. The score was 6–0, 6–1.

The men's singles was won by P. D. B. Spence, who defeated K. J. Ingram, G. M. Thomas Dixon, Lowe and Mayes in the final by 6–2, 6–2. Spence lost only one set and that was to Lowe, who arrived a little late and was compelled to play on Court 5 instead of Court 1. Although Lowe never seemed quite at ease on a surface with which he was not familiar, he hunted Spence all the way, the score being 8–7, 6–3, 6–4. Lowe did not play his passing drives with his accustomed skill.

OTHER BILLIARD RESULTS.

J. M. Lewis of Flatbush defeated Joseph Johann of Jamaica, national Class B champion, in the interstate 18.2 balkline championship at Lawlor Brothers' Manhattan Academy last night. The score was 200 to 160. Lewis went out in twenty innings, with an unfinished run of 24, and made a high run of 87. Johann's was 38, made in the first inning. On his eighteenth turn at the table he repeated this run. Lewis in the first nine innings scored 145 points, an average of slightly better than 15, which is unusually good for this class of play.

In the New York State professional pocket billiard championship at Lawlor Brothers' Academy in Brooklyn yesterday Andrew Midway defeated James Aldine and O. Baurt was the victor over James Kent. Midway won the afternoon match from Aldine by the score of 100 to 72 in twenty-nine innings and made an unfinished run of 23. Aldine's high run was 14. In the evening Baurt was the victor over Kent at 100 to 87 in twenty-five innings, making a high run of 12. Kent's best run was 13.

Erich Hagenlacher, holder of the 18.2 balkline championship of Germany, defeated G. Kahn, 50 to 44, in seventy innings in a three-cushion match at the Fourteenth Street Academy yesterday afternoon. His high run was 6, while Kahn's was 4. In the evening Hagenlacher faced Ed Gere at 18.2 balkline and defeated him, 300 to 45, in seven innings. His high run was 110.

Tadao Suganuma, Japanese 18.2 balkline star, former holder of the junior championship, defeated J. Fuller in an exhibition game at Julian's Fourteenth Street Academy last night by the score of 200 to 19 in ten innings. His high run was 120.

K. Suzuki, Japanese star, defeated F. L. Gray in an exhibition 18.2 balkline match at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night by a score of 200 to 72 in six innings. Suzuki completed his string with an unfinished run of 139, while Gray's best was [illegible].

HARVARD CONQUERS YALE AT SOCCER, 2-1

Leads From the Start In Annual Contest—Hand of Elis Hurt—Other Games.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—Harvard outplayed Yale at soccer today, led throughout their annual game and finished a winner by 2 to 1. Yale forced the play during the first ten minutes, but could not break through. Hand of the Elis received a gash in the forehead during this period.

Gand drove the initial goal on a short side drive and Crooks the second on the most brilliant individual run of the day, covering practically the length of the field. Gilliman's goal for Yale was registered in the final five minutes on a corner kick. Prevelt's centre play for Harvard was ideal, while Dorman and Crooks played well in the forward line.

The line-up:

HAVARD (2).	YALE (1).
Thomas	G.
Dobrowsky	R. F. B.
Sullivan	L. H. B.
Mackintosh	R. H. B.

Crooks	I. F.
Prevelts	C. F.
Dennis	I. L.
Fordyce	O. L.

Goals—Harvard: Gans, Crooks; Yale: Gilliman.

Substitutions—Harvard: Rubin for Purdy, Norton for Gans, Brownstein for Crooks. Yale: Bullock for Wallace, Wallace for Barnes, Cosse for Gibbs.

Referee—John Cave, New Haven. Time of halves—45 minutes.

Swarthmore Beats N. Y. U., 3-1.

Special to The New York Times.

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Nov. 21.—The Swarthmore College soccer team defeated New York University here today on the Swarthmore Preparatory School field by a score of 3-1. The game was hard fought throughout. The booting of H. Test of Swarthmore and Aaron of New York University was a feature of the game.

The line-up:

SWARTHMORE (3).	N. Y. U. (1).
Grove	G.
Price	R. F. B.
Miller	L. F. B.
Rehbardtsen	R. H. B.
R. Test	C.

Bartlett	C. F.
L. Test	I. L.
Moore	O. L.

Goals—Swarthmore: L. Test (1), Bartlett (1), Strang (1). N. Y. U.: Junkerman (1).

Substitutions—Swarthmore: Graham for Strang, Strang for Graham. N. Y. U.: Doran for Foley, Anderson for Degen.

Referee—Oates, Germantown Boys' Club. Linesman—Heromerly, Swarthmore. Time of halves—45 minutes.

Penn Victor Over Haverford.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Nov. 21.—Pennsylvania got closer to the intercollegiate soccer championship today when it defeated the Haverford team here by 4 goals to 2. Gentle starred for the Red and Blue with three goals. The score was tied at half time, 1 to 1. Penn had a cheering delegation of more than 500.

Junior Swim Distance Changed.

A change will be instituted this morning in the running of the Junior High Schools dual meet swimming competitions under the auspices of the Public Schools Athletic League in the pool of Evander Childs H. S., when the officials will decrease the distance of the relay race from 200 feet to 100 feet.

P. S. A. L. Swim Meet Today.

Swimmers of De Witt Clinton H. S. will seek to improve their lead in the Public Schools Athletic League's dual meet swimming championship tournament for senior high schools this afternoon when the seventh series of meets are conducted in the pool of Columbia University.

MISS O'MARA WINS MET. SWIM TITLE

Takes 100-Yard Senior Free-Style Event at City A. C.—Miss Geraghty Also Triumphs.

Miss Doris O'Mara and Miss Agnes Geraghty of the Women's Swimming Association added to their title laurels in the opening Metropolitan A. A. U. aquatic championships of the indoor season in the sixty-foot pool of the City Athletic Club last night.

Miss O'Mara won the 100-yard free style senior title sprint in easy style. Leading all the way, she finished five and eight yards respectively ahead of her clubmates, Miss Sarah Lord and Miss Maud MacFarlane, who gained the places in the order named. The time was 1:11 1-5.

Miss Geraghty captured by an even greater margin the 220-yard breast stroke senior championship. She defeated by nearly ten yards her nearest rival, Miss Carin Nilsson, former champion of Sweden and Olympic contender in 1920. Miss Nilsson, who belongs to the Women's Swimming Association, but still is competing unattached, carried the place by twelve yards from Miss Nancy Connelly of the Edison Works of Harrison, N. J., the only other entrant.

Little Lisa Lindstrom of the Women's Swimming Association returned a striking performance in the 100-yard handicap for girls of, 12 and under. Her actual time was 1:15 1-5. Unfortunately, large allowances to rivals prevented her figuring in the finals, and her teammate, Miss Gladys Maguire, in receipt of 24 seconds, won the event in 1:34 4-5.

A 100-yard handicap for seniors required three heats and provided a keen contest in the deciding trial. Miss Elaine Dalapoy of the Women's Swimming Association, allowed 14 seconds, nosed out for first Miss Lillian Stoddart, granted 12 seconds, in 1:16 4-5.

The summaries:

220-Yard Breast-Stroke Swim (Metropolitan A. A. U. Senior Championship)—Won by Miss Agnes Geraghty, W. S. A., N. Y.; Miss Carin Nilsson, unattached, New York, second; Miss Nancy Connelly, Edison Works A. A., Harrison, N. J., third. Time—3:30 1-5.

100-Yard Swim, Handicap—Won by Miss Elaine Delany, W. S. A., N. Y. (14 seconds); Miss Lillian Stoddard, W. S. A., N. Y. (12 seconds), second; Miss Agnes Chester, W. S. A., N. Y. (15 seconds), third. Time—1:16 4-5.

100-Yard Swim, Girls 13 and Under, Handicap—Won by Miss Gladys Maguire, W. S. A., N. Y. (24 seconds); Miss Viola King, Aquatic Club of Yonkers, N. Y. (22 seconds), second; Miss Julia Marmostain, W. S. A., N. Y. (28 seconds), third. Time —1:34 4-5.

School Runners to Compete.

One of the most successful title races in the history of the Public Schools Athletic League is expected this morning when the annual high schools cross-country championship is held over the two and one-half mile course at Van Courtlandt Park. The race is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. The victorious team will receive the Lieutenant Johnny Overton Trophy.

Cathedral Beats Seventh Regiment.

The basketball team of Cathedral College defeated the Seventh Regiment team last night by a score of 11 to 10 in a game played at the Seventh Regiment Armory.

St. Mary's Defeats Nevada.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 21.—St. Mary's College football team today defeated the University of Nevada by a score of 27 to 0.

STILL INSURGENT.

However it may be with others, Senator NORRIS of Nebraska returns to Washington with his head very little bloody and not at all bowed. Just re-elected as a Republican, he hastens to give notice that his vote cannot be counted upon by the Republicans of the Senate. He will with his old cheerfulness pursue his erratic insurgency, defiantly quoting the words of MILTON—"unhumbled, unrepentant, unreformed." The alliteration is from "Paradise Regained." Senator NORRIS has regained the Senate, but if he has his way it will very little resemble Paradise the next three months.

During the short session the rôle of the insurgents will be apt to be pretty subdued. This is not because they are chastened in spirit. But their former allies and assistants will have left them coldly aloof. The Democrats have burned their fingers once by cooperating with the insurrectionists and will not care to experiment with that fire again. This is what makes so unimportant the question whether the Republican rebels are to be "read out" of the party or left in. In either case their power will be insignificant, so long as they cannot again tempt the Democrats into a tacit alliance with them. They are too few to flock together by themselves with any comfort, and presently being an insurgent will be so lonely an occupation that it will lose most of its attractions and all of its menace.

GERMANY REVIVED.

Mr. OWEN D. YOUNG, who contributed to the framing of the Dawes plan and who took up the task of putting it into operation, has returned from Europe with the good news that German revenues have far exceeded the estimates. He adds that, if that portion of the German loan destined to help defray the first year's charges on reparations be included, Germany has already enough money on hand to meet the first year's payment falling due next August. The machinery of the Dawes plan is functioning smoothly, and Mr. S. PARKER GILBERT Jr., who has succeeded Mr. YOUNG as Agent General for Reparations, has the cooperation of all the nations concerned.

Special interest attaches to the relation of actual to estimated revenues. The latest available figures run only until Sept. 30. The German budget was accepted by the framers of the Dawes plan, but covers a longer period than the plan has been in operation. The returns show that the revenues collected during the first six months of the current fiscal year amounted to 67 per cent. of the estimated total revenue for the entire year. The average monthly tax yields exceeded the estimates by 27 per cent. Inasmuch as the general revival of business in Germany has been rapid in the last few months, and the successful inauguration of the Dawes plan, together with the floating of the loan, has given a new impetus to German trade, there is every reason to expect that the increase in revenues will continue at an even greater rate than heretofore.

Although it is too early to attempt forecasts, it is not inconceivable that the day when Germany has deposited 5,000,000,000 gold marks in the new German bank to the credit of the Agent General for Reparations will come much sooner than had been expected. This is the maximum sum which Germany is obliged to place in the bank at any one time, and when it is exceeded the payment of reparations ordinarily ceases until the balance has again been brought below the 5,000,000,000 gold mark limit. Inasmuch as the claim was commonly put forward that Germany would find it very difficult to make even the first year's payment of 1,000,000,000 gold marks, it had been assumed that there was little likelihood that she would be able to amass deposits amounting to 5,000,000,000 gold marks for many years. But as in the case of Austria, it looks as if the forecasters had underestimated the rallying powers of a nation that has been through a period of stagnation following inflation.

Aside from the evidence which Mr. YOUNG brings of the success of the Dawes plan, it is encouraging to be reassured that Germany not only is beginning to get back on her feet, but is also approaching the task of meeting her obligations in a resolute manner. Nothing will so help European recovery as trustworthy evidence of Germany's sincere desire to "make good." Incidentally, nothing will so much help Germany.

PORT AUTHORITY TAXES.

The Port Authority was created by Congress and the Legislatures of New York and New Jersey, but as an instrumentality of commerce, not of government. That distinction should carry with it the solution of the question of taxation. Governor SILZER of New Jersey hints at the possibility that the three lawmaking powers may enter into a competition in taxes fatal to the existence of the Port Authority. That is conceivable only as it is possible to imagine conduct so foolish and malignant. We must discriminate between the taxation of the Port Authority and of its property. There is no apparent reason why the latter should not be taxable, like the property of the railways. The Port Authority itself makes no claim for exemption. On the contrary, it has repeatedly expressed to Federal and local officials its readiness to pay all taxes and assessments upon any property acquired for the development of the port. The taxes are trivial compared with the utility of the Port Authority.

Hoboken has a just claim to taxes from the property taken over by the Federal Government under its war powers. The important thing is that the Port Authority should not lose control of the coordination of railway and pier privileges, marrying wheels and keels in a manner beneficial to all commerce. The Port Authority is ready to have the property conveyed to Hoboken or to New Jersey, provided that its use by the Port Authority is not restricted. That would carry with it the question of taxation, and would benefit Hoboken indirectly by the development of taxable values and generally of its waterfront property.

ONE-SIDED FUSION.

Whatever may be thought of its other activities, the New York Republican County Committee continues to be a source of innocent merriment. President KOENIG, solemnly bland, declares that "we must make every effort to concentrate our forces, to "unite our forces," to beat Tammany in 1925. Then a former Alderman points the way to union and victory in a resolution too beautiful to be mutilated or summarized:

> Whereas the experience of recent years indicates that the adoption of non-partisan, coalition or fusion principles has been detrimental to the interests of the party and destructive of party loyalty, it is resolved that the Republican County Committee of New York County will endorse and support only true Republicans as candidates of its party for judicial or other offices.
> Further, be it resolved that the officers and other representatives of the committee are directed to take no part in negotiations or conferences for the purpose of fusion or coalition unless it be first established that all candidates of such fusion or coalition shall be true Republicans.

Evidently the former Alderman was inspired by the famous dictum of the old Bowery volunteer fireman: "I "don't care what color you paint the "old tub as long as you paint her a "blood-red." This proclamation of the severest Republican orthodoxy was received with delirious cheers, with "what amounted to universal approval," says our Republican neighbor The Herald-Tribune. Merely as a matter of orderly procedure, it was referred to the Committee on Resolutions. There is much talk about the "hypocrisy" of politicians. Nothing could be franker than this confession of the Republican machine. All it wants is office. It makes no pretense of any concern about the interests of the city. It seeks only the interests of the party. How these are to be advanced by alienating and disgusting open-minded Republicans and Independents generally is intelligible only to the machine mind.

The up-State Republicans seem to share the curious view that the smaller the party can be kept here, the better for its prosperity here and in the rest of the State. In some mysterious way the party here is to be reinvigorated by a tremendous walloping in 1925; and everything is to be made serene for the re-election of Senator WADSWORTH in 1926. It may be said that the County Committee, as befits a humorous body, is merely "claiming everything" in order to snatch as many Republican candidates as possible in the next series of fusion conferences. But probably most New Yorkers who really want a competent City Administration are sick to death of the always doubtful and insincere aid of the Republican machine. The ghost of fusion, prematurely raised again by not too powerful evokers, fails to stir; and the memory of two defeats is depressing. Mayor HYLAN continues to build, by means of his staff of experts, innumerable and interminable word-ways; but Tammany is inexorable. Tammany is too Jeffersonian to consent to a third term.

Tammany knows that the community is weary of an all-talk and do-nothing Administration. Cruel to Mr. HYLAN'S appealing and plaintive eyes, it is seeking to find a Tammany man of conspicuous calibre as its candidate for Mayor. It has an affectionate solicitude for the Mayor's health and feels that he would be better if assisted "upstairs."

COMPLICATIONS IN EGYPT.

Until the assassins of Sir LEE STACK at Cairo are apprehended it may be presumed that the murder of the Sirdar traces back to recent disturbances in the Sudan marked by mutiny on the part of certain Egyptian labor battalions. Egyptian unrest has not hitherto taken the form of violence against Englishmen. Such tentative attempts at assassination as have occurred have been directed by Egyptians against Egyptians. Not even the idolized ZAGHLUL Pasha has been immune. The military troubles in the Sudan may have brought to the front one more anomaly in a complicated situation. The British Cabinet is framing a protest against the murder, not of an English official but of an Englishman. Sir LEE STACK was the commander of the Egyptian Army and not of the British army of occupation. King FUAD, in his proclamation, refers to Sir LEE twice as the commander of "my" army. The basis of the British protest would be the duty, which the British Government claims to have retained, of safeguarding the life and property of foreigners in Egypt.

Premier ZAGHLUL may well speak out in denunciation of the murder. It weakens his own stand as the resolute champion of complete Egyptian independence. Recently at Alexandria, on his return from the futile negotiations with RAMSAY MACDONALD, ZAGHLUL reiterated his program of no compromise. He claimed the Sudan as an indivisible part of Egypt. On the subject of the British army of occupation he had offered, according to his own statement, to undertake the defense of the Suez Canal, and when MACDONALD demurred ZAGHLUL had suggested that the defense of the canal be entrusted to the League of Nations. The result was an impasse. Egypt remains in the anomalous situation created by the abolition of the British protectorate and the proclamation of a complete "independence" which cannot really be complete. And British doubts about Egypt's fitness will now be reinforced by the assassination of the Sirdar.

The event is all the more to be regretted because one possible way of reconciling the British and the Egyptian position might have been through this very device of a British Sirdar. The morale of the Egyptian Army and its attitude toward the protection of the Suez Canal might conceivably be regarded as assured by an Englishman at the head of the native troops. That way out has now been apparently blocked.

"TEMPORARILY SUPPLANTED."

A few months ago the Mayor was urging a Music and Art Centre in Central Park. A little later Commissioner ENRIGHT entered the competition with an elaborate plan for such a centre outside of Central Park, but fronting it at the north. Now the centre is moved toward the circumference. A new site is proposed far up in the Bronx on recovered land which belongs to the city and is still in an unimproved state. A portion (thirty-five acres) of the tract already has been taken for the new De Witt Clinton High School buildings and athletic fields, and another part for an elementary school. From 197th to 205th Street the area is to be made available for buildings devoted to music and the industrial arts. The plans seem to contemplate erection of all these buildings and the maintenance of schools in these subjects as a part of the city's educational system.

The purpose deserves hearty support because of the need of the sort of training that they will offer, not only to youth but also to adults. In the report the provision in the field of music was emphasized, but equal stress is to be given the industrial arts. Dr. STRAUBENMÜLLER, the senior Associate Superintendent of Schools, proposes courses in the graphic arts, in costume designing, and in the designing, manufacturing and marketing of textiles, jewelry and silverware, wall paper, furniture, and the like. There are 700,000 people in this city engaged in the production and distribution fields of the textile industry alone.

We have given chief concern to quantity production. It is necessary to give increasing attention to quality and to esthetic values. We have depended chiefly upon European-trained designers and craftsmen. They are growing old and few others are available. The time has come when we must train our own young men and women. And what is said regarding these arts of industry can also be said of the art through which so much of pleasure and culture comes to the great mass of the people—music. There is nothing but praise to be spoken of the proposals if carried out under competent guidance. The Mayor speaks of this plan as "temporarily supplanting" the one which had Central Park in mind. There will be a general demand to make this "temporary" supplanting permanent.

It still remains to provide an industrial museum. Perhaps one on a small scale could be organized for the special use of students of the industrial arts and in proximity to the school. But the great museum illustrating man's conquest of his environment and growing with his widening mastery should be accessible to the millions of this metropolitan area. It is this sort of museum that Mr. TOWNS had in mind in his bequest of millions, and now that the industrial art schools seem assured by the city out of its own Treasury, private effort should undertake to build for the city the third of the great museums.

AMERICA AND THE ARMS CONFERENCE.

The Administration is well advised in deciding not to take steps for the present toward a conference on armaments. Mr. MACDONALD pointed out at Geneva that the European party leader who crosses the Atlantic takes his political life in his hands—a fact which ARISTIDE BRIAND discovered on his return from Washington. And without the assistance of the men actually in power the difficulty of the situation would be redoubled, the chance of important achievement reduced to the vanishing point.

As to the projected League conference, it will, in the nature of the case, be very largely concerned with land forces. What chiefly interested the men who framed the protocol was the military expenditures of France and the new States lying between Germany and Russia. France has already made a drastic reduction in the term of service from three years to eighteen months, and a further cut to twelve months is a virtual certainty. The army, which before the war numbered 777,215 men, and 527,302 men after it, stands to be reduced to not more than 250,000. Upon the Little Entente the burden of taxation is pressing hard, notably upon Czechoslovakia, which has financially been the most forehanded of all. Drastic economies are needful, but it is obvious that they are conditioned upon an assurance of adequate security. As matters stand, it is hard to see what we have to do in that galley. Our status is that of the richest of nations and creditor of poor folk struggling to disarm as a means of financial salvation. Such are the conditions of diplomacy that those who ask are expected to give. At the Washington conference there was a quid for every quo. And, moral support being out of the question, we can offer nothing but a remission of debts—for which public opinion here is not prepared, and doubtless will not be until armament reduction in Europe is an accomplished fact.

There is promise, moreover, in the fact that Europe is in a mood to surmount her own difficulties. Continental statesmen are familiar, as we cannot be, with Continental military problems and with the possibilities and limitations of taxation. It has often been pointed out, notably by Lord ROBERT CECIL, that there is scope within the League for regional groups of nations, and for something not unlike the regional self-government practiced by the States of our Union. In one sense, of course, armament reduction is a world problem, and of great importance to the commerce of the United States. But there will be time to call a world conference if the coming conference proves unsatisfactory.

RUMORS OF TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

Dispatches from Mexico about insurrectionary characters are always to be viewed with suspicion. Only the other day HIPPOLITO VILLA, brother of the once dreaded guerrilla, met with a tragic fate, but now he turns up in Chihuahua to make his peace with the military commandant and obtain permission to establish a business in Chispas. Is the news that General ANGEL FLORES, the opponent of General CALLES in the Presidential campaign, has again raised the standard of revolt in Sinaloa to be taken any more seriously?

Mazatlan is the source of the report that General FLORES has gone into the mountains to lead a force of several hundred men. FLORES is a man of note and has a large following. He polled 250,000 votes in the Presidential election, after a stormy campaign in which his party went about armed and more than once exchanged volleys with the Callistas. But there was nothing of the bravo in General FLORES. He stood on a conservative platform, the features of which were rational land reform and the protection of foreigners engaged in legitimate business. He is an educated man, belongs to the "ruling class," and had an excellent record as a soldier in the ten years of insurrection following the abdication of DIAZ. His tally of votes does not seem large, but it was 20 per cent. or more of the number counted for the candidate of President OBREGON. In Mexico that signifies something more than futility, especially when there is reason to believe that the charge of the Floristas that their votes were often thrown out may be true.

In the end of October Jesus PAZZO LAURENS, the former Governor of San Luis Potosi and a leader in the de la Huerta revolt, declared that a new movement against the Government was on foot and that General FLORES was backing it. Arms, said LAURENS had been shipped from San Francisco to Mazatlan to equip the rebels. But if this statement of the ex-Governor, speaking from the security of Houston, seems to lend color to the story that now comes from Mazatlan, General FLORES himself may be quoted in the character of one submitting to the electoral victory of CALLES. In a message from Culiacan on Aug. 29 he said: "My conduct since the beginning "of the campaign has been such as to "place me above suspicion of any "action against the constituted au"thorities." There were persons, he said, who were interested in making him out a rebel. FLORES would take his life in his hands if he defied such a combination of military relentlessness as OBREGON and CALLES.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Exclusion Will Be Difficult.

Many things must be considered before deciding to exclude from Central Park all automobiles of every kind that use it merely as a street—a convenient thoroughfare east and west or north and south. That this now is done by great numbers is beyond question, and reasons for excluding them from the park easily can be found. Certainly this is not a "park use," and it so increases the number of cars in the park as seriously to diminish the pleasure, and not a little the safety, of the people for whom it is a destination, not a route between other places.

Such people have a better right in the park than the others, and if both cannot remain, it is not they that should go. For to them the park is a park and nothing else; and though not all of them by any means so conduct themselves as to inspire the most eager desire to prevent any encroachment on their privileges, that is not relevant to the present question.

But how is a line to be drawn between the cars carrying those who want to visit the park, as such, and enjoy its beauties, and the cars whose occupants only want to pass through it and go there simply because they can make better speed than on the crowded outside avenues? It is suggested that the driver of every car receive on entering a ticket showing where he goes in and that he be not allowed to quit the park on any other side than that one. That, if practicable, would effect the separation and keep the "transients" out, but difficulties and delays would arise over the giving out and the collecting of the tickets and might make the regulation intolerable.

It is to be noted, too, that the turning out into the avenues of the thousands of cars and cabs now crossing the park materially would increase the crowding that already exists outside. This illustrates the truth of the statement made in this column that, with our transit problem as it is, every time it is helped in one way it is made harder in some other.

Cities Pay Penalty for Growth.

Perhaps it will be better realized, some day, that there is a limit beyond which the growth of a city is not desirable. Of course, that never will be admitted or believed by the owners of real estate which they want to sell soon or ultimately, or by merchants whose ideal is an ever-increasing number of customers. Just the same it is true that long before a town reaches the present size of New York the problems of municipal government and housekeeping become hard to solve, with taxes increasing faster than population, and that finally not a few of the problems, as here now, are of such difficulty and complexity that it requires a good deal of optimism to hope for their satisfactory solution.

Already the number of our automobiles has exceeded the capacity of our streets to carry them at a speed even equaling that attained in the days of the now despised horse; our transit facilities multiply in vain, for there is hardly ground for hope that they ever will equal demand if the demand continues to increase as in the past; our whole sewer system soon must be enlarged at vast expense if it is not to break down entirely, and the waste products of the city already are in such huge quantity that their innocuous disposal demands more ingenuity than we possess, or at any rate than we are willing to use and pay for.

Yet most aspirations of the audible sort are that New York shall get bigger and bigger, endlessly, and the common assumption is that continuous municipal growth means prosperity and cannot go too far. Whoever expressed the wish that the city might become smaller probably would be lynched by excited realtors, but just the same something might be said in favor of progression that way by a particularly courageous person who had nothing to sell.

Mystery Still Complete.

Pictures of ANTON FLETTNER'S "rotorship" have reached this country and one of them, well reproduced yesterday in The Herald Tribune, gave an excellent idea of how the mysterious craft looks as viewed from a little distance. Of help in understanding how the power of the wind is caught and utilized by the ship the picture gave not a bit. It rather increased the mystery in that it offered no confirmation for the many guesses made over here.

What one sees is a ship with old-fashioned overhanging bows, from which rise two towers, one near the stern and the other as far forward. They look like much-elongated smokestacks, and no apertures in them anywhere appear. Nothing in the nature of vanes is visible, and they must be inside the columns if they are anywhere. How the wind gets into or out of them is not revealed; indeed, so far as the picture discloses, it can do neither.

Of course, this does not prove that the Flettner-Rotor, to use the name broadly painted on her side, cannot do what her inventor claims. If only proves that his secret is safe from observers who have not been allowed to penetrate her interior. German shipping men of the most practical sort seem to believe in him and his achievement, so he must have told them all about it, and, according to report, Herr FLETTNER is himself a practical man with a record of having made other inventions that met the pragmatic test—they worked.

The only thing to do for the present is carefully to abstain from prophecies of failure.

A Big Risk Taken for Little.

When one remembers the sternness, not to say ferocity, of English libel laws, it is evident that The London Daily Sketch would not have characterized as "a charlatan and a fraud" the Mrs. DEANE whose photograph of spirit soldiers, taken, she said, during the service at the Cenotaph, so impressed Sir ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE and other like-minded Britishers, unless the paper thought that it had a very good case.

What The Sketch did was first to identify the shadowy faces in the Deane photograph as those not of dead soldiers, but of very much alive spoting characters, including BIKI, the negro pugilist, and then to make or have made exactly similar pictures in which "the spirit faces" are those of notably contemporaneous ladies of the chorus.

Of course, this "exposure" convinces only those who did not need it. Mrs. DEANE calmly says that her picture is not faked, and Sir ARTHUR says that she does not know enough about photography to play tricks with it. So the matter remains exactly where it was. Proving that spirit pictures can be faked is no proof at all that a particular spirit picture was faked; it only begins to establish a probability. Not one of Mrs. DEANE'S faithful followers will fall away, and the only effect, so far as she is concerned, is that she will find it a little harder to get new ones. That is something.

THE SOLDIERS OF PEACE.

Ernest Poole Appeals for the Visiting Nurses of New York.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I want to write my endorsement of your editorial some time ago in behalf of the visiting nurses. Of all the forces in this city working for the common good, in these perplexing modern times, here is one organization at least about which no question can arise. Mr. Dawes will not call these nurses Reds, nor will Senator LA FOLLETTE call them Privileged Plutocrats. A man, a woman, a child falls ill—alone in a rooming house perhaps or in some noisy, crowded tenement home. Every real human being in town would like to see the sufferer helped. But how? By whom? The answer is now a by-word all over the City of New York. "Go and call up the visiting nurses."

I have known their work for some twenty years. When I was writing on the east side Miss Lillian Wald was one of those who told me most about conditions there. No matter what I wanted to know, Miss Wald could turn me over to some efficient young visiting nurse who quickly gave me glimpses that I could get no other way. I saw a lot of her nurses those days. They were no self-conscious heroines, but the fact remains that it was a life so hard that it broke many down.

That climbing, climbing tenement stairs, that scrubbing of floors, that constant effort to pour life and hope and courage into spirits which were half dead—it's mighty tiring—a dog's life—and it keeps on fight through the year. These 250 women and girls who work long hours every day, in snow and rain and beneath August suns, they are the most gallant soldiers of peace this hard old city has ever seen. And when epidemics come, like the flu, they are the skeleton organization for an army of volunteers.

The City of New York should be proud of the fact that the visiting nurse idea started here and from here has spread out not only all over the United States of America but to other countries of the world. Proud of them, yes—but what do we do? What did each one of us do last year to help these women and girls take care of 51,000 sick people here? Each one of us, on the average, gave them just 11 cents. How about it, Mr. Average Citizen of Greater New York? The visiting nurses are about to begin a drive for the money they urgently need. Are you an 11-center still or will you, in these prosperous days, do your part in giving them the millions of dollars of solid endowment for all time that they deserve?

Dr. Thomas Allison Smith.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Many people lost a stanch friend when, two days ago, Dr. Thomas Allison Smith "crossed the bar" to enter his eternal home.

All of his associates will now feel the need of the alert mind, the kindly presence, the unerring sense of justice, the ready action and the wise counsel of this friend.

The son of a distinguished army surgeon, Brig. Gen. Andrew Kingsbury Smith, and reared in the big-hearted West, Dr. Smith grew up in an environment where one's neighbor was loved as one's self, and he lived and worked as the true physician, his last consideration being always for his own person. Among his friends were many children.

At Bellevue Hospital, where he was the Director of the Fourth Surgical Division, he was beloved by all, and his colleagues at that institution, as well as the institution itself, at his death have suffered a loss for which there can be no compensation.

Another Mark Twain Bird.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

How Mark Twain would have rejoiced at the letter of S. E. Hall in THE TIMES of Nov. 16, pointing out that Mark thought that a bat was a bird. Mr. Hall might have added that Mark Twain thought, too, that an aeophagus was a bird (see "The Double-Barreled Detective Story" and Paine's Biography, Vol. III., Page 1,152), to the bewilderment of his literal-minded admirers and his own high glee.

A DESERTED HOUSE.

The road, that singing gypsy
At the door,
Robbed this poor house
Robbed it of Love and Life
And went away
And brought his booty back,
Ah, nevermore!

They had their way, those wantons,
Wind and Rain!
They held their carnivals,
Their revels there—
Its dead eyes search
The empty dark and stare
But Love and Life
Come never back again!

Upon it Time, the vulture,
Feasted long . . .
Here by the road its shell,
Stripped bare and stark,
Calls out, calls out
To all the passers, "Hark!
Beware, beware
The thieving gypsy's song!"

"Who hear the road and follow,
Come no more!"
The ancient lilacs
Whisper at the door!

NORTH CAROLINA SCHOOLS.

It Is Denied That They Do Not Compare Favorably With Others.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As one whose business requires that he constantly travel throughout North Carolina from "Murphy to Manteo," and in consequence gives him a thorough familiarity with business and social conditions in the State, I cannot resist the temptation to take emphatic exception to the spirit as well as the accuracy of the statements contained in the article signed Susan P. Hunter and appearing in today's issue of your paper.

We of North Carolina have nothing to apologize for. The battles at Guilford Court House and King's Mountain in the Revolution, the record of North Carolina troops at Appomattox and Gettysburg in the Civil War; the fact that the only commissioned officer of the United States Navy killed in action during the war with Spain was a North Carolinian; the record of men of North Carolina in every branch of service during the World War—all go to prove that your correspondent is misinformed.

For if "loneliness and poverty," "complete isolation," "uncultivated lands" and "greasy food" produced men who have won high honors in their country's service from Colonial days on to the present and, rising superior to the poverty and trials of Reconstruction Days brought on by poor management and corruption on the part of Northern carpetbaggers, have achieved dominant positions in the industries and activities, then by all means let some of the abandoned farms of New York and New England have the benefit of similar conditions so that their owners, too, may overcome their handicaps and enjoy some of the comforts that the larger value of North Carolina's agricultural and manufactured products bring; these values being plainly indicated by her rank near the top in the amount of taxes paid into the United States Treasury Department by the various States of the Union.

But further than this. Your correspondent cannot show "hundreds and I think I should say thousands" of one-room schoolhouses, but, on the contrary, she can be shown in each county two and three story school buildings of brick and fire-resistive construction with well-filled classes in charge of teachers who are graduates of institutions of recognized collegiate standing, and in the case of schools located in the country districts, equipped with motor buses that transport the children from their homes to school and back again.

North Carolina now has over twelve hundred miles of hard-surfaced road in use and is spending $70,000,000, raised by the issue of bonds that were sold at a premium, in completion of a program of road building whereby all county seats in the State will be linked together by a chain of excellent highways.

North Carolina cities need no defense; they are all prosperous; slums are conspicuous by their absence; the "colored brethren" are, to say the least, not suffering, as is indicated by the difficulty of securing a servant of any kind, man or woman, at any price. And while it may not yet be an "Elysian Field of happiness and prosperity," if the "Old North State" continues to progress for another ten years as she has during the past ten our Northern friends and visitors to Asheville and Pinehurst may well prepare to follow the lead of the many cotton manufacturers of New England, furniture manufacturers of the Middle West and insurance writers of Hartford and come to North Carolina—not to visit and play, but to live, work and prosper where "the weak grow strong and the strong grow great."

The Schools in the South.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mrs. Smith Jellitte is rather agitated and overwrought about the educational conditions existing in the South, notably North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee. Perhaps in her enthusiasm for great charitable accomplishments she has overlooked the urgent need of much constructive work right in New York City, the little red schoolhouses dotting the rural sections of New York State and frequently mentioned during the recent State campaign.

In this connection I might add that New York City alone is educating vast numbers of her boys and girls through private channels, foremost among these schools are the private Catholic parochial schools, maintained and supported by private sources. Remove these bulwarks of educational opportunity and I believe that New York City, now running her public schools on a half-time basis, would be confronted with a condition that would require the combined ingenuity of all interests to cope with such a situation; in fact I believe other unfortunate sections would pale into insignificance compared with this colossal breach in the educational system of the richest State in the Union.

The writer does not mention that the South is quite equal to, if not surpassing, the Northeast in the fostering of schools of higher education, such as the State university system, as against Columbia University of New York City, built and endowed by the Episcopal church; Dartmouth, Yale and Harvard by the Congregationalists, and Princeton by the Presbyterians. Understand at the outset that I am not mentioning these facts as a reflection, but merely desire to state that some of the greatest schools of learning have been endowed and inspired through private or charitable channels, a condition that has existed before and during the founding of the famous Heidelburg, Cambridge and Oxford Universities by the Catholic church.

The South, I believe, is quite capable of evolving her own salvation, though it will take time.

That Fond du Lac Test.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some time since you gave publicity to the alleged fact that the pupils of the Rural Normal School of Fond du Lac, Wis., displayed lamentable ignorance of important events and personages. I have received several irate letters from former Badgers asking about the truth of your statements. Here are the facts:

This year we were deluged with applicants for admission to our normal school. In consultation with our State authorities and Board of Education, we decided to eliminate the weaker applicants by a preliminary examination. We gave: (1) Terman Group Test No. 2, (2) Thorndyke & McCall Reading Test No. 2 and (3) an arithmetic and current event test by the writer.

The test eliminated 35 per cent. of the applicants. The answers you published were true to the letter, that is: Pinchot, a race horse; La Follette, a Frenchman, who recently arrived in America; Senator Lodge, a place where meetings are held; Frances Willard, noted prize fighter. These were other answers just as racy, which you did not publish. For example: Jane Addams, the wife of John Quincy Adams; Tokohama, noted Indian chief; Paderewski, President of Mexico; Maud Ballington Booth, assassinated Lincoln.

The startling answers you published were nearly all given by the applicants who failed. The 65 per cent. who passed the test would, perhaps, be a credit to any normal school or college in the United States. We have been compelled to provide a far softer course for them than for any previous class.

THINKS LIFE EXISTS ON MANY PLANETS

Dr. Russell of Princeton Agrees With Prof. Jeans in His Attack on Old Theories.

NEW DATA ON SUN'S POWER

Noted Astronomer Says Latest Estimates Place Earth's Age at Eight Billion Years.

There are probably millions of planets with a variety of life on them, according to Professor Henry Norris Russell, astronomer, of Princeton, and medalist of the Royal Astronomical Society, who yesterday outlined the reasons for the revolution in scientific opinion on the question of inhabited planets.

Hitherto, on mathematical probability, it has been supposed that the sun was one of the very few stars which possessed trains of planets, and that planets on which life existed must be very scarce. Now, a new attack on the subject by Professor J. H. Jeans of England, formerly a colleague of Dr. Russell at Princeton, has resulted in the conclusion that stars with planetary retinues are about 100,000 times as numerous as was heretofore supposed. Dr. Russell, whose own researches on the origin and life cycle of stars have been rewarded by medals and honors from many astronomical societies, said that he believed Dr. Jeans to be right.

If Dr. Jeans is right, there are circling about other stars numbers of planets which are many thousand times as old as the earth. Therefore, the probabilities are that many are inhabited by intelligent beings of some sort and that, having had a vastly greater period for their evolution, these beings may be so far advanced mentally and in other ways over the masters of the new, little tenth-rate planet Earth, that our whole race would probably be classified in their scale of existence about where we would place the low-grade insect life of pre-Carboniferous ages.

"By applying the Einstein theory that matter and energy are the same thing to the star problem, Dr. Jeans has accounted for the source of energy in the stars and showed us how they could go on radiating many thousand times as long as we have supposed possible," said Dr. Russell.

In the early days of scientific astronomy, it was supposed that the sun and stars must burn themselves out in a comparatively brief period. Then the idea was propounded that the force of gravity caused continual contraction of the sun's mass and that the contraction produced energy. This idea increased the theoretical age of the sun many times. Then the discovery of radioactivity indicated a new source of energy and made it possible to allow the sun an existence running into hundreds of millions of years.

Then Eddington recently calculated the pressure of light in the inside of the sun. Everybody knows that light has a definite pressure, which turns the light-mills that are frequently on exhibition in the windows of opticians and jewelers. This pressure in the centre of the sun, found by mathematics to amount to a considerable number of millions of tons of pressure to the square inch. This accounted for more of the sun's energy and caused within the last two or three years a further re-casting of ideas about the resources of the stars and the length of their careers.

"But the new work of Jeans is far more fundamental," said Dr. Russell. "He shows that the matter of the sun is being constantly transformed into radiation. He finds, for instance, that the sun, as it gives out energy in the form of light and heat, is losing mass at the rate of 4,000,000 tons a second. But even at that rate of loss the sun could go on shining for many billions of years.

"This is entirely different from radioactivity. In radium and similar minerals small atoms and electrons are shot out from the interior of the big radioactive atom. But the Jeans development of the Einstein theory, as applied to the stars, is that all electrons in the stars definitely cease to exist as electrons and the energy of which they consisted is thrown out as radiation.

"When the radiation from the sun is accounted for on the basis that atoms of the stars are breaking down into another form of energy and flying into space, it is shown that the life of the star is a matter of vast duration—upward of 10,000 billion years, or 100,000 times as long as we had previously thought."

On the accepted theory as to the manner in which planets are made, the multiplication by 100,000 of the length of life of a star means the multiplication by 100,000 of the number of planets.

"The latest estimates of the age of this particular planet vary from 2,000,000,000 to 8,000,000,000 years. It is calculated that the earth is less than 8,000,000,000 years old because studies in radioactivity indicate that the radioactive minerals could not radiate for more than 8,000,000,000 years. On the other hand, it is figured that it must have required at least 2,000,000,000 years for radioactive substances to make some of the changes found in minerals which enclose it.

Thinks Mars Has Water and Air.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—As interpretation of the recent observations of Mars, when the planet was at its closest point to the earth, "strengthens the probability that Mars is fitted to support life," said Robert G. Aitken, astronomer at Lick Observatory of the University of California, in a lecture here tonight.

He went on to explain: "If, as many observers believe, the greenish tinge of great surface areas in the early Martian Summer is due to vegetation, then undoubtedly animal life, at least of low form, is present, for the two are always co-existent on our earth. This is not at all improbable, but it cannot as yet be regarded as definitely established."

Mr. Aitken pointed out that from observations astronomers in general have reached the conclusion that Mars has both air and water on its surface, but not enough water to create any permanent ocean or even great lakes, and hardly enough to make the atmosphere as dense as obtains at the height of our highest mountain tops.

"Because of this relatively low density of atmosphere and the fact that area for area Mars receives less than half as much light and heat from the sun as falls upon the earth, the general opinion has been that the mean temperature of Mars must be very low, probably far below freezing. No general agreement can be said to exist as to the precise form and interpretation of the finer details of the planetary markings.

"The decided advance made at the recent observation is along two lines. At the Lowell Observatory,

MAJ. WEAVER GIVES A COSTUME BALL

Three 'Lord High Executioners' in Black Hoods Award Prizes at the Park Lane.

PARROT BALL AT THE RITZ

Many Dinners, Some for Debutantes, Precede Dance in Aid of St. Luke's Hospital.

More than four hundred persons attended the costume ball given by Major Fullerton Weaver last night at the Park Lane. Before the dance several large dinners were given. Supper was served in the Tapestry Room at 1 o'clock, and at 5 o'clock breakfast was served in the foyer of the ballroom. A committee of three, attired as lord high executioners in black hoods, awarded prizes for the best costumes.

Before the dance Major Weaver gave a dinner at which the guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dickson B. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. William John Warburton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer W. Orvis, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Orvis, Mrs. James H. Gillman, Mrs. Francis S. Whitten, Holland B. Judkins and William Farnell.

Other guests at the dance included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Akin, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Alker, Charles Baskerville Jr., Mrs. Thelma Morgan Converse, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hiscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Copley Thaw, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Livingston Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kip Rhinelander, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Vogel, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Wagstaff, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Fargo and Mr. and Mrs. Lyttleton Fox.

Also Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beardsley Hemenway, Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Ingraham, Mrs. Caleb F. Fox Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George T. Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin, Jules Glaenzer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, the Misses Louise and Marion Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Snowden, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pagel, Mrs. Charlotte Satterlee, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Simonds, Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Cooley and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kilpatrick.

A number of dinners, some of them for débutantes, preceded the Parrot ball, which took place last night at the Ritz-Carlton.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Tilton gave a dinner for their débutante daughter, Miss Harty G. Tilton, last night, the guests later going on to the ball. Many of the dinner guests and the hostess came from the reception and dance which Mrs. Herbert Barry gave yesterday afternoon at the Colony Club for her daughter, Miss Eleanor Barry. Mr. and Mrs. Barry and their family have come to their winter place, Barrymead, in Llewellyn Park, N. J., and are staying at the Lorraine. The dance and reception at the Colony Club was through the courtesy of Mrs. Henry Parish, a close friend of the family. Both Miss Tilton and Miss Barry were members of the Débutante Committees of the Parrot ball.

Mrs. Francis Carter Wood gave a dinner in her apartment at the Wyoming for her daughter Miss Edith Sterling Wood, and later the young people went on to the Parrot ball.

Miss Mary Danforth Strange gave a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton and later took her guests to the ball. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Lyncn, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald G. McIlwaine Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Isham, Miss Dorothy Clemens, Frederick C. Inman, Albert B. Strange and Arthur Tauszky.

Other dinner hostesses who later attended the ball with their guests included Mrs. C. Lane Poor Jr., Mrs. Tess Murphy, Mrs. Edward S. Isham, Miss Cecil Collins and Miss Elizabeth Manning.

The ball is an annual event in aid of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Luke's Hospital. Miss Strange was Chairman of the committee in charge of the ball and there were many prominent patronesses. The large débutante committee was headed by the Misses Frances L. Riker and Eleanor Pettinos.

During the evening there was a programme of professional entertainment. Miss Helen May, one of Pavlowa's pupils, who has recently arrived from London, danced "The Swan" and several other numbers. Cortez and Peggy gave an exhibition dance and there were other features.

JUNIOR LEAGUE GREETS IN ITS NEW HOME

Provisional Members Hold a Reception for Officers—League's Ball Jan. 15.

The Provisional Members of the Junior League, who were elected for the ensuing season at a recent meeting held in the new home of the league at 133 East Sixty-first Street, held a reception there yesterday afternoon for the officers and board of directors of the league. These officers are Mrs. Pleasants Pennington, President; Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni Jr., Vice President; Mrs. Le Roy King Jr., Secretary, and Mrs. Joseph Larocque Jr., Treasurer. Miss Sympherosa Bristed acts as Executive Secretary.

The Board of Directors includes Mrs. Lewis L. Delafield Jr., Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. George S. Franklin, Miss Susan Gibney, Mrs. Morris Hadley, Mrs. Sherman Haight, Mrs. Oliver B. James, Miss Alice S. Nicoll, Mrs. William B. Olmsted Jr., Mrs. Irving Pardee, Mrs. Rembrandt Peale Jr., Mrs. John S. Pitney, Mrs. R. Lloyd Sanderson, Mrs. Frank Shepard, Mrs. Ernest Stillman, Miss Jane Watson and Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb.

At the head of the Reception Committee were Miss Edith Woodward, Chairman; Miss Phyllis B. Thompson, Vice Chairman, and Miss Priscilla Chisholm, Secretary of the Provisional Members, whose names already have been announced and who number more than one hundred débutantes of this season and last.

The league, after having been in smaller quarters in East Forty-fifth Street for several years, went to their new home about six weeks ago. Their new quarters, which are quite modern, were inspected with much pleasure. There is a large assembly room on the first floor, and on the second floor there is a reception room and a dining room. On the next floor are the offices of the various executives of the league, and the top floor is devoted to rooms for visiting members of the Junior League from other places. Kenneth Murchison was the architect of the original plans, and the additions were made by Mott Schmidt. During the afternoon there was music, and tea was served. At the gathering yesterday afternoon men related to the members were included among the guests.

It has been decided to hold the annual ball for the benefit of the league's philanthropic work on Jan. 15 in the ballrooms suite of the Astor Hotel, but the character has not been decided. The Opera Ball held there last Winter by the league was one of the most artistic ever attempted in New York, and the financial returns were satisfactory.

There were present at the reception several hundred persons of prominence in the social life of New York, relatives and friends of members of the league.

Miss Cauldwell to Entertain.

Miss Katherine Cauldwell, who is to be married to William Ryland Scott next Friday in the Church of the Epiphany, will entertain her bridal attendants tonight at the Club Gaucho dance at the Lorraine. Her guests will include the Misses Elizabeth Williams, Pauline Cauldwell, Elizabeth Ker-Jarvis, Phoebe Helmer, and William Cauldwell, Fred Fulton, Robert Shelvels and Charles Starbuck.

SOCIAL NOTES

New York.

Sir Ashley and Lady Sparks will give a dinner followed by a ball tonight on board the Berengaria, to introduce to society their second daughter, Miss Eleanor Sparks.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kingsbury Curtis will give a reception, with recitations and music, tonight at the Colony Club to introduce their daughter, Miss Helen Kingsbury Curtis.

A reception will be given this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Erhart at their home, 1,055 Fifth Avenue, to introduce their daughter, Miss Henriette Erhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Ordway of 123 East Seventy-first Street will give a reception on Nov. 29 for Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Ordway Jr., who have just returned from their wedding trip, and who will make their home at 114 East Seventy-first Street. Mrs. Ordway before her marriage was Miss Anna Wheatland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wheatland of Boston. Her marriage was celebrated last June in the First Church North Meeting House, in Salem, Mass.

Mrs. Theodore Diser and her daughter, Miss Sophie Diser, who arrived on the Homeric, are at the Colony Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund S. Nash have closed their place in Garden City and are at the Gotham for the Winter.

W. Henry Robertson, Consul General of the United States at Halifax and previously holding a similar position in Buenos Aires, is at the Hotel Le Marquis, 12 East Thirty-first Street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ward Ford have closed their house in Morristown, N. J., and are at 150 East Seventy-third Street.

Mrs. Howard McK. Kirkland will give a reception at 73 East Ninetieth Street on the afternoon of Dec. 2 to introduce her daughter, Miss Jane Kirkland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Sloane and family have closed The Place, their Summer home at Sands Point, L. I., and are at the Hotel Netherland for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. McCurdy, who passed the Summer at Glenfiddich Lodge, Dutfwers, Scotland, are at 30 East Fifty-first Street for the Winter.

Mrs. Ira Davenport, Miss Marie Harjes of New York and Paris, and Miss Margaret Field are at the Broadmoor, Colorado Springs.

H. Edward Manville, who has been in England for a brief visit, is returning to the United States on the Homeric next week.

Dr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Read Norton will give a dance at the Colony Club on the night of Nov. 28 for their débutante daughter, Miss Bertha Weightman Norton.

The marriage of Miss Constance Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig R. Wadsworth, to Samuel Fowler Telfair Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Telfair of Raleigh, N. C., will take place this morning in St. Mary's Church, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Captain C. C. Erskine Bolst, M. P., and Mrs. Erskine Bolst are sailing for England today on the Homeric. Mrs. Erskine Bolst is the mother of Mrs. Stanhope Nixon.

The High Commissioner from Australia, J. A. M. Elder, and Mrs. Elder will give a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Boyer, the latter the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival S. Hill, have come from Paris and are at the Plaza.

Henry L. Stoddard, who is sailing on the Belgenland on Dec. 4 to make a tour of the world, has invited several of his friends to dine with him on board the ship before she sails that night.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Gardiner of 829 Park Avenue will give a luncheon at Sherry's on Dec. 6 for their débutante daughter, Miss Adele Gardiner, who was graduated from the Spence School.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Tilton will give a reception at 131 East Sixty-sixth Street on Dec. 16 to introduce their daughter, Miss Harty Tilton, for whom they will give a dinner on Dec. 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. Pari D. Babst will give a reception on the afternoon of Dec. 7 at their home, 580 Park Avenue, to introduce their daughter, Miss Katharine de Garmo Babst, who is the granddaughter of Senator Edwin F. Uhl, First Assistant Secretary of State and Ambassador to Germany during the second Cleveland Administration. A supper and theatre party will follow. On Dec. 9 Mrs. Babst will give a luncheon for her daughter at the Colony Club, and the same night a dinner at the club preceding the Junior Assembly.

Mrs. Irving Chase of Rose Hill, Waterbury, Conn., gave a luncheon at Sherry's yesterday and among her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft 2d and Miss Lucia Chase, who has recently returned from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Auchincloss of 12 East Seventy-first Street gave a supper dance at Pierre's last night for many of their friends who are going today to the Yale-Harvard football game in New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Henry Appleton Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Brandwell of Boston are at the Lorraine for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hatch have come from Jericho, L. I., and are at their apartment, 50 East Seventy-sixth Street, for the Winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Day will give a supper party tonight at the Lido-Venice following the Yale-Harvard game, for their sons, Bernard Pope Day and Charles Pope Day, and several of their classmates at Harvard.

Mrs. G. J. Guthrie Nicholson will give a dinner on Wednesday night at the Ritz-Carlton for Miss Pauline Emmet, preceding the dance which her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Temple Emmet, are giving for her that night at the same hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Randolph Robinson have come from Edgehill, Westbury, L. I., and are at the Ambassador.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Ryle have come from their country place at Purchase, N. Y., and are at the Vanderbilt, where Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Little, who came from the Rockaway Hunt Club at Cedarhurst, L. I., are also staying.

Mme. Marie Jonnesco will entertain at tea in the Venetian Room at 10 East Sixtieth Street next Friday for Prince Kadiar of Persia.

F. I. SCHECHTER MARRIES.

Son of Late Professor Weds Miss Alice Greenzels—Other Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Alice Greenzels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Greenzels, to Frank I. Schechter, son of the late Professor and Mrs. Solomon Schechter, took place at noon yesterday at the residence of their friends, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Kohn. Owing to the fact that the bridegroom's family is in mourning only relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple were present. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Kohn, assisted by the professors of the Jewish Theological Seminary of which Professor Schechter was President for many years.

Mr. Schechter was graduated from Columbia Law School and is practicing his profession in this city. He served as a Lieutenant in France during the war. Miss Greenzels also attended Columbia Law School. After an extended wedding trip the couple will reside in New York.

Darling—Anderson.

The marriage of Miss Helen Truesdell Anderson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Anderson of Yonkers, N. Y., to William Lawson Darling, son of William Wells Darling of this city, took place last night at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Dr. Theodore Sedgwick, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Yonkers, officiated. The ceremony was followed by a reception and wedding supper.

Miss Phebe King Anderson was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Genevieve Olcott Anderson, sister of the bride, and Eleanor May Darling, sister of the bridegroom. Harold Darling was his brother's best man. The ushers were Thomas Riegg Hart Jr. of Middletown, N. Y., and Lawrence Dignan of Houston, Texas.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Darling will make their home in this city.

Hostesses to Elizabeth Cooper.

Miss Ann Kenny, a sister of the Countess Byron Kuhn de Prorok and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kenny of 620 Fifth Avenue, and Miss Catherine Mexwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lascelles Maxwell of Rye, N. Y., gave a dinner at Sherry's last night in honor of Miss Elizabeth Cooper of Stamford, Conn., whose marriage to John Hardin takes place in Stamford on Nov. 29. There were thirty young people in the party.

A GILBERT STUART SELLS FOR $10,700

Collector Gets Painting of Admiral John Willet Wood at Lane Sale.

GUARDI ITEM BRINGS $5,000

"Portrait of a Spanish Princess," From Stanford White Collection, Sold for $3,600.

The third and evening sale of the paintings of the James Warren Lane collection last night at the American Art Galleries brought much spirited bidding, particularly over the Gilbert Stuart portrait of John Willet Wood, Vice Admiral of the Coast of Devonshire and Cornwall. It finally was bought for $10,000 by W. W. Seaman, agent for a private collector.

The Admiral is painted in a rich dark blue coat with revers and buttons of dull gold, the scarlet-lined collar bent outward and down; a white stock and gracefully arranged jabot lend the finishing touch to his dress, while his small gray-white wig sets off his rosy cheeks and blue eyes. The size of the painting is 30 by 24½ inches.

The next highest figure was brought by Francesco Guardi's "Masked Ball in Venice," showing the interior of the Venetian Ridotto in the eighteenth century. Guardi died in 1793. The painting went to J. E. Metcalf for $5,000. Anton Rudorff, agent, purchased "A Portrait of a Spanish Princess," by Juan Carrafio de Miranda, from the Stanford White collection. It is a full length portrait of a child in a long spreading pale blue dress embroidered in gold flowers, the child wearing many pearls. It brought $2,600.

J. W. Masters bought a portrait by the Dutch artist, Paulus Potter, of Bartholomeus Joannes Segraert, sheriff of Dordrecht. Moreelse died in 1638. It brought $2,000. F. I. SCHECHTER MARRIES.

Son of Late Professor Weds Miss Alice Greenzels—Other Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Alice Greenzels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Greenzels, to Frank I. Schechter, son of the late Professor and Mrs. Solomon Schechter, took place at noon yesterday at the residence of their friends, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Kohn. Owing to the fact that the bridegroom's family is in mourning only relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple were present. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Kohn, assisted by the professors of the Jewish Theological Seminary of which Professor Schechter was President for many years.

Mr. Schechter was graduated from Columbia Law School and is practicing his profession in this city. He served as a Lieutenant in France during the war. Miss Greenzels also attended Columbia Law School. After an extended wedding trip the couple will reside in New York.

Darling—Anderson.

The marriage of Miss Helen Truesdell Anderson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Anderson of Yonkers, N. Y., to William Lawson Darling, son of William Wells Darling of this city, took place last night at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Dr. Theodore Sedgwick, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Yonkers, officiated. The ceremony was followed by a reception and wedding supper.

Miss Phebe King Anderson was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were the Misses Genevieve Olcott Anderson, sister of the bride, and Eleanor May Darling, sister of the bridegroom. Harold Darling was his brother's best man. The ushers were Thomas Riegg Hart Jr. of Middletown, N. Y., and Lawrence Dignan of Houston, Texas.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Darling will make their home in this city.

Y., gave a dinner at Sherry's last night in honor of Miss Elizabeth Cooper of Stamford, Conn., whose marriage to John Hardin takes place in Stamford on Nov. 29. There were thirty young people in the party.

DR. JOHN G. HALLIMOND OF THE BOWERY DEAD

Mission Superintendent for 25 Years Dies Suddenly at His Home in Belmar, N. J.

Just twenty-five years and one day after becoming Superintendent of the Bowery Mission, Dr. John G. Hallimond died suddenly last night in his home at Belmar, N. J.

On Wednesday last, as Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan and several other prominent New Yorkers were planning a dinner in celebration of Dr. Hallimond's twenty-five years as head of the Bowery Mission, which was to have been given Thursday night at the Cornell Club, word was received that Dr. Hallimond was ill and the dinner was postponed. He is survived by his wife and a daughter.

Dr. Hallimond was one of the most influential men in the district in which he served, and thousands of men, successful and down and out, counted him a friend. At 17 he was an evangelist in England and for years was a volunteer in the Salvation Army. He came to the United States, inspired by a book written by P. T. Barnum, and in 1899 he was put in charge of the Bowery Mission when that institution, founded in 1826, was about to pass out of existence. At that time the Bowery was at its worst. Since that time Dr. Hallimond had seen thousands of men drift into the mission and go out into the world regenerated.

"Everything is changed now," Dr. Hallimond said recently. "In the early days we dealt with a horde of what were called 'old bums.' Most of them carried tomato cans under their coats, which they used in getting the dregs of beer kegs that were piled outside the ubiquitous saloon. All in all, they were a hard crowd, and so poor that we fed a thousand nightly in our bread line.

"Now, the Bowery has been transformed to a place where a woman can go at any hour and feel safe.

"The lodging houses and missions are crowded every night by a population that is ever changing. There are 250,000 men scattered all over the country to whom the Bowery is home. They never are all here at one time, but a recent survey of lodging houses showed the presence of 12,000.

"With time has come a vast change in the character of these derelicts. Instead of the panhandler and the wielder of the cocktail drops, there have come in our midst to-day an assemblage of far different type. If you were to stand on our platform tonight you'd see a fairly average crowd of men. You would note that in clarity they are clean and wore collar and necktie. I mention these conditions because they bring out the contrast with other days.

"Some one asked me the other day how many converts had been made at the Bowery Mission during the quarter century. I answered that there had been none, for we never call a man a convert. We avoid all emotional methods and simply ask a man to sign, as a member of our brotherhood. That application now has a membership of 42,006."

HONOR DR. T. A. SMITH.

Associates at Funeral of Noted Surgeon in Church of Transfiguration.

The medical profession paid its tribute to Dr. Thomas Allison Smith, noted surgeon, by attending in large numbers his funeral from the Church of the Transfiguration, Twenty-ninth Street near Fifth Avenue, yesterday morning. The church was crowded with friends and admirers of the physician, several of the Hospitals of the city sending large delegations of their medical staffs.

The Rev. Randolph Ray, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Harley W. Smith of St. Andrew's Church in Stamford, Conn., read the Episcopal burial service. There was no eulogy. The honorary pallbearers were Dr. John W. Brannan, Dr. J. Crosby Brown, Dr. Robert J. Carlisle, Dr. Cornelius G. Coakley, Dr. Warren Coleman, Luke James Phelps, Dr. James Sherrill, Dr. George D. Stewart, Dr. William E. Studdiford and Dr. Joseph F. Tertberry. Among others present were Dr. William A. Downes, Dr. Adrian V. Lambert, Dr. John B. Walker, Dr. Lewis Mann Silver, Dr. John R. Graham, Dr. Hampton P. Howell and Dr. Edmund P. Fowler.

Interment was in the Sleepy Hollow Cemetery. Dr. Smith, who lived at 640 Madison Avenue, died Wednesday of septicaemia at St. Vincent's Hospital. He was surgical director of the Fourth Division, Bellevue Hospital and was also attached to the staffs of the Willard Parker and Knickerbocker Hospitals.

Dies After Getting $55,000 Award.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Louis Kolker of Philadelphia, who obtained an award of $55,000 for injuries received in a wreck on the Reading Railway at Winslow Junction, N. J., July 3, 1922, died today in the Episcopal Hospital here. Mr. Kolker was on his way to Atlantic City on his honeymoon when the wreck occurred. His spine was injured.

NEW STOKING SYSTEM TO INCREASE ENERGY

Philadelphia Electric Co. Expects 93 Per Cent. Efficiency in Plant to Exceed Niagara Power.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21. — Refinements of engineering practice never attempted before in the generation of electricity are revealed by contracts just placed by the Philadelphia Electric Company for stoker equipment for its new Richmond station in this city.

Heat that ordinarily escapes up the stacks in the flue gases will be trapped to preheat the air supplied to the furnaces up to 500 degrees. This will set a new mark in combustion engineering, the engineers here say, if the installation will be of special design with very high efficiencies.

In New York, last March, what was then regarded as a record in combustion efficiency was made when, on a run of twenty-eight hours, 92.7 per cent. of the heat units in the coal burned were converted into steam energy in the boiler. In the Philadelphia station efficiencies better than 93 per cent. are expected.

Buildings alone for the new plant, which is being constructed under the supervision of Dr. W. C. L. Eglin, chief engineer and Vice President of the Philadelphia Electric Company and President of the Franklin Institute, will cost $12,000,000. Cost of machinery and equipment will add many millions more to the total.

When completed, the plant will have a capacity of 600,000 kilowatts, which is 60 per cent. in excess of the total power developments on the American side of the river at Niagara Falls. It will be tied in with the Delaware, Schuylkill and Chester stations of the company, which now supply electric current for this city, giving a total capacity in excess of the entire power development on both sides of the river at Niagara.

The first 300,000 kilowatt unit of the new plant is to be completed by July, 1925.

DESCRIBES HIS WINDSHIP.

Flettner Does Not Say It Will Displace Power Vessels.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Chancellor Marx was in the distinguished audience which today heard Anton Flettner, inventor of the "wind ship," describe his inventions at a meeting of the Society of Technical Shipbuilders here.

It is expected that Herr Flettner will again describe his invention, with President Ebert as one of his hearers, at a reception on Wednesday in honor of Dr. Eckner, commander of the Zeppelin ZR-3 on her recent flight to the United States.

At today's meeting Herr Flettner took up the history of his invention from the earliest stages to the recent successful trial trips of his wind ship "Buckau" at Kiel. He reiterated his previous statements that, although revolutionizing sailing, he did not assert that it would be a substitute for steam or electric power on the high seas.

MRS. MORGAN RITES AT HIGHLAND FALLS

Eulogy by the Rev. R. J. Bunten —School Children Sit in Silence During the Services.

Special to The New York Times.

HIGHLAND FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Tracy Morgan, widow of the elder J. Pierpont Morgan, were held at her late home, Cragston, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. Roland J. Bunten, pastor of the Holy Innocent Episcopal Church, of which she was a member, officiating.

The room in which the body lay was decorated with yellow roses. Mrs. Morgan's favorite flower, and Mr. Bunten in his eulogy of Mrs. Morgan told of her beautiful Christian life. All the prominent citizens of the village were in attendance, as were also General Fred Sladen, Superintendent of the United States Military Academy, and many other officers and their wives from West Point. After the services the body was taken to New York City, accompanied by members of the family.

A second service for Mrs. Morgan will be held in St. George's Church in Stuyvesant Square at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

In the public schools the pupils sat in silence during the time of the services as a mark of respect to Mrs. Morgan, who had done so much to make the schools equal to any in the State.

TWO MISSIONARIES DIE AT FOREIGN POSTS

Miss Annie R. Morton in China and Archdeacon John G. Meem in Brazil.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The death of Miss Annie R. Morton of New Jersey, one of the leading Presbyterian missionaries in China, was announced today at the offices of the Presbyterian General Assembly in this city. A cablegram stated that Miss Morton died of heart disease at her post of duty.

Miss Morton was born in New Brunswick, N. J., and began missionary work in China forty-four years ago. At the time of her appointment she was a member of the Long Branch Presbyterian Church.

A cablegram received yesterday by James G. Meem of 149 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, announced the death at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, of his brother, John Caw Meem, Archdeacon of Rio and one of the most distinguished missionaries of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He was born in Shreveport, La., in 1844.

MOURN CARDINAL LOGUE.

Duke of Abercorn Is Among Those Sending Expressions of Grief.

BELFAST, Nov. 21.—Messages of sympathy are pouring in to Armagh from all parts of the world on the death of Cardinal Logue.

"Sea-divided Irishmen are mourning Ireland's greatest Cardinal," reads a cable from Archbishop Mannix of Melbourne, Australia, while the Archbishop of Ottawa expressed deep condolence on the part of the Canadian Catholics.

The Duke of Abercorn, Governor of Ulster, whose father and Cardinal Logue were firm friends, telegraphed expressions of his grief.

The body of the Cardinal was removed today from the Palace in Armagh to the Synod Hall, where it will lie in state until Monday evening, when it will be taken to the cathedral for the obsequies Tuesday morning.

In Memory of Herbert L. Bridgman.

A memorial meeting for the late Herbert L. Bridgman is to be held at the Lotos Club next Monday evening by the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, of which he had been the President for forty years. President Nicholas Murray Butler is to preside and addresses are to be made by Samuel R. Babst, who succeeded Mr. Bridgman as the President of the fraternity, and by George B. Mallon, a member of the Amherst Chapter, into which Mr. Bridgman was initiated in 1873. On the same evening, which is Founders' Day the fraternity, meetings in memory of Mr. Bridgman are to be held by all the chapters of Psi Upsilon in the United States and Canada.

Dr. Newman Dies on 79th Birthday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Rev. Dr. Stephen M. Newman, who was President of Howard University from 1912 to 1918, was found dead of apoplexy this morning, his seventy-ninth birthday, in his apartment at 1,436 M Street. He graduated from Bowdoin in 1867 and from the Andover Theological Seminary four years later. After holding Congregational pastorates in Taunton, Mass., and Ripon, Wis., he was pastor of the First Congregational Church in this city for twenty-one years, from 1885 to 1906.

Howard J. Pullum.

Howard J. Pullum, for years one of the leading figures in the sugar trade in this city, died Nov. 18 in Albuquerque, N. M., according to announcement by one of his business associates last night. He was an official and director in a dozen or more sugar companies; among the offices he held being those of Vice President of the West India Sugar Finance Corporation, President of Sugar Merchants, Inc., Secretary of the Western Sugar and Land Company Syndicate and Vice President of the Caribbean Sugar Company. He was also Treasurer and a director of the Bristol Hotel and Realty Corporation.

Lawrence Bradley.

Services for Lawrence Bradley, for thirty years a New York journalist and publicity man, will be held at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Williams Funeral Parlors, 331 West 121st Street. Mr. Bradley, who was 74 years old, and had been in poor health for six months, died Thursday of heart disease at his home, 114 West Eighty-fifth Street. He had worked on The New York Herald under the younger Bennett and for a time was dramatic editor of The Evening Telegram. Recently he had been road manager for David Warfield in his tour in "The Merchant of Venice."

Charles Herbert Smith.

Charles Herbert Smith, Vice President and Trustee of the Citizens' Savings Bank, 58 Bowery, died yesterday at his residence, 876 Park Avenue, after a lingering illness of a year. He was 78 years old. Mr. Smith had retired as President of the steam heating and ventilating firm of Baker, Smith & Co., 576 Greenwich Street, with which he had been associated for many years. At the time of his death he was a director of the Colonial Bank, Greenwich Bank and the Quogue Gas Company.

Marian Singer, Actress.

Marian Singer, who had acted in this country for fifty years, died yesterday in a sanitarium on Long Island, where she had lived in the care of the Actors' Fund. She was 73 years old and was twice married; first to Charles B. Altwood and after his death to Dr. J. S. Brewer, who is also dead. She had been giving elocution lessons and had posed for artists, including Gibson, following her retirement from the stage, until illness intervened in 1918.

GRAND JURY HEARS $13,000 FEE CASE

Hirshfield's Accountants Tell of Alleged Shortage of Richmond County Clerk.

FRIENDS RAISING A FUND

Misunderstanding of the Law Said to Have Caused Livingston Bostwick's Trouble.

Charles F. Flannigan, Deputy County Clerk of Richmond County, and two expert accountants engaged by Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield to investigate an alleged shortage of $13,000 in the accounts of the Richmond County Clerk's office appeared before the Grand Jury of that county in St. George yesterday afternoon. For two hours the witnesses were questioned concerning the discrepancy resulting from the suspected manipulations of County Clerk Livingston Bostwick, who has held the office for more than twenty-four years. The accountants, corroborated by Flannigan, reviewed the progress of the investigation, which continued for six weeks and ended last Monday.

After the accountants had reported their findings to Hirshfield the commissioner on Monday communicated with Albert C. Fach, District Attorney of Richmond County, requesting him to take all measures necessary in clarifying the County Clerk's records. At the same time Hirshfield wrote a letter to Bostwick ordering him to appear for a hearing before the Commissioner of Accounts last Tuesday in the Municipal Building. According to Hirshfield Bostwick ignored this order.

Previous to 1910 the Richmond County Clerk retained for himself all fees charged on mortgages, deeds and other legal documents, after an amount sufficient to cover the salaries of his subordinates had been deducted. It was declared that this scheme resulted in the County Clerk realizing a revenue of from $10,000 to $15,000 annually.

In 1910 a bill passed in the New York Legislature dispensed with this arrangement and fixed the salary of the County Clerk at $5,000 a year. All fees, according to legal provision, were henceforth to be turned over to the city.

Bostwick, who is prominent in Democratic circles on Staten Island, was employed as a subordinate in the County Clerk's office for four years preceding his election to the clerkship. Upon his accession to this position he was bonded by the American Surety Company for $20,000.

The Grand Jury will reconvene for the hearing next Monday.

Bostwick's friends have collected $12,000 to meet the alleged shortage and declared that the total amount would be subscribed within twenty-four hours. His friends, furthermore, maintain that the present embarrassment, if substantiated, is due to a misunderstanding of the law governing distribution of fees collected in the County Clerk's office.

STOCK PRICES REACT AFTER RECORD SALES

In First Hour Turnover of 612,000 Shares Swamps Exchange Machinery.

2,143,884 SHARES IN DAY

Profit Taking Is Renewed and Rail and Industrial Averages Are Lower at the Close.

BOND BUYING WAVE STARTS

Sales of These Securities on Stock Exchange Total $21,258,250—Speculators Shift Funds.

There was a moderate slowing up in the stock market yesterday, due in the main to increased profit taking, which developed in many of the issues which had made large gains in the last few days. Nevertheless, the turnover on the Stock Exchange totaled 2,143,884 shares. It was the fifth day this week on which the trading exceeded 2,000,000 shares in five hours and the eighth day since the election on which that market velocity was attained.

Yesterday's trading, although still of tremendous proportions, was more or less negative as to trend. In addition to profit taking, the public apparently seemed wary of present high prices. The average price of stocks was considerably lower at the close. Representative industrial, stocks closed at 125.03, a net decline for the day of 1.08, while the railroad average of 76.62 was a loss of .27. The average of fifty representative stocks at the close was 100.82, a net loss for the day of .68.

The market's maximum velocity was reached in the first hour yesterday, in which 612,000 shares were turned over on the New York Stock Exchange in a single hour. This in itself establishes a new high record. However, this pace did not keep up, due in great measure to profit taking in a number of lines. Most of the net losses of the day were established in the last hour of trading.

Market "Looked Tired."

It was Wall Street judgment after the close that the market "looked tired." The trading has been enormous for fifteen days, or since the election; the gains have been well over six points in the averages, and the public has come into the market on a very large scale. It is further remembered by Wall Street that the higher the market goes the more acute the pressure of liquidation because of satisfactory profits amassed by thousands of stockholders. To convert these potential profits into actual profits requires the selling of the stocks. It is this pressure of selling which the market now feels most acutely.

During the first hour yesterday when the market traveled at a faster pace than at any previous time during the present excited trading, United States Steel common, the market's leader, sold at $117 per share, its highest price in more than seven years. Many more new records were made during the early trading as the result of an influx of public buying of favored stocks, coupled with intelligent pool management for these shares.

Bond Market Expands.

One of the developments in the financial district yesterday was the expansion of the bond market and the liberal purchases of bonds of corporations whose common and preferred stocks have recently had large advances on the Stock Exchange. In some quarters this was construed as a shift of funds from speculative endeavors into semi-investment issues. The increase in bond buying was tremendous and one of the outstanding features of the day. The total of bonds turned over on the Stock Exchange yesterday was $21,258,250, of which $16,158,000 was in bonds of industrial corporations. The balance represented foreign buying, Liberty issues and City bonds.

There is wide difference of opinion in the financial district at the close of business last night about the immediate future of the stock market. In some sections it is held that the market will go much higher and that the upswing will be continued for many days. This theory is based upon reports of expanding industry and the attraction of new customers to the market through the advancing prices. On the other hand, many believe that the market already has seen its high prices for the present movement, that a great deal of profit taking now is due and that, based on experience, it should simmer until immediate profits have been taken and an opportunity is given for actual business conditions to catch up with what may be termed "stock market prophecies."

Trading yesterday continued to tax the physical facilities of the markets. The ticker was far behind during the active trading on the Stock Exchange in the morning, running from ten to fifteen minutes behind transactions in the first hour. Some of this slack was taken up in the afternoon, and at the close the ticker was only seven minutes behind. "Emergency rules" continued in effect on the floor of the Stock Exchange so far as orders were concerned and it was impossible for brokers to secure a "quotation" on particular stocks during the active trading.

Wall Street has practically gone on a night shift and in many offices the clerical force is busy until almost midnight clearing up the day's business and making ready for the expected inflow or orders on the following day.

The big backlog which the market now possesses, according to the Wall Street viewpoint, is from two principal sources: One is composed of "sold out bulls," who have taken their profits at the current or lower levels and who are awaiting an opportunity to get back into the market. The other includes those who have missed the market entirely and who expect to buy stocks on any sizeable reaction. In the opinion of many, this backlog of buying will tend to hold off any sizeable reaction, and help to continue the advance.

SCHWAB PREDICTS A BOOM.

Believes Country "Is Due for Its Greatest Period of Prosperity."

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 21.—"Business is going ahead on the firmest foundation I ever have known," declared Charles M. Schwab today, at the William Penn Hotel, prior to making a speech at the Carnegie Day exercises at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

"Business men generally have been imbued with confidence and are making their plans accordingly," he added. "I believe the United States is due for its greatest period of prosperity."

The forced-looking sales in the stock market were only of general interest to Mr. Schwab, he said.

"I'm only interested in our own stock. The other fellows can make their millions," he declared.

The Dawes plan was working wonders for Germany and the general condition of Europe, and would make business better the world over, Mr. Schwab said.

Find a Bear in New Jersey; Plan Thanksgiving Day Hunt

Special to The New York Times.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Nov. 21.—Ten years ago residents here reported that they had seen a bear running through the near-by woods. Hunters found the footprints of a bear, but lost the trail in the swamp lands. Since that time there have been frequent reports that bears were running at large in this section of the State. Now three Cape May hunters, accompanied by eight dogs, have actually proved that there are bears here.

The hunters, J. R. Garrison, Miller Garrison and C. N. Bart, were hunting raccoons near Woodbine when their dogs dashed off in great excitement. The hunters followed a mile into the swamps and found the dogs fighting over a young bear which they had killed. It weighed 135 pounds.

James Gibbs, a woodsman, says he has seen a pair of young bears on several occasions in the swamps.

Hunters are planning a bear hunt on Thanksgiving Day, as it is believed the bears seen by Gibbs are progeny of the bear seen in this section ten years ago and that others may be found deep in the swamps.

WIFE TELLS STORY IN 'POTENTATE' SUIT

Denies a Conspiracy to Get $150,000 From Wealthy Eastern Ruler.

FACES A SEVERE GRILLING

Counsel for Midland Bank Hands In a List of Alleged "Overt Acts" to Show Blackmail Plot.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Florence Robinson was under examination today during the entire hearing of the £150,000 suit which her husband is bringing against the Midland Bank. Sir John Simon, at the request of the plaintiff's counsel, handed in a list of overt acts on which the defense is relying to show there was a blackmailing conspiracy against the "Eastern potentate," to which Robinson, his wife, an aide of the potentate, Newton and Hobbs were parties.

Sir John cross-examined Mrs. Robinson ruthlessly in an effort to make her confess that her discovery with "Mr. A.," as the potentate is designated, was prearranged and that Newton surprised her with him on that occasion merely because he was more presentable than her bookmaker husband. Counsel suggested it could only have been Mrs. Robinson herself who could have admitted him to the room. All this she strenuously denied.

An incident of the case was that out of consideration for two women on the jury, certain questions were asked and answered in writing.

Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Under a severe questioning by Sir John Simon, Mrs. Robinson revealed today new features in the drama involving the wealthy Indian potentate who, it is alleged, gave a check for £150,000 ($690,000) to hush up scandal.

Mrs. Robinson, wearing a coat of kolinsky fur and a rope of pearls, never faltered in the long ordeal of Sir John's cross-examination. She was cool and calm, even when Sir John wrote questions and passed them to the witness, who wrote the answers.

Mrs. Robinson introduced new charges in the strange drama this afternoon. She told of staying at the Dtapha Hotel as Mrs. Young with George Young, also known as Edward Kaiser, author of "The Secret of an Empress" and other books. Mrs. Robinson also mentioned a "great dope fiend" as a friend.

She told of the dramatic entrance of Mr. Newton, her former lover and the alleged blackmail master mind, into her bedroom in Paris when she was with "Mr. A." She denied screaming, "Look out, here is my husband, my big brute of a husband," at the time. She also denied that she conspired with Mr. Newton to pose as her husband instead of Mr. Robinson, who "looked more like the brother than the husband of the high society woman I was pretending to be."

Sir John's stiffest questioning failed to shake her story that she had not participated in any conspiracy to defraud the Eastern Prince.

GAS KILLS 4 IN ASTORIA.

Man, Wife, Brother and Lodger Are the Victims.

Gas escaping from a water heater is said to have caused the death of Donato Grassi, 28; his wife, Josephine, 19; his brother Antonio, 33, and Lorenzo Vinto, 32, a lodger, at 192 Potter Avenue, Astoria, shortly after midnight on Thursday.

The three men were employed by an Astoria contractor and when they did not appear for work on Friday, Lenardo Grassi, brother of Donato and Antonio, went to the house. Through the kitchen window he saw the body of Donato on the floor. Vinto's body was near by. A piece of the electric light fixture was clutched in Vinto's hand, indicating that he had gone to the kitchen and had been overcome in the act of switching on the electric light. Antonio Grassi was found dead in bed in a room near the kitchen and Mrs. Grassi was in her own bedroom in the front part of the house.

Police believe that Antonio Grassi arose and turned on the gas under the water heater and then returned to bed. All the windows of the house were closed. Vinto detective said, was probably aroused by the fall of Donato's body and was himself overcome when he went to his friend's assistance. Antonio Grassi and Mrs. Grassi were suffocated in their sleep. Hospital and gas company pulmotors were used without avail.

BRIDE HELD DEATH PISTOL.

But Says Husband Was Killed When He Hit Weapon.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Maud Huyel, a bride of three months, admitted tonight, the police said, that she held the pistol with which her husband, Anthony Huyel, a Camden policeman, was shot to death last night in their apartment. She declared, however, that the weapon had been discharged accidentally.

"Tony came home last night in an ugly mood," Mrs. Huyel said. "He threatened to 'get me' when I hinted that he was going out with other women. I will admit I was jealous of him. I got the gun to scare him. He jumped up to me and I pointed the gun at his head. As I did this he hit the gun and it went off."

Mrs. Huyel will be arraigned tomorrow on a charge of murder.

20 YEARS FOR BEHAN FOR ROBBING WOMAN

Prosecutor Reveals Gem Thief Was With Louise Lawson Just Before Her Murder.

CHOKED MRS. EDNA JOHNSON

Judge Collins, In Passing Sentence, Arraigns Prisoner for Preying on "Foolish Women."

A sentence of twenty years in Sing Sing as a second offender was imposed yesterday in General Sessions on Harry Behan for the robbery of Mrs. Edna Johnson last May in the Alamac Hotel.

Judge Cornelius F. Collins scathingly denounced him as a criminal who preyed on "foolish women" and John J. Garrison, Assistant District Attorney, announced that Behan was in the company of Miss Louise Lawson, a show girl, six hours before she was found murdered and robbed in her apartment in West Seventy-seventh Street last Winter.

Behan, who previously had served a term of from two to seven years in the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton, was convicted last week by a jury of the theft of $5,500 in gems from Mrs. Johnson, wife of a song writer, shortly before Mrs. Johnson was to entertain in the hotel. He and his wife, who was Miss Lillian Schultz of San Francisco when he married her in 1923, had been invited to attend the affair. The Behans had been introduced to Mrs. Johnson by Mrs. Sally Boykin of Bayside, L. I., whom Judge Collins said, Behan also had planned to rob.

Behan and his wife were arrested by Detective Sergeants Owens and Conklin within an hour of the robbery as they were about to board a train for Canada. Mrs. Behan is awaiting trial on a robbery indictment charging her with being an accomplice.

Victim Choked and Bound.

At the trial Mrs. Johnson, who lives at 102 Riverside Drive, testified that soon after the Behans called on her at the hotel, Mrs. Behan pretended to become jealous of her husband's attitude toward their hostess and departed in a huff. She said Behan then choked her and dragged her into another room, where he bound and gagged her and robbed her of the jewels she wore.

When the convicted man, who is 32 years old, gave his address as 615 West 164th Street, and was brought into court yesterday morning, Miss Mullen, the Assistant District Attorney who prosecuted him, moved that sentence be imposed immediately. Judge Collins evidently had been informed that Assistant District Attorney Garrison had questioned Behan about both the Lawson murder and the slaying of Miss Dot King, another show girl, who was chloroformed and robbed of $10,000 in jewelry in her apartment in West Fifty-seventh Street.

The Court referred to these murders and declared that to a considerable extent hold-ups of the kind were due to women of wealth recklessly seeking a good time and "trying to raise hell."

Ridicules Behan's Story.

Directing a steady gaze at Behan, Judge Collins continued:

"You told a cock and bull story at your trial. Nobody with his eye teeth cut could possibly believe it. The game you worked was like the old badger game turned inside out, with the woman as the victim. Your type feel that they can prey on foolish women because of their fear to make a complaint, which would let their husbands know of their foolishness and create scandal."

As Behan was being led handcuffed from the court to the Bridge of Sighs connecting the Criminal Court Building with the Tombs, he had pass Mrs. Johnson, who had been informed of the sentence by Detectives Owens and Conklin. He glared at Mrs. Johnson, whose face wore a broad smile, and cursed her. Mrs. Johnson replied:

"Well, you'll be kept off Broadway for a while, anyway."

Behan's wife began to sob when she received word of the sentence, and attempted to reach her husband as three Deputy Sheriffs were leading him to the elevator. She was kept away by other Deputies and detectives, but as the elevator started she threw a kiss to him, and shouted:

"It's a long time, sweetheart, but love is longer. Remember that no matter what happens I love you always, and will wait for you."

Then she hurried down to the White Street entrance and disappeared in a taxicab.

With Miss Lawson in "The Nest."

Mr. Garrison gave further details of Behan's meetin, with Miss Lawson on the night she was killed after the convicted man had been placed in a cell preparatory to his removal to prison. He said that it had been revealed that Behan and Miss Lawson were together in "The Nest," a cabaret, at Seventh Avenue and 133d Street, at 2 A. M. on Feb. 8, but six hours before it was discovered that she had been slain. The prosecutor revealed for the first time that Behan had been viewed by witnesses in the case, but the principal witness, an elevator operator in the West Seventy-seventh Street house, was unable to identify him. Witnesses in the murder of Miss King also were unable to recall ever having seen Behan before, he added, and no action could be taken against the prisoner in connection with these murders.

AUTO ACCIDENTS KILL TWO.

Boy Is Run Down and Detective Dies in Crash.

Frank Altmore, 9 years old, with a penny clutched in his hand with which to buy a lollypop, started to run across the street in front of his home at 184 Central Avenue, Brooklyn, last evening and was struck by an automobile and killed. The driver got out of the car and fled. It developed later that the car had been stolen.

Detective James F. Wilson, chauffeur for Captain Thomas W. Daly, head of the Newark Detective Division, was killed early yesterday, and two friends were seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the Telephone Exchange building at 83 Bloomfield Avenue, Newark, and all were thrown out. Benjamin Lidz of 94 Crawford Avenue, and Harry Berry of 61 Eleventh Avenue received internal injuries. Lidz was taken to the Beth Israel Hospital, and Berry to the Newark City Hospital.

WIDOW WINS $30,000.

Husband Was Killed at Spring by Runaway Motor.

A verdict for $30,000 for an unusual fatal accident was returned by a jury before Supreme Court Justice Hatting yesterday in favor of Mrs. Soirics A. Touris against Brewster & Co. for the death of her husband. Mrs. Touris, who sued for $50,000, alleged that on June 24, 1917, an employe of the automobile concern left a car at a point near the Harlem River Ship Canal at West 207th Street. She offered testimony that the car had been left unguarded, with the engine running and the brakes unset, at the top of a ravine which sloped 45 degrees into a gully.

The testimony showed that many persons were accustomed to use a spring at the bottom of the gully to obtain drinking water; that Touris was at the spring at the time; that the car started down the bank, and that he was fatally crushed by the machine before he could escape. The widow testified that her husband was the sole support of herself and a five-year-old child and that another child was born after his death.

Noted Russian Artist, Turned Counterfeiter, Fights Three-Year Sentence by Berlin Court

By T. R. YBARRA.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Ivan Miassoyedoff, called "the cleverest counterfeiter in the world," who was a famous artist in his own country before he got into the clutches of the law here, appeared again before a Berlin court today following an appeal against the sentence to three years' imprisonment recently imposed upon him.

Miassoyedoff, some of whose paintings hang in the Hermitage Gallery at Petrograd, having brought him membership in the Russian Art Academy, is accused of counterfeiting English pound notes and American dollar notes that have been circulated throughout the world. They have already been detected in Russia, Turkey, Switzerland and Italy, according to the prosecution.

The Bank of England has estimated that the Russian has counterfeited English notes to the value of £6,000. The work was such that it is declared that the counterfeits may be considered the most skillful ever known. During the proceedings, the court was transformed into an imitation of a counterfeiter's den, all sorts of paraphernalia used by them being lugged in to illustrate the prosecution's statements. The judge excluded the public from the courtroom during this part of the proceedings, thinking that some of those present might try to duplicate the Russian artist's skill in manufacturing bad money.

Miassoyedoff told how, as a youth, he had worked partly as a painter and partly as a professional wrestler, and how he had been sentenced to death by the Bolsheviki, but was reprieved at the last moment. The prosecuting attorney demanded that the Russian be sent to prison for six years instead of three, with the loss of his citizenship rights for ten years.

Ivan Miassoyedoff was arrested in Berlin March 18, 1923, on the charge of counterfeiting. His notes were so well made that even money changers and banks were deceived by them. At the moment of his arrest Miassoyedoff was engaged in making plates for an American $100 bill.

RAYNOR ATTEMPTS TO HIT SILKWORTH

Broker Was Angered by Cross-Questioning of Attorneys for Defense.

CLOSES HIS TESTIMONY

Has Been Witness for the Government in Trial of His Partners, Silkworth and Others.

The gruelling that DeWitt C. Raynor, head of the bankrupt concern of Raynor, Nicholas & Truesdell, has received at the hands of opposing counsel, during his trial on an indictment charging fraudulent use of the mails, now going on before Federal Judge A. N. Hand and a jury, worked him up yesterday to a violent pitch. During a short recess, while Raynor, William S. Silkworth, former President of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, and other defendants were in the corridor, Raynor lunged at Silkworth.

Raynor has pleaded guilty to the charge, and is helping the Government to obtain the conviction of his co-defendants. There are eight of these, and their attorneys have taken considerable pleasure in making Raynor describe how he lied while testifying before the referee in bankruptcy, and how he fled when it appeared that the firm would be prosecuted on a charge of bucketing, one of the phases in the charge of misuse of the mails.

Raynor is slight, weighing not much more than 100 pounds, while Silkworth is more than 6 feet tall and weighs nearly 200 pounds and is known as an athlete. Asked what he would have done if Raynor had struck him, Silkworth was reported as saying that he did not know, because he could not have struck back, and would have been forced to accept the blow as proof that Raynor was mentally unbalanced.

Broker Accuses Lawyer.

Later in the day Raynor's testimony came to an end. He had told many things about the methods of his firm and had stated that Silkworth, for the granting of assistance, had accepted from the firm gifts of $500 and $1,000. Raynor told yesterday of a letter he had written to Federal Judge Learned Hand complaining of the activities of a lawyer whom he accused of trying to petition the firm into bankruptcy. This occurred, he said, about two months before the firm became bankrupt on Feb. 28, 1922. The name of the lawyer was not disclosed.

This information came out during the cross-examination of Raynor by Philip C. Samuels, Silkworth's counsel. After a conference the letter was admitted as evidence. It was deemed of service to the cause of the defendants because it contained the statement that all of the creditors of the firm would be paid and that the firm was solvent. It was what Raynor sought to make it appear that the New York Stock Exchange was not friendly to the Consolidated. Raynor was asked:

"When you wrote that letter you knew it was a lie, didn't you?"

"It was not," replied the witness.

"Was it true that the firm had $4,000,000 in assets?"

Raynor said he could not answer the question without qualifications, and it went unanswered beyond the statement that at the date the letter was written all claims of customers could have been met. After Raynor had admitted that the statement before the referee that he had paid $2,000 to Dell L. Kane, his sister-in-law, was untrue, Mr. Samuels brought out the fact that the relative holdings of the three members of the Raynor concern in the capital account were: Raynor, $4,500; Blaine J. Nicholas, $10,535; Earl L. Truesdell, $4,500. Replying to other questions Raynor asserted that he had never drawn any money from the firm except his salary, which was at first $100 and later $200 a week, but he finally admitted that a check for $1,000 which was produced represented cash withdrawn by him.

The trial will be continued on Monday, when the defense is expected to begin.

6 WOMEN GO TO JAIL FOR THEFTS IN SHOPS

One Girl Was Being Taught to Steal by a Companion, Says Probation Officer.

Prison sentences running from one to fifteen days were imposed yesterday in Special Sessions on six women shoplifters. Five of them also had to pay fines. All six pleaded guilty.

The severest penalty was imposed on Mrs. Myrtle Lester, 21, of 313 West 135th Street, who was sent to the workhouse for fifteen days for the theft of a coat valued at $12.97 from the National Outlet Stores in West Twenty-fourth Street on Sept. 13. Miss May Mangan, a probation officer, said that another woman was teaching Mrs. Lester how to be a shoplifter when she was arrested. Mrs. Mary Dunlap, 45, of 2,917 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, blamed her "absentmindedness" for the theft of articles valued at $10 from Macy's when she was arrested by detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association on Oct. 2. She was sentenced to two days in the Tombs and fined $50. Mrs. Elizabeth Jacob, 23, of 139 West Forty-eighth Street, received a sentence of five days and a $50 fine and was fined $25. She was arrested in Gimbels on Oct. 31. Others sent to jail and fined were Mrs. Minnie Groger, 23, of 164 East Eighty-eighth Street, for theft from Bamuel Klein's store in Union Square, and Mrs. Giovanni Guerrert, 25, and Mrs. Rosina Benescas, 26, of 1,866 Third Avenue, widows and sisters-in-law, for theft from Rose Brothers' store in Sixth Avenue.

SAYS FLAGLER OWED A $4,272 WINE BILL

Agent Applies to Surrogate for Sum Disallowed by the Referee.

A WOMAN CLAIMS $25,000

Asserts That She Gave $16,000 to the Standard Oil Man Twenty Years Ago to Invest.

Allegations that the late John H. Flagler failed to pay $4,272 for rare wines and to return $16,000 given to him by a woman friend for investment between 1900 and 1906 were made before Surrogate O'Brien yesterday when he heard an application by Lorenz Reich and Mrs. Jeannette Chalifoux to refuse confirmation to the report of John W. Hogan, referee, who heard the claims against the Flagler estate and disallowed them. The Surrogate reserved decision.

Malcolm R. Lawrence, who appeared for Mrs. Chalifoux, asserted that six witnesses testified in support of her claim before the referee, including two women who had acted as secretary for Mr. Flagler, his former office boy and a daughter of the claimant. Mrs. Chalifoux testified that Mr. Flagler paid her between $20 and $25 a week on her money, and that the last payment was made two weeks before his death. She asks $25,000, which includes interest.

Attorney Lawrence stated that Mrs. Chalifoux's daughter always called Mr. Flagler "Uncle John," and that the daughter testified she was about 12 years of age when she saw her mother give Mr. Flagler the $16,000 for investment. She asserted that Mr. Flagler held the money toward her and said, "Just as you grow, this will grow." The attorney also told the Surrogate that a nephew of Pauline Hall, the actress, testified that he was present at a dinner party given by Mrs. Chalifoux, at which Mr. Flagler also was a guest. He heard the latter say, "This lady woman was a spendthrift; I have made her thrifty."

In behalf of Mr. Reich it was stated that Mr. Flagler was one of a number of persons to whom Reich sold rare wines, and that he never paid for twenty cases of vintages of 1868 and 1870 at $180 a case and eight cases for which $64 a case was charged. Reich asserted that before he came to this country in his youth he was connected with vineyards which sold their product to the Czar of Russia, and that he got the wines sold to Mr. Flagler in 1918 from his brothers in Hungary. One witness for Mr. Reich testified that he heard Mr. Flagler describe the wines as "old and rare, wonderfully palatable and with medicinal qualities."

The Flagler estate contends that sufficient proof was presented to warrant the payment of the claims.

PRISONER MURDERED AS A STOOL PIGEON

Drug Addict at Hart's Island, Whom Companions Suspected, Is Stabbed in the Back.

Frank Silser, 33 years old, a drug addict, was stabbed and instantly killed last evening in the mess hall of the branch workhouse on Hart's Island, three miles out in the Long Island Sound from the Bronx. Louis Chapman, 29 years old, of 60 Grafton Street, Brooklyn, another prisoner, later was arrested for the killing by order of District Attorney John E. McGeehan of the Bronx, who said that Chapman had admitted doing the stabbing, in an investigation which the prosecutor conducted last night in the office of Warden Michael Breen. Silser's quiet demeanor, it was learned, had raised the suspicion that he was a "stool-pigeon."

Keepers told the prosecutor that the several hundred inmates were on their way from the mess hall to the dormitories shortly after 6 P. M., when one of them struck Silser on the head with a tin cup. Silser whirled around in the line of prisoners, and, spotting one man ten feet behind, made for him with clenched fists. Immediately a dozen others in the line set on him, some of them punching him, others kicking him and still others hurling tin cups and heavy crockery gathered from near-by tables.

As Silser had fought his way almost through the crowd somebody plunged a knife into his back, penetrated his heart and Silser dropped dead.

The shouts of the keepers reached Warden Breen, and he hurried keepers from other sections to suppress the disorder. Meanwhile, Chapman, one of the inmates, most of them drug addicts, were corralled in a corner.

The knife with which the killing had been done was found under the body of the slain man. It was one of those used in the shoe shop of the institution. A guard was placed over the twenty until word was received from District Attorney McGeehan that he and several detectives and Dr. Karl S. Kennard, Deputy Medical Examiner, would start from City Island at once. Then they were locked in cells.

After the inquiry Mr. McGeehan ordered Chapman held in a cell at the institution pending arraignment on murder charges this morning in the West Farms Court.

Silzer, when committed to the institution, gave as his home the Standard Hotel in West Forty-second Street, near Ninth Avenue.

Reports $85,000 Diamond Theft.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Herman Hagnan, a jewelry salesman for Ike Hochenberger at 180 Broadway, New York City, reported to the police that his trunk at the Hotel Seneca was looted today and diamonds worth $85,000 stolen. Sherman's room was entered by his own key. He left the key on the counter in the lobby, he declared, while he went into the dining room, but failed to hand it over to the clerk. A kit of burglar's tools was found on the floor.

ACCUSES SLATTERY IN BANK HOLD-UP

Surprise Witness Says Defendant Drove Up to Institution Two Days Before Murder.

PRISONER DENIES STORY

Says He Was Never in Bellmore—His Wife a Witness—Trial Continues Monday.

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 21.—Gustav Bopp of Bellmore, a witness for the State, testified today against John J. Slattery, who is on trial on a murder charge in County Court. Slattery is alleged to have been implicated in preparations for the hold-up of the First National Bank of Bellmore, in which Ernest L. Whitman, a bond salesman, was killed.

Bopp declared that on April 2, two days before the robbery, Slattery got out of a Buick automobile, carrying five or six men, which stopped near the bank. Slattery, Bopp asserted, looked at the window of the bank and then got into the car, which moved away.

Bopp's entrance into the case was unexpected by both sides. He is an oil refiner. He came into the Court House, introduced himself to County Policeman Harry Vander and told his story. He repeated it to District Attorney Charles R. Weeks, who obtained permission to reopen the State's case to get the testimony in.

Prisoner's Wife Testifies.

Mrs. Mae Slattery was called by the defense, which opened this morning. She testified that Felix Di Martini, a private detective employed by District Attorney Weeks in the investigation of Whitman's death, told her that "the jail doors will be open to your husband if you persuade him to admit that he changed the hundred-dollar bill" with which, it has been testified, an automobile alleged to have been used by the hold-up men was purchased.

Joseph Hirsch, an automobile mechanic of Freeport, testified that he repaired a Hudson coach driven by Slattery, which Slattery left at the Newbridge Inn, North Bellmore, when it became disabled. He said rapid driving of the car would not necessarily have caused the accident to the pin in the distributer of the car.

The prosecution had sought to show Slattery had driven the car rapidly in aiding some of the hold-up man to escape.

Barney Weigand, proprietor of the Newbridge Inn, testified he had known Slattery fifteen years and that Slattery came to the inn at about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the hold-up, told him his car was disabled and asked to be driven to New York. Two men were with Slattery, Weigand said, and Slattery said they were strangers to him. Weigand took the three men in his car, dropping the two strangers at Flushing and taking Slattery home to Astoria.

Michael Reh, a waiter at the Newbridge Inn, testified that in a conversation with Benjamin Thairose, one of the principal State witnesses, Thairose said that Detective Di Martini had told him (Thairose) that "unless he said what they wanted him to say he'd be indicted for murder."

Slattery's Birthday Trip.

Slattery testified that April 4 was his birthday and he took his 1922 Hudson coach automobile and went out to visit Barney Weigand, proprietor of the Newbridge Inn, to discuss the sale to Weigand of a quantity of ale. He drove east in the Old Country Road, he said, and the car broke down. He got out and two men came along, one with a switch, and they helped him to fix his car. It went twenty feet and stopped again. Slattery said he thought the men were internal revenue agents. Slattery offered to take them back as far as Long Island City on their way to New York after the car was fixed. He said he went to Bergold's farm and telephoned to Weigand's place, asking that some one be sent to help fix the car and take it away.

Slattery denied that he was at Hicksville in his Hudson coach car on April 4 or at any other time. He declared that he was not at Bellmore on April 2 or any other time, adding that he did not even "even know where it is." He said he never bargained with Benjamin Thairose about the sale of a Ford car. He went to Weigand's place on April 7 on the request of Detective di Martini.

When he arrived, Slattery said, di Martini told him he never supposed for a moment that a man like Slattery would come out in regard to the matter he wanted to question him about. He became friendly with Slattery said, and had a "special layout" for dinner.

Slattery said he was arrested on May 3, and after his return to Mineola was questioned again by di Martini. The detective told him, Slattery said, there was a chance for him to go home if he "came clean" about Kiavana's buying a car in Slattery's place. Slattery told di Martini, he said, that he knew nothing whatever about such a sale.

"Don't try to kid me," he said di Martini replied. "I've arrested many a one and sent them to the chair."

"If that's the way you feel, there's only one, that's the man above," Slattery said he replied. "I'm standing here innocent."

Slattery insisted that his Hudson coach car was dead black and never had been brown, as witnesses for the State had testified.

Denies Connection with Hold-up.

Asked if he had anything to do with the bank robbery, Slattery replied:

"I never had anything to do with any robbery. I never stole an apple in my life."

Slattery admitted that he had been sent to the penitentiary for thirty days. "And it nearly broke my heart," he said, while his wife, sitting in the front row of spectators wept. "I was not guilty," he continued. He declared that he had never ridden in a Buick car in his life.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Weeks about the two strangers whom he met when his car broke down, and who helped him to fix it, Slattery evaded descriptions of them, although he said that one of the men talked with a brogue. When Mr. Weeks persisted in trying to get the witness to describe the two men, Slattery finally said:

"One of them looked like you."

Mr. Weeks asked:

"Didn't he have any more hair on his head than I? I wasn't the man was I?"

"No sir," replied Slattery.

"You don't mean to tell the Court and the jury that I was the man, do you?" the District Attorney reiterated.

"No, sir."

"You didn't mean to hint that even, did you?"

"No, sir," replied Slattery.

Asked by Mr. Weeks why he took the strangers to Weigand's place when he thought they were revenue agents, Slattery answered that he thought they had been good to him and had helped and he was anxious to help them all he could.

Asked specifically about the testimony of Gustav Bopp, who had told of seeing him two days before the crime, looking at the bank window at Bellmore, Slattery denied that he was at Bellmore on April 2 at all. He said he was home ill all that day. Mrs. Burns was in his house, he said, and he saw her. At this point counsel for Slattery asked Mrs. Burns to leave the courtroom while Slattery testified of her presence at his home.

The trial will be continued on Monday.

Leonard Reid Gets a Year For Killing Six With Auto

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 21.—Leonard Reid, son of Sir William Reid, who was the founder and onetime head of the Reid-Newfoundland Railroad, was found guilty by a jury in the Supreme Court here today of manslaughter. He was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment.

The charge of manslaughter was based on the death of six men, two of them veteran officers of the World War and two of them officers of H. M. S. Constance, in an accident last September, when the automobile which Reid was driving hit a group of veterans and then overturned into a ditch, killing four of the car's occupants.

COOLIDGE WOULD END TAX PUBLICITY

The President, It Is Announced, Favors Repeal in the Short Session of Congress.

MESSAGE MAY URGE ACTION

Many Democrats in House and Senate Are Expected to Change as Result of Public Protests.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Coolidge is hopeful that Congress will repeal the publicity features of the income tax law, a spokesman announced today. It was stated further that the President, who regards the publicity of income tax returns as violative of private rights and possibly unconstitutional, would be glad to see a repeal bill passed in the coming session.

Administration officials concerned with income tax questions are of the opinion that the President may discuss tax publicity in his message to Congress. They believe that if he makes a strong recommendation for repeal at this time Congress would follow his lead.

At least one Democratic leader, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who supported tax publicity, is now out for repeal, and it is understood that protests made by people all over the United States against publicity have had the effect of converting other members of the House and the Senate.

In a statement issued by President Coolidge when he signed the Revenue bill on June 2, the President sharply criticized the publicity provisions. He indicated then that they should be repealed at the earliest possible moment, and declared that the law as a whole had been dictated by political expediency. He expressed the hope that "a bill less political and truly more economic" might be passed at the next session.

The Administration spokesman who today discussed the President's attitude said that Mr. Coolidge would stand on the comment he made on the subject then. In discussing the publicity features of the new law then, the President said:

"Our institutions guarantee to our citizens sanctity in their private affairs, a right giving way only to the need of Government. Under the law as it now exists the Treasury has access to all information it needs in determining the liability of the taxpayer. For the needs of revenue publicity is unnecessary. While the bill purports not to give full publicity this is scarcely true, and it still sacrifices without reason the rights of the taxpayer.

"In each post office the amount which the citizen contributes to the Treasury must be exhibited to the curious and to the taxpayer's business rival. Committees of Congress have access to returns and other private papers without any restriction as to their publication in open committee or on the floor of Congress, the most certain means of publicity.

"If a taxpayer believes he is being before the Board of Tax Appeals he must oppose to the public the complete details of his income. To put this price upon the fair determination of tax liability in the regular administrative course is entirely unjustifiable. Yet, such is done in the publicity provisions of the Board of Tax Appeals.

"It is not alone in the unwarranted interference with the rights of the citizen to privacy that these provisions are hurtful. It is believed that far from increasing revenue the desire to avoid the gratification of the idle curiosity of others is responsible for many perfectly honest affairs to one's competitor will result in the concealment of millions of dollars of income which would otherwise be reported. This means a change in the fundamental policy of our laws inimical to private rights and harmful to Government revenues."

Members of Congress who are arriving here for the December session are almost unanimous in the belief that consideration will be given this Winter to bills dealing with tax publicity. They are hopeful that the subject will be discussed in the President's message. They report a somewhat hostility among the people to the provisions of the law, and the indications are that numerous repeal bills will be offered in both the House and the Senate.

GLEASONS' ASSAILANTS GET HEAVY SENTENCES

One Monk Goes to Prison for 7 Years, Three for 5—Fifth Suspect Is Acquitted.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

RANGOON, Nov. 21.—The case in which four Buddhist monks and one layman stood charged with causing serious injuries to Professor and Mrs. Gleason, by assaulting them without provocation, was concluded in High Court today. One of the accused was sentenced to seven years, three others to five years of rigorous imprisonment, and one was acquitted.

The Gleasons are Americans, and the case aroused considerable interest here, but responsible Burmese associations protest that the Burmese people have no grievance against Americans.

Presumably the assault was intended as a retaliation on the English in connection with a European police raid on an illegal meeting of Buddhist priests in Pyinbe Bazaar, after Ottoma's conviction for sedition.

FIRE IN UMBERTO GALLERIES

Famous Architectural Monument of Naples Is Saved By Firemen.

NAPLES, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—A fire this afternoon broke out in the famous Umberto Galleries in the centre of the city and threatened with destruction this monument of architecture, which was built in 1887-90 and was said to have cost 20,000,000 lire.

The blaze started from the explosion of some moving picture films and gained a disquieting headway before the firemen arrived. Scores of people in apartments over the arcades became hysterical and swung themselves to the ground by ropes and sheets which were tied together. One man was badly burned while trying to make his escape.

The fire was still raging early this morning, and was not yet under control.

CHURCH IS ENJOINED IN 'SPITE WALL' SUIT

Mrs. Stetson Again Wins Fight to Keep 96th Street Home From Being "Closed In."

PROPERTY LINE IS DEFINED

Permanent Injunction Now Granted Against Trustees of First Scientist Congregation.

No barrier to view, light or air may be erected between the First Church of Christ Scientist, Central Park West and Ninety-sixth Street, and the home of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, formerly first reader of the church. This decision was handed down yesterday by unanimous agreement of the Appellate Division.

The decision sustained and made permanent the injunction granted against the trustees of the church by Supreme Court Justice William P. Burr in August, 1923. The injunction read as follows:

"The double open space now existing between the residence of the plaintiff and the church edifice of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, New York City, partly upon the land of the plaintiff and partly upon the land of the defendant, shall remain as it now is, and the plaintiff has the right to light, air, view and access over and through the said double open space."

The Stetson home, a $75,000 building, is just west of the church property and has been Mrs. Stetson's home for the last sixteen years. Several years ago the trustees of the church, by a majority vote, expressed themselves as desiring a change in the church. Mrs. Stetson's supporters who were members of the board resigned. Mrs. Stetson herself resigned as a trustee and as a member. She had been associated with First Church since 1894, when she first began holding services in a room over a drug store. In 1911 the church undertook to extend a garage in the rear of the church. Mrs. Stetson sued to prevent this and sought an injunction.

In the argument before the Appellate Division Mrs. Stetson was represented by Walter Fairchild of 15 Park Row, while Galen M. Harris and other trustees were represented by Frank E. Holmes. Mrs. Stetson did not care to comment yesterday, but her attorney issued this statement:

"The decision sustains Mrs. Stetson's right to prevent the church authorities of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, from erecting a seventeen-foot brick wall on the property line between the church edifice and her home at 7 West Ninety-sixth Street. The church edifice of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was completed in 1903 and dedicated in 1904, at a cost of $1,250,000, all paid for and subscribed by Mrs. Stetson and her students. Mrs. Stetson's residence was built in 1905 on a fifty-foot plot purchased by her from the church for that purpose, upon an agreement that Mrs. Stetson would build her house according to plans which were at that time approved and consented to by the trustees of the church. The residence was built exactly according to the approved plans.

"In 1921 the church authorities, who had become adverse to Mrs. Stetson, threatened to build an extension of the garage which was in the rear of the church premises, extending the same to the building line on Ninety-sixth Street. A preliminary injunction preventing the erection of this wall, which in the litigation was characterized as a 'spite wall,' was granted by Supreme Court Justice Hotchkiss in October, 1921. A permanent injunction was granted after a trial of the issues."

BLIND IN "LITTLE WOMEN."

Lighthouse Players to Give a Four-Act Drama This Afternoon.

The Lighthouse Players of the New York Association of the Blind have chosen "Little Women," a four-act play, as their offering of the season at the Lighthouse Little Theatre, 111 East Fifty-ninth Street. This production is an ambitious departure from the one-act plays presented in the past by the totally blind cast, which acts in a miraculous way.

The players are offering only three opportunities for the public to see their work and at the same time aid the institution devoted to the education and needs of the sightless. A matinee performance will be given this afternoon, and on the evenings of Jan. 24 and March 29 the players may again be seen.

In "Little Women" the blind students show that they have a very clear insight into the movements and manners of their more fortunate friends. They know what kind of facial expression one adopts when he is placed in different situations. Their judgment of distance is surprising. They know to a nicety where a hat hangs on the rack, where to place a finger on a bell, and where the door knob is when they make graceful exits.

Much of their skill is the reflected polish of Miss Rosalie Mathieu, who directs the plays. In watching their work it is interesting to realise that the youthful students get their only knowledge of the doings of the seeing world through dramatics. In their class room they read plays and the teachers ask them to dramatize the various emotions which accompany the lines. It is in this way that the blind acquire a keen sense of mimicry and they show by "Little Women," the ability to act with the utmost freedom of motion.

TWO PIANISTS HEARD.

Antonio Lora and Julia Glass Appear in Aeolian Hall.

Antonio Lora, a competent American pianist whose Italian birthright of music appears in his own sort of playing, made a first appearance at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon. He has the disciplined strength for wide range of dynamics, even to utmost delicacy. Besides Brahms and Beethoven—the Opus 101 sonata—he presented his Schubert and Chopin with an E-flat ronda of John Field, Chopin's Irish-Russian preceptor. For the rest a rollicking dance group included vigorous arrangements by Jaena Granados, Godowsky, Rachmaninoff, Dohnanyi, and two dances more or less all.

Julia Glass, who gave a recital in Aeolian Hall last evening, introduced Godowsky's piano transcription of a violin sonata of Bach, of interest to musicians. Miss Glass confirmed on her own account the favorable impression of her youthful debut a few seasons since. Her further program included MacDowell's "Tragica," two Liszt song transcriptions and works of Scarlatti, Tausig, Rosenthal, Ravel and Scriabin.

"Tales of Hoffmann" Sung Again.

Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann," the second of this season's special opera revivals, was repeated at the Metropolitan last evening to a crowded house. Mme. Bori, Morgana and Howard, Meyer, Picco and De Luca sang, and Mr. Hasselmans conducted.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

David Warfield is returning to New York on the Leviathan, due late next week.

Schnitzler's "Anatol" will be staged in German at the East Fourth Theatre for two performances a week from tomorrow. Fritzi Scheff, Ulrich Haupt, Elisabeth Schirmer and others will take part.

Beginning next week the Cherry Lane Playhouse will offer Saturday matinees of "The Way of the World," in addition to the regular nightly performances.

For the twenty-seventh consecutive year the Keith circuit will send a vaudeville program to Welfare Island on Thanksgiving Day.

AURORA BOREALIS IN PRINCETON'S PLAY

A Scenic Feature of Triangle Club's 'The Scarlet Coat' at the Metropolitan on Dec. 23.

An aurora borealis as "Hallie" that the electrical device for projecting it will be patented is to be one of the scenic features of "The Scarlet Coat," which the Triangle Club of Princeton University will produce at the Metropolitan Opera House on Dec. 23. The entire production, on both the dramatic and the tuneless sides, will be the work of undergraduates, the only professional touch being given by Ned Wayburn in his coaching of the dancers.

Refusing to do anything so simple as a revue, the Princeton men have again achieved an original dramatic production with a real plot, real singers and dancers, real specialties and everything. The action this time is the woods of the Northwest, and the theme is the struggle of an independent fur trader against the dire machinations of the Hudson's Bay Company. Julian Street Jr. is responsible for the dialogue and, the piece being the product of young idealists, the hero naturally triumphs and marries the heroine.

Particular stress is to be laid on choral work this year and to that end there has been special training of an adequate number of voices. The specialty jazz orchestra which made a triumphant tour of Europe last Summer will contribute to the entertainment and phonograph records of its numbers will be on sale at the opera house.

The proceeds of the holiday tour of fifteen cities, which reached $40,000 last year, will go toward completing the $400,000 fund for a Triangle Theatre, soon to be built on the Princeton campus. D. K. Este Fisher Jr. of Baltimore has been chosen as the architect in a competition among former Triangle Club members. The plans are almost completed for a Gothic structure harmonizing with the neighboring dormitories. There will be seats for 750, a picturesque foyer, a smoking room for club members, offices, dressing rooms, storage space and a projection room. The theatre will be available for occasional first nights of metropolitan productions, for musical entertainments and for dramatic courses in the university.

"UP THE LINE" IS PRIZE PLAY

H. F. Carlton Wins Belmont Theatre Award of $500 at Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21.—Henry F. Carlton of Madison, N. H., who received his Master of Arts degree at Harvard in 1921, has this year been awarded the Belmont Theatre prize of $500 in New York for his play "Up The Line," it was announced today.

Mr. Carlton graduated from Cornell College, Iowa, in 1918, and from 1919 to 1922 was a graduate student at Harvard, studying dramatic technique under Professor George P. Baker.

The Belmont Theatre prize is awarded annually for a prose dramatic composition of at least three acts, submitted in competition and judged by a committee to be best suited for professional production.

The competition is open only to past or present members of Professor Baker's courses in play-writing at Harvard and Radcliffe and the winning play is produced in New York within six months by R. G. Herndon, New York producer and donor of the prize.

BAN ON "LE BETHLEHEM."

Lord Chamberlain Prohibits Chauve-Souris's Production of Play.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—"Le Bethlehem," which was to have been presented by the Chauve-Souris Company among a number of more frivolous items during the season which will begin here Monday, has been banned by the Lord Chamberlain.

The Chauve-Souris Company who are appearing in London under the management of Morris Gest, presented "Le Bethlehem" with great success in Paris. The Lord Chamberlain holds, however, that the introduction of so solemn a subject into an otherwise frivolous program would not be in good taste.

Mme. Elvira de Hidago Arrives.

Mme. Elvira de Hidago, the Spanish coloratura soprano, arrived yesterday from Paris on the President Harding of the United States Lines and will make her début at the Metropolitan Opera House next Thursday night in "The Barber of Seville" with the Russian basso Chaliapin.

Later Mme. de Hidago will sing with the Chicago Civic Opera Company and make a concert tour under the management of S. Hurok.

"Close Harmony" at Gaiety Dec. 1.

A change in booking plans will bring Arthur Hopkins's production of "Close Harmony" to the Gaiety Theatre on Monday night, Dec. 1, instead of "The Manor Lender," as first planned. "Close Harmony" is a comedy by Dorothy Parker and Elmer Rice, and will have a cast headed by James Spottswood, Robert Hudson, Frederick Burton, Wanda Lyon and Georgie Drew Mendum.

MUSIC NOTES.

Benjamino Gigli, May Korb and Magdeleine Brard appeared yesterday at the second of the Biltmore morning musicales.

Elisabeth Rethberg sings "Madame Butterfly," at the opera tonight in a native costume arranged by Mme. Chikusa of Tokio.

"Faust," with Jeritza, Fiesta and Scotti will be sung at the Metropolitan on Dec. 12 for the Florence Crittenton League.

The Catholic Writers' Guild has a musicale at the Hotel Plaza tomorrow night, assisted by concert and opera stars.

May Bardull, Mischa Mischakoff and Harry Kaufman give a benefit for the Palestine Conservatory tonight at Stuyvesant High School.

SALVATION ARMY HOLDS BIG CONGRESS

President Coolidge Sends Warm Greeting to 3,000 Delegates From Eastern States.

GREAT GAINS IN FOUR YEARS

Property Held Is Valued at $16,460,867—Army's Activities Increase 66 Per Cent.

Commissioner Thomas Estill, territorial commander, submitted last evening to the Salvation Army Congress in Manhattan Opera House a report of the progress made by the Army in the last four years. It showed that property held in the Eastern territory had increased from $11,099,419.25 to $16,460,867 in value and that Army activities had increased 66 per cent.

The congress was hailed as the largest Salvationists gathering of its kind ever seen in this country. More than 3,000 officers and other members had assembled from all States east of the Mississippi. National Commander Evangeline Booth presided and delivered an address.

This letter from President Coolidge was read:

The White House, Washington, Nov. 20, 1924.

My dear Commander: I am very glad to take this opportunity of extending my greetings to the officers of the Salvation Army, gathered in convention. The record of the Salvation Army is one of self-sacrificing service, and it has become, through the loyal devotion of its members, one of the great agencies for good in this country. I trust that the meeting may prove an inspiration to continued and increasing effort.

Yours very truly,
CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Commander Evangeline Booth,
The Salvation Army.

A feature of the congress was a pageant in which all divisional headquarters were represented. New York City presented historical figures, such as Stuyvesant, Hudson and Robert Treat, and groups showing various nationalities. Baltimore was represented by a group in pre-Revolutionary costumes. Priscilla and John Alden were the cast here for the New England group and Quakers and miners marched in the Pennsylvania division.

Some of the comparative figures given by Commissioner Estill were: Number of corps or religious centres now 436 in 1920, now 508; converts, 23,401, now 26,914; soldiers, 15,796, now 22,489; bandsmen, 1,314, now 1,939; open-air meetings, 97,685, this year, 94,250; social service institutions for men, 87, now 102; men admitted to institutions, 3,012, this year, 7,726; officers doing social work, 134, now 147; girls admitted to homes and hospitals, 1,535, this year, 1,485.

The Commissioner reported an increase of 71 per cent. in the amount of money contributed by officers, soldiers and friends to the foreign missionary work of the Army. The Self-Denial Fund, as it is called, was $70,482.07 four years ago. In 1924 it was $121,074.24.

The Rivoli Concert Orchestra.

An error in making up advertisements in yesterday's TIMES made it appear that the Rivoli Concert Orchestra would play at another theatre. This orchestra, which is under the direction of Irvin Talbot and Emanuel Baer, has no connection with any other theatre orchestra and plays only in the theatres under the management of Hugo Riesenfeld.

3 in 1 WEEK

Tomorrow will be one of the most unusual days, from a motion picture point of view, New York has ever known.

Three splendid pictures will be shown at three of the finest Broadway houses. Three pictures we feel confident are worthy of our guaranteeing as rare productions, excellent entertainments, splendidly acted.

POLA NEGRI moves from the Rivoli to the Rialto in continuation of the engagement begun last Sunday at the Rivoli, in the Ernst Lubitsch picture, "Forbidden Paradise."

GLORIA SWANSON in "Wages of Virtue," which in our opinion far surpasses even "Manhandled" as an attraction and vehicle of opportunities, will begin an engagement at the Rivoli. Both these pictures will be given the usual environment of melody by Hugo Riesenfeld.

RUDOLPH VALENTINO in his latest production, "A Sainted Devil," will have its world premier at the Mark Strand Theatre under the direction of Joseph Plunkett, and to those who witnessed Mr. Valentine in "Monsieur Beaucaire" please know that "A Sainted Devil" exceeds in intensity, plot, action and poignancy even the former.

Set aside three afternoons or evenings next week. You will not regret it.

Cordially,
Adolph Zukor
Jesse L. Lasky
Famous Players-Lasky

NEW YORK DEFENDS ITS KOSHER LAWS

Counsel Declares Statutes Are Within the Police Power of the State.

CITES OLD PRECEDENTS

S. H. Hofstadter, as Deputy for Attorney General, Recalls City Enactments of Century Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Arguments were concluded today before the Supreme Court in a group of cases involving the validity of the New York statutes prohibiting the sale as "kosher" of meat or meat products that are not "kosher," as that term is understood, according to Jewish rituals.

Five dealers in New York City challenged the constitutionality of the laws on the ground that what was kosher was of so speculative a character that it was impossible of practical application; that kosher had developed a secondary meaning of cleanliness which reflected unduly on meats labeled non-kosher in accordance with the statute, that the regulation was not within the police power of the State, and that the legislation amounted to illegal interference with interstate commerce.

The cases came to the Supreme Court for a review on a writ of error. The appellants, the Hygrade Provision Company, Inc., E. Greenbaum Company, Inc., Guckenheimer & Heas, Inc., Lewis & Fox Company, and Harry Statz, sued Carl Sherman as Attorney General of New York and Joab H. Banton as District Attorney of the County of New York.

Samuel H. Hofstadter, acting as Special Deputy Attorney General of the State, appeared today to defend the validity of the kosher law. In his argument Mr. Hofstadter declared the legislation was in the public interest. He said that it affected a large body of citizens of New York who, following the religious convictions of their ancestors, regarded the observance of the Jewish ritual requirements with respect to meat and meat products as a matter of conscience.

"Whatever violates these conscientious convictions, either by force or fraud, is a matter of public interest and affects the well-being and good order of the State," Mr. Hofstadter said. "It is within the police power of the State to protect those who would be most cruelly deceived into the commission of what they believe to be sin."

Mr. Hofstadter discussed the contention of the complainants that they had built up a large business in the sale of kosher meat and that the State laws interfered with their liberty of action.

Declares "Kosher" Has a Meaning.

"They claim a constitutional right to the undisturbed continuance of that business," said Mr. Hofstadter. "The very cornerstone of that business is the belief on the part of the hundreds of thousands of people who patronize it that the word 'kosher' has a meaning and that meat products which are kosher are more desirable than those which are not kosher. Yet in the very same breath these complainants ask this Court to hold the statutes unconstitutional on the ground that the word 'kosher' is so indefinite as to be unintelligible, and deny the constitutional competency of the Legislature to hold them to the exercise of good faith in making the representation, which they themselves voluntarily make in the furtherance of their own business, that the products sold by them are kosher."

Mr. Hofstadter stated that in 1796, and again in 1805, the Common Council of the City of New York revoked the licenses of two butchers, Nicholas Smart and Caleb Vandenburg, for affixing a kosher seal to meat that was not in fact kosher, and that in 1813 there was, for a short time in force in New York City an ordinance prohibiting the sale of meat as kosher unless it was killed under license from a Jewish congregation.

PLAN CHERBOURG PIER FOR AMERICAN SHIPS

Work Is Begun to Abolish Trip by Tender for Passengers of United States Lines.

CHERBOURG, France, Nov. 21 (Associated Press).—Passengers embarking and landing at Cherbourg from the United States Lines' ships Leviathan, George Washington and America six months from today will do so direct from pier to ship, and vice versa, over a gangplank, and will be spared the inconveniences and discomforts of trips on tenders up and down the Cherbourg Roads.

The United States Lines has already begun work to make Cherbourg a deep-water port. A party composed of J. R. Sheedy, Vice President of the United States Shipping Board; E. E. MacNary, passenger traffic manager of the United States Lines; Captain Thomas Brau of the United States Lines, Superintendent of the Port of Bremen, and M. T. Lawrence, acting in a similar capacity at Cherbourg, accompanied by members of the Cherbourg Chamber of Commerce and several of its engineers, began the inspection today of the inner breakwater on the southern side of the port with the view of having the necessary dredging work done so that larger ships may reach the docksides.

Dredging of shed buildings on the breakwater, now used for the storage of coal, about two miles down Cherbourg Roads on the left or southern bank from the maritime station, is expected to take six months and will provide docking accommodations until the permanent docks, now planned to be built inside the inner breakwater half a mile to the right of the station, are completed. The permanent work probably will require two and a half to three years.

It is planned that trains will run right to the dock on the breakwater for first and second class passengers, the traffic in third-class passengers and heavy baggage being handled by tenders as heretofore.

The dredging work necessary for the George Washington and the America to reach the inner breakwater is quite easy, but many millions of cubic feet will have to be removed before the depth of 40 feet at low tide, which is indispensable for the Leviathan, may be achieved.

The new arrangements exclusively favor the United States Lines. No other companies with ships calling at Cherbourg will be permitted to use the accommodation. The Cherbourg Chamber of Commerce and the United States Lines are jointly sharing the expenses of temporary installation, which will be recovered by the assessment of a dockage fee.

PINCUS DIVORCE STANDS.

Justice O'Malley Refuses to Set Aside Verdict in Favor of Wife.

Supreme Court Justice O'Malley denied a motion yesterday by Edmund L. Mooney, counsel for Alexander H. Pincus, real estate operator, who asked that the verdict of a jury granting a divorce to Mrs. May Graf Pincus be set aside.

Mr. Mooney contended that the verdict was contrary to the weight of evidence and was influenced by the "inflammatory nature of the summing up" by Max D. Steuer, attorney for Mrs. Pincus. In his summary of the case for the jury Mr. Steuer declared that Mr. Mooney had staged the court appearance of Miss Audrey Maple, corespondent in the case, who denied the charge of misconduct in her testimony.

COURT UPHOLDS McCARL.

Rules He Has No Power Over Claims Against the Shipping Board.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The District of Columbia Supreme Court today, in a case brought by the Skinner & Eddy Corporation of Seattle, held that Controller General McCarl had no jurisdiction in claims against the Government arising out of contracts made by the Fleet Corporation.

The corporation petitioned the Court to compel McCarl by mandamus to pass upon a claim for $32,000,000. McCarl contended that such claims were under the jurisdiction of the Shipping Board. The Court sustained McCarl's contention and overruled the Skinner & Eddy Corporation's demurrer to his answer.

The corporation, whose suit grew out of wartime shipbuilding operations of the Government, contended that McCarl was illegally withholding action on its claim to await the determination of court proceedings in the State of Washington.

In his answer McCarl declared that it is the custom of his office to withhold action on claims during the pendency of suits, but that in the class of cases covering claims against the Shipping Board Congress had, by the act of June 5, 1920, conferred jurisdiction on the board to adjust, settle and liquidate.

DIPPEL GETS DIVORCE.

Opera Conductor Proves That Countess Quit Him for Vienna.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Andreas Dippel was granted a divorce today from the Countess Anita Ludwig Dippel of Vienna. He formerly was director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company and is now director of the American Opera Company.

The whole proceeding was conducted in Mr. Dippel's absence. His testimony was embodied in a deposition in which he alleged desertion. His statement was corroborated by testimony of R. A. Pick, a former business associate.

A letter said to have been written by the Countess from Europe to her husband, refusing to return to America, was introduced.

Dippel deposed that he was married on April 23, 1899, at Nordeney, Germany, living with his wife in America until April, 1913. Then, he said, the Countess went to Europe, promising to return, but did so only for a brief visit in 1922, to have her passports corrected. She established a residence in Vienna, he said.

GIRL SCOUTS TO BE NURSES.

Will Show Ability in Caring for Babies to Aid Budget Drive.

Girl Scouts are to take over the day nurseries in New York today to demonstrate their ability to look after babies. This training is one feature of the courses offered to Girl Scouts and has proved to be one of the most popular. The plan to take over the nurseries is part of the drive for the National Budget and Building Fund.

That Girl Scouts are experienced in the care of babies became known when it was announced that last year 1,335 Scouts received merit badges for child nursing.

The final luncheon of the week of the teams working in the campaign was held yesterday. The next will be on Tuesday at the Hotel Roosevelt, when the drive ends. Contributions yesterday brought the total to $215,113.50. The teams collected $4,650. Miss Cornelia Livingston brought in the largest individual collection of $2,000, and it was announced that when approached by a member of the organization Miss Ethel Barrymore emptied her purse, containing $25.12.

WAR CEMETERIES CHAPELS.

One for Each of Eight Burial Places in France.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A chapel, or memorial hall, of a "religious but non-sectarian" character will be erected at each of the eight American military cemeteries in France under a decision reached by the American Battle Monuments Commission at its meeting today at the War Department.

In these chapels will be placed inscriptions describing in general terms the nature of the services rendered by the American troops buried in each cemetery. These chapels will be of uniform type, varying in size in proportion to the size of the respective cemeteries and varying in architecture as may be necessary to harmonize with the architecture of the neighboring buildings. It was also decided at today's meeting that the design of these chapels should include some type of memorial in memory of those missing in action.

SHOWS DESERT CITY RUINS.

Pictures of Leptis Magna Exhibited by Professor Bruno Roselli.

Some of the architectural beauties of Leptis Magna, the Roman city which has been sleeping beneath the sands of the Libyan Desert in Northern Africa for centuries, were revealed last night in an illustrated lecture given at the Town Hall by Professor Bruno Roselli, Professor of Italian at Vassar College, who returned recently from Tripoli, with the first news and photographs of the discoveries of the buried city. The audience applauded pictures of palaces, baths and statuary, rising from the drifts of sand.

The speaker paid a tribute to Professor Renato Bartoccini of the Italian Department of Fine Arts, under whose direction the excavations are being made, and said that the work, which was being done by 200 Arab prisoners of war, would be completed in two years.

SCRUB BRUSH AS REDUCER.

New Fad to Take Off Weight Arrives in Vienna.

VIENNA, Nov. 21.—The scrub brush has been introduced in Vienna in a new rôle—that of flesh reducer. The idea was brought here by a South American doctor and has made a considerable rub in overweight circles.

The scrubbing treatment, with a dry brush a trifle softer than the kitchen variety, must be taken four or five times a day, the more the better. Every part of the body must be massaged and as much pressure as possible applied to make the work of the brushes effective.

After the rubbing a cold or tepid shower or plunge should be taken. If these directions are carried out, the enthusiasts say, a pound or so of "excess" disappears like magic every week.

GERRY SUED FOR DIVORCE.

Wife of Rhode Island Senator Begins Proceedings in Paris.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Mathilde Townsend Gerry, at present said to be living at the Hotel Plaza, New York City, began proceedings today for divorce against Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island, whose address is given as 256 Broadway, New York City.

The Gerrys were married in Washington in 1910. Mrs. Gerry was Miss Mathilde Townsend of Washington and Philadelphia. She has been for some time among the leaders of society in Washington, New York and Newport. Senator Gerry, who was elected to the Senate in 1916, is well known as a society man, polo player, lawyer, scientist and philanthropist.

More Gifts to Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Two contributions of $100,000 each brought the fund for a greater University of Rochester to $5,488,565 today. Ten million dollars is the goal. The gifts today were from Hiram Sibley and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Watson. Jules E. Brenlatour, husband of Hope Hampton, screen actress, gave $10,000 to the fund.

FIND $500,000 HIDDEN IN YOUNGSTOWN PARK

Three Men Return Securities Stolen From Bank—One Used $1,000 Bonds as Apron.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 21.—Bonds and stocks valued at about $500,000, said to have been stolen from Bentley's Bank at Springboro, Pa., were found in a city park here and have been recovered by postal authorities, it was announced here today by Postmaster Edward Westwood and Postal Inspector Harry Tavinor.

That the men who found the money, all foreigners, were not fully aware of the value of their find was indicated when the foreman of one man who works in a steel mill, said that last night he found the man wearing two $1,000 Liberty bonds for an apron.

Postal authorities gave the names of the three men as John Miller, Don Wolf and Mike Bogno of East Youngstown. They found the securities, they said, hidden in bushes in a park Sunday. They were released when questioning convinced the authorities that their story was genuine.

B. J. Bentley of the Springboro Bank said over the telephone today that the securities found here accounted for everything stolen from a small safe which was blown open at the bank two weeks ago. He confirmed the postal officials' estimate that the securities were worth approximately $500,000.

ROOSEVELT SPENT $975.

Union League Club Lists Its Campaign Outlay as $33,976.

ALBANY, Nov. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt spent $975 in his unsuccessful campaign for Governor of New York State, according to his schedule filed today with the Secretary of State.

Dwight B. La Du listed expenditures of $749 in his unsuccessful campaign for re-election as State Engineer.

The Union League Club Republican Committee reported receipts of $34,450 and disbursements of $33,976 during the campaign.

The Famous Type T in a Cabinet Model

—You Will Want It for the Family Christmas

The well-loved songs of Christmas, the best in vocal and instrumental music throughout the year, lectures, news, entertainment—the Ware brings them all to your fireside. The Ware is a gift that will bring pleasure to every member of the family every day in the year—and best of all a pleasure which they will share together.

It's easy to get enthusiastic about the Ware, but mere words can't pass on our enthusiasm to you. You must see and hear the receiver itself. And that's exactly what we want you to do. Any dealer will be glad to let you hear the Ware Neutrodyne Type TU—the famous Ware Type T circuit in a beautiful upright cabinet with built-in loud speaker. The tone of the Ware will enthrall you. It is so clear and of such singular beauty. Only by hearing the Ware can you appreciate what Ware TONE QUALITY really is, and why it lies at the very foundation of Ware success.

And the upright cabinet? It's a beauty—your choice of brown mahogany or walnut. When you see this Ware receiver you'll say: "Here's just the thing for the folks." And when they see it Christmas morning, they'll agree.

Type TU is a three-tube Neutrodyne giving extraordinary range—the first Neutrodyne to be operated on dry-cell tubes. One of the tubes is reflexed on a new principle developed and used only by Ware, and the equivalent of a four-tube circuit is thus secured.

Upright cabinet of artistic design in brown mahogany or walnut, with A and B dry-cell batteries concealed in the cabinet. Dimensions: 34½ inches high, 18¼ inches wide, 18¼ inches deep. Operates three UV-199 or C-299 vacuum tubes. Outdoor antenna. Indoor antenna may be used for local stations.

Make It a Ware This Christmas!

WARNS AGAINST CUT IN RAILROAD FARES

Binkerd Says Pending Proposals Would Send Freight Rates Up and Hurt Industry.

LOSS $100,000,000 A YEAR

No Profit on Passengers Under Mileage-Rate Plan and Abolition of Pullman Surcharges.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 21.—An interchangeable mileage book at 20 per cent. under the standard fare and abolition of Pullman surcharges would wipe out any profit from passenger service on the railroads and seriously injure American industry by causing an increase in freight rates to make up the deficit.

This was declared here today by Robert S. Binkerd of New York City, Vice Chairman of the Committee on Public Relations of the Eastern railroads, in an address before the sixteenth annual convention of the American Specialty Manufacturers Association in the Hotel Traymore.

Mr. Binkerd said the present return to the railroads from mileage books is $60,000,000 a year, and from Pullman surcharges $40,000,000, so that if the proposed reductions were made the total loss to the railroads would be about $100,000,000 a year.

"The loss," he asserted, "would be equivalent to 5 per cent. interest on $2,000,000,000, or one-half of the new capital invested in railroad facilities in this country during the last five years.

"If one concedes the necessity to the carriers of adequate revenue, then one must also concede the necessity of making up this loss by increased freight rates. Otherwise it would be like serving notice upon those who save money in this country that it is useless to invest their savings in railroad facilities.

"All proposals which look toward improving the position of business generally, or of any particular line of business, by taking away from the railroad industry the revenue which it needs for healthy functioning must defeat themselves. Business cannot advance its own industry at the expense of a starvation diet to the capital invested in railroad facilities."

Mr. Binkerd said that, although the expenses of transportation since 1920 have been reduced more than a billion dollars a year, the costs of operation are still 100 per cent. higher than in 1914, and railroad taxes are 170 per cent. higher, amounting to a million dollars a day.

Frank D. Bristley of New York City who was elected president of the association, predicted that eventually the chain stores would be forced to give credit and also delivery service. Charles P. Whiteman, President of the National Brokers' Association, declared food manufacturers should advertise in rural papers, making an effort to reach the farms.

The convention unanimously urged such amendment of the Federal Trade Commission Act as will make it "an instrument of greater and more constructive service to American business." The convention opposed the creation of State trade commissions.

It also opposed the publication of income tax returns, condemned the offering of substitutes to retailer or consumer and approved standardized packing, handling and storage.

Besides Mr. Bristley, the officers chosen were R. R. Clark of St. Joseph, Mo., First Vice President; F. E. Barbour of Canajoharie, N. Y., Second Vice President; Dr. J. S. Goldbaum of Philadelphia, Third Vice President, and D. O. Everhard of New York City, Treasurer.

BAN ON CHILD LABOR OPPOSED BY GRANGE

Convention Also Goes on Record Against National Department of Education.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 21.—"Any program for tax reduction which Congress may undertake should be approached with the full knowledge that agriculture is bearing more than its just share of taxation and should, therefore, receive its full measure of any contemplated relief."

This was declared here today by the National Grange, said to represent nearly 1,000,000 farmers. At the closing session of its fifty-eighth annual meeting the statement was contained in a resolution relative to taxation, unanimously adopted.

"We approve," the grange says, "such tax program as will insure taxation upon the wealth of the country in such a manner that the support of the Government will be derived from income taxes rather than from a system of taxation which requires confiscation of capital."

The committee on taxation endorsed a resolution opposing publication of income tax returns, but the convention, after lively discussion, adopted a substitute resolution placing the Grange on record as favoring "full publicity for income tax returns."

With the exception of representatives from three States, the Grange voted unanimously in opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting child labor. The three States favoring such an amendment were Washington, Oregon and Missouri.

The prohibition of child labor, the Grange states in a resolution, would be dangerous to the best interests of the communities of the nation and to the welfare of the children themselves. The proposed amendment, the Grange also states, would "tend toward centralized, costly, bureaucratic control."

That there should be a referendum by the people before war can be declared by the United States, except when invasion threatens, was advocated in another resolution. The Committee on Resolutions reported adversely on the resolution, but the convention reversed this action.

The Grange, in another resolution, opposed the establishment of a national department of education with a representative in the Cabinet. Other resolutions urged better-trained teachers for rural schools, ample playgrounds, vocational training and health inspection.

The Department of Agriculture was asked to take vigorous steps toward effecting cooperative marketing and to balance production with consumption. That the public receive larger representation on the Railroad Labor Board was also urged.

The Grange voted to ask the Tariff Commission to make cost production surveys, the information to be made available for farmers.

Other resolutions adopted by the Grange favored a non-partisan ballot for use in municipal elections, opposed lowering of tariff rates on agricultural products, endorsed the Federal farm loan system, advocated strict economy in Government expenditures, opposed the transfer of any bureaus from the United States Department of Agriculture to the Department of Commerce.

Youngstown Mills Increase Output.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 21.—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company announced today that a blast furnace here, idle since Spring, will go into blast about Dec. 1, while all independent steel executives reported increased inquiries and better orders, with prospects that after Jan. 1 the mills will be working to capacity. Coal mines owned by independent companies here are operating near capacity.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Decline After Early Advances—Sterling Up, Gold Sent to Europe.

There were several interesting incidents in yesterday's financial news, quite aside from the partial reaction in Stock Exchange prices, on the ninth 2,000,000-share day. Renewed advance in sterling, to the highest rate touched this year excepting the Friday of last week, was one of them. The engagement of $2,000,000 gold for shipment to Europe was another, the first extensive consignment to that destination since the shipments to Spain in 1919. A cotton crop estimate practically covering 13,000,000 bales was a third, and perhaps the first signs of easier money should be added. The last of these movements may defectively have to do with the fact that "interior demands" commonly reach and pass the year's high point in the middle of November.

Prices on the Stock Exchange resumed their rise at the market's opening, and some considerable advances were made in the turbulent early trading. This movement continued until early afternoon, when greatly increased pressure of realising sales first halted the advance, then turned the market generally downward. The day's net changes were not as a rule important, despite the rather wide forward and backward swing, but declines predominated at the close. As a whole, the stock market's action neither reflected nor indicated any new development. It merely showed that the tendency to take profits was growing more widespread as prices went higher. That is a perfectly familiar incident of this stage in a Stock Exchange "bull market."

The ultimate destination of the $2,000,000 gold to be sent out by way of London was not indicated. It was not believed to be made for London's own account, but in all probability for Germany. The Reichsbank's purchases of $60,000,000 gold since April, mostly at New York, are known to every one. They were made wholly irrespective of exchange rates, but Berlin has already intimated that it might bring some of the new reserve money home to Germany.

The Government's fortnightly cotton crop estimate of yesterday may be said to have been awaited by the trade with academic interest—chiefly to see if it would "top" the round figure of 13,000,000 bales. To all intents the department's forecast did so; it estimated 12,992,000 bales. Some surprise has been expressed that, whereas last year's November estimate was lower by 1,167,000 bales than that of August, and whereas the final estimates of 1923 and 1921 similarly reduced the forecast 1,688,000 and 480,000 respectively from the midsummer indication, yesterday's official estimate should be 1,058,000 bales above that of July 16. But the three last-mentioned years were the heyday of the devastating weevil, whose activities are always greatest after the midsummer growth of the cotton plant. Presumably, even this year's periodical estimates between August and November made allowance for the arrival of the insect pest; but he did not come to time, in an almost perfect harvest season.

That was what happened in 1920, when the Government's estimate was raised from 11,450,000 bales in July to 12,987,000 in December. Nor did the marking-up process stop with that. In the following March, the final ginning estimate accounted for 13,197,775, which subsequent belated returns made 13,270,920. Whether a similar showing does or does not appear next March, the essential fact is that the supply which the cotton trade fixed last June as sufficient for a prosperous textile trade, but did not dare to hope for, is assured. The price of cotton did not change appreciably on yesterday's estimate; it is still $10 a bale above the season's lowest. That is recognition of the cotton export movement, which in October reached the largest monthly total since the war. But even so, the continuous resumption of work at the New England textile mills defines the situation.

Not much enlightenment is obtainable from the week-end mercantile trade reviews. Most of them talk of "optimistic forecasts" and of encouraging inferences from the rise in stocks. One mentions "decided revival" in the dry goods trade, but the other finds expansion to be "more marked in production lines than in distribution." This is not an unfamiliar state of things in the early stages of a Stock Exchange "bull movement"; otherwise such movements in the past would not have been prophetic.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, NOV. 21, 1924.

Money on call on the Stock Exchange continued at 2½ per cent. all day. There was but a slight demand for accommodation, however, with the result that some of the funds found their way outside for the first time this week, where a rate of 2¾ per cent. prevailed. Time money was only moderately active, the bid and asked quotations showing no variation from previous figures. Acceptances and commercial paper likewise ruled steady and unchanged in discount.

Money in London, 1 lower at 2¾ per cent.; short bills unchanged at 2 5/16@2⅜ per cent.; three months' bills unchanged at 2⅝ per cent.

Gold bullion 1d lower at 89s 7d per fine ounce. Taking the British Mint standard price of 4l. per fine ounce as par, the market quotation of gold would represent a London price of 3os. 8¼d. Highest for the year to date, 115 1-8, on Jan. 21; lowest, 105¾, on Nov. 14. The highest price since open trading in gold was resumed at London in September, 1919, was 140¾, on Feb. 9, 1920; the lowest, 107¼, on Feb. 21, 1923.

Clearing House Exchanges.

Exchanges of checks at the New York Clearing House, $904,000,000; balances, $118,000,000; Federal Reserve credit balances, $90,000,000; exchanges the day a year ago, $720,000,000.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Market Rallies on French Loan Announcement—Sterling, Guilders Strong—Far Easterns Weak.

Official announcement that the French Government had accepted the terms of a $100,000,000 loan proffered by J. P. Morgan & Co. had a freshening effect upon all European exchanges yesterday. Under this the market showed a decided improvement over recent sessions, good-size gains, some large enough to put several bills at par, interspersing the list.

Holland guilders were once again in demand, moving up 5 points to 40.25½ cents for cables, unequaled since mid-May's 1919. Dealers remarked that an interesting incident of the rise has been the buying by bankers who had seldom before been prominent in the guilder market, and that the business had all the earmarks of being prompted by foreign interests. There has also developed a wide spread between sight and cable rates, this sometimes running to as much as 8 and 10 points.

Sterling and Continentals were also bought in good volume, but it was a market that was steady and not exciting. London checks finished about ¼ cent up at $4.83 7-16, with the French franc at 3.30 cents for the first time in a week, closing for a gain of 2¼ points at 3.28¾ cents. Swiss francs at one period touched par, though they dropped a fraction at the close. Gains elsewhere ran from 1-to 4 points in the Europeans. Far Easterns were irregular, the Chinese currencies sagging from an ⅛ to ¼ cent on heavy supplies of the metal in London, Shanghai and Bombay, but the Indian rupee went to a new high at 35 cents on bull speculative resulting from heavy export surplus in her favor.

ADDITIONS TO LIST OF EXTRA DIVIDENDS

Bucyrus Company Pays 6% Overdue and 1¾% Regular in Preferred Shares.

CEMENT PAYS 10% IN STOCK

Standard Bank Declares an Extra and Puts Capital Stock on 8% Annual Basis.

More domestic corporations declared extra dividends yesterday, adding to the long list of disbursements since election day. The directors of the Bucyrus Company declared an extra dividend of 6 per cent. on the preferred stock, thus clearing up all back dividends on this issue. In addition, the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. was also declared on the preferred, both dividends being payable Jan. 2, 1925, to stockholders of record Dec. 26, 1924.

The International Cement Company declared a 10 per cent. stock dividend on the common stock, payable in common stock Dec. 31 to stockholders of record Dec. 15. In addition, the usual quarterly dividend of $1 a share was also declared on the common stock, also the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock. The cash dividends on the common and preferred issues are also payable Dec. 31 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

An extra dividend of 1¼ per cent. was declared on the capital stock of the Standard Bank, payable Jan. 2, 1925, to stockholders of record Dec. 24. In addition, the directors placed the capital stock on an 8 per cent. annual basis by declaring a quarterly divivend of 2 per cent., payable on the same date as the extra dividend. Heretofore the company paid quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent., or 6 per cent. annually.

The Standard National Corporation directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred stock and one-half of 1 per cent. on the common stock, both dividends being payable Jan. 2 to stockholders of record Dec. 24.

Directors of the Radio Corporation of America declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred stock for the current quarter, payable Jan. 1, 1925, to stockholders of record Dec. 1. No dividend action was taken on the common stock. The rapid advance in the common stock on the New York Stock Exchange earlier in the week was accompanied by rumors that a dividend might be declared on the common shares.

The directors of Armour & Co. declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of Armour & Co. of Illinois, Armour & Co. of Delaware and the North American Provision Company, the dividend being payable Jan. 1, 1925, to holders of record Dec. 15. F. Edson White, President of the company, said: "Business thus far this year has been on a very satisfactory basis. The year's fixed requirements for dividends, interest and depreciation are already provided for, and with business showing almost daily improvement there is reason to expect that the current year, which closes Dec. 27, will be even better than the very satisfactory preceding year, 1923."

Shell Transport and Trading Company directors declared an interim dividend of 2 shillings on the company's ordinary shares, payable Jan. 5, 1925, free from British income tax. A year ago a similar interim dividend was paid.

The directors of the United States Stores Corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the first preferred stock, payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 26.

Directors of the Gamewell Company declared a quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock, payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 21. The directors also declared a dividend of $1.25 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 5.

DISPUTES IRONED OUT, VAN SWERINGENS SAY

More Than Enough Shares Pledged to Insure Success of Merger, They Assert.

O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen of Cleveland, in an interview given out yesterday, reiterated the statement made several weeks ago that the proposed Nickel Plate merger would be accomplished.

"We have enough and more shares pledged to the undertaking to insure its success," they said.

The differences that had arisen between their counsel and the lawyers for the various other interested roads, they said, were never serious, but even these have been ironed out. They added again that they never had any intention of squeezing out the minority stockholders who might not want to exchange their stock for securities of the new company and that they desired to be fair to all parties.

The merger, as originally planned by the Van Sweringen brothers, contemplates the unification of the Nickel Plate, the Erie, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Hocking Valley and the Pere Marquette into a single system with total assets in excess of $1,500,000,000. The official plan was announced on Sept. 3 of this year. Since that time counsel for the various railroads have been working on the unification plans, especially the leases, which the heads of the Pere Marquette declined to accept as originally drafted.

"We are regretful of the newspaper comment that there is a hitch in our negotiations, because, very frankly, this is not the situation," O. P. Van Sweringen said.

"Counsel for the different roads involved in the unification are, jointly and separately, tentatively blocking out the instruments involved in the consummation of the plan.

"It must be realized that the task is tremendous and that there are many and varied points for consideration and discussion. As yet, these drafts of leases are not in sufficiently final form for the action of the boards of the participating railroads, but we have every confidence that they will be ready and in ship-shape in the near future.

"The leases must be fair to all stockholders, not only to those that exchange into the stock of the new company, but to those who may dissent from the plan."

Corporation Offers New Stock.

Stockholders of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation will receive the privilege to subscribe to 27,372 shares of additional capital stock which is being offered by the company. The stockholders will have the right to subscribe for one share of new stock for each fifteen shares now held, on the basis of $38 a share. For the six months ended June 30, 1924, this company reported net profits of $516,378, after all expenses and reserves for taxes and depreciation. This compares with $265,925 net profits reported in the same period last year.

SEES STABLE BUSINESS IN IRON AND STEEL

H. S. Wilkinson, Chairman of Crucible, Comments on His Company's Prospects.

The iron and steel industry of the country is looking forward to the most stable business experienced since 1920, according to the opinion expressed yesterday by H. S. Wilkinson, Chairman of the Board of the Crucible Steel Company of America, at the annual meeting of the company's stockholders. Commenting on the company's business, Mr. Wilkinson said that Crucible's orders in October were 22 per cent. larger than in September and that November's new business was showing a corresponding gain compared with October.

The aggregate volume of new business is constantly expanding, according to Mr. Wilkinson, and he stated that officers of the company are of the opinion that it will continue to do so until we have normal business. Stocks are very low in the hands of consumers, perhaps the lowest they have been in ten years. The policy of buying from day to day is still continued by a majority of customers, but for the first time some of our large customers are seeking contracts for their requirements three to six months ahead.

"There is a much better feeling throughout the country where we do business, and steel users, as well as manufacturers, are very optimistic at this time, and we are entering into a period of increasing business and prosperous times in our industry. The South, on account of the large crops and good progress, is in more prosperous condition than in a good many years. The West and Central West now are showing profits in the agricultural districts for the first time since the slump in wheat at the close of the war; large inquiries are coming in from these districts, where heretofore there has been practically no attempt to consider new projects. The railroads are buying largely, and normal conditions will require increased facilities in these lines."

RAILROADS PREPARE TO COMBAT THE BUS

New York Central Lines Order Gasoline Motor Cars for Short-Haul Traffic.

An effort on the part of the railroads to get back some of the short haul passenger traffic which has been captured by motor bus lines is indicated in the orders for new equipment placed by the roads during the week. They include twelve gasoline rail motor cars, eight of which were purchased by the New York Central and its subsidiary, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis.

Other new equipment ordered, according to the compilation of The Railway Age, included 10 locomotives, 212 freight cars, 215 passenger cars, 675 steel underframes for freight cars and 152,000 tons of steel rails.

Ten eight-wheel switching engines were ordered by the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis from the Lima Locomotive Works. The New Jersey, Indiana & Illinois ordered 220 automobile cars from the American Car and Foundry Company. The McKinney Steel Company ordered ten flat cars from the Pressed Steel Car Company and the Graver Corporation two flat cars from the Illinois Car and Manufacturing Company.

One of the largest passenger car orders of the year was that of the Illinois Central for 130 suburban motor coaches from the Pullman Car and Manufacturing Company and 85 trailers from the Standard Steel Car Company. The electric control equipment for these cars was ordered from the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. The value of the cars is estimated at $8,500,000.

Three of the motor cars ordered by the New York Central were from the J. G. Brill Company of Philadelphia. The Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis ordered five motor cars and four trailers from the Sykes Company of St. Louis.

The 152,000 tons of rail were placed as follows: St. Louis-San Francisco, 15,000 tons; Chesapeake & Ohio, 6,000 tons; Baltimore & Ohio, 24,000 tons; Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, 85,000 tons, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, 20,000 tons.

WEEK'S NEW BONDS TOTAL $51,468,000

Public Utility Group Leads With $17,750,000—Industrials Aggregate $15,750,000.

ISSUE FOR UNION STATION

Chicago Deal Closed and Bankers Market $7,000,000 Securities at Price to Yield 5.13%.

New bond offerings this week totaled $51,468,000, comparing with $43,062,000 the week before, and was the largest total for the last three weeks. Public utility and industrial financing led the list in point of size. By groups the offerings of this and last week were as follows:

	This Wk.	Last Wk.
Public Utility	$17,750,000	$2,000,000
Industrial	15,850,000	17,550,000

Total	$51,468,000	$43,062,000

Three railroad issues have been purchased by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and associates. One of these, consisting of $7,000,000 Chicago Union Station Company 5 per cent. guaranteed gold bonds due Dec. 1, 1944, is offered for public subscription today at 98½, to yield 5.13 per cent., by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Lee Higginson & Co., the National City Company, the First National Bank of New York and the Illinois Merchants Trust Company of Chicago.

The Chicago Union Station Company deal was closed late yesterday afternoon and proceeds from the offering of bonds will be used to finance the construction of terminal properties on an enlarged plan. As the work of building this station progressed, it became necessary to add to the original plans, among the additions being a large building for handling United States mail, which is leased to the Government for twenty years, and an office building over the station head-house. Both buildings will cost upward of $5,000,000.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. also announced the purchase and quick sale of $12,945,000 Illinois Central Railroad Company 4½ per cent. equipment trust certificates, Series K., maturing in equal annual installments from Aug. 1, 1925, to Aug. 1, 1939. The certificates will be secured by equipment costing $17,265,000. The issue was sold to yield about 4.68 per cent.

With the First National Bank, the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. also purchased $4,600,000 of Delaware & Hudson Co. first and refunding mortgage 4 per cent. gold bonds due on May 1, 1945, which were placed privately at 90 to yield 4.82 per cent. The issue is callable at 107½.

The Commonwealth Bond Corporation is offering $800,000 serial gold bonds, secured by a first closed first mortgage on the land and new apartment house at 65 East Ninety-sixth Street. The bonds bear 6½ per cent. coupons and mature in two to twelve years.

LARGE BONUSES EXPECTED.

Brokerage Firms' Employes Hope to Share in Profits Christmas.

Clerks and runners in the numerous brokerage firms in the financial district are looking forward to the allotment of special bonuses this year as a result of the recent series of two-million share days on the Stock Exchange which have been profitable to many brokerage firms, especially the large wire houses which handle accounts for all sections of the country. The increased business, coming soon after the recent increase in commission rates, has resulted in the accumulation of huge profits by these firms. The business has been of such proportions that clerks and runners have worked in many instances into the small hours of the morning. Compensation for this extra work is expected to be realized in extra large Christmas bonuses.

In addition, some brokerage firms are expected to grant their employes special Thanksgiving bonuses. Thus far only the firm of Hornblower & Weeks has announced the distribution of a special Thanksgiving bonus, but other firms are expected to fall in line early next week.

Argentine to Ship Gold Here.

The Argentine Government within the next three months will ship a further $1,330,000 from its gold reserve to New York in payment of interest on its foreign debt.

GINNINGS OF COTTON LARGEST IN 10 YEARS

11,147,000 Bales Ginned Out This Year to Date Exceeds All Records Since 1914.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Census Bureau reported yesterday that of the present cotton crop 11,147,824 running bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned prior to Nov. 14, compared with 8,369,408 for 1923 and 8,869,978 for 1922, to the same date.

Round bales included numbered 265,654 compared with 213,604 for 1923 and American Egyptian bales included numbered 2,493, compared with 13,986 for 1923.

The revised total of cotton ginned this season to Nov. 1 was announced as 9,719,583 bales.

The Census Bureau's report of the amount of cotton ginned to Nov. 14, 1924, counting round bales as half bales, and including linters, is as follows, compared with preceding dates (000 omitted):

RAIL CHIEFS CONFER ON EASTERN MERGER

Heads of Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate Systems Discuss "Big Four" Consolidation.

FIRST OF SEVERAL SESSIONS

Van Sweringens in Interview Say Success of Plan is Assured—No Hitch, They Assert.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Nickel Plate System conferred in New York yesterday concerning the "Big Four" consolidation plan, which will eventually be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission. This was the first of several conferences in which the heads of the New York Central, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Van Sweringen system hope to appease the Pennsylvania, and bring about an agreement for the consolidation of the railroads in the Eastern part of the country into four large systems.

This meeting made it apparent that the policy of the railroads in trying to settle the consolidation matter would be for meetings between two rather than four of the railroads at a time. In this way, it is believed, the differences between these roads can be ironed out and everything prepared for a final conference between the "Big Four" railroads.

Several important questions have arisen between the Pennsylvania and the Nickel Plate as the result of the original proposal. Chief among them is the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western. The Pennsylvania has expressed itself as desiring either this line or the Lehigh Valley into Buffalo. Then there is the question of the Virginian Railroad with extensive terminals at Newport News. The Nickel Plate, on one hand, wants this road as an addition to the Chesapeake & Ohio, and the Pennsylvania is just as desirous that the Virginian shall be made an addition to the Norfolk & Western.

The meeting yesterday was attended by Samuel Rea, president, and W. A. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania, and by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen of Cleveland, representing the Nickel Plate. Following the meeting it was said there was nothing for publication.

The meeting, however, made it clear that Mr. Atterbury, who is being groomed to succeed Mr. Rea as president of the Pennsylvania, would carry forward the fight already started by Mr. Rea to obtain what they considered a more just division of the railroads in the East.

Chase & Barstow to Dissolve.

The brokerage firm of Chase & Barstow, members of the New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, will dissolve on Dec. 1. The partners of the firm are Frederic C. Haskins and Joseph H. Hall. Mr. Haskins will become associated with Jackson & Curtis.

OPTIMISM IN TRADE CONTINUES TO GROW

Weekly Review's Report Increased Confidence Manifested in Various Ways.

MORE ORDERS ARE PLACED

Preparations for an Extension of Business Revived—Big Christmas Trade Begins.

The optimism which has spread over the country since election day became more strongly marked in business and general trade circles during the past week, according to the reviews on business conditions compiled by the leading mercantile agencies.

"The increased confidence which now prevails has been manifested in various ways," says Dun's Review, "as in the placing of orders that had been held up by political uncertainty, in the greater willingness to anticipate future needs, and in the preparations that are being made for an extension of business revival.

"The current week's news from different quarters has been encouraging," says the Review, "and optimistic forecasts have been the rule. Expansion in the major industries has gained momentum, and from some of them have come reports of additions to working forces as production recovers, which obviously augments the public purchasing power. Operations in iron and steel, copper, lumber, textiles and hides and leather, among other lines, have risen further, and prices are turning in sellers' favor, with fully twice as many advances as declines in Dun's list of wholesale quotations. The latter movement is in sharp contrast to that of a year ago, when reductions largely predominated. A significant phase of the present situation in the retail field is the expectation of a big Christmas trade, the holiday buying having already begun, and distribution of heavyweight goods was stimulated early this week by cold weather over a wide area."

Bradstreet's says in part:

"Colder weather, an important stimulant hitherto lacking, has given a fillip to retail distribution in the northern half of the country and fortified the feeling of optimism recently noted. Holiday trade buying is mentioned as larger also. Southern trade has not gained in proportion, this being variously attributed to lower than expected prices for cotton, holding of the crop for better prices, and dry, warm weather in Central Gulf and Southwestern areas. Reports from jobbers and wholesalers are rather more cheerful, especially so in the Northwest and in the northern tier of States."

FISHER BODY'S INCOME.

$5.02 Per Share in Third Quarter, Compared With $2.55 in Second.

NNet earnings of $3,876,881 were reported by the Fisher Body Corporation for the third quarter, after expenses and reserves for depreciation, against $6,376,406 last year. After fixed charges and reserves for Federal taxes, there was reported net income of $3,178,199. After preferred dividends on Fisher Body Ohio Company stock there was a balance equal to $5.02 a share earned on the 600,000 shares of no par value stock of the Fisher Body Corporation. This compares with $2.55 a share earned in the second quarter and $8.45 a year ago.

For the six months ended Oct. 31 the company reports net earnings of $6,096,824, after depreciation reserves, against $12,082,516 last year. Net income of $4,874,369 was equal to $7.55 a share earned, against net income of $10,015,294, equal to $16.14 a share, in the same six months last year.

Chicago & Alton Income.

Net operating income of the Chicago & Alton for October was $485,405, the largest for any corresponding month since October, 1921, despite the fact that the gross income of the road was but $2,949,660, compared with $3,113,516 in the same month last year. For the first ten months of this year the net operating income of the company was $2,842,825, compared with $4,300,000; while the gross revenue was $25,769,212, compared with $28,245,005.

SILVER PURCHASES CAUSE OVERSUPPLY

Heavy Buying Recently, Particularly in Far East, Affects the Exchange.

Purchases of silver bullion in the last five months, principally for the account of the Far Eastern nations, have been so heavy as to create what one prominent silver dealer terms a flooded condition.

"The world has been buying silver until for the time being it is oversupplied," he said yesterday.

The local quotation for bar silver stood yesterday 63¾ cents, and although this price was not regarded as an extreme reflection of the reported oversupply, it compares with the peak price of 73¾ cents reached last Oct. 9, and the peak of 3s 1-16d at London.

In these currency declined as eighth to half a cent yesterday, showing further ease as the result of this country's extensive buying of silver in recent weeks. The revolution in China had accelerated the demand. An opposite movement in the Far Eastern exchange markets was the rise of the Indian rupee to 35 cents, a new high for the year, which was said to have been induced by India's continued heavy export trade balance and considerable speculation in silver.

Coincident with the reported oversupply of silver, the October production in North America as well as the output of silver refineries in the United States show a reduction as compared with September, according to figures issued yesterday by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. In October there was produced in North America 14,438,734 fine ounces, compared with 14,544,500 ounces in September and an average output for the first ten months of the year of 14,168,296 ounces. The average monthly output in the United States thus far this year is 5,291,321 ounces against 5,513,611 ounces in 1923. Both 1924 and 1923 show a substantial increase over 1922 when the monthly average output was 4,632,400. It was in 1922, too, that the price of bar silver exceeded the present year's prices.

The output of silver refineries in the United States in October, including mint purchases of crude silver, came to 11,124,158 ounces, compared with 11,290,850 ounces in September. The total for the ten months to November was 110,902,845 ounces. Of this output 5,619,645 ounces in October were from domestic and 5,504,513 ounces from foreign ores, against 5,532,960 from domestic and 5,756,841 from foreign ores in September. Stocks of refined silver held by refiners in the United States Nov. 1, were 572,318 ounces, compared with 664,281 on Oct. 1 and 945,982 Jan. 1.

AGREE ON RATE DIVISION.

Boston & Maine Will Gain $500,000 a Year Income.

The New York Central Railroad and the Boston & Maine have reached an agreement in the division of rates, as the result of which the Boston and Maine will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to withdraw, so far as it relates to the New York Central, from the complaint now being heard by the commission regarding the division between the New England roads and the trunk lines. The agreement does not apply to anthracite.

While no figures were given out it is understood that this agreement will add approximately $500,000 to the annual income of the Boston & Maine. Recent negotiations with the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific are understood to have added $2,000,000 a year to the income of the Boston & Maine.

$2,000,000 Mortgage Recorded.

A two-million-dollar mortgage given by the Mountain Ice Company, with seventeen plants in Pennsylvania and New Jersey to the Lackawanna Trust Company of Scranton, Pa., was recorded in the office of the Hudson County Register at Jersey City yesterday. The mortgage is to secure an issue of bonds payable November, 1944, with interest payable at 6 per cent. semi-annually.

Loans and Discounts Up $107,000,000 Here In Member Banks' Weekly Report of Nov. 12

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Increases of $105,000,000 in loans and discounts, of $248,000,000 in net demand deposits and of $47,000,000 in reserve balances are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly consolidated statement of condition, on Nov. 12, of 743 member banks in leading cities.

Loans secured by corporate securities went up $47,000,000 and "all other"—largely commercial, loans and discounts—$58,000,000. Total investments declined $15,000,000, decreases of $21,000,000 in United States certificates of indebtedness and of $10,000,000 in United States Treasury notes being partly offset by an increase of $4,000,000 in United States bonds and of $12,000,000 in corporate stocks and bonds.

Total loans and discounts of the New York City banks were $107,000,000 larger than the preceding weekly statement date. Loans on corporate securities were up $46,000,000 and "all other" loans and discounts $44,000,000, while loans on United States Government securities declined $1,000,000. Their holdings of United States securities went down $29,000,000, while their holdings of corporate securities increased about $2,000,000.

Of the total increase of $248,000,000 in net demand deposits, $191,000,000 was reported for the New York district, $16,000,000 for the Atlanta district and $15,000,000 each for the St. Louis and San Francisco districts. Banks in the Boston district reported a reduction of $14,000,000.

Time deposits increased about $16,000,000 while Government deposits declined by $42,000,000. The New York City banks showed an increase of $8,000,000 in time deposits and a decline of $5,000,000 in Government deposits.

Reserve balances were increased by $47,000,000, of which $40,000,000 was reported by the New York City banks. Cash in vault went up $3,000,000, the New York City members reporting a decline of $2,000,000 under this head.

Borrowings of all reporting institutions from the Federal Reserve banks declined from $77,000,000 to $72,000,000. Like borrowings of the New York City banks declined from $27,000,000 to $7,000,000.

COTTON ESTIMATE CLOSE TO 13,000,000

Agricultural Department Raises Forecast to 12,992,000 Bales, Against 12,816,000 Nov. 1.

WAS 11,934,000 IN JULY

Indicated Yield of Texas Raised 200,000 Bales—Georgia Reduced 40,000, Arkansas 25,000, Tennessee 15,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The cotton crop was estimated today at 12,992,000 equivalent 500-pound bales by the Department of Agriculture. A crop of 12,816,000 bales was forecast a fortnight ago. Last year's crop was 10,139,671 bales.

The estimate of the crop was made on the basis of facts available to the Crop Reporting Board as of the date of Nov. 14, covering the condition, probable yield, per cent. of acreage abandoned, per cent. of the crop picked and ginned, and upon the actual ginnings to Nov. 14.

The preliminary estimate of production by the principal producing States, compared with the November estimates and the final estimated yield in the past season, as computed from the census ginning figures, is as follows:

State.	Nov. 14, 1924.	Nov. 1, 1924.	Final, 1923.
Alabama	980,000	980,000	885,512
Arkansas	1,125,000	1,150,000	635,000
Georgia	900,000	1,030,000	867,928
Louisiana	460,000	460,000	359,000
Mississippi	1,110,000	1,120,000	902,806
Missouri	150,000	160,000	126,449
North Carolina	790,000	770,000	1,019,325
Oklahoma	1,200,000	1,200,000	650,000
South Carolina	720,000	715,000	730,416
Tennessee	350,000	365,000	226,022
Texas	4,656,000	4,456,000	4,339,940

All other States this year 16,000. About 40,000 bales additional to California are being grown in Lower California, Old Mexico.

Following is the forecast or yield as given out by the Agricultural Department in each of its reports this year, compared with the corresponding reports of preceding years and with the final reports of 1923, 1922 and 1921; figures are in thousands of bales:

	1924.	1923.	1922.	1921.
July 1	12,144	11,412	11,065	8,482
July 15	11,934
Aug. 1	12,351	11,516	11,449	8,203
Aug. 16	12,956
Sept. 1	12,796	10,782	10,576	7,981
Sept. 15	12,596
Oct. 1	12,499	11,015	10,135	8,557
Oct. 15	12,675
Nov. 1	12,816	10,348
Nov. 14	12,992
Final		10,139	9,761	7,953

In 1920 the estimates were 11,450,000 in July, 12,519,000 in August, 12,783,000 for September, 12,123,000 in October and 11,987,000 in December.

MAXWELL TO RETIRE BONDS.

Motor Corporation Will Pay Off $4,750,000 Debentures Before Maturity.

The Maxwell Motors Corporation has made arrangements to retire, prior to maturity, the $4,750,000 7 per cent. debenture bonds due in 1934. The bonds will be redeemed at 105 and accrued interest on Nov. 1, 1925. The retirement of these debentures, according to representatives of the company, reflects the strong financial position of the Maxwell organization, and according to one opinion places the company's Class A stock in line for dividends as a result of the elimination of the fixed charge on the debentures.

According to the provisions of the terms of the debentures, the latter are convertible into the company's Class A stock at $75 a share, up to thirty days before the redemption date. The Class A stock closed on the Stock Exchange at 78 7-8 bid, and representatives of the company expect that many of the notes will be converted into stock prior to the redemption date.

Active trading developed in the debenture bonds on the Stock Exchange yesterday after the announcement that the issue would be retired next March. The debentures opened at 107 and sold up to 107¼. Later they sold down to 105¾ and closed at 106¾, down ¼ point net for the day.

WATER WORKS STOCK.

Plan Approved to Change Par of Common From $100 to $20.

Stockholders of the American Water Works & Electric Company have approved the plan to change the par value of the common stock from $100 to $20, the issuance of five new shares for one old and the increase in the authorized common stock from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The new par value shares were recommended by the directors several weeks ago, since which time they have been traded in on the Curb at a premium of $2 to $3 a share on "when issued" basis.

It is not contemplated at present to put out more than $10,000,000 of the authorized $50,000,000.

According to advices yesterday from Lansing, Mich., the Consumers' Power Company, a Maine incorporation, has filed notice of an increase in the capitalization, raising the authorized preferred stock from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000, and changing the 300,000 shares of common, $100 par, to 1,400,000 no par shares with 600,000 shares added.

STANDARD GAS DIRECTORS.

Board Is Increased From 17 to 23 Members.

The Standard Gas and Electric Company announced yesterday the addition of six operating executives to the Board of Directors. Their election is the first step in the company's policy of broadening the executive responsibilities in the operation of subsidiary companies. The board was increased from seventeen to twenty-three members.

The new directors are T. Jackson, President of the Pacific Electric Company; W. P. Kabel, Vice President and General Manager of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company; R. F. Pack, Vice President and General Manager, and H. H. Jones, Vice President in charge of operation of the Northern States Company; J. F. Owens, Vice President and General Manager of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company, and Samuel Kahn, Vice President and General Manager of the Western States Gas and Electric Company.

Expect Heavier Auto Sales.

Indications of a better feeling through the automobile industry as a result of the election are becoming more apparent, although no immediate effect of note on the sale of cars and trucks can be expected, according to the weekly review of The Automobile Industries. Reports from the trade point out a strong resumption of buying next year, based on the more optimistic outlook of prospective buyers and by the more stable conditions in business generally.

Wabash to Link With Ford Road.

The Wabash Railway has asked the Michigan State Public Utilities Commission for permission to build a connecting link between that railroad and Henry Ford's Detroit, Ironton & Toledo, just outside of Detroit. This connection would give the Detroit, Ironton & Toledo an entrance into downtown Detroit, as well as improved facilities for connection with other of the railroads entering Detroit.

NO EARLY RISE IN SULPHUR.

W. H. Aldridge Expects No Great Change in Present Prices.

Walter H. Aldridge, President and Director of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company, said yesterday that contrary to reports which have been spread in Wall Street, he did not look for any early rise in the price of sulphur. The three big sulphur producing companies of the United States are drawing up contracts on present price basis of $18 a ton.

"Export business this year is about the same as last year," Mr. Aldridge said, "and domestic business is somewhat less. The outlook for 1925, both export and domestic, is favorable. While it is true that the present price of sulphur is several dollars less than the pre-war prices, the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company is not contemplating any immediate increase in the price of sulphur. Preliminary estimates of sulphur sales and sulphur production in the United States seem to indicate that more sulphur has been sold this year by American companies than was produced."

A gradual increase in production and sale of sulphur has been registered over the five-year period ended last Dec. 31. The trend is shown in the following table:

	Production. (Tons.)	Shipments. (Tons.)
1919	1,378,878	876,222
1920	1,258,249	1,517,625
1921	1,879,156	954,424
1922	1,550,642	1,343,251
1923	3,085,567	1,616,841

Exports for 1923, including Canada, totaled about 450,000 tons, and this figure, it is believed, will be approximated again this year. Production in Italy was said to be satisfactory and the Sicilian mines were said to be holding down production costs successfully through the employment of standard mining methods.

Records of American sulphur production and sales indicate that 30 per cent. of all American sulphur used is for fertilizer purposes; 34 per cent. for acids and chemicals; 5 per cent. in the manufacture of explosives; 24 per cent. in the paper and pulp industry, and 7 per cent. for miscellaneous purposes. With the improvement in farm earnings and expected improvement in other industries the sulphur mining industry was said yesterday to be encouraged by the outlook for 1925.

PACIFIC OIL CO. EARNINGS.

Total for September Quarter $5,906,759, or 76 Cents a Share.

The Pacific Oil Company for the three months to Sept. 30 reports gross earnings of $5,906,759, against $5,103,836 in the same period last year, and net operating profit of $3,031,286, against $2,720,595 in 1923. After all reserves for depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes the company reported surplus income of $2,675,302, which was equal to 76 cents a share earned on the capital stock outstanding. In the same quarter last year the surplus earnings were equal to 66 cents a share.

For the nine months to Sept. 30 the company reports gross earnings of $17,069,429, against $14,404,274 in the corresponding period last year, and net operating profit of $9,106,862, against $7,648,559. After reserves for taxes, depreciation and depletion the company reported surplus earnings of $8,483,115, equal to $2.42 a share on the capital stock, against $1.95 a share in the same period in 1923.

SUGAR CROP ESTIMATED.

Willett & Gray Put Total for the World at 22,082,200 Tons.

The 1924-25 world sugar crop was estimated yesterday by Willett & Gray, statisticians to the sugar trade, at the record-breaking total of 22,082,200 tons for both cane and beet sugars. The company's previous estimate on this crop, made on Oct. 30, was 1,998,000 tons below, yesterday's. In the current sugar year, 1923-24, there were produced 19,-808,885 tons.

Cane crops are placed at 14,226,900 tons and beet crops at 7,856,000 tons. The total estimated output for Europe, which is included in the beet sugar figure, is 6,961,000 tons for 1924-25, an increase of 565,000 tons over the first or previous estimate. Estimates of the Java, Philippine and Hawaii crops are also revised upward, while the Louisiana figure has been reduced to 100,000 tons.

CORN TAKES A DROP, DRAGS WHEAT DOWN

Coarser December Grain Closes With a Loss of a Fraction Under Four Cents.

GOOD UNDERTONE IN WHEAT

Export Demand Shows Improvement, With Sales of About 1,000,000 Bushels.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A leading New York operator was said to have sold out a line of December corn today; and, with liquidation by scattered longs, that delivery dropped 4¼ cents from the top and closed with a net loss of 3⅝ cents compared with 2¾ cents on the deferred futures. At the last it was 6⅝ cents under the May.

The break in corn unsettled other grains. In wheat, the finish was unchanged to ⅜ cents higher, with oats off 5/16@½ cent, and rye unchanged to ⅜ cent lower, the latter on December, due to belated liquidation.

Weakness in cash corn, with indications of much larger receipts in the Southwest next week, was the main depressing influence. Industries were slow buyers of new corn here and, at the last, No. 5 grades were offerd at $1.04 without takers, and some cars were carried over unsold.

The country shows more disposition to sell to arrive and, while purchases were not as large as yesterday, the day's total was around 150,000 bushels. Beneficial rains have fallen in Argentina.

Primary arrivals today were 664,000 bushels; week ago, 477,000; last year, 1,167,000. Shipments were 242,000 bushels; week ago, 190,000; last year, 414,000.

The wheat market showed a firm undertone. There was a good class of buying on the declines and a noticeable lack of the aggressive selling which has been a feature of late. Cash houses took December and sold May at 7⅝@8 cents difference a good part of the day.

With the exception of rains in parts of Northern Argentina, where dry weather is needed for harvesting, and disappointing threshing returns from Australia, there was little in the news that attracted attention. The first thrashing results in Argentina suggest a yield of 15.3 bushels per acre, indicating a crop of around 200,000,000 bushels. This is somewhat in excess of trade figures.

Export demand showed improvement, with sales around 1,000,000 bushels, largely to France and Italy. American dealers are asking relatively high prices for hard winters, due to the large carrying charge between the December and the May, and it is estimated that there are only 2,000,000 bushels of No. 2 hard Winter at the seaboard and Gulf. A local mill bought 25,000 bushels of No. 2 red Winter in store, at 6 cents under December.

Rains would be beneficial in parts of Kansas which were missed by the recent storm, and the same applies to parts of Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Primary receipts today were 2,451,000 bushels; week ago, 1,193,000; last year, 1,098,000, and shipments 1,962,000 bushels; week ago, 1,946,000; last year, 883,000.

Oats were off 1/16@⅛ and rye 1⅛@2⅛ cents.

Live Stock Markets at Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Hog receipts for the week now promise to aggregate 320,000, the second largest on record and within 14,000 of the banner week's total of 334,000, in January, 1916. Forty-four years ago this week, in 1880, Chicago received 300,000, the record previous to the 1916 figures. With arrivals of 62,000 and carry-over of 28,000 there were 90,000 hogs for sale, and despite large shipping orders the price was 10@25 cents lower with underweights leading the decline. Top fed Westerns touched $13.85, with the bulk of sales around $13.50. Feeders sold up to $14.85, with the bulk of sales around $13.60. Receipts were 14,000. Cattle were generally steady, with receipts of 5,000.

RAILROAD WAGE CUT OPPOSED BY COOLIDGE

He Holds Reduction in Freight Rates Should Not Be Passed on to Workers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Coolidge does not believe that a reduction of freight rates necessarily means that the railroads would be forced to reduce railroad wages, according to an Administration spokesman today.

This official's attention was directed to reports that if freight rates were reduced, either through an act of Congress or action by the Interstate Commerce Commission, a part of the diminished revenue would have to be made up by a cut in the wages of employes. The President was represented as taking the position that if freight charges were lowered, the roads could make up the difference by other economies in operation.

While many of the President's recent callers have discussed with him proposed bills dealing with transportation, doubt is expressed that the Administration will submit a legislative program on this subject at the December session of Congress. Senator Watson of Indiana, who is a member of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, believes that Congress should authorize further railroad consolidation. Senator Cummins of Iowa, co-author of the Transportation act of 1920, also believes there should be supplemental railroad legislation this Winter, if time will permit.

COTTON TRADING SUSPENDS

Exchange Members Get Twenty Minutes to Digest Crop Report.

The experiment of suspending trading on the New York Cotton Exchange for twenty minutes at the time of publication of the Government crop report will be continued, according to President Edward E. Bartlett Jr., following the initial test yesterday. He said that it worked very satisfactorily in yesterday's market.

"The closing of the Exchange for five minutes before and fifteen minutes after the time of the Government report's release, in order to give the trade time to digest the figures, worked perfectly," said a statement by President Bartlett." It was a great improvement over the old system and was well received by the brokers, and, so far as I heard, by the trade itself.

"The test was by no means a rigid one, however, owing to the fact that there was very little market change caused by the Government figures. It remains to be seen how the plan will work out in a case where the Government report compels radical readjustment in the market, as frequently happens."

STRONG MARKET FOR WOOL.

Scarcity Rather Than New Demand the Controlling Influence.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "Wool prices are surging strongly upward, the scarcity of wool the world over, rather than the demand for clothing being the immediate impulse for the advance, although the clothing trade appears to be in a perfectly healthy condition. The opening of the New Zealand season this week was the signal for a strong advance, which has been reflected in South America, also. England and America are the two leading buyers at the moment in the primary markets, although the Continent is keen at the river plate. Advances of 5 to 15 per cent. over last series' closing are predicted for the coming London colonial auctions.

"Domestic manufacture are in a much better position than they were a short while ago and consumption of wool has been on the increase. Contracting in the West continues in a moderate manner at prices which show little change as compared with a week ago."

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, 5 points decline, 24.15c for middling upland.

Southern spot markets were: Galveston, sales 1,618, 25 points decline; New Orleans, sales 1,117, 25.00c, 25 points decline; Savannah, sales 37, 24.00c, 21 points decline; Augusta, sales 162, 23.69c, 31 points decline; Memphis, sales 2,150, 23.75c, 25 points decline; Houston, sales 7,858, 24.00c, 36 points decline; Little Rock, sales 4,003, 23.25c, 25 points decline; Dallas, sales 8,288, 22.90c, 25 points decline.

Yesterday's cotton statistics were:

DRY GOODS HAS A FINE WEEK

Road and Store Sales Both Above Last Week and Week of Year Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods exceeded both the volume of last week and that of the same week a year ago.

"Road sales in like manner showed a good increase over last week's total and were greater than during the corresponding period in 1923.

"There were considerably more customers in market than during the same period last year.

"Collections were about the same as for the corresponding week a year ago."

To Have Showrooms on Wheels.

A novel idea for selling women's ready-to-wear merchandise which involves several traveling show rooms is about to be tried out by a local dress firm concern. A contract has been placed with a big automobile company for ten modern show rooms on five-ton chassis. They are to be fitted with all the modern fixtures and carry more than $10,000 worth of dresses. They will tour the country during the different seasons and bring fashions in women's dresses direct to the stores of the out-of-town retailers. If successful, the scheme may tend to bring great changes in the selling of this merchandise.

***

Cold Weather Helped Coal Trade.

The cold weather was of material assistance to the coal trade this week. Retail buying was stimulated considerably and, while the wholesale demand did not pick up with the same suddenness, the tone of the market showed an improvement which became more noticeable as the week wore on. Seward's Journal will say today that dealers who had held back on placing orders when business was dull began releasing them as soon as coal started moving out of their yards at a more lively rate. At the same time, independent operators were encouraged to take a firmer stand as to prices, so that the market at once became steadier, if it was not quotably higher. The bituminous trade also had some grounds for encouragement as a result of the week's developments.

***

Gray Goods Prices Easier.

Gray goods prices continued easier in this market yesterday, so far as second hands were concerned, but first hands continued to hold firm for the figures they wanted. Second hands sold 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths at 9 cents, and they also let out 60-48s in that width at 8 cents. For 39-inch 68-72s buyers paid second hands 10¾ cents. Sales of 37-inch 3.00-yard drills were made at 11 cents, while in the sheetings trading took place at 10¾ cents for 37-inch 48-square, four-yard cloths, with sales of 36-inch 5-yard 4.00 5.50-yard goods at 8⅞ and 8 cents. Forty-inch 2.85-yard sheetings sold at 14½ cents. Business in pajama checks was done on the basis of 10¾ cents for 72-80s in certain quarters, but most sellers asked an eighth more for these goods. One of the features of the market is the continued heavy demand for broadcloths, which have already sold freely for deliveries running well up to the middle of next year.

***

Napped Goods Lines Not Opened.

Contrary to expectations in certain quarters, no prices were made yesterday on wide-napped fabrics for the cutting up trade. One of the dominant factors in this branch of the cotton goods business will not price these cloths until some time next month, while prices on the narrower goods for the jobbing trade will not be sent out until late in January. The jobbers are usually not in position to operate much before that time, but the cutters-up are for the most part ready to make commitments about this time, if not a little earlier. It is fairly certain that there will be no general offerings of cotton blankets before the middle of December and possibly not until the end of the month. In the meantime, a nice duplicate business is being taken by the mills, and is cutting into stocks on hand. Stocks now held by the biggest producer of cotton blankets in the country were said yesterday to be the smallest in its history.

Price Rises on Dress Woolens.

Advanced prices on women's wear Spring woolens and worsteds are being announced by a number of the dress goods mills. The increases over the opening levels in most instances are from 10 to 12 per cent. In announcing the new prices, selling agents intimate that they have been held off as long as possible. The increases in the cost of raw wool and yarns, however, they say, coupled with the low opening prices have made it impossible to hold prices down any longer.

WOMAN TELLS WHY SHE KILLED HUSBAND

Tale of Brutality Induces Assemblyman F. R. Galgano to Act as Her Counsel.

Pressing her three-months-old daughter to her breast, Mrs. Calogero Breshetti, 25 years old, of 337 East 100th Street, was remanded to the Jefferson Market Women's Prison for examination on Nov. 28 when she was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Frederick B. House in the Homicide Court on a charge of shooting and killing her husband the night before in her home.

When Detective Sergeant Caputo of the East 104th Street station arraigned her before the Magistrate the woman was sobbing. The detective explained that she was unable to speak English, and Assemblyman Frank R. Galgano consented to act as interpreter, and also, on hearing her story, volunteered to act as her counsel. The Assemblyman said that she admitted that she had killed her husband, and explained that she did so because of his brutal treatment of her since her arrival here from Italy a year and a half ago.

Mr. Galgano said that the woman told him that Breshetti was extremely jealous of her, and that from the time she came here to join her husband he had kept her prisoner in their home and beat her frequently. She told the lawyer that having choked her several times before the birth of their child, he severed a vein in her head and brought about blindness in the left eye. Breshetti, she continued, in October bought tickets for the return of the family to Italy, but on Thursday evening he said he would not go with them and wanted to get rid of her and their child. When she protested, she said, he kicked and punched her, and then she got a pistol from a trunk and shot him three times.

ANTIQUE SALE NETS $7,711.

Disposal of Cabrera Collection to Be Completed This Afternoon.

The first sale yesterday afternoon at the Anderson Galleries of old English and Italian furniture and Oriental rugs collected by G. M. Cabrera from the estate of H. B. Chadurjian and other private owners, amounted to $7,711.50. The final sale is this afternoon.

K. W. Fraser bought Nos. 18 and 20 of the catalogue for $300 and $220 respectively, the first being a curly maple corner cabinet and the latter a Welsh oak dresser. H. Symons & Co., Inc., purchased Nos. 29, 77, 78 and 80 for $200, $290, $265 and $180. No. 25 is a set of five seventeenth century Jacobean chairs; No. 77 a pair of James II. carved walnut armchairs of about 1685; No. 78 an early seventeenth century Jacobean carved oak credenza, and No. 80 a Charles II. inlaid walnut side table of about 1680.

O. G. Worthington paid $200 for No. 30, an old English gateleg table; M. L. Pomeroy, $140 for No. 75, an early eighteenth century Italian marquetry walnut bureau desk; J. M. Hoyt, $150 for No. 76, a painted Italian armchair with needlework upholstery, made about 1730, and H. Ritchie, $180 for No. 90, a Louis XV. French needlepoint and walnut armchair.

Gore to Serve Until March 4.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Coolidge expects to appoint Howard M. Gore, at present Acting Secretary, as Secretary of Agriculture to serve until he becomes Governor of West Virginia on March 4, it was stated officially today at the White House.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REALTY FIELD

FURNITURE EXCHANGE HOME

Fifteen Parcels of Property in the "Penn" Zone Sold to Syndicate Headed by H. R. Monro.

Reflecting improved conditions in the realty market, two block fronts changed ownership yesterday and a syndicate headed by Hugh R. Munro, purchased fifteen properties on West Thirty-first Street, in the block opposite the General Post Office.

In addition to these sales, the Western Union Telegraph Company purchased three seven-story buildings on Thomas Street and a five-story building on Worth Street, covering an area of about 11,000 square feet.

By far the largest Manhattan transaction was the purchase by Max Natanson, an operator, of the Lexington Avenue front of the old car barn site between Thirty-second and Thirty-third Streets.

This property, which was purchased from the Parlex Holding Company, representing Henry Mandel, operator, has a frontage of 197.10 feet on Lexington Avenue and 175 feet on each street.

On this site Mr. Natanson intends erect a fifteen-story high-class commercial building, containing every modern improvement, including seven high-speed electric elevators. The entire property has been leased by him to the New York Furniture Exchange Association, Inc.

This association, representing an organization of about 1,400 manufacturers of high-grade furniture, who will occupy the building for showroom purposes.

Separating the Lexington Avenue and Park Avenue properties is a block that is to be a private street, fifty feet wide for the use of the tenants of the two buildings.

The property was held at $1,000,000 and is understood to have brought close to that figure.

The lease to the New York Furniture Exchange Association, Inc., is for a term of twenty-one years, with the privilege of one twenty-one-year renewal, and the annual rent is said to be very close to $500,000.

The tenant has an option to purchase the property within three years, and from all that can be learned it is very likely that the option will be exercised.

The entire transaction, comprising the purchase of the land, the erection of the building and the lease, will involve more than $5,500,000. Herbert McLean Purdy of Herbert McLean Purdy & Co. negotiated the lease.

Announcement was made last week of the plan of Mr. Mandel and associates to improve the Park Avenue end of the block with a seventeen-story structure, having frontages of 197.10 feet on Park Avenue and 206 feet on each street, extending back to the private street.

It was estimated the cost in excess of $8,000,000 and is to be financed by a bond issue of $5,750,000, underwritten by S. W. Straus & Co.

Fifteen Properties in "Penn" Zone Sold.

One of the largest recent transactions in the Pennsylvania zone has just been consummated through the purchase of fifteen properties on West Thirty-first Street in the block opposite the General Post Office.

The purchase was made by a syndicate composed of Hugh R. Monro, George R. King and Charles E. Gremmels, all of whom have other substantial interests in the vicinity.

Including the new Kaumagraph Building in the same block, of which company Mr. Monro is President, these investors now control the major portion of the block frontage between Eighth and Ninth Avenues.

Mr. Monro stated today that in making the purchase he and his associates were chiefly influenced by the unique conditions which obtain in this block owing to the architecture of the Federal Building, abundant light and air being permanently assured.

Also, such excellent and well-established neighbors as the United States Government and the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Equitable Life Insurance Company will largely determine the character of future developments.

Buys Bronx Block for Apartments.

As a site for four five-story apartment houses, William Goldstone sold the block front on the west side of Cypress Avenue, between 139th and 140th Streets, a plot of fifteen lots, to Carmine Ciotti, operator and builder.

The houses will accommodate about 175 families.

The purchaser is now completing four similar houses on the east side of Cypress Avenue, directly opposite this plot. Samuel Steinhart was the broker.

TAMMANY AID TO DAVIS.

Spellacy's Thanks for It Made Public by Olvany.

Judge George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, took occasion yesterday to officially refute reports which have been in circulation since the campaign ended, particularly in the South and West, to the effect that Tammany had not given loyal support to John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for President.

To set all such reports at rest, Mr. Olvany made public a letter he received several days ago from Thomas J. Spellacy, manager of the Eastern headquarters of the Democratic National Committee. The letter reads:

"Mr. Davis, Mr. Shaver, the Eastern Bureau of the Democratic National Committee and myself desire to thank you profoundly for the hearty cooperation that we have received from you and all of your associates in the campaign just closed. We realize that from you and your organization the national ticket received 100 per cent. of enthusiastic support.

"Personally I am indebted to you in so many ways for your repeated courtesies and assistance in the campaign that I find myself unable to properly express the gratitude which I feel. Will you not permit me to sum it all up in one word—'Thanks'?"

"I think this letter fully and completely answers the stories that have been repeated around the country and that have been published to the effect that Mr. Davis failed to get the full support of his party in New York County," said Judge Olvany. "I have nothing to add to it. It speaks for itself. I am glad Mr. Spellacy sent it."

Commercial Leases.

Frederick Fox & Co., Inc., have leased to Louis Siegbert & Brother, cotton converters, the store, basement and mezzanine containing 20,000 square feet at the southwest corner of Twentieth Street and Fourth Avenue. Only recently Brand & Oppenheimer, another prominent cotton house, located in the large store at the southeast corner of Nineteenth Street and Fourth Avenue. The addition to this neighborhood of the Siegbert firm among the oldest and largest cotton dealers in the country, seems to indicate that the section of Fourth Avenue south of Twenty-third Street, formerly the heart of the silk district, will be the cotton converting centre of the future.

Astor Estate Sells Tract.

The estate of William Waldorf Astor sold a tract of about eighteen lots located at the northeast corner of River Avenue and McClellan Street, a plot fronting about 215 feet on McClellan Street and extending along River Avenue for a distance of 454 feet to a point 100 feet south of 157th Street. The purchaser is understood to be a builder.

APARTMENT HOUSE DEALS.

Trading Indicates Strong Demand for Properties.

Lee and Charles Levy and J. Mavh Goldman and Charles Goldman have organized a new realty corporation to be known as Manvy Realty Corporation, to take over 224 West Eighty-third Street, just off the corner of West End Avenue.

This property is a seven-story and basement modern elevator apartment and has been in the possession of the Lord family of Lord & Taylor for eighteen years. The property was held by the Lord estate at $300,000 and the purchaser contemplates extensive improvements. The apartments in the building are six and seven room apartments. The actual seller was the Security Trust and Savings Bank, which is the trustee for the Lord estate, and was represented by Dwight & Seoville. Seymour Mork represented the purchasers.

Edward J. Gould and Jack Stein purchased from Empro Holding Corporation 518 West 151st Street, consisting of a seven-story apartment house 50 by 100, and having an aggregate annual rental of approximately $29,000. The premises were held by the sellers at $140,000. H. L. Motter and Joseph E. Wiggins were the brokers.

John Caruso purchased 224 East Sixth Street from Frank Montag and Mrs. B. Bauer.

This property is one of the real old tenements of the lower east side and consists of a five-story building with two stores on a lot 24.9 by 97 feet. The holding price was $29,000, subject to mortgages aggregating $13,500. B. Metz & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

John J. Hoechh, Inc., sold for Mrs. Johanna C. Neumann 21 East 106th Street, a five-story brownstone apartment, on a plot 21.6 by 100.11. This is the first time this property has been sold in thirty-five years.

Jack Kimmelman, operator, as President of the Mildor Realty Corporation, resold the two five-story apartment houses, each on a plot 40 by 100 feet, housing twenty families, at 838 and 840 Kelly Street. They show an annual rental of about $17,600 and were held at $100,000. The new purchasers are the Great Jones Street Holding Corporation, represented by Nathan Grossman.

Herman A. Acker Corporation sold to a client for Charles Hellenday the recently completed five-and-one-half-story apartment house at 117 West 126th Street. The building was held at $145,000.

Charles F. Noyes Company sold for Margaret A. Campbell to an investor 114 and 116 West Fifteenth Street, on a plot 50 by 103. Improved with a three-story dwelling and a five-story apartment. The parcel was held at $75,000 and is located between Sixth and Seventh Avenues. Louis Schrag, as broker, represented the buyer.

The I. & M. Realty Company, I. Steingarts, President, purchased 214 to 220 East 107th Street, two six-story buildings, each 44 by 101, held at $150,000, from Jacob Widelitz.

OLD AUTO CLUB LOAN.

$700,000 on West Side Property Recently Remodeled.

The Marmac Building and Holding Company have procured mortgages aggregating $700,000 on the property formerly occupied by the Automobile Club of America on Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Streets. The loan was divided $400,000 on the twelve-story portion, 51 by 114, at 242-50 West Fifty-fifth Street, and $300,000 on the seven-story part, 121 by 86, at 247-59 West Fifty-fourth Street. The buildings, having been completely remodeled, are now used for loft and office purposes. The brokers in the deal were Charles B. Van Valen, Inc.

Lawrence, Blake & Jewell placed a loan of $70,000 for the Rexburg Realty Company on property 126-30 Bleecker Street, which plot is 75 by 100 and is improved with a six-story building.

Jacob & Emil Leitner, Inc., have arranged a $118,000 building and permanent loan for the Beaner-Feder Corporation on the 50x100 apartment to be erected on the northwest corner of Loring Place and West Tremont Avenue.

Saul L. Davis has placed mortgages for McCombs Holding Company, Steingart, President, $35,000 on six-story house at 21-31 McCombs Place and 2,840-48 Eighth Avenue, and for J. P. & N. Slater, J. P. Slater, President, $46,000 on a six-story flat at 91-97 Third Street and for the Musul Holding Company, Philip Negrovitz, President, $22,000 on five-story building at 514 Third Avenue.

PRIVATE HOUSE SALES.

Operator Sells Dwelling in West 123d Street.

Jacob Goodman sold the three-story dwelling, with three-story extension, 19 by 100, at 5 West 123d Street, adjoining the northwest corner of Mount Morris Park West, to Selma Lesman through A. Rockwell, broker.

The Philip A. Payton Jr. Company sold for Mae C. Hawes to S. C. Baum 35 West 123d Street, a three-story private house, on lot 16 by 100 feet.

Pepe & Brother sold to a client the 2½-story and basement brick building with a two-story and basement brick extension, on a lot 22 by 90, at 7 Leroy Street.

BAKERS TO BUILD.

Cushman's Sons Buy Plot Held at $150,000.

Slawson & Hobbs have sold for the 533 West Fifty-seventh Street Company, Inc., the plot of lots 533 to 541 West Fifty-seventh Street to Cushman's Sons, Inc., who plan to erect a building for their own occupancy. The property was held at $150,000.

Bronx Borough Sales.

Shaw & Sanford sold for Efficient Building Corporation to the Woodruff Construction Corporation the plot 100 by 100 feet on the easterly side of Jerome Avenue distant 100 feet north of Clifford Place. The purchaser will erect a two-story garage on the entire plot from plans by Nathan Rotholz.

Schwab & Co. sold for Stephen Lehr the two five-story apartment houses, 25 by 100 feet each, at 407 and 409 East 162d Street.

The premises 1,870-1,872 Jerome Avenue, southeast corner of Mount Hope Place, two three-story buildings with four stores, on plot 37 by 86, recently purchased by Moses Harris and Harry Werstein, were resold to Mary Marek. Isaac Hyman represented both the purchasing and the sellers.

Moses Harris and Harry Werstein also purchased 880 Longwood Avenue, southeast corner Hewitt Place, a five-story new law house with four stores on plot 51 by 104. Isaac Hyman represented the buyers.

Westchester Properties Sold.

The Robert E. Farley Organization has sold for the Scarsdale Estates its first lot in its new development, Green Knolls, south of Scarsdale station, to John F. Hanbury of New York City.

The same brokers also sold four plots to George Hill of White Plains, N. Y., a local builder, who is planning the erection of homes for the Spring market.

William J. Gates, in conjunction with William H. Oliver, has sold for T. W. Hills his property situated on Furnace Dock Road in the Town of Cortland, near Harmon-on-Hudson. The estate contains about forty-five acres of land, together with lake and stone residence, superintendent's cottage and outbuildings.

Seventy-second Street Deal.

L. J. Phillips & Co. sold to a client for investment, for the M. K. L. Realty Company, the five-story altered building at 40 West Seventy-second Street, between Central Park West and Columbus Avenue, on a lot 20 by 102.2. It was held at $100,000. Recently the same brokers sold the site at 27-31 West Seventy-second Street and 26-30 West Seventy-third Street, and also 20-22 West Seventy-second Street, both for improvement with fifteen-story apartment hotels.

BROADWAY CORNER SOLD.

The Charlton, Held at $1,400,000, Sold by Builders.

Builders disposed of a tall apartment house on Broadway yesterday in a deal involving $1,400,000. The structure, known as the Charlton, occupies the southwest corner of 106th Street and Broadway, a plot 100 by 100 feet. It was recently completed by Michael Campagna and Victor Corsbone, builders, who sold it yesterday to Bernard M. Levy through Van Damm & Griffenhagen, brokers.

The Charlton is fifteen stories in height and is one of the best constructed houses on Broadway. It contains seven stores on the ground floor, with one three, one four, one five and two six room apartments with three baths on the upper floors.

The building rents for $300,000 annually and has been held by the sellers at $1,600,000.

Taking Big Suites.

Rogers, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co. have sold an apartment of thirteen rooms and six baths in the new cooperative apartment house at 800 Park Avenue to Louis de B. Moore.

Ladd & Nichols, Inc., have leased for Mrs. William A. Slater an apartment of fifteen rooms in 930 Fifth Avenue to John G. Milburn, furnished, for the Winter season.

Ladd & Nichols, Inc., report that their New York City offices at 4 East Forty-sixth Street have leased for Alfred A. Cook his apartment of seventeen rooms and six baths, covering the ninth floor of 830 Park Avenue, to J. W. Mettler, furnished, for the Winter season.

Trading in Brooklyn.

John Pullman Real Estate Company, Inc., has sold 270 Classon Avenue, a four-story double brick apartment house, on plot 27 by 100 feet, for Mrs. Louise F. Barrett, to an investor.

Frederick W. Walker Jr. sold the three-story dwelling at 963 Fifth Street, between Eighth Avenue and Prospect Park West, for Horace Teele.

JAIL FOR ANDERSON ON LEAVING PRISON

Former Leader of Anti-Saloon League to Be Rearrested on Christmas Eve.

STILL FACES 4 INDICTMENTS

Prosecutor, However, May Not Press Charges After Prisoner Is Brought Here.

William H. Anderson, former State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, will be re-arrested as soon as he is released on parole from Sing Sing on Christmas Eve. A Deputy Sheriff will be waiting at the prison gate to serve one of four bench warrants that were deposited at Sing Sing when Anderson was taken to prison. The warrants are based on four additional indictments still pending against the former Anti-Saloon League Superintendent.

Two of the warrants charge extortion and two grand larceny. After executing one of the warrants the Deputy Sheriff will bring Anderson from Sing Sing to Manhattan for arraignment.

It is understood that Joab H. Banton, District Attorney, will recommend that Anderson be not brought to trial on the pending charges. The reason is that they are closely related to the charge of third degree forgery for which Anderson already has served approximately nine months of a minimum sentence of one year, and maximum sentence of two years.

The District Attorney's contemplated action does not necessarily mean that the indictments will be dismissed. On the contrary they will continue in force, and Anderson will face the possibility of going to trial if he violates his parole. At the time of his arraignment, he may, in the discretion of the Court, be released on his own recognizance.

When Mr. Banton was asked what action he would take in the case he said:

"We will cross that bridge when we come to it."

If the District Attorney, contrary to the present understanding of the situation, should demand that Anderson be brought to trial his bail would be fixed at his arraignment, and he would be put to the necessity of furnishing this before he could be released.

Under the terms of his parole Anderson is required to report to the State Board of Parole once a month until next March, when his minimum term will expire. The board ordered his release following a hearing at Sing Sing on Thursday.

To the four charges in the indictments still pending, Anderson has already pleaded not guilty. One of the indictments, charging extortion, is based on the alleged acceptance on July 7, 1920, of $2,500 by Anderson from O. Bertsall Phillips, former Chief Field Collector of the Anti-Saloon League. In the second indictment for extortion, he is charged with having demanded $1,375 from Phillips on March 2, 1921. In both cases the money was to be taken from commissions earned by Phillips in collecting money for the league.

In the indictments for grand larceny Anderson is charged with having stolen $4,578.14 from the Anti-Saloon League on March 2, 1921, and $1,750 on Feb. 9, 1921.

Ferdinand Pecora, Assistant District Attorney, who prosecuted Anderson on the forgery charge, said he had no comment to make on the action of the Parole Board.

Friends of Anderson in the congregation of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Yonkers, were reported to have been greatly pleased with the announcement of the action in his case. In the absence of Mrs. Anderson from her home, 272 Van Cortlandt Park Avenue, the plans for Anderson's Christmas Eve home-coming could not be ascertained.

MAX J. PHAFF HERE AFTER FRENCH TRIAL

New York Lawyer Says He Knows Nothing of $1,000,000 Looting of Liquor Ship.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday from Bremen, Southampton and Cherbourg on the President Harding of the United States Lines was Max J. Phaff, lawyer, of 219 East 196 Street, who recently was tried in Brest, France, before a Naval Court, on a charge of piracy on the high seas. He was released in bail of 5,000 francs to appear when called upon.

It was alleged by the French officials that Phaff was implicated with a gang of pirates, which boarded the French steamer Mulhouse on June 24 off New York, and took off $1,000,000 in liquors and cash. Phaff denied that he had offered to tell the United States Government officials the inside history of the bootlegging industry when he reached New York.

"I know nothing about bootlegging or the people engaged in it," said Phaff. "I am a lawyer and intend to return to my practice. I am innocent of the charges brought against me and can prove that I was in Halifax on June 24 when the attack was made on the Mulhouse."

Phaff added that he intended to bring civil suit for damages against those who were responsible for his arrest.

"I was never near the steamship Mulhouse in my life," he added. "The French officials acted without authority in arresting me as they did."

Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, arrived on the President Harding on his way to South Carolina to recuperate after undergoing an operation in London and to revise a novel he has written which deals with the period of Louis XIV. and has not yet been published.

PIRATES HELD SHIP THREE WEEKS AT SEA

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 21.—That the four-masted British schooner Veronica was under command of a band of armed liquor pirates for three weeks before it was deserted and left drifting was reported here tonight when the craft was towed into port.

The master of the schooner and the two supercargoes refused to talk, but the mate said the Veronica was boarded Oct. 24 off Montauk Point by fifteen men, who came ostensibly to purchase liquor, with which the craft was loaded. When they were aboard, the mate related, the men drew revolvers and subdued the crew.

Taking complete charge of their prize the hijackers proceeded to conduct a wholesale liquor business with small craft until nearly all the cargo was sold.

While the pirates were in command, it was asserted, the officers were kept locked in the chain locker and the crew was forced to assist in disposing of the cargo. Every night the entire crew was locked in a compartment and kept under guard until morning.

Then, after crippling the engines of the Veronica, smashing her compass, chronometer and other instruments, the pirates went over the side as casually as they had arrived, leaving their victim an aimless hulk.

The mate said the Veronica drifted about, her officers unable to take their bearings, until flares and rockets they sent up every night were seen by the liner President Harding Wednesday night, three days after they had been cast loose by their captives, and when they were about 100 miles off Cape Sable.

$100,000 DRY RAID DUE TO AUTO CRASH

Agents Einstein and Smith Get a Clue After Their Car Hits Motor Truck.

CALLED BACK BY DRIVER

Suspicious Cases Carried From Truck Into Warehouse as Damages Are Being Discussed.

In a collision between their automobile and a motor truck yesterday afternoon Prohibition Agents Izzy Einstein and Moe Smith found a clue which led to the seizure of alleged liquor, valued at $100,000, at 77 Washington Street.

The raiders were touring the city when their motor car was in collision with a butter and egg truck in front of the place they later raided. Supposing they and the truckman had sustained no damage, they started on uptown in their car. Before they had gone a block through congested Washington Street, they were overhauled by the indignant truckman, who was on foot.

He complained that they had smashed his truck and he insisted on immediate reparation. Einstein and Smith agreed to go back, inspect the damage and "make good."

While looking the truck over, Einstein became suspicious of some case goods that were being carried from it into the four-story building at No. 77, occupied by the D. C. Fruit Company, wholesale and retail dealers in dried fruits.

Einstein argued with the truckman over the amount of the damage long enough to satisfy himself that he ought to investigate the premises. Promising to return and settle, he departed and obtained a search warrant from United States Commissioner John N. Boyle at the Federal Building.

Izzy and Moe, together with Prohibition Agents D'Angelica and Donovan, then returned to the warehouse and began a search. On every floor, they reported, they found thousands of bottles of alleged liquor. They also found a complete "cutting," or adulteration and coloration, plant. The seizure, according to the raiders, is the largest in Manhattan within a year.

They then began a search for Anthony Saba, who they were informed was the head of the fruit company.

Later they found in a room on the second floor several hundred pounds of chocolate candy filled with rum, according to Einstein. In a pound box, he said, the quantity of liquor was sufficient to make any consumer forgetful.

Prohibition Agents Michael Sassi and Daniel Kenneally, having search warrants, yesterday raided the Bridge Restaurant, 20 North William Street, seized a small quantity of alleged liquor, arrested the proprietor, Nicholas Foggi, and put a number of patrons out of the restaurant when they started sneering at the agents.

SEIZE BIG LIQUOR CARGO.

Quebec Officials Capture Barge and $400,000 in Alcohol and Scotch.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Nov. 21.—The biggest seizure of illicit liquor ever made in the Province of Quebec was made this morning, when 30,000 gallons of alcohol and 2,700 cases of Scotch, valued at $400,000, were confiscated by liquor commission inspectors at St. Sulpic, in L'Assumption County, early this morning. The liquor was put in a Montreal warehouse, while the barge on which it was seized, the A. Tremblay, is anchored in the Port of Montreal. The captain of the vessel was arrested.

After the A. Tremblay cleared from the Gaspe Coast last week the liquor inspectors received a tip that she carried a cargo of liquor destined for American ports.

The Day
דער טאג

The National Jewish Daily

An Independent Progressive American Newspaper

Ten years ago, shortly after the outbreak of the World War, a group of far-visioned men launched in New York a National Jewish daily—THE DAY.

Within the time that has passed—a time essentially unfavorable, by reason of unsettled conditions and mounting costs, to such an enterprise—THE DAY has risen steadily to a position of unrivalled prominence in its field. In prestige and power it is one of the foremost Yiddish newspapers in the world; in the hold which it has on the Jewish home in America, in the appeal which it makes to the solid mass of intelligent Jewish readers, it is without a peer.

This power and position it achieved through the following policy: (1) that of assembling an editorial and contributing staff which represents the honor roll of Jewish writers and thinkers; (2) that of maintaining in all questions affecting America and Jewry an attitude of fearless impartiality. It is independent of all groups and parties; its sole guide is its conception of right; its sole ideal to serve as an instrument of education, Americanization and development of progressive thought.

For the foregoing reasons THE DAY is an unparalleled medium through which the progressive business man and manufacturer may come in contact with an important part of the community. It reaches an audience accessible through no other channels—and that audience one of the most valuable in this country.

Tomorrow, November 23rd, THE DAY will issue a special Tenth Anniversary Number, richly illustrated, to which Jews prominent in every walk of life will contribute, and where will be found a record of Jewish life and achievements in every line of human endeavor. The paper will be sold at all news stands at the regular price of 3 cents a copy.

FOWNES

Real Economy in Men's Gloves

If you know the economy of high-grade leather, you know the economy of Fownes Gloves. If you realized how much more service you get from a glove made of selected leather, carefully shaped and stitched, you would always insist on buying Fownes.

Extend the wearing-life of your gloves by alternating pairs, just as you do shoes or suits of clothes. You can't rely on one pair of gloves to meet every emergency. Certain times, certain occasions, certain clothing require special types of gloves.

Cape—Fownes Cape Gloves, suitable for wear with business suits, are comfortable and good-looking. Their sturdy strength makes them a downright economy.

Mocha—The formal elegance of Fownes slate or gray-colored Mocha Gloves, correct with the morning coat, makes them a standard for men who appreciate being "right".

Buck—Carefully dressed men throughout the world know the satisfaction and service to be derived from Fownes Buck Gloves. Appropriate for wear with informal gray tweeds or homespun suits.

Whatever the occasion, there is a Fownes Glove wholly correct . . . for men, women and children. The genuine is marked FOWNES in the wrist.

It's a Fownes —that's all you need to know about a glove
